Students and Collective Bargaining

Third-Party Pressures on a Two-Party Process

NSEF IS PLEASED TO ANNOUNCE THE UPCOMING PUBLICATION OF THE FINAL REPORT OF THE PROJECT ON STUDENTS AND COLLECTIVE BARGAINING. THE REPORT INCLUDES AN ANALYSIS OF FACULTY COLLECTIVE BARGAINING'S IMPACT ON STUDENTS, AND VIEWS STUDENT RESPONSES TO ACADEMIC CONTRACT NEGOTIATIONS, INCLUDING DEMANDS FOR A THIRD-PARTY ROLE IN THE PROCESS. OVER A HUNDRED FACULTY CONTRACTS ARE SURVEYED FOR PROVISIONS THAT RELATE TO GOVERNANCE, EVALUATION AND TUITION. SEVERAL CASE STUDIES DISCUSS STUDENT STRATEGIES FOR INFLUENCING THE COURSE OF CONTRACT NEGOTIATIONS AT DIFFERENT KINDS OF POSTSECONDARY INSTITUTIONS. THE REPORT SUMMARIZES THE FINDINGS OF TWO YEARS' OF RESEARCH, INCLUDING AREAS LIKE THESE:

- In what capacities and roles have students participated in collective bargaining?
- In which contracts have students been mentioned, and in what contexts?
- What kinds of legislation have been enacted or considered that permits student involvement in academic contract negotiations?
- What were students' experiences at the bargaining table? How did they affect the bargaining process and its outcomes?
- How have student decision-making roles been affected by collective bargaining?

SRJC students select Babineau as president

Jerry Babineau has been elected president of Santa Rosa Junior College's Associated Students for the spring semester.

Babineau, 38-year-old father of three, served as vice president during the fall semester. He will be in his final semester at SRJC.

A native of Sacramento, Babineau moved to Sonoma County in 1973. He spent 10 years in Germany prior to that, including three years in the U.S. Army.

He hopes to complete his bachelor's degree in political science at Sonoma State College with a master's possibly at University of California, Berkeley, or San Francisco State University.

"I hope to be able to bring student government to the students, and by making them aware of our activities, increase interest, support, and success," he said of his goals for the coming semester. He proposes several approaches to increase student awareness.

"We will begin early in the semester with a program where student government officers and representatives go to the classrooms. There, they will listen to student concerns and discuss current student government issues," he said.

Babineau, also hopes to set up an information table in the college cafeteria to keep students informed on student government and to publish the agenda and summary of College Student Assembly meetings in the College's daily bulletin, Bear Facts.

In addition to increasing communication, Babineau has proposed several other goals for his administration.

"I want to see a Men's Re-Entry Program that can provide support for male single parents, veterans, and older students returning to college at SRJC," he said. "As a single parent and veteran, I am aware of the many re-entry problems faced by this group."

Babineau will be making two requests to the SRJC Board of Trustees. "We are going to ask the Board of Trustees to make a definite commitment to remodeling the Doyle Student Center to include a student lounge," he said. "The trustees have talked about the student lounge for a long time. What we are asking for is a commitment and timeline."

"We, also will be seeking a minimum wage of $2.50 for work-study students. Other colleges in the state provide the minimum wage for work study students, and it is our position that SRJC should also."

& Richard Harris, Vanessa Redgrave
- 29 A musical, romantic version of King Arthur's Court and the Knights of the Roundtable.

October

- 5 VANISHING POINT (1971) 7:30 & 9:30
Barry Newman, Cleavon Little
"...the fast moving story of Kowalski who drives a white Dodge Charger from Denver almost to San Francisco. The police of four states pursue him. But with his background as motorcycle racer, auto racer and pep-pill taker, they can't catch him." Archer Winsten, N.Y. Post
- 12 EVERYTHING YOU ALWAYS WANTED TO KNOW ABOUT SEX, BUT WERE AFRAID TO ASK (1972) 7:30 & 9:30
Woody Allen, Gene Wilder, Louise Lasser, Tony Randall, Burt Reynolds, Lynn Redgrave
The work of a man inspired by his subject matter!!! Woody Allen is at his funniest in this spoof of Dr. Reuben's book concerning the mysteries and anxieties of sex. Rated R.
Plus: "Henry 9-5" (short subject)

- 19 THE LITTLE PRINCE (1974) 7:30 & 9:30
Gene Wilder, Richard Kiley, Steven Warner

Admission: $1.00
- 9 WOMEN IN LOVE (1970) 7:15 & 9:30
Glenda Jackson, Alan Bates, Oliver Reed
Glenda Jackson won the Academy Award for Best Actress in this beautiful film adaptation of D.H. Lawrence's story of two sisters struggling against the confines of a rural English mining town. A study in sexual uneasiness and doubt.
- 16 ALICE IN WONDERLAND (19)5:30, 7:30 & 9:30
The remarkable Disney adaptation of Lewis Carroll's novels is a musical fantasy on one level and also faithful to the author's satire on education, politics and Victorian life. It ranks alongside Fantasia as being THE UTMOST IN ANIMATED EXCELLENCE.
Plus: "Milestones for Mickey" (a short subject depicting the evolution of Mickey Mouse)

- 30 PAPER CHASE (1973) 7:30 & 9:30
Timothy Bottoms, Lindsay Wagner
Dollar bills, report cards, stock certificates, diplomas--good for kindling and making paper airplanes but not much else--unless you go along with the program that they are essential for your well being. Harvard law student Timothy Bottoms runs the good race until he finds they can only buy things, not happiness.

December

- 8 LITTLE MURDERS (1971) 7:30 & 9:30
Elliott Gould, Donald Sutherland
Jules Feiffer's black comedy about the reaction of an apathetic photographer whose bride is killed by a sniper on the concrete battlefields of New York City. Directed by Alan Arkin. Rated R.

- 14 ANNE OF THE THOUSAND DAYS (1971) 7:30
Richard Burton, Genevieve Bujold
Nominated for 10 Academy Awards and winner of 4 Golden Globe Awards, this distinguished Hal B. Wallis production tells of Henry VIII's love for Anne Boleyn, which led to the schism between England and the Roman Catholic Church.

January

- 4 A DOUBLE FEATURE!!!
& ADAM'S RIB (1949) 7:30 each night
- 5 Katherine Hepburn, Spencer Tracy
"Adam's Rib, a commercial 'feminist' film, was many years ahead of its time when it appeared in 1949, and still is."
--Molly Haskell, From Reverence to Rape
IT HAPPENED ONE NIGHT (1934) 9:30 ea. nite
Clark Gable, Claudette Colbert
One of the most popular comedies of the thirties, and winner of 6 Academy Awards. An equal sense of screwball humor and depression Americans are skillfully intertwined in this runaway romance between a tough guy and a society girl.
- 11 WHERE'S POPPA? (1970) 7:30 & 9:30
Ruth Gordon, George Segal
Carl Reiner wrote and directed this film which is perhaps the most savage look at New York City life, court procedures, and motherhood, yet. Segal is a New York lawyer whose main problem is mama Ruth Gordon. A wild film which goes from one gag scene to another.

This semester the Associated Students present Tuesday Night Talkies, a series of exceptional films of many different types designed to bring you the best entertainment at the lowest cost. All profits accrued from these showings will be used to perpetuate the series and bring special features at later dates.

This series started as Friday Night at the Flicks in February 1976 in Room 281 of Bech Hall. We would like to thank our many patient patrons for enduring those hard seats and minor interruptions. We hope you will enjoy this series and will continue to offer suggestions for your favorite films.

You may join our mailing list or offer program suggestions by sending the address coupon below to: SRJC Associated Students, 1501 Mendocino Ave., Santa Rosa, CA 95401 or by calling 527-4424. Please include your zip code.

MARIJUANA PRISONERS REMAIN BEHIND BARS; STATE ATTORNEY GENERAL STILL FIGHTING NEW MARIJUANA LAW

At least two persons remain incarcerated in California state prisons because of old marijuana possession convictions, while their right to freedom is being argued in the courts. Efforts of the part of NORML and concerned citizens to free these prisoners remain stymied. Cases involving the rights of prisoners and others to destruction of old marijuana records are before the California Supreme Court, though no decision is imminent. Attorney General Evelle Younger is leading the effort to have key provisions of the new California law declared unconstitutional, especially as they apply to prisoners.

STATE BAR REAFFIRMS SUPPORT OF DECRIMINALIZATION; OPPOSES RIGHTS OF PRIOR OFFENDERS TO RECORD DESTRUCTION

In separate actions last month, the State Bar of California called for removal of criminal penalties for adult possession and cultivation for personal use, while requesting leave to file an amicus brief in the California Supreme Court seeking to have key record destruction provisions of the new state law declared unconstitutional. NORML and the State Bar will be on the same side in support of AB 367 in the Legislature, but filing opposing briefs in the Supreme Court on the constitutionality of new state laws expanding civil rights of persons convicted of minor marijuana offenses prior to the enactment of SB 95 (eff. 1/1/76).

YOUR ACTION IS NEEDED NOW!

Currently in California, cultivation of any amount of marijuana—even a few plants for personal use—is a felony, punishable by a term in state prison. Assemblyman Brown's bill would make the penalties for cultivation for personal use the same as possession for personal use and provides a non-commercial alternative source of supply of marijuana by repealing felony penalties for personal cultivation.

Cultivation of marijuana with intent to sell would remain a felony and would be treated the same as possession with intent to sell.

Cultivation of more than six plants for personal use would be a misdemeanor, punishable by a maximum fine of $500 and/or up to six months in county jail. Enforcement would be through either a citation or an arrest, at the discretion of the police officer, as is the case with possession of more than one ounce of marijuana.

Under the new bill—AB 367—cultivation of six (6) plants or less would be punishable by a maximum fine of $100, without any jail sentence. Enforcement would be through the issuance of citations, rather than arrests, as possession of one ounce or less is currently handled.

Assemblyman Willie L. Brown, Jr. (Democrat—San Francisco) has introduced legislation in the California Legislature to eliminate arrests and jail penalties for persons who grow small amounts of marijuana for personal use.

ACT TODAY !

Here are the names of the nine members of the Assembly Criminal Justice Committee who will be voting on AB 367 next month. You should write or telegram them right away urging them to support AB 367. All of these legislators are important, especially the Chairman and Vice Chairman of the committee (marked with asterisks *).

While legislators are most responsive to letters from constituents in their own districts, they welcome and appreciate the informed views of all Californians on important issues. Letters should be legibly written or typed, respectful, and mention AB 367 by name and number, giving one or two good reasons why it should be supported. All letters should be signed and include a return address. The appropriate greeting is "Dear Assemblyman _____", "Dear Assemblywoman _____" or "Dear Senator _____".

All members of the California Legislature can be written to at the same address:

NEW MARIJUANA LAW PROHIBITS FIRING OF TEACHER

The California Supreme Court has ruled that state law prohibits the dismissal of a tenured school teacher because of a 1971 conviction for marijuana possession. In the case of Rialto School District v. Mann, the Court held that Health & Safety Code Section 11361.7(b) prohibits any public entity from penalizing an individual on the basis of a marijuana possession conviction more than two years old. NORML filed an amicus brief on behalf the teacher, Robert Mann, who lost his teaching job after being arrested for possession of less than three marijuana

NORML LAWSUIT READY FOR TRIAL: STALLED AGAIN

The civil suit filed by NORML and more than 60 taxpayers in Los Angeles and San Francisco counties seeking to have the laws prohibiting private possession and cultivation for personal use declared unconstitutional was set for trial next month, but delayed by San Francisco Superior Court Judge Henry Rolph in a ruling February 1st. Judge Rolph postponed the start of the trial from March until sometime this summer by scheduling a pre-trial conference for April 21st. The suit seeks to overturn the laws prohibiting private marijuana use on Right to Privacy and other constitutional

6-PLANT LIMIT

Move to decriminalize pot-growing

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill easing the penalties for growing small amounts of marijuana for personal use was introduced Tuesday by Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco.

Under the measure (AB367), cultivation for sale would remain a felony, but the penalty for growing six plants or fewer would be reduced from a felony to a misdemeanor punishable by a maximum fine of $100.

"Besides the humanistic and legal reasons for the bill, this bill will also take profits out of the hands of drug dealers," Brown said.

He said his proposal was in line with a 1975 law reducing the maximum penalty for possession of less than an ounce of marijuana to a $100 fine for the first offense.

"Surveys show there are some 1.3 million Californians who use marijuana now," Brown said in a news release. "The intent of this bill is not to encourage greater use of marijuana but merely to remove the threat of jail for those who wish to grow their own."

Under Brown's bill a person convicted of growing more than six plants could be punished by a fine of as much as $500 and six months in jail.

CAMPUS NEWS BRIEFS

A legal service program, developed by student representatives at Saddleback College over the past several months, has been approved by the college's Board of Trustees.

Trustees approved the program after receiving a letter from County Counsel approving the form of a contract with the law firm of Giles, Callahan & Hill.

The contract covers all members of the Associated Student Body at the college and provides emergency phone advice 24 hours a day, three half hour office consultations per student per semester and a legal educational program, all at no charge. The education program includes lectures and seminars, information bulletins and educational pamphlets.

Students also will receive an average discount of 33-1/3 percent on normal legal fees for major legal representation, such as drunken driving, contempt regarding child support, dissolution and child custody.

SRJC EASTER HANDICAPPED WALK-A-THON

I. Purpose:

- a. To help supplement the current financial budget of the (Special Education Program). This program has three outlying branches, APE, PHP, and the LSP. All of these programs have expressed support for the Walk-A-Thon, and the need for the extra funds.
- b. To help promote cooperation, harmony and to better facilitate business and relations between Santa Rosa ~~Junior~~ ^{JUNIOR} College Student Government, and our elected officials.

II. Participants:

The SRJC Easter Handicapped Walk-A-Thon is an invitation only event. The reason behind the invitation only policy is explained in Section Ib. Also, due to the nature of the course being only ten (10) miles instead of the customary twenty (20) miles, the fewer and more select the members, the smoother and quicker the execution of the Walk-A-Thon.

III. The Course:

Please refer to the map. A parade permit is being granted by the Santa Rosa Police Dept., along with a police escort. The parade will start in the east parking lot of the City Hall. The SRJC Pep Band will be stationed in the lot along with the police vehicles. As the refreshment truck and walkers approach City Hall from Sonoma Av., the Police escort will take the lead followed by the refreshment truck, walkers, the SRJC Pep Band and, lastly, by a police vehicle at the end of the parade. The parade will terminate on frontage road of the SRJC campus. Please refer to course map for parade route.

IV. Emergency Precautions:

In the event of any form of emergency, it is planned to have the hospital and Fire Dept. notification made to help insure maximum protection.

V. Refreshment and First-aid:

A pick-up truck will be donated for use as the refreshment truck. This truck will be furnished with water and first-aid supplies in case such minor first aid is needed. In the event that lavatories are needed, service stations along the route will be notified to expect the use of their facilities during the course of the day.

VI. Conclusion:

It is my sincere desire that this effort by the ASB Walk-A-Thon Committee to help raise funds for a deserving cause, help promote harmony and cooperation both on and off the campus of Santa Rosa Junior College, and to show the citizens of this city and county that it's civic leaders do care.

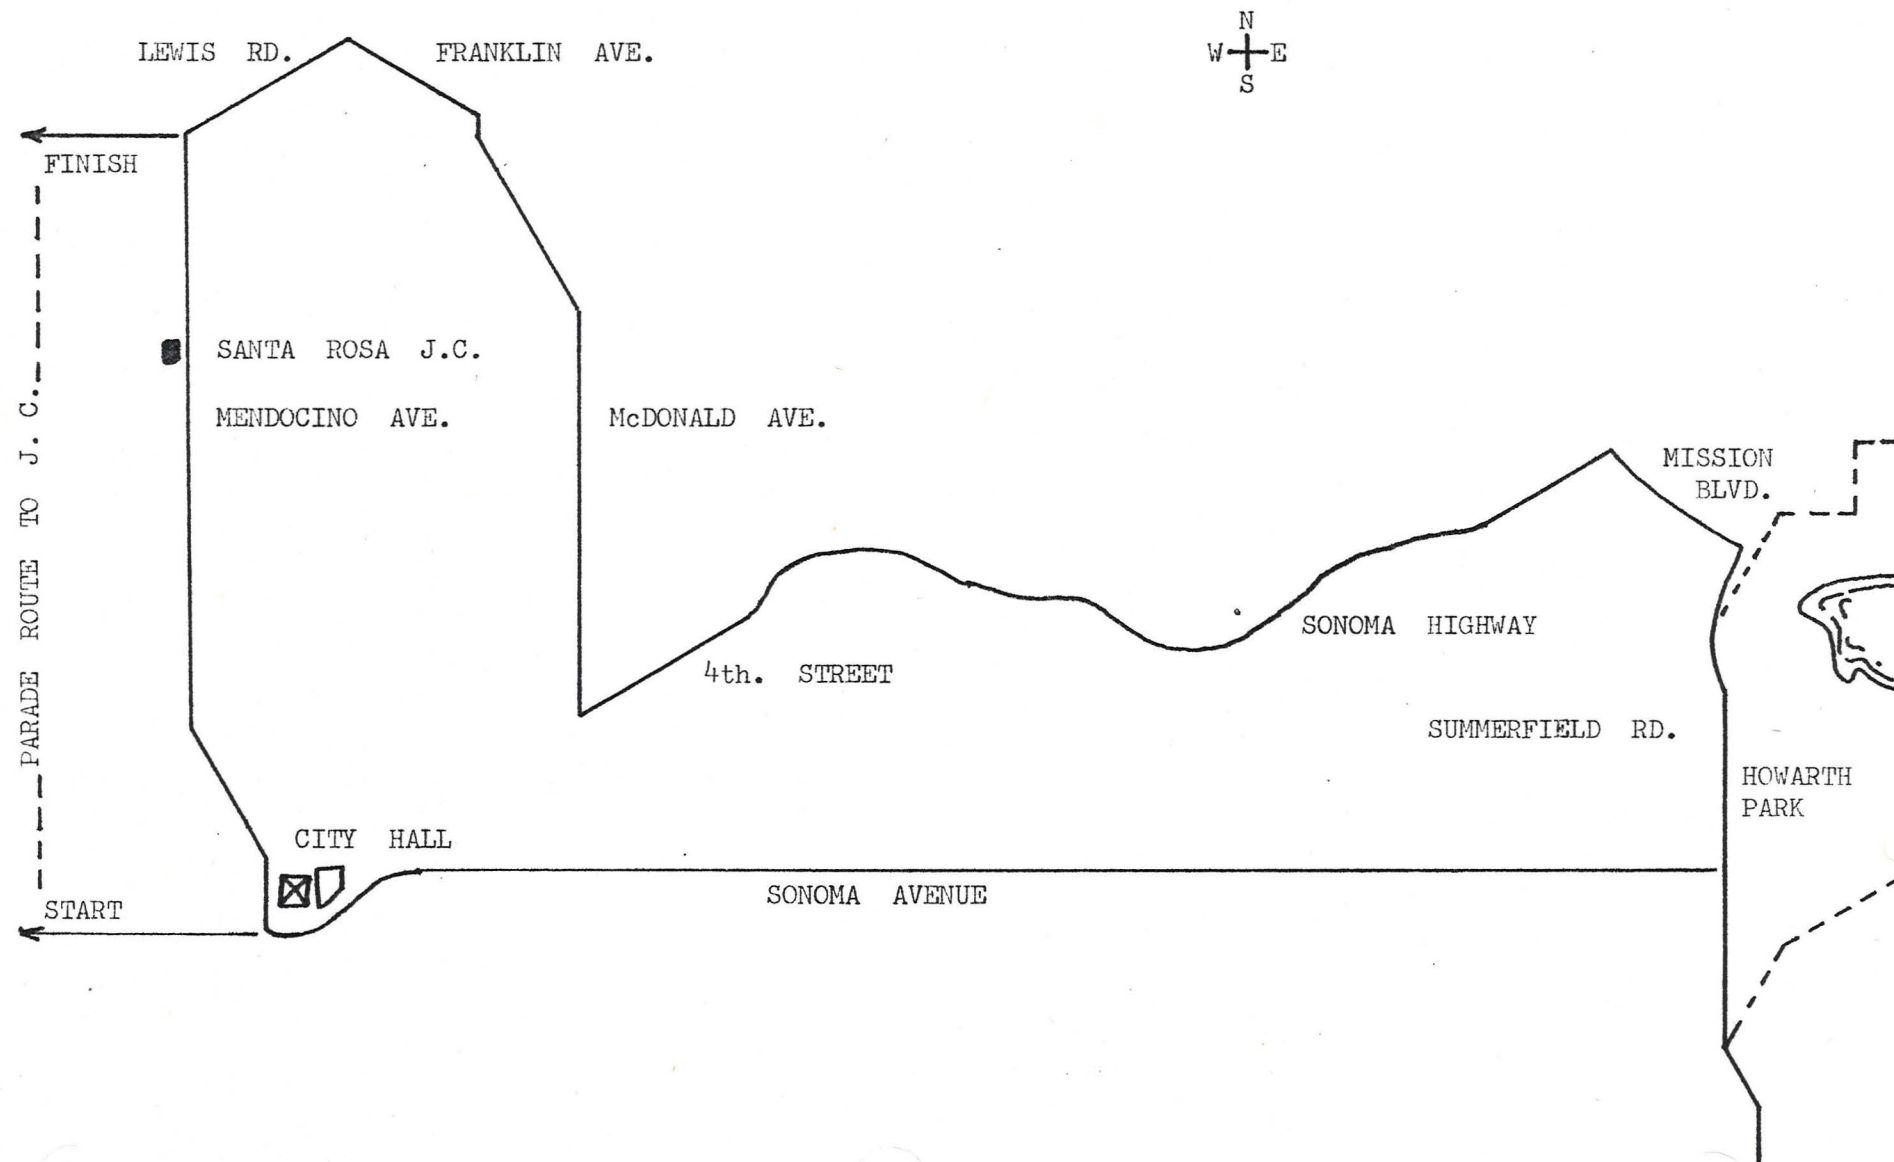

With hope for the future,

To: Curriculum Committee

From: Ken Magoon, Chairperson of Behavioral Sciences Department

Regarding: Change in the Designation of Psych 70 (Intro. to Parapsychology) to Psych. 161.

This change was recommended to the Department by the regular day psychology faculty and supported by the Dean of Instruction.

Effects of Change on Curriculum

1. The course will have a more general description as a Psych 161 offering which will allow content flexibility for instructors.
2. The course will be offered in the day program by the full time faculty.
3. The instructor, Dan Kientz, feels that renumbering will not adversely effect the enrollment.

Rationnale

Through the process of establishing a direction for the Behavioral Sciences curriculum our faculty has developed a commitment to have our transfer courses reflect the predominant pattern of lower division sociology, psychology and anthropology. Specifically, we want the content of our transfer courses to emphasize established academic trends, general communication skills and humanitarian values.

The subject of parapsychology has been increasingly offered at the upper division level in universities. When found in community colleges, the courses are typically designated as experimental. They often have titles which avoid the traditional stigmas of parapsychology (e.g. "transpersonal psychology" or "psychology of alternative consciousness"). It still seems to have marginal acceptability.

As indicated in our curriculum review it is our opinion that the course at S.R.J.C. should continue because of the current interest in the subject. But its content and designation should be modified to reflect our view that parapsychology represents one of a variety of the more esoteric versions of psychology. In this sense it is more valuable for lower division general education goals when presented as an alternative perspective on human reality and communication, rather than as established psychological theory and research. This latter approach should be offered at an upper division level.

A revised course title and description is being developed by our faculty.

Ad Hoc Committee on District
Reorganization
November, 1976

S U M M A R Y

In Spring, 1975, the Ad Hoc Committee on District Reorganization was established and charged with reviewing the District Administrative Reorganization, job descriptions of administrative personnel, and governance as it narrowly relates to the interaction of administrative policy execution, committees, and campus policy formation.

The Committee spent considerable time examining other administrative patterns--both theoretical models and charts forwarded from other districts. In addition, specific problems were examined, such as the need for some administrative body to act as a single voice for indicating administrative stands on policy questions, clarification of the role of department chairpersons, defining the relationship between campus committees and administrative action, and increasing the accountability of administrators.

To simplify the task, the Committee accepted the idea of completing its examination in two stages. The Committee decided to develop an administrative organization chart and then to examine the question of governance. While the Committee realized it could not answer all questions on campus governance, it did hope to attempt to define the process of policy formation. It was determined that the second phase of the task would be completed during the Fall of 1976.

Once the Committee decided upon removing the scope of its first phase, the pace of recommendations increased. Personalities and positions were removed from discussions and the Committee concentrated on administrative functions. Responsibilities were grouped into administrative services (computer, graphics, facilities planning, funding, personnel, etc.); business services; student personnel services; and instructional services. From these groupings, the new administrative chart slowly emerged.

The new chart includes a new Vice President for Academic Affairs. The Committee felt that this position is necessary to tie together all instructional programs, admissions and records, and all instructional and student services. In essence, the Vice President becomes the operational manager of the campus, while the Superintendent/President becomes the policy manager of the District interacting with the public, the Board, and State coordinating agencies.

The position entitled "Assistant to the President for Administrative Affairs" already exists, but responsibilities in computer services and graphics were added to this office to provide faculty input and administrative accountability to these functions. In addition, personnel will report to this office.

Student Personnel Services will have less administrative staff if the new chart is adopted. The position of Director of Research and Articulation was removed from Student Personnel Services. Articulation was reassigned to the Assistant Dean of Student Personnel Services to increase the responsibilities and activities inherent in that position and to bring articulation and counseling closer together. The function of campus research was made full-time to provide more academic research on policy questions for campus guidance and direction.

In Instruction, the present position of Director of Special Services (COIL, EOPS, PHP) was abolished and the responsibilities assigned to the present director were combined with a new position of Assistant Dean for Liberal Arts. The Committee felt that the campus would benefit by bringing instructional functions (tutorial, etc.) directly into the same instructional office serving the departments.

Originally, the number of administrative positions remained the same as our present number. This changed, however, with the recommended addition of a rotating administrative position entitled "Director of Instructional Development." This person will be selected from the faculty for a limited period of time. Besides providing administrative support for instructional innovation, the position will provide an opportunity for an administrative internship for existing staff members.

By November, 1976, the Committee had finished its examination of the governance process at Santa Rosa Junior College. It had concluded that there was a need for a policy-recommending body that would represent all segments of the campus community and be responsible for coordination of all district-wide committees. This resulted in the proposed College Council and President's Cabinet, which are described in the preceding document.

Ad Hoc Committee
District Reorganization
- SUMMARY -

-3-

In summary, it should be noted that the Committee represented segments of the campus community, including representatives from the Board of Trustees, Faculty, Administration, Classified, and Students. The administrative chart is based on compromise on the part of all parties -- balancing work loads with the ideal placement of responsibilities. While it is an extremely easy chart to understand, hopefully, it will increase administrative accountability and enhance services to the Faculty, Students, and Staff. The Committee is aware that questions related to policy formation and execution (governance) must be integrated into the chart in order to protect Faculty interests in the decision-making process. The Council and Cabinet will serve as the mechanisms for formalizing policy formation and policy execution.

ANGEL

JOHN CREVELLI: The members of the Social Sciences Department are suggesting a name for the new Liberal Arts Building. We have requested support of the Senate for such a recommendation as an official position of the entire faculty of the college to the Board of Trustees.

As we view our college we are forced to conclude that not a great deal of concern exists at the institutional level for the tremendous group of instructors who have either died or who have completed their many years of service and have retired. We need not dwell on the past or criticize or become argumentative as differences of interpretation, values and goals obviously exist between well intentioned, sincere and dedicated segments of the college community. We simply believe the college can and should do more, at a material level (when possible and always) at a level of recognition, honor and respect.

We look around our campus and discover that we have accorded a most significant recognition to members of the Board of Trustees by naming eight buildings in their honor. Indeed, the Board is deserving as college direction for 50 years has partly been developed through their contribution. We have also acknowledged administrative contributions by naming two buildings in their honor, but there is only one building named for an outstanding instructor.

We have enough self-regard to believe that in the shared responsibilities of being members of a college community, the instructional staff is really the backbone of the college. The reputation of the college of which the college community and the community at large are most proud is the excellent record of our graduates who either transfer to four year schools or enter vocational careers. Our product is educated people, and what graduates remember is the professional staff that prepared them in their education. We have been fortunate to have had an outstanding staff of instructors and the Social Science Department is acutely aware of the loss when a good instructor dies or retires. We feel our college should remember, recognize and honor all of these emeriti.

The Social Science Department recommends the naming of the new Liberal Arts building, EMERITUS HALL. We believe this relieves us from the hassle of identifying a single instructor to represent the faculty in such an honor. Rather, this hall would stand as a monument and testimonial to all faculty who have retired or died.

We should propose the placement of an appropriate plaque within the building listing all emeriti living and dead. We would suggest as members on the retired list are deceased, stars or some appropriate symbol be placed after their names to distinguish them.

If feasible, information as to their tenure on this faculty would be appropriate. The plaque need not be pretentious, though we would hope it might be placed in an appropriate central location convenient to traffic flow.

The decision, if accepted by the Board of Trustees, would require an annual commitment to up-dating this plaque. We do not feel this will require a major financial commitment but rather, it will be a most healthy and rewarding experience for the entire college community to remember and honor those who have contributed so much to producing our principle product -- educated citizens. John Soares, Economist, our dear, departed friend and colleague would understand this language. Our business is education, and in our action the Social Sciences Department honors John Soares. We also honor Al Hunter, Clark Nattkemper, Margaret Clark, Gordon Dixon, etc., etc., who remain with us though retired. Indeed, every department honors its own retired or deceased colleagues with our proposal.

The name, EMERITUS HALL, would continually remind us of the rich heritage that has preceded us in instruction. It should at the same time, inspire us to leave as fine a legacy as we have inherited from our retired or deceased colleagues. Our department believes most sincerely in the efficacy of the suggestion. We are confident that the faculty will unite behind our recommendation. Together then for EMERITUS HALL.

BOARD SUMMARY

Office of Public Information (707) 527-4266

REGULAR BOARD MEETING OF FEBRUARY 14, 1977

DISTRICT CALENDAR. . . Approved the district calendar for 1977-78 with classes beginning September 6 and graduation June 17 and a total of 175 teaching days. There was some discussion of an early calendar with the first semester ending before Christmas. The administration will continue to study the early calendar.

CONSTRUCTION ITEMS. . . Awarded the contract for the new planetarium equipment ($144,772) to Spitz Space Systems, Inc.; authorized change orders 1 and 2 for the Liberal Arts Building and change orders 1, 2, 3 for the Environmental Science Building; and approved the negative declaration of the environmental impact report for expansion of the Elliott Parking Lot located behind the Library.

POLICY CHANGES. . . Approved revisions and additions to the District Policy Manual including: changes in technical details on organizational meetings and budgetary time tables of the Board; addition of a policy on the origination of policies and adding a policy on the conduct and public participation in Board of Trustees meetings.

SRJC POLICE DEPARTMENT. . . Approved formation of an SRJC Police Department of one person to aid the Campus Safety Officer in his duties.

PROJECT APPLICATIONS. . . Took action on several project applications as follows: rejected a request of the Women's Re-Entry program to apply for federal funds for student follow-up; approved third year renewal of five year Emergency Medical Technician program--federal project; approved application for purchase of books for college library; tabled a federal application for in-service and pre-service training pending review by the Dental Assisting Program Advisory Committee.

OTHER ACTIONS. . . Appointed County Counsel and County Board of Education Counsel as legal advisors of the district until June 30, 1977; voted to continue negotiations for railroad property; approved Ed. 763, in-service training class titled, "The Exceptional Student In The Traditional Classroom;" ratified the employment service of Harold Merlin Brown.

TABLED ITEMS. . . Tabled action on the new administrative leave policy until the final proposal is reviewed by the Administrative Association; tabled the naming of the Liberal Arts Building for one month at the request of the College Student Assembly.

CONSENT ITEMS. . . Board approved the following consent items: designation of Cathy Maddux as supervisory position; out-of-state travel for Val Hicks; the 1978-82 five-year construction plan; authorization to proceed with working drawings on the Music and Trade/Tech Buildings; authorization to reimbursement of construction funds for the Liberal Arts Building; setting of non-resident tuition for 1977-78 at $34 per unit or $1,022.78 per year.

CORRESPONDENCE. . . Heard correspondence from Hal Peletz complimenting instructor, Jack McCune, for his job in teaching History; the Roseland School District protesting cost of legal advice from the County Counsel's office.

REPORTS AND DISCUSSIONS. . . Heard reports on Financial Aids Office for 1976-77, the part-time teachers' legal action; evaluation reports of part-time teachers; the outstanding state test scores of the 1976 Radiologic Technician program graduates; the improvement of instruction projects; and the Dr. Quinlan estate and the SRJC Foundation.

ENROLLMENT. . . Heard a report on the current status of SRJC Spring Enrollment: the Adult and Continuing Education Program has enrolled 11,548 students to date which is 1,000 ahead of spring semester last year at this time. The Day program has enrolled 5,517 students which is 12 more than last spring semester at this time. Final figures will not be available until the first census date.

WATER SHORTAGE. . . Heard a report on the current water shortage and the steps SRJC is taking. Current SRJC measures include: installing water saving shower heads, cutting flush meters on toilets, and reducing watering of grounds. Energy savings: classroom thermostats will be set at 65 degrees, offices at 68 degrees. The temperature in the outdoor pool will be set at 75 degrees.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

PERSONNEL. . . Hired Randy Cry (part-time 20%) Administration of Justice, the Summer Repertory Theatre staff; employed part-time instructors for Spring Semester; employed non-student employees for Spring Semester, February 7, 1977 to June 8, 1977.

Accepted the resignation of Charles Porter, Outreach Recruiter Counselor for EOPS effective June 30, 1977, and Sebastian Tronolone, Automotive Department. Grant a one month leave of absence to Mary Mueller, Graphic Arts. Ruth Craig withdrew her sabbatical leave; Cott Hobart was granted a sabbatical leave.

Second- Hand Smoke

Are you a nonsmoker who is shy about defending yourself against inconsiderate smokers?

Or are you a smoker who doesn't realize the distress you inflict on nonsmokers?

Find out the effects of tobacco smoke on nonsmokers.

Take A Look At The Facts

FACTS ABOUT NONSMOKERS

It just seems as if everyone smokes. Most people don't.

More than 30 million adult Americans have kicked the cigarette habit. Millions more are trying. Among adults, only one in three still smokes. In the population as a whole, it's one in four. Even counting cigar and pipe smokers, nonsmokers are a clear majority.

Nonsmokers are no longer a silent majority, though. They mind if you smoke. And they're speaking up. They see tobacco smoke as a pollutant that defiles their air. And new research gives them ammunition to defend themselves. It shows that second-hand smoke can have harmful effects on nonsmokers.

OPEN BURNING

Tobacco smoke is a very complex mixture of gases, liquids, and particles. There are hundreds of chemical compounds in tobacco and hundreds more created when tobacco burns.

Some of the most hazardous compounds are tar, nicotine, carbon monoxide, cadmium, nitrogen dioxide, ammonia, DDT, benzene, formaldehyde, and hydrogen sulphide. And dozens of others. Any one alone can assault the body and cause trouble. Together, they make smoking the menace it is.

Even when a smoker inhales, researchers have calculated that two-thirds of the smoke from the burning cigarette goes into the environment. The percentage of pollution from cigar and pipe smoke is even higher.

The amount of carbon monoxide generated from one cigar, in fact, is twice as high as from three cigarettes smoked simultaneously.

SIDESTREAM SMOKE

Every time anyone lights a cigarette or cigar or pipe, tobacco smoke enters the atmosphere from two sources. Most important for nonsmokers, there is sidestream smoke, which goes directly into the air from the burning end. Then, there is mainstream smoke, which the smoker pulls through the mouthpiece when he or she inhales or puffs. Non-smokers are also exposed to mainstream smoke after the smoker exhales it.

A cigarette smoker inhales—and exhales—mainstream smoke eight or nine times with each cigarette for a total of about 24 seconds. But the cigarette burns for 12 minutes and pollutes the air continuously with sidestream smoke. Smokers can keep cigars and pipes burning for a much longer time. The pollution lingers long after.

The fascinating fact is that sidestream smoke—the smoke from the burning end—has higher concentrations of noxious compounds than the mainstream smoke inhaled by the smoker. Some studies show there is twice as much tar and nicotine in sidestream smoke compared to mainstream. And three times as much of a compound called 3-4 benzpyrene, which is suspected as a cancer-causing agent. Five times as much carbon monoxide, which robs the blood of oxygen. And 50 times as much ammonia.

There is also evidence that there is even more cadmium in sidestream smoke than in mainstream. Cadmium is now under investigation as one of the compounds in cigarette smoke that damages the air sacs of the lungs and causes emphysema. Once cadmium gets into your lungs, it stays there.

CARBON MONOXIDE

Carbon monoxide is a colorless, odorless gas created by incomplete combustion. Car exhaust puts it in the air. So does tobacco smoke.

While it is extremely difficult to measure the amount of tar or cadmium in someone's lungs or body before death, it is relatively easy to measure the levels of carbon monoxide in the blood.

When you inhale carbon monoxide, the gas bumps oxygen molecules out of your red blood cells and forms a new compound called carboxyhemoglobin, which can be measured. As the amount of this compound increases in your blood, the cells of the body become starved for oxygen.

One study shows that after only thirty minutes in a smoke-filled room the carbon monoxide level in the nonsmoker's blood increases as well as the blood pressure and heart beat.

HAZARDOUS LEVELS

What levels of carbon monoxide are hazardous? In industry, the maximum concentrations of carbon monoxide in the air cannot average out to more than 50 p.p.m. (parts per million); and efforts are now underway to reduce the maximum to 25. The Federal Air Quality Standards for the outside air limit concentrations to an average of 9 p.p.m.

Given this as a baseline, how much carbon monoxide do cigarettes send into the air?

Researchers have found that smoking seven cigarettes in one hour—even in a ventilated room—created carbon monoxide levels of 20 p.p.m. In the seat next to the smoker, the level shot up to 90 p.p.m., almost twice the maximum set for industry. Smoking ten cigarettes in an enclosed car also produced carbon monoxide levels up to 90 p.p.m. The carbon monoxide level in the blood of nonsmokers as well as smokers in the car doubled.

When nonsmokers were exposed to these levels, the carbon monoxide level in their blood not only doubled within the first hour, but doubled again during the second hour.

When nonsmokers leave a smoky environment, it takes hours for the carbon monoxide to leave the body. Unlike oxygen which is breathed in and then out again in minutes, carbon monoxide in the blood lasts for hours. After three or four hours, half of the excess carbon monoxide is still in the bloodstream.

EFFECTS OF THE GAS

Some studies indicate that with these levels of carbon monoxide in the blood, people—including drivers—cannot distinguish relative brightness, lose some ability to judge time intervals, and take longer to respond to tail-lights. They also show impaired performance on some psychomotor tests. These levels of carbon monoxide in the blood create physiologic stress in heart disease patients. The resultant lack of oxygen can also add distress for people who already have lung disease.

Animals exposed to carbon monoxide (levels from 50 to 100 p.p.m.) continuously for weeks showed damage to heart and brain.

OTHER COMPOUNDS

Not enough research has been done yet on the effects on nonsmokers of other compounds in tobacco smoke. For example, hydrogen cyanide is a poison that attacks respiratory enzymes. It is not found in ordinary air pollution. But the concentration in cigarette smoke itself is 1600 p.p.m. Long-term exposure to levels above 10 p.p.m. is considered dangerous.

Nitrogen dioxide is an acutely irritating gas that can damage the lungs. Levels of 5 p.p.m. in the air are considered dangerous. Cigarette smoke contains 250 p.p.m.

ANIMAL RESEARCH

Some researchers have exposed mice to second-hand smoke over a period of one or two years. A significant number of mice developed severe bronchitis, an inflammation of the bronchial tubes that connect the windpipe with the lungs. Rabbits exposed to smoke from 20 cigarettes per day for two to five years developed emphysema, destruction of the air sacs in the lungs.

Dogs exposed to cigarette smoke ten times per week for one year suffered a breakdown in lung tissues. Rats exposed to second-hand smoke for 45 minutes a day for two to six months showed twice as many lung tumors as a control group.

The exact parallel between animal and human exposure in smoke-filled rooms is difficult to determine at this stage of research. But some of the implications are serious indeed.

EFFECTS ON CHILDREN AND ASTHMATICS

Parents who smoke at home can aggravate symptoms in some asthmatic children and even trigger asthma attacks. There are millions of people, adults as well as children, who are sensitive to tobacco smoke and suffer smoke-caused asthma attacks. Parents should limit their smoking to separate rooms away from these children or, better yet, should quit smoking altogether.

Even among nonasthmatic children, a team of researchers found that respiratory illnesses happened twice as often to young children whose parents smoked at home compared to those with nonsmoking parents.

In a study of 441 nonsmokers divided into two groups—those with a history of allergies and those without—70 percent of both groups suffered from eye irritations caused by smoke. Even among the nonallergic groups, 30 percent developed headaches and nasal discomfort, while 25 percent experienced coughs as a result of the smoke.

TOBACCO SMELLS

Contamination and odors are immediately created by such elements in tobacco smoke as ammonia and pyridine. Pyridine is a strong irritant that is produced when nicotine burns. The presence of a minute amount in the air produces distinctly unpleasant odors.

The contamination is so intense that when someone lights a cigarette, cigar or pipe in an air-conditioned environment, the air-conditioning demands can jump as much as 600 percent to control odor.

Another intriguing finding from air-conditioning research is that the human body attracts tobacco smoke. Burning tobacco smoke creates a high electrical potential, whereas the water-filled human body has a low one. The smoke in a room gravitates and clings to people in much the same way as iron filings are drawn to a magnet.

And the odors linger on. Chemicals in tobacco smoke called aldehydes and ketones supply the penetrating smell, while the tars hold them to your skin and your clothes. But the smoker is not sensitive to the smell because of the destructive effects of smoke on the inner lining of his or her nose.

BILL OF RIGHTS

In January, 1974, the National Interagency Council on Smoking and Health signed and adopted a Nonsmoker's Bill of Rights. The Council is composed of 34 organizations, including the American Lung Association, concerned about the effects of tobacco smoking. The Bill declared these three basic rights:

The Right to Breathe Clean Air

Nonsmokers have the right to breathe clean air, free from harmful and irritating tobacco smoke. This right supersedes the right to smoke when the two conflict.

The Right to Speak Out

Nonsmokers have the right to express—firmly but politely—their discomfort and adverse reactions to tobacco smoke. They have the right to voice their objections when smokers light up without asking permission.

The Right to Act

Nonsmokers have the right to take action through legislative channels, social pressures or any other legitimate means—as individuals or in groups—to prevent or discourage smokers from polluting the atmosphere and to seek the restriction of smoking in public places.

Here's what nonsmokers can do:

- Let family, friends, co-workers and strangers know you mind if they smoke.
- Put stickers, buttons, and signs in your home, car, and office.
- Always request seating in nonsmoking sections when you travel.
- Support legislation to restrict smoking or set up smoke-free areas in public places.
- Ask your doctor and dentist to restrict smoking in their waiting rooms and to establish no-smoking regulations in all health care facilities, including hospitals.
- Propose no-smoking resolutions at organizations and club meetings.
- Encourage hotels and restaurants to establish no-smoking areas.
- Contact your lung association to organize a group to help provide a smokeless environment for most people, who do not smoke.

SOILS SPECIALISTS:

Wash water can be used on plants

If, in the drought crisis, you no longer have fresh water to irrigate outdoor plantings, can you safely use dishwater, laundry water or bathwater for that purpose?

According to University of California soils and water specialists, the answer is yes — if you are reasonably careful.

If you do encounter problems, they will be caused primarily by what you put into the water during washing, such as bleaches and other laundry products, according to Robert S. Ayers, of the UC Davis campus, and Roy B. Branson of the Riverside Campus.

Two kinds of wash water chemicals are most likely to cause damage to plants in the short run — chlorine and boron. Liquid bleaches and some powder bleaches contain chlorine which is toxic to plants, particularly if it touches the foliage. If you plan to use laundry water for irrigation, it would be safer not to use a bleach. If that isn't practical, use as little as possible and hold the used water overnight before putting it on the plants.

Many laundry products contain varying amounts of boron compounds. Some have fairly high levels, and these are the ones to particularly avoid. You probably won't be able to determine the boron content by reading the label, but look at the trade name. If it sounds somewhat like "boron" or "borax," the product probably contains a significant amount of boron.

Other ingredients of household waste water that may concern gardeners are sodium content. Sodium can be somewhat toxic to plants and over long periods of time — months, at least — it can cause soils to become "tighter" and resist water penetration. If necessary, the effect of sodium can be counteracted by mixing gypsum into the affected soil surface.

Home water softeners may increase the sodium content of household water. The amount of increase will depend on the "hardness" of the incoming water supply — the "harder" the water, the higher the sodium level in the waste water.

Salts in general are present in all water, but can damage plants if they accumulate in the soil. Some plants can tolerate much more salt than others.

However, unless the water supply is unusually poor in quality, or is used too sparingly, the chances are that there won't be serious problems with salts. In any case, wash water is much better than no water, especially if you're only going to use it for a few weeks or months.

For use on plants, don't worry about phosphates in detergents. Phosphates, the UC soil scientists pointed out, are found naturally in soils. In fact, they are an important plant food. Reports of "phosphate pollution" are concerned with lakes and streams, not with the soil.

Here are some rules for irrigating with "used" water that will reduce the chances of plant damage:

—Mix the wash-cycle laundry water with the rinse-cycle water.

This will cut the concentration of harmful chemicals in half, which may be enough to avoid damage. If you use bleaches or large amounts of detergents, it may be advisable to discard the wash water and use only the rinse water.

—Watch your plants closely for symptoms of damage. Both chlorine and boron cause "burning" of the leaf edges. If you see symptoms on some plants, they probably are more sensitive. If possible, irrigate those particular plants with better quality water, or at least give them a heavier soaking to reduce the chemicals concentrated in a small area of soil.

—Don't use wash water on potted plants. With their restricted root zone, they are much more sensitive to damage. You might save the cold water from the shower before the hot water arrives for potted plants or other special uses.

—Don't pour water directly around the trunks of shrubs or trees. This may cause crown rot, and besides the feeder roots that take up water are located farther out.

—Be sure you put enough water on so the plants get a good drink. If you just wet the surface of the ground around deeper-rooted plants, they will get little benefit.

Projected Expenses

State Championship Speech Tournament
Sacramento City College
Friday March 18, Sat. 19, Sunday 20, 1977

The projected delegation consists of:

- a) two coaches (Jack Perella and Bill Sonnenschein) paid for by the District.
- b) eleven students who have been successful in tournaments this year. The students are;
Paul Robins, Darrell Fairbanks, Bill Gould,
Sheri Thompson, Bob Ristow, David Hodges, Elka Hodges, Andy Hutchinson, Barbara Rowan, and Irene Hensley.

We would depart campus at 8:00 PM Thurs., return
Midnight Saturday (two days and two nights).

Transportation is paid for by the District.

1. Registration fees:
a) Individual events 22 x $4.00 =	88.00
b) Duet Acting teams 3 x $6.00 =	18.00
c) Interpreters Theatre 1 x 8.00 =	8.00
d) Annual Dues	= 10.00
e) Judging fees (1/4 judge)	= 15.00
	139.00
2. Lodging (at the Imperial 400, three triple rooms, one double) two nights at 98.44/night	=196.88 (inc. tax)
3. Food
(10.00 per person per day)
$10.00 x 11 students x 2 days	= 220.00
	555.88 + 11 = $50.55/student
4. Reserve of 10%	50.00
The reserve allows for unfore- seen contingencies. For example, if a coach gets sick we would have to pay a larger judging fee. It is also possible a 12th student will qualify at the tournament before state.
	$605.88
Total budget request	606.00

conversation with...

by Bill Tarver

JERRY BABINEAU

Encouraged by the "good response" he has received, Jerry Babineau is determined to stimulate interest in student government.

"I hope to be able to bring student government to the students and to make them aware of student government activities," said the newly elected president of the Associate Student Body (ASB) at SRJC.

Babineau proposes several methods to make the activities of student government more accessible to students. He intends to send selected student government representatives to speak to classes for five minutes per week.

"The representatives will listen to student concerns and will discuss any current student government issues," Babineau said.

Information tables will be set up daily in the school cafeteria and several nights a week in the Bear's Den.

Babineau, who will talk over individual concerns in his Pioneer Hall office from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. daily, plans to keep the student body continually informed of all student government developments by publishing them in the Bear Facts, SJRC's daily bulletin.

One of the first things Babineau wanted to accomplish after taking office was to create a good rapport between his office and the community.

"My goal is to do as much as possible to generate harmony with the community," said Babineau. He wants to get more funds from the community. He also wants students to set up programs for the handicapped.

Babineau intently follows the plans of the SRJC's board of Trustees. He plans to ask the trustees "to make a definite commitment to remodel the Doyle Student Center to include a student lounge."

Babineau will also ask the board for a minimum pay wage of $2.50 for work-study students, something that other colleges in the state provide.

"To better inform the student body of administrative matters," he has invited two candidates running for a position on the board of trustees, Larry Bertolini and Bill Friedman to speak on campus.

Since his election as president of the ASB, Babineau has received congratulations from local and state leaders.

"City Councilwoman Donna Born has offered us her support. With her help, what I would like to see at city council meetings is some kind of student representation," Babineau said.

As a veteran and a single parent of three children, the 38 year old Babineau sees the need for a re-entry program for men which would "provide support for male single parents, veterans and older students returning to SRJC."

Babineau summed up his immediate goal in office:

"I would like to start momentum for a strong student government that hasn't been seen around here in a long time."

Hoover resigns

The second CSA meeting of the spring semester ended in a political confrontation as CSA president Jerry Babineau suffered his first setback of the semester and for Sophomore representative Butch Hoover, former CSA president, it marked the end of his SRJC political career.

Babineau's setback came when he and CSA Vice President Jim DeManche requested a letter of approval from the CSA for a proposed Walk-A-Thon for SRJC's physically handicapped students.

Questions arose from Student Activities Directors Gene Canervari and David Herrington about details of the project. After the motion was ammended, the CSA moved to postpone action for one week along with an additional amendment which called for an ad-hoc committee to investigate the details before the CSA commits itself for voting approval.

Hoover explained his reasons for resignation as having "too much of a work study load."

Mike Cavagnetto, freshman representative also resigned. He said that personal problems demanded his immediate attention.

Poppy Creek School

SRJC Child Development Center

TO: JERRY BABINEAU, ASB PRESIDENT FROM: DENNIS MAXSON, PROJECT MANAGER
SUBJECT: BUDGET REQUEST

MARCH 1, 1977

AS YOU ARE AWARE, POPPY CREEK SCHOOL HAS, SINCE ITS INCEPTION IN FEBRUARY, 1973, MAINTAINED A CONSTANT EFFORT TO PROVIDE SERVICES TO AS MANY ASSOCIATED STUDENT FAMILIES AS POSSIBLE WITHIN THE LIMITS OF AVAILABLE RESOURCES. BETWEEN SEPTEMBER 1974 AND SEPTEMBER 1975, WITH THE ADDITION OF A SECOND PLAY-YARD, PCS WAS ABLE TO INCREASE ENROLLMENT BY 25%. THIS INCREASE WAS FACILITATED BY A CORRESPONDING INCREASE IN STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION (SDE) REIMBURSEMENT FOR THE ADDITIONAL "CHILD-HOURS" GENERATED BY THE GROWTH.

SINCE SEPTEMBER 1975, WE HAVE GRADUALLY PUSHED UP TO OUR LEGAL MAXIMUM SITE ATTENDANCE DURING MOST SCHOOL HOURS, AND FOR THE YEAR ENDING JUNE, 1976, WE GENERATED 5.5% MORE REIMBURSEABLE HOURS THAN THE CONTRACT CALLED FOR. DURING THE SAME PERIOD WE RECEIVED ONLY MINOR COST-OF-LIVING INCREASES FROM SDE, AVERAGING 1.6% OVERALL. IN SHORT, WE HAVE REACHED A POINT WHERE FURTHER SUBSTANTIAL INCREASES IN SDE FUNDS ABSOLUTELY REQUIRE ADDITIONAL FACILITIES. THEREFORE, ALL THROUGH THE PAST SPRING, SUMMER, AND FALL MONTHS WE HAVE WORKED STEADILY ON FUNDING PROPOSALS FOR A HOME-BASED EXPANSION PROGRAM. IN EVERY INSTANCE WE HAVE BEEN TURNED DOWN BY THE STATE; IT SEEMS THAT OLDER, ESTABLISHED CAMPUS CHILD-CARE PROGRAMS ARE A VERY LOW PRIORITY FOR SDE FUNDING AT PRESENT.

MEANWHILE, COSTS ARE CLIMBING. THE MOST URGENT CASE IN POINT IS THAT OF OUR TODDLER PROGRAM. FOR THE FIRST TWO YEARS OF THE CENTER'S LIFE, THE MEDIAN AGE OF THE CHILDREN WAS ABOUT 3 YEARS, 9 MONTHS, AND THERE WAS A FAIRLY DISTINCT BREAK BETWEEN THE INFANT GROUP AND THE PRE-SCHOOL GROUP. DURING THE PAST TWO YEARS, HOWEVER, WE HAVE ENROLLED AN INCREASING NUMBER OF TODDLERS BETWEEN THE AGES OF 20 MONTHS AND 3 YEARS. THE MEDIAN AGE IS NOW IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD OF 2½ YEARS. THE PERIOD BETWEEN 20 MONTHS AND 3 YEARS IS ONE OF RAPID GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT; TODDLERS ARE TOO ACTIVE TO BE GROUPED WITH BABIES, YET TOO WOBBLY TO BE GROUPED WITH PRE-SCHOOLERS. AS A RESULT OF THE SHIFT IN AGES, WE HAVE ESTABLISHED A PROGRAM SPECIFICALLY FOR TODDLERS DURING PEAK HOURS. THIS MOVE, WHICH INCLUDED HIRING OF ADDITIONAL CERTIFICATED STAFF, WAS MADE OUT OF THE NECESSITY OF MAINTAINING QUALITY CARE FOR ALL THE CHILDREN; THE RESULTANT STRAIN ON OUR BUDGET IS A MAJOR SOURCE OF CONCERN, HOWEVER, AND WE FEAR FOR THE VERY EXISTENCE OF THIS ESSENTIAL PROGRAM.

THE JUNIOR COLLEGE DISTRICT HAS GENEROUSLY ACCEDDED TO ALL OUR REQUESTS THIS YEAR, AS EVERY YEAR, WHICH PARTIALLY RELIEVES THE STRESS; HOWEVER THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES HAS OPENLY EXPRESSED THE ATTITUDE THAT THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS SHOULD BE WILLING TO BEAR A LARGER SHARE OF THE LOAD. WE ARE GENERALLY HOPEFUL ABOUT PROSPECTS FOR FUTURE EXPANSION FUNDING FROM SDE, BUT WE DO NOT EXPECT ANY REAL CHANGE IN OUR SITUATION THIS YEAR.

COMPLICATING THE SITUATION FURTHER, THE STATE HAS ARBITRARILY WITHHELD OVER $1400 FROM 1975/76 FUNDS PENDING APPROVAL OF OUR AUDIT; SO FAR THIS YEAR, SDE HAS WITHHELD OVER $6,000 DUE TO A RELUCTANCE ON THEIR PART TO RECOGNIZE DIFFERENCES BETWEEN CAMPUS PROGRAMS AND FULL-YEAR PROGRAMS. RISING COSTS, PARTICULARLY INSURANCE AND AUDIT RATES, PUT FURTHER PRESSURES ON OUR CASH POSITION. IN SHORT, POPPY CREEK'S FISCAL STANDING IS APPROACHING A CRISIS RIGHT NOW.

THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS' APPROPRIATION OF $5,500 REPRESENTS HALF OF THE "LOCAL SHARE" PAYMENT (PAYABLE TO SDE) WHICH WAS ESTABLISHED IN FISCAL 1974/75; THIS AMOUNT IS NO LONGER SUFFICIENT TO MEET EVEN THE LOCAL SHARE DEMAND, WHICH HAS RISEN TO $11,820, HALF OF WHICH IS NOW $5,910. FACED AS WE ARE WITH RISING COSTS AND A POLITICAL BLOCKADE (HOPEFULLY TEMPORARY) OF SDE FUNDS, AND GIVEN THE DISTRICT'S REQUEST THAT WE SEEK ADDITIONAL ASB SUPPORT, WE ARE ASKING FOR A MINIMUM INCREMENT OF $1500 IN UNRESTRICTED ASB FUNDS, BEGINNING THIS YEAR AND CONTINUING FOR AN ANNUAL TOTAL AMOUNT OF $7,000. WE APPRECIATE YOUR CONSIDERATION IN THIS MATTER, AND WE WILL BE HAPPY TO PROVIDE ADDITIONAL INFORMATION AS NECESSARY.

Mr Canerani,

This letter is in reference to my student film grant for Fall semester of 1977. I was and am unable to complete my film. Regrettably, I'm unable to return cash in the amount which was given to me. However, I will be able to return the film which I purchased with the money. Therefore, in this package you will find 11 rolls of good film. Hopefully someone this next semester will be able to use it. I also wish to extend my apology to the Associated Student Body for tying up funds for one whole semester.

With Regret,
Valentin J. Guillen

On February 28, 1977 this policy was discussed at the Clearing House Committee . It was brought to their attention that it has not been brought before CSA. The Committee would like a motion passed to approve this policy.

ENROLLMENT POLICY ON STUDENTS WITH EXCEPTIONAL NEEDS.

It is the policy of Santa Rosa Junior College to enhance educational opportunities for students with physical, communicative, and/or learning disabilities in accordance with Title 5 regulations, Section #51821. Nonetheless, occasions may arise when a student will be excluded from enrollment in a class, or will be dismissed from a class. In that instance one or more of the following circumstances must prevail:

1. The factor of physical danger and harm to the student or to other @ students is present.
2. Student limitations are so severe that services by the Enabler cannot reasonably assist in providing for normal academic progress.
3. The student cannot meet the course prerequisite.
4. A disciplinary action terminates attendance.

Prior to any final action concerning admission or dismissal of a student from class, a conference is held to include the Director of Special Educational Services, Enabler, and instructor. On that occasion the instructor makes know the various limiting factors in conduct of the course as health, safety, legal requirements; as difficulties arising from facility limitations (Title 5, §1823.) The Enabler specifies available services. Actual determination for enrollment is rendered by the Director of Special Education Services.

The decision of the Director of Special Education Services may be appealed by either the student or the instructor: first, to the Dean of Instruction/Adult and Continuing Education; next, to the Superintendent/President; and finally, @ to the Board of Trustees.

Any conference or hearing related to an appeal includes the student, Enabler if necessary, instructor, and the designated presiding officer.

Tiny Tauzer will be playoff site

By RICH MELLOTT
P.D. Sports Writer

Even though it may come as a big surprise to a number of people in the Camino Norte Conference, Bill Trumbo and his Santa Rosa JC basketball team intend to open the CNC playoffs against Contra Costa Wednesday at their own Tauzer gym.

The hue and cry you presently hear emanates from San Pablo, where Contra Costa College is located.

Santa Rosa closed its league season Saturday night with a 67-51 victory over Los Medanos to finish the league season in a three-way tie for first place with Alameda and Contra Costa.

Alameda was awarded the No. 1 seed in the Shaughnessy-style playoffs because it boasted the most victories (three of them) over the two other first place teams, so the Cougars will open the playoffs Wednesday at home against Marin, which is the No. 4 seeded team.

Santa Rosa, meanwhile, was awarded the No. 2 seed in the playoffs—along with the home court advantage that goes with it—because it holds two victories over the conference leaders (the Cubs were 1-1 against both Contra Costa and Alameda in league play.) With a single win over a first place team under its belt, Contra Costa was given the No. 3 seed in the four team tournament.

All of which may explain why the Bear Cubs will be playing at Tauzer Wednesday night against Contra Costa. Well, almost, anyway.

Anticipating the home court advantage, the SRJC staff investigated the possibilities of playing their playoff opener either at Montgomery or at Piner High, where the Cubs staged their own Kris Kringle tournament in December. Both gyms have glass backboards, which every gymnasium in the conference is equipped with, and both high school facilities would have accommodated Santa Rosa's large following better than Tauzer, which seats about 400.

A local high school gym would also better accommodate an opposing team. The Bear Cubs practice at Tauzer, and have won 26 of their last 27 games played there.

But, because of conflicting events at both Piner and Montgomery High, neither of the facilities is readily available to accommodate a capacity crowd on Wednesday, according to the SRJC staff.

From the beginning of the season, Trumbo has virtually discounted the possibility of playing any games at Sonoma State, where the Bear Cubs dropped two straight contests to Contra Costa in last year's CNC playoffs. The Santa Rosa coach has maintained that the cost of renting the Sonoma State gym, which is extremely high compared to the rental fee of a high school facility, is prohibitive.

THE RIOT WHICH broke out at the Tauzer gym last season in a league game against Contra Costa figured heavily in the decision to play last year's playoff games at Sonoma State. Contra Costa argued that the close quarters at Tauzer would invite another outbreak of violence should the two teams square off again in the playoffs.

"Last year our administration was sensitive to the situation and it was something we felt that we needed to do," Trumbo explained last night. "But this year we've taken measures to remove that problem."

Unlike last year, when few if any fans at all were turned away at the Tauzer door, there has been a limit of 400 spectators allowed in the gym. There were no incidents in any of the Cubs home games this season, including the contest with Contra Costa, which visited the Tauzer gymnasium in January.

Still, Contra Costa will no doubt debate Trumbo's decision when it discovers sometime today that it'll be facing Santa Rosa on its home court Wednesday. The loser of Wednesday's game will be eliminated from the playoffs, and the Comets would naturally prefer to face Santa Rosa in a more neutral setting.

Before The Press Democrat learned of the unavailability of the two high school gyms, and of Trumbo's final decision to play at Tauzer, CNC Commissioner Harry Piper said yesterday, "I think there would be some concern if they played in their home gym, but our understanding is that they (Santa Rosa) were going to rent a high school gym. I've heard nothing to the contrary, so I wouldn't want to make a statement on that right now."

Sports

We're having a meeting Monday morning (today) and that's for the purpose of coin flips and other conflicts."

Trumbo believes his team can play any or all "home" games in the playoffs at Tauzer, despite the riot there last year and regardless of the availability of a suitable high school gym. The Bear Cubs were given the No. 2 seed in the playoffs, he points out, which means they can open the playoffs at Tauzer—the same place where they've played all their home games this season.

"I don't think it's a league matter," he said last night.

"Last year it was a mutual agreement to play at Sonoma State," explained SRJC Athletic Director Hank Cooper. "We tried to meet the conference halfway in establishing a neutral court in light of the incident at our gym. Also, Bill was considerate of our local people, and he would like to have as many Santa Rosa people see the game as possible, and this would have been one of the main reasons for moving to a local high school this year. And there will be some consideration given to using one of the high schools after this (Wednesday's) game."

According to Cooper, the Piner gym will be available for use Saturday, should the Bear Cubs claim the home court advantage for the playoff finals. If both Alameda and Santa Rosa post semifinal round victories Wednesday, a flip of a coin would determine the home court advantage in Saturday's championship contest.

About playing Santa Rosa's other "home" playoff game or games at a local high school, Cooper said, "We'd cross

Tickets on sale Tuesday morning

Tickets for Wednesday's Santa Rosa JC-Contra Costa opening round playoff game at Tauzer gymnasium will go on sale Tuesday at 8 a.m. at the student activities office on the SRJC campus.

There are approximately 200 tickets being made available on a first-come, first-serve basis. Ticket prices are $2 for adults and students, and $1 for children.

Because some of the proceeds from ticket sales go to the Camino Norte Conference, season passes to Bear Cub games will not be honored at the door Wednesday.

Santa Rosa must win the contest to remain in contention for a berth to the State Tournament.

The Piner gym would also be available next Wednesday (March 9) if a third game is necessary to decide the conference representative in the State Tournament, which will be held in Fresno, March 17-19.

A third game would be necessary if Marin eliminates Alameda from the tournament Wednesday, then defeats the winner of the Contra Costa-Santa Rosa game Saturday. Under the CNC playoff format, if none of the teams that tie for first place in the round robin league wins the playoff tournament, the league champ that reaches the playoff finals, (or second tournament round) will play the tournament winner (in this case, Marin) in a third game for all the marbles.

Dear Friend of the Band:

On behalf of the Rancho Cotate Music Committee, we wish to express our appreciation for your very generous donation. It went toward the Rancho Cotate High School Marching Band and Flag Teams trip to attend President Carter's Inaugural Parade.

This was a wonderful experience for these young people and your cooperation helped them to see this dream come true. They were fortunate to see their Nations Capital, and many other places of historical interest.

Again, we thank you.

INSTRUCTIONAL COMMITTEE QUESTIONNAIRE

February 24, 1977

The Instructional Committee is conducting a preference survey to determine the wishes of faculty and the College Student Assembly (CSA) as follows:

- (1) A "credit" (Cr) grade is now defined, in terms of a letter grade, as "D" or better.

11 Agree

10 Disagree ("C" or better is preferred)

- (2) The plus (+) and minus (-) signs do not now accompany letter grades as posted on transcripts.

12 Agree

4 Disagree (should be recorded)

- (3) Midterm reports are now required to indicate the progress of students at the half-way point of each semester.

16 Agree

0 Disagree (should be eliminated)

4 Disagree (should be voluntary)

- (4) The University of California - Berkeley has established a new means by which grades are posted. Starting with autumn quarter, 1977 the College of Letters and Sciences will issue "comparative transcripts." It is the result of grade inflation. Transcripts will record the course grade per student and also will transcribe the average grade in the course (plus the number of students enrolled). Do you agree with this new procedure at UC-Berkeley?

JC playoff tickets going, going . . .

For those confused over the time and place for the first round of the Camino Norte Conference basketball playoffs, here's the straight story.

The Santa Rosa Junior College Bear Cubs will host Contra Costa on Saturday evening, 7:30 p.m., at Piner High School. The winner advances against the winner of the Marin at Alameda game, also played Saturday. That game will also be played at Piner, on Wednesday, if Marin beats Alameda and Santa Rosa gets past the Comets. It will be held at a neutral site if both Santa Rosa and Alameda win Saturday.

Tickets for Saturday's game are expected to be sold out by Thursday afternoon. Only 300 of Santa Rosa's allotment of 1,043 tickets were left at 8 a.m. this morning.

Tickets are available at the SRJC Student Activities Office on campus. Tickets are $2 for adults, $1 for students and children.

There may be additional tickets on sale at the door Saturday night if Contra Costa does not use up its ticket allotment of 447 tickets. Contra Costa may not be able to sell even half that amount.

The playoffs were scheduled to begin tonight but were set back to Saturday when conference commissioner Harry Pieper of Marin informed SRJC officials that their own Tauzer Gymnasium would not be a suitable place to host the game. Piner's gymnasium was not available until Saturday.

SRJC coach Bill Trumbo said Tuesday he didn't mind the playoffs being moved to Saturday. "I like the idea because we can use the time very well. We want to work on things that gave us trouble the last time we played Contra Costa."

Contra Costa defeated Santa Rosa, in San Pablo, in the second round of conference play.

A study of old Tauzer Gymnasium

Ralph Leef

Tauzer Gymnasium, the confining home of the fired-up Santa Rosa Junior College basketball team, is almost 43 years old.

Asthetically speaking, the gymnasium is historically significant to the "old" section of the campus. It is one of a group of four main campus structures which form the central hub. The architecture displayed on the north facade of the gymnasium fits in perfectly with the "old campus" atmosphere. The building provides a perfect link with the over 50 year history of the college.

Unlike some of the other buildings on campus, Tauzer gymnasium has survived the demolition derby, although it was outdated almost as soon as the final nail was driven. There were turn-away crowds at SRJC basketball games in the 1950's and even in the early '60s.

Although new multi-million dollar buildings have popped up on the SRJC campus over the years, the powers that be, the Board of Trustees, have tried to retain the old campus atmosphere whenever possible. Demolishing an old building has been like pulling a front tooth. It only happens as a last resort. The popular theme has been to rehabilitate or add on to the existing facilities. The campus may be a better place for this conservative thinking.

SRJC PLANNER JOE JOHNSON

"The cost seems high"

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES decided last year that a study should be made to determine the feasibility of rehabilitation of Tauzer Gymnasium. Coach Bill Trumbo's championship style of basketball had a lot to do with the board's decision. The riot at the game between Contra Costa and SRJC fans had a bit to do with it, too. The architectural firm of M. George Lawry was commissioned to conduct the analysis.

Lawry was asked to consider the adequacy of the gymnasium, and to make a cost estimate of an addition to the main gymnasium, which has a smaller-than-standard basketball court and only seats 400 spectators.

The report was completed in December and was recently presented to the Trustees. Lawry estimated that it would cost $467,833 to expand the basketball area by tearing out the north wall, changing the direction of the court, and making room for an additional 1,000 spectator seats.

Lawry's report has since been sent to SRJC building planner, Joe Johnson, for further study. Johnson, whose official title is Assistant to the President, didn't hesitate to tell The Press Democrat he doesn't care for the remodeling plan outlined by Lawry. "It's pretty expensive," Johnson said. "The cost seems high in terms of benefits."

The Board of Trustees didn't take to the remodeling idea, as presented, either. "The cost for remodeling seems awfully high and we don't want to disrupt the campus (asthetically speaking)" Trustee Ben Race said last week. "We want more study to go into the matter."

And Lawry's 26-page report prominently pointed out several drawbacks to remodeling.

CAUTION

LAWRY POINTED OUT THAT in addition to the negative effect of encroaching on the beautifully landscaped court, expanding the basketball court area would not cure the problem of a deficiency in the amount of instructional space available at the growing college.

The entire gymnasium, even the girls' gym, built in 1954, is inadequate for the campus population. The report pointed out that a portion of the complex is inadequate for handicapped access and current fire and panic requirements.

The study also indicates that the existing gymnasium roof is inadequately braced for seismic forces by today's standards and that strengthening be undertaken even if the gymnasium area is not remodeled.

The report points out that two 200 year old Valley Oaks and one large specimen Japanese Cedar would be lost with the proposed expansion.

WOULD IT BE GOOD business to invest half a million dollars in a building in need of even more expansion than that of just the basketball area — and soon may not be able to meet state building regulations?

Maybe the time has come to tear down the aging Tauzer Gymnasium and construct a facility that is going to meet the needs of the college for the next 40 years.

The cost would be high, and Trustees would probably just as soon not hear this idea, but it may be the time to start planning for a new gymnasium complex. And why not do it right? Santa Rosa is metropolitan enough to have a major entertainment facility. Why not multi-purpose arena for indoor sports and the performing arts. The Sonoma County Fairgrounds main pavilion, the Veterans Memorial Building or the Redwood Empire Ice Arena just aren't capable of handling the major crowds that quality entertainment can draw.

Such a multi-purpose complex at SRJC could solve the problems of the growing physical education department and provide ample and "good viewing" seating for the spectator events.

Anyone out there interested in joining a blue ribbon committee to study the idea?

Dear Alumnus:

You are invited to another Alumni Baseball game. Hopefully, Cook Sypher and gang will again be on hand to guide and challenge our fine young team of 1977.

We will begin the pre-game activities this year with a get together luncheon prior to game. Also, our game will be played under the lights at Doyle Park in Santa Rosa. (Check agenda below)

Whether you can make it this year or not, please return the enclosed post card for future years. Hope you can make it.

Sincerely,

Len Read

M/s that the Senate recommend to the Board of Trustees not to adopt the SRJC Administrative Reorganization recommendations of its subcommittee for the following reasons: 1) the District Ad Hoc Reorganization Committee, after devoting over two years to the study of reorganization, has not had an opportunity to examine and comment on the Board of Trustee subcommittee report; 2) the deletion of the Instructional Development position removed the major innovative element of reorganization; 3) placing Liberal Arts instruction under an assistant dean, whose duties include supervision of Special Education as well as Liberal Arts instruction, will depreciate the importance of this area of instruction. An additional factor for this depreciation is subordinating the assistance Dean of Liberal Arts to the Associate Dean of Occupational Education; 4) SRJC Associated Students oppose the proposed plan for reorganization; 5) the new members of the Board of Trustees have not been involved in formulating plans for reorganization, which they will have to implement; 6) the division between the Day program and the Evening program, especially in the instructional and student personnel areas, has not been resolved by the proposed plan; 7) moving the Assistant to the President to the position of Associate Dean was done without consulting or opinion. M/c MOTION CARRIED -

D) Registration Issue Report: President Anderson reported that he raised the issue of the extended date for late registration at the Liaison meeting.

NEW BUSINESS: A) General Faculty Meeting: President Anderson said that he believed that there is a need for a Senate-called general faculty meeting in the near future.

B) Liberal Arts Building Rules Committee: President Anderson reported that the Administration desired to participate in the procedure to honor departed faculty. He reported that John Crevelli will serve as chair for this committee, which will include present faculty as well as retired faculty members.

Students challenge SRJC reorganization proposal

Associated Students of Santa Rosa Junior College will challenge the cost savings of a proposed administrative reorganization during a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Pioneer Hall's assembly room.

College trustees set the special meeting as a public hearing to receive citizen comments following receipt of the proposals from a board subcommittee.

The documents under study also include a college-wide administrative reorganization proposal as well as letters and other campus comments.

Jerry Babineau, Associated Students president, told The Press Democrat he and others may request the meeting be changed to a larger location since the assembly room limits attendance.

Babineau and sophomore representative Allen "Cam" Parry said they first intended to object to a position change involving Richard Nazarian, recommended to be shifted from student personnel services as an assistant dean to a counselor.

Babineau and Parry, who said they were convinced trustees wouldn't hear their objections to the proposed switch of Nazarian during last week's meeting, decided to make an in-depth analysis of the administrative reorganization proposals.

Babineau said Nazarian's role change appears to be part of a continuing trend to cut back student services. "Four years ago, there were six positions in student services. Then they were cut to five. By the first of next month, if the report is adopted, they'll be cut to four," he said.

Parry said of the report analysis, "We found a big mistake in the board subcommittee's proposal."

He and Babineau explained that while the report is being presented as a money saver, the actual result will see the district spending up to $32,000 more than it does now.

Parry said Nazarian is a tenured employe and cannot be fired. As a certificated counselor, Parry said Nazarian will have to be paid around $28,000 a year. "That's not in their (the subcommittee) report," he said.

Also not stated in the subcommittee's proposals, Parry said, is the salary of the new personnel officer of $20,000 to $25,000 a year.

"We're not opposed to the college hiring a personnel officer," Babineau said. "The college has needed a personnel officer a long time. But the whole report comes across as saving money, yet it will mean more money."

Meanwhile, Joe Johnson, assistant to SRJC President Roy Mikalson and scheduled to be upgraded to an associate dean for administrative services in the proposed reorganization, called the subcommittee's report complex and in need of careful interpretation.

He said the proposals deal with administrative salaries and positions. Agreeing that Nazarian must be retained in college employ, Johnson said the result of the reorganization will be that administrative costs will be less.

"Another way to look at Nazarian's position change," Johnson said, "is that the students are gaining another counselor."

If adopted as proposed, the reorganization's major achievement would be to give SRJC a vice president for academic affairs in recognition of the increasing administrative demands in operating a community college district.

Dear Sirs:

The staff of The Oak Leaf would like to request a subsidy of from the the board of trustees to pay for part of the cost of sending eight students to the Journalism Association of Community Colleges convention in Los Angeles April 22, 23, and 24, 1977.

Last year The Oak Leaf, in absentia, won a state-wide award for general excellence at this convention. Last fall The Oak Leaf was given a second place for general excellence by the Northern California branch of this organization at a convention which we attended at West Valley College in Saratoga. The Oak Leaf at this point has a reputation as one of the best junior college newspapers in California, and these excellent student journalists should be able to attend their state convention.

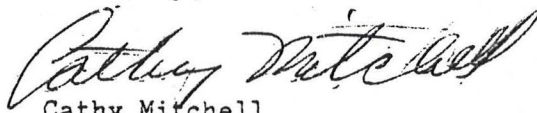

The convention will include 15 workshops conducted by well-known journalists plus several on-the-spot writing, editing and layout competitions.

Costs of attending athletic competitions and speech tournaments are paid for by the college. By selling advertising the Oak Leaf staffers have raised most of the money to pay for their trip. I, and my students, would appreciate it very much if the board of trustees would allocate the balance of the funds needed for the trip.

A detailed break-down of costs and income and a note on Oak Leaf financing are attached.

I thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Cathy Mitchell
Journalism Instructor

A NOTE ON THE FINANCING OF THE OAK LEAF:

The first four pages of each issue of The Oak Leaf are paid for jointly by the Santa Rosa Junior College District and the Associated Student Body ($143 by the district and $82 by the ASB).

Most of the issues of the newspaper, however, run eight or 12 pages. The cost of these extra pages is paid for by revenue sold by The Oak Leaf staff. The first $500 of all advertising revenue plus 10 percent of all revenue thereafter goes back into ASB coffers. Another 20 percent of the revenue is paid in commissions to the student salesmen. The other 70 percent pays newspaper costs.

I have not asked for subsidies to pay for eight and 12 page newspapers because I think my students should realize that in the commercial newspaper world the size and quality of a newspaper depends very much on the hustle of the advertising department.

At my urging the students have budgeted the cost of each newspaper conservatively so that they would end up with a profit which they could use to pay costs of going to the convention.

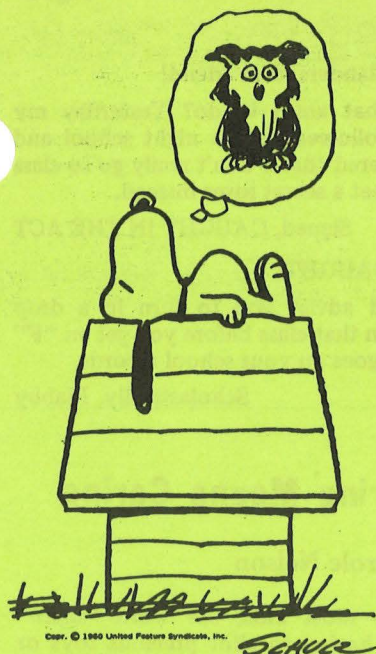

After debts are paid, the Oak Leaf advertising account including money owed to us, as of 3-1-77 stands at $590.00. We would like to hold $190.00 in reserve to cover the cost of extra supplies and other contingencies. The rest, $400.00, can go to pay for the costs of the trip.

Cathy Mitchell

CADENAC

I move that the Executive Cabinet urge the College Student Assembly appeal to the Board of Trustees to reconsider, in the Administrative Reorganization Proposal, the elimination of a position in Student Personnel Services so that the work of Student Personnel Services in meeting the needs of students may not be further curtailed.

The Night Whooooo?

A Special Bag of "Peanuts"

by Paul Conroy

His appearance is so casual, chances are you've passed him on the street with no idea who he is. But the chances are much greater that you are an avid fan of his and that he visits your house daily, or at least on Sundays.

Charles Schulz keeps delighting millions with the characters and stories he's created the last 26 years. Everyone knows Charlie Brown and his pals, even though the creator of Peanuts remains quietly and unassuming in the background.

You will have the opportunity to meet this world famous citizen and local resident and be able to see original versions of many of his characters. Schulz will be attending the opening reception March 20, 4 - 6 pm of "Snoopy Goes to College." This is not only a display of some 230 sketches and drawings but also includes an example of the reproducing phases involved from concept to completion of a typical comic strip.

The show can be seen at the campus Art Gallery, Monday - Friday, 12 - 4 pm and Saturday - Sunday, 1 - 4 pm, and 6 - 9 pm the first week only. It will continue until April 14.

Besides its content and local appeal, the exhibit is an historical first. Schulz has never before taken part in a formal gallery showing of this type.

Asked if this is a sign of the beginning of "Comic Art," Schulz replied, "It doesn't seem likely, and it is probably just as well if it's left alone. The reactions from the critics and columnists could change its (comic strip) direction towards a line of film art, and that's not the purpose of cartooning."

He explained, in a Night Owl interview, referring to the work he does, "It's too limited in structure to be a legitimate art form," unlike the accepted forms of gallery art such as painting and sculpture.

Nevertheless, Schulz's work requires a skill and professionalism rarely found. "There are probably only 300 working cartoonists in the country," he said, adding later, "It's such a specialized field, most people don't have the interest."

According to this man who always wanted to be a cartoonist and feels he "was born to do it", this type of drawing requires a combination of abilities which, in some ways, seem to contradict each other. Said Schulz, "He can't be too good, for if he's too good a drawer, he doesn't have the emotion and freedom (of imagination)." But he quickly added with a smile, "You can't be too bad, either."

Because comic strips look so simple, their creation appears deceptive. "People think cartooning is sitting around drawing funny pictures."

A few semesters ago Charles Schulz taught a course in cartooning at SRJC, but discovered people enrolled in droves mainly to see him, the celebrity, rather than to learn the skills such drawing requires. That probably explains his answer to the question, "Can cartooning be taught?"

He replied, "Probably not." But he did say he has not closed the door entirely to the possibility of teaching again at some future date.

At his drawing board, surrounded by the tools of his trade, a portable inkwell and a random collection of pens, Schulz demonstrated in his studio how his technique is a direct one. He uses no preliminary sketches. The Peanuts strip is done directly onto smooth pen-and-ink paper.

Like other artists, Schulz experiences periods of extraordinary creativity. "There are times when, at the end of the day, I feel good about my work—much like a comedian or actor feels when rehearsing good lines and he knows people will like it."

Although he claims to feel these periods "too seldom", he admitted to being three months ahead of his normal 6 - 10 week deadline. "I could take off, but then I'd be back on the line again."

With a daily audience of 60 - 100 million people in over 1,300 papers in 19 different languages, obviously Schulz is too modest. His Peanuts Jubilee has sold over 30,000 copies despite its $30 hardback price and 150,000 in last year's paperback version, which sells for $8.

The artist does all his own drawing with the exception of animated cartoons which have proven so popular on television. In this case, professional illustrators work with him. In the forthcoming "It's Your First Kiss, Charlie Brown," the Little Red Haired Girl will make her TV debut. She will be the first major character not originally drawn by Schulz. He doesn't feel comfortable in attempting to match the mental picture his readers have developed.

Besides skill, sensitivity, and discipline, plain common sense is a necessary part of cartooning success. Schulz also feels the panels cannot be turned into "little movie screens with the script written first and the illustrations made to fit that script."

Editorial

Are evening college students second class citizens within the SRJC community?

Of the 15,879 people registered in Adult and Continuing Education courses, the majority attend classes at night and hold down full time jobs during the day. Because of hour scheduling, these people are unable to take advantage of many college services, such as job counseling, COIL tutoring, and noon-time lectures and concerts, all readily available to day students. Considering it is those who are employed who, as tax payers, support the college, this seems extremely unfair.

Aside from missing out on extra-curricular activities, more serious issues are involved. Counseling services for evening students have been extended, but are the students aware of the fact? There is a physician whose services are available two days a week in the Health Office, but can evening students have a chance to utilize such services? Could Saturdays or early evenings be put to use for us?

Do you feel night students have the same scope and selection of courses? Are the instructors equally as competent in the evening if they, too, have been holding down an eight hour day-time job?

This semester the Night Owl will report on the services and facilities open to evening students. We want to know if you feel certain of these areas should be expanded and made more accessible to evening students.

We have no desire to see money wasted on unnecessary programs, but we do believe those who make the Community College possible should be able to receive its full benefits.

We want your reactions, opinions and suggestions on these matters. Leave letters or suggestions in the Night Owl box in the Journalism Office next to the Bear's Den or at the Evening College Office in Bailey Hall.

Dear Flabby Slanders

Dear Flabby,

I'm a middle-aged night student who has returned to school after a long absence. Do you have any advice for me?

Signed, BACK AT LAST

Dear BACK:

Yes! Bring a note from your mother.

Flabby

Dear Flab,

Male Chauvanism slapped this person right on the fanny this past week. I am indignant that so little respect for women and their cause is shown by local law enforcement agencies, especially in light of the fact that last week was International Women's Week!

My wife was visiting her sister and I decided to step into the closet and "dress." I never go drag in public; just in the privacy of my own home. But on the evening in question I looked, and felt, so good the the thrill of going out that way was irresistible.

A short walk to the campus, a few blocks away, surely wouldn't hurt; besides, the dog did need the exercise. About halfway to the campus the dog, a little unsure of my real identity, began to tangle his leash around and between my legs. He barked and growled and began nipping at my fashionable hemline. Well, the scene must have looked ridiculous as I lost my balance and fell off my wife's platform shoes.

By this time the dog was straining for freedom, convinced he was a victim. A passing car screeched to a halt. A good samaritan I thought. A woman jumped from the car and began screaming, "Call the police, that woman is stealing my dog!" Porch lights flashed on and three minutes later the squad car rolled in. The woman, who I soon recognized as my very own wife, was hysterical and refused to recognize me.

To condense the outcome, Flab, I was booked on a sex offense and my wife is still "trying to understand." What should I do?

Signed, GOT PROBLEMS

Dear GOT:

I'll say you've got problems! Anyone who knows anything about today's look knows that you never wear platform shoes when walking a dog. As for your very apparent problem, well...try using a shorter leash next time.

Helpfully, Flabby

Dear Slanders, dear friend!

What am I to do? Yesterday my wife followed me to night school and discovered that I don't really go to class but meet a secret lover instead.

Signed, CAUGHT IN THE ACT

Dear CAUGHT:

I'd advise you to turn in a drop card on that class before you get an "F" and it goes on your school records.

Scholastically, Flabby

Sharing Means Caring

by Carole Nelson

To most kids, the word "share" means having to allot precious toys or candy to playmates. For those children and adults involved in the Santa Rosa Junior College Share Program, the significance is much deeper.

Share, a one-to-one volunteer tutoring program, forms not only a teacher-student relationship but, more important, a friend to friend learning experience. Beyond being a tutor to a child, the essence of Share is interest, understanding and love.

Share appeared on the SRJC campus four years ago. A State funded operation, Share's main headquarters are in San Jose, California. Cori Ashworth is the present SRJC liason with Share Central and supervises the campus staff from Room 77 in Analy Hall. The project is open to both day and evening students, but nighttimers must apply for Share in the Analy office, weekdays from 9 am-3 pm.

Depending on the number of hours they tutor per week, students participating in Share are eligible for one to five credits under Social Science 51. Also available under Education 50 is a suggested discussion group. This workshop aids and supports tutors while presenting ideas and resource materials.

The children referred to Share have potential, but for a variety of reasons are having difficulty in school. The problems may be academic, social, or a combination of both. Both tutor and tutee are benefactors in the learning encounter.

When asked what the most important aspect of the Share operation might be, Debby Hansen of the Share staff replied, "It helps kids. All of us remember a time when we needed help and our families or teachers couldn't help. It would have been great to have a Share tutor to share and learn with. It's just a really neat thing!"

For more information on Share call 527-4265.

Counseling Services

by Pat Hamilton

Counseling services for evening students have been greatly expanded in the past two years. Two part-time counselors serve Adult and Continuing Education students exclusively.

They are there to assist in course selection, explain degree, graduation, and transfer requirements, and supply information on vocations and careers.

Vocational Interest Testing is available through the counseling department. Tests are administered in the Student Personnel Office Monday- Friday, 7:45 am - 4:45 pm. If the hours are prohibitive, the tests can be obtained from the evening counselors. There is a $1.85 fee for the tests to cover the cost of scoring by an outside agency.

Once the tests are completed and scored, a counselor reviews the results with the student and can suggest specific career or vocational areas which the student would probably find enjoyable and fulfilling.

Office hours for the evening counselors are Monday - Thursday 2 - 5 pm and 6 - 10 pm. Noel Adams is the scheduled counselor Monday - Wednesday. Claudia Busching is scheduled on Thursdays. They can be seen on either an appointment or drop-in basis. Come to the Evening College Counter in Bailey Hall or call 545-4441.

The Man in the Center

ean Durham

The man who pounds and expounds about SRJC's Petaluma Center sees his dreams come true. Duane Blackwill, the Center's coordinator, is a man of boundless enthusiasm. His favorite words are "dreams" and "magic."

He has dreams—but he is no dreamer. Blackwill is a doer. The things he has made happen are in evidence everywhere at Petaluma Center: physical things, emotional things, practical things.

Blackwill's office is located on the second floor of the Center, originally the old Labor Administration Building on Keller Street. The College has gradually taken over all of this Petaluma building with the exception of one office.

The last year has seen changes. Blackwill and his little tool kit became a familiar sight. He says, "When it became evident the floor covering in the art room would not stay put, I fixed it. I went out and bought the metal strips and nailed them in place."

The coordinator's pride in such physical labor rivals a small boy's, tinged by the tone of his voice. He is building a lab bench. Installing new hardware on the doors is next on his agenda.

It's hard to describe the feeling of closeness which exudes from the Center. It's an intangible something not found on the Santa Rosa campus. Size is a contributing factor. Smiles too. Everyone smiles.

A walk alongside Blackwill down the corridor gives one a feeling of walking with the father of a particularly friendly family.

The Center has the embryo of a library. Two metal book racks reside in a room about the size of a house's master bedroom. As he opened a door leading from this library, Blackwill said, "This will be our bookstore. It will be completed in the near future."

The room he indicated would serve as that same master's bath. It's bitter-sweet to note the pride and effort invested in this fledgling library.

Which brings up the question: Why?

Why should the student in Petaluma have to "make-do?" The City of Petaluma has such a handsome new library. But this public library is so small! Picture one-fourth of that facility filled with college related books, books available to students and the public at large. Couldn't they be paid for out of the Center's budget?

Blackwill, changing the subject, says, "Night has boomed...We have almost twice as many evening students as day. This seems to be a trend in 1977. We are at present using all the room available at night. Our next goal will be to offer a book service at night. A day service is already in progress."

Including both day and night classes, student enrollment has hit Blackwill's "magic number" of 1,000.

It is now possible for a student to transfer to Sonoma State College by attending Petaluma Center classes only. The new Biology Department is partially responsible for this. About 30 people now attend Clark Nattkemper's Field Biology class.

Popular demand affects classes. One may be instituted after prospective participants generate sufficient interest.

Duane Blackwill

Brush-up courses for nurses got off the ground in this manner. Blackwill says, "Petaluma Center's main function is serving the community in the best possible manner." So this is the man whose ear should be bent by new ideas.

Asked about the type of student predominantly using the Center's facilities, Blackwill replied, "Between 70 and 80% are returning to school after an absence. This type of student is critical and interested in the education he or she is getting."

There are high school students taking courses at the Center under the Student Enrichment Program. Blackwill says, "We lose about one half of the high school students who start this program. Many are not ready for the rigors of college level study. Perhaps the type of class these students choose prompts this. Many pick heavy courses with long out of class reading hours required."

In addition to his executive duties—and his carpentry duties—Blackwill holds the Center together in another way. He hosts coffee and donut get-togethers for students and staff. So one might say, here is a man who covers everything from nuts to donuts.

Chicken vs. Egg

by Pat Hamilton

Open only one night a week—Wednesdays 6 - 8 pm—the Career Center is visited by an average of six Adult and Continuing Education students in that period each week.

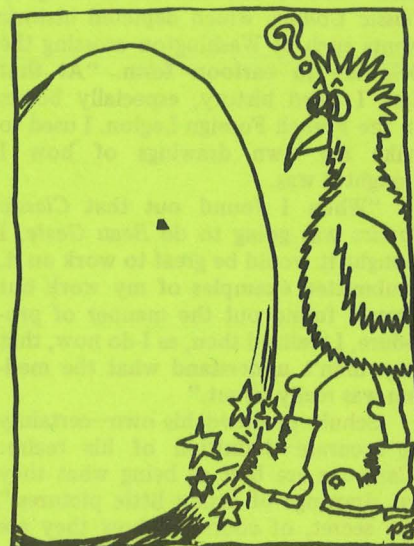

Open 8 am - 4 pm Monday - Friday, this same office is used by 250 day students and the community-at-large each week.

It seems a question of chicken vs. egg coming first. Would longer hours attract more night students? Betsy Young, center "librarian," says evening college people are more than welcome and it is hoped they will use the facilities a good deal more.

The Career Center offers a wide range of information on a variety of occupations. Each one listed in the U.S. Department of Labor's Dictionary of Occupational Titles can be found in the card catalogue. There are files with pamphlets and small books about many—though not all—of these jobs.

A relatively good selection of regular reference books offers information on occupations, educational facilities—including degree requirements and vocational programs, employment trends, large employers—particularly government agencies and the armed forces, and opportunities for special groups such as women, union workers, and the handicapped. Audio-visual materials and magazines are quite limited, but the selection is growing.

There are a few job openings posted in the Center. Betsy Young keeps information on job openings with about 10 agencies, which include Affirmative Action, the City of Santa Rosa, and Cal State Sonoma.

$ 20 to Graduate ??

by Peter Fisk

Here's a way to graduate early.

There are at least 60 courses for which students can receive credit by passing an exam (written, oral, demonstration, or a combination) without ever attending a class. The courses include agriculture, forestry, earth sciences, biology, physics, math, art, music, health occupations, psychology, history, language, business, home economics, machine shop, and welding.

Don't cancel your vacation to Acapulco because you miscalculated and are a few units short of graduating... until you've checked out the possibility of earning Credit by Examination. Anyone possessing good study habits or adequate knowledge of a subject, with 12 units already completed at SRJC, and $20 to spare for each exam, ought to take advantage of this amazing academic loophole.

There's no limit to the number of units a student can accumulate in this manner. So flabbergast your folks as you cash in early on their promise of a new Mercedes for your graduation. Be equipped earlier to entice elusive employers by dangling your dependable new diploma into the selective, shifting seas of the job market.

Watch out! These exams may be difficult, and there will be no refunds if you flunk. A grade of "C" or better is necessary to get credit for a course, but neither an "F" nor an "A" will effect your grade point average.

The friendly folks at the Office of Instruction or at the Registration desk in Bailey Hall will help you with the necessary paperwork.

A cartoonist all his life, Schulz has stuck by his basic principles all that time. When 18 he submitted drawings to Classic Comics which depicted historic events such as Washington crossing the Delaware in cartoon form. "At that time I liked history, especially books on the French Foreign Legion. I used to make my own drawings of how I thought it was.

"When I found out that Classic Comics was going to do Beau Geste, I thought it would be great to work on it. I submitted examples of my work but when I found out the manner of procedure, I realized then, as I do now, that they didn't understand what the medium was really about."

Schulz provided his own—certainly an accurate—definition of his realm: "Cartoons are best at being what they are, drawings of funny little pictures." The secret, of course, is how they are drawn.

Fenced In - Fenced Out

by Eva A. McDanel

Class was dismissed early the first night of this semester so I decided to stop by Room 221 to get my parking sticker.

I was a little perturbed to find barbed wire topped fence all over the place. My car was in the south end of the Elliot Ave. Parking lot, so I took the road that runs by Kent Hall.

Following the fence on our ill-lit campus, the feeling grew that the place was more like a prison than a junior college. Much chagrined, I found the south exit road fenced over. One friendly student said there was a gate in back of Kent Hall. Feeling my way in the darkness, I found it. The gate was locked and it was only 8:30.

With the Women Against Rape (WAR) warning announcement read in the classroom still ringing in my ears, I began to feel more than a little uneasy.

I followed the fence back to Baker Hall. In fact, I thought about asking for a campus police escort to one gray Toyota truck that I had been vainly trying to reach.

Just then I saw a lanky student heading west, so decided to follow him. I was almost dog-trotting to keep him in sight when he turned into a building. In another moment I was face to face with the fence again.

Turning back, once more I was within shouting distance of Room 221. Really frustrated now, I made my way to Elliot Ave. and the parking lot, the north east corner of it. The Toyota was in the south west corner of the lot and I had to cross diagonally by the lonely wire-enclosed prison of parked cars.

It seems it would have been common courtesy to have given each student information about which pathways and roads were fenced off. It would certainly have been appreciated by this one Gold Card holder. I have long enjoyed the stimulation of attending SRJC, but almost gave it up in frustration the first night of this term.

Viewers of the Schulz exhibit will see not only original sketches and drawings of the Peanuts gang, but also books and objects related to Peanuts which will be shown along with reproducing techniques.

"A cartoon changes when reproduced in a newspaper...The texture of the lines and the freshness of the drawing are lost," according to the artist.

Whether in original form or not, there is no doubt that all the little people—and Snoopy—have a freshness and vigor in their daily lives which enrich ours, as fans throughout the world prove.

Lumps and Bumps

by Jean Durham

Much has been said concerning the lot of the night student. Thoughts on the subject range from true and just gripes to far-fetched melodrama. Somewhere between the two there's also the train of thought of the romantic.

Actually, this romantic slant is a new idea to me. I never thought of groping around a dark campus as being anything but bothersome. Then I took the cure. I came to SRJC in broad daylight for the first time.

What a shock to my nervous system! Erstwhile gently shrouded forms became reality in the harsh light of day. That little fat kid who I invariably passed on the way to class dissolved into a little fat shrub. Birds replaced crickets. There were angles and sharp forms everywhere.

Here I stood, in the middle of a dear and familiar campus, blinking madly. I was used to identifying buildings by their sequence of lit-up windows. Now I was truly lost. In fact, not only was I lost but my car was, too!

I had ventured too far in this jungle, so quickly abandoned my scheme to infiltrate the enemy lines. My sole objective became getting to the safety of my car.

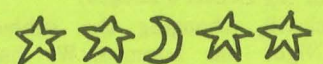

Try asking directions sometime when the only landmark you can offer is described in glowing umbra and penumbra adjectives.

After a few startled looks from would-be helpful students, I did the only sensible thing—whipped out three pairs of sunglasses, propped them precariously on my face and then marched with some degree of confidence toward the parking lot. Now I knew my turf! Grass was once more a dear, familiar fuzzy grey. Those two tall dark what-ers stood solidly where they belonged—just beyond that building with 24 lit-up panes.

With the reappearance of my regular landmarks it was tempting to stick around awhile to show off my campus navigation expertise.

That's when I noticed a campus policeman hovering discreetly in the background. I began to feel like a mole flushed out by a garden hose. So I bid the fat kid a fond good evening—er—afternoon, selected my car from a lot full of gray and black vehicles and happily headed home.

As I said, a night campus is a romantic campus. Give me lumps and bumps in the dark any old time. Give me soft footfalls, crickets, muffled voices. Give me SRJC after dark.

BOARD SUMMARY

Office of Public Information (707) 527-4266

SPECIAL BOARD MEETING OF MARCH 21, 1977

Trustees held a public hearing to listen to comments from staff, students, and the public on the recommendations for administrative reorganization proposed by the Board's subcommittee on administrative reorganization. Most speakers ask that a decision be delayed until further input could be ascertained. Some of the comments follow:

JERRY BABINEAU and CAM PARRY. . . Speaking for the Associated Students' Executive Cabinet, they objected to the elimination of the Assistant Dean of Student Personnel Services stating the need for an accessible administrator for students, and pointing out that reorganization costs should include the cost of an additional counselor position to which the Assistant Dean would be assigned.

COURTENAY ANDERSON. . . Speaking for the Academic Senate, called the Board's attention to the seven points of objection to the report mentioned in the Senate minutes of March 16. In particular, he expressed the need for a statement of purpose; placement of the curriculum, instructional, and other committees under the Vice-President; and making the Assistant Dean of Liberal Arts and Associate Dean of Occupational Education on the same level. He also commended the Board on the inclusion of the College Council as part of governance.

JOAN WION. . . Spoke on the need for more time to study the subcommittee's proposal and asked for a delay in action so that faculty could study the proposal further.

REG ELGIN. . . Spoke on the need to retain the position of Assistant Dean of Student Personnel Services, commenting on the numerous positive changes that have taken place recently in the areas under the Assistant Dean's responsibility.

DICK HOLLINGSHEAD. . . Spoke on the need for a further study of the Business Services division.

Reorganization may create vice presidency

Santa Rosa Junior College's administration may have a vice president if recommended reorganization plans are carried out.

The college district has been governed by a board of trustees with a campus-district president and a variety of deans, associates and assistants.

Because of increasing responsibilities and demands of district operations, various sources have recommended a restructuring of administrative functions and governance procedures.

Trustees this week heard the latest proposals in the reorganization or structure changes and set a public hearing for 7:30 p.m. Monday in Pioneer Hall assembly room to provide an opportunity for district residents to comment.

Following the hearing, the board will hold a special meeting March 28 to consider adoption of a final reorganization.

Prior to Monday's hearing, copies of the latest reorganization proposals will be made available for study at the college.

The leading proposal for board consideration appears to be a multi-page structure recommended Monday by the trustee subcommittee on administrative reorganization.

As presented, the proposal differs in many areas and concepts from a proposal series developed by the ad hoc committee on district reorganization.

In addition to actual reports, comments have been received and incorporated in the board subcommittee proposals from faculty, students and other sources.

The actual administrative organizational chart developed March 28 or later may be a combination of proposals or a format modified by the board during the evaluation at that meeting.

A vice president for academic affairs would be the key ingredient of the reorganization with a job description indicating a responsible role including the requirement for integration of day and evening activities.

Half the vice president's duties would be taken from the existing dean of instruction with the other half of the dean's role given an assistant dean for liberal arts together with the duties of the current director of educational services.

Other positions would be overhauled and strengthened with some elevated to administrative level for district purposes such as the director of SRJC's Petaluma Center.

The board subcommittee also recommends elimination of one assistant dean in student personnel services—a proposal not forwarded by the ad hoc committee.

Meanwhile, several recommendations from the ad hoc committee would be incorporated in the board subcommittee proposals while others would not be implemented.

Included in the reorganization proposals is a job description for the vice president role. The annual salary for the position, if approved, would be about $37,800. That's about $2,200 more than a dean.

29 temporary teachers told jobs will end

Santa Rosa Junior College's enrollment decline during the current school year will cause a teaching staff cutback for the 1977-78 calendar.

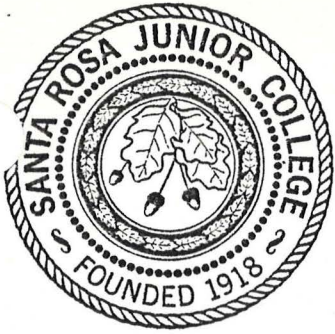

College officials, required to notify employees of their status as of March 15, authorized notices to 29 temporary certificated employees at this week's meeting.

The list of staff members to be cut includes six dropped due to the actual enrollment decline this year, while others will be terminated as persons they replaced during leaves will return, other positions will be consolidated and some special positions ended.

All cuts are from the day faculty.

Involved in the termination notices is the fact the 1976-77 budget was based on an enrollment of 11,500. The enrollment now is estimated at 10,720.

One impact of the lower enrollment is a shortage of $450,000 to $670,000 in the operating budget. The state allocates funds according to enrollment. The shortage is being covered by reserves, but cannot continue as a drain on unappropriated funds.

SRJC EASTER HANDICAPPED WALK-A-THON

I. Purpose:

- a. To help supplement the current financial budget of the (Special Education Program). This program has three outlying branches, APE, PHP, and the LSP. All of these programs have expressed support for the Walk-A-Thon, and the need for the extra funds.
- b. To help promote cooperation, harmony and to better facilitate business and relations between Santa Rosa Junior College Student Government, and our elected officials.

II. Participants:

The SRJC Easter Handicapped Walk-A-Thon is an invitation only event. The reason behind the invitation only policy is explained in Section Ib. Also, due to the nature of the course being only ten (10) miles instead of the customary twenty (20) miles, the fewer and more select the members, the smoother and quicker the execution of the Walk-A-Thon.

III. The Course:

Please refer to the map. A parade permit is being granted by the Santa Rosa Police Dept., along with a police escort. The parade will start in the east parking lot of the City Hall. The SRJC Pep Band will be stationed in the lot along with the police vehicles. As the refreshment truck and walkers approach City Hall from Sonoma Av., the Police escort will take the lead followed by the refreshment truck, walkers, the SRJC Pep Band and, lastly, by a police vehicle at the end of the parade. The parade will terminate on frontage road of the SRJC campus. Please refer to course map for parade route.

IV. Emergency Precautions:

In the event of any form of emergency, it is planned to have the hospital and Fire Dept. notification made to help insure maximum protection.

V. Refreshment and First-aid:

A pick-up truck will be donated for use as the refreshment truck. This truck will be furnished with water and first-aid supplies in case such minor first aid is needed. In the event that lavatories are needed, service stations along the route will be notified to expect the use of their facilities during the course of the day.

VI. Conclusion:

It is my sincere desire that this effort by the ASB Walk-A-Thon Committee to help raise funds for a deserving cause, help promote harmony and cooperation both on and off the campus of Santa Rosa Junior College, and to show the citizens of this city and county that it's civic leaders do care.

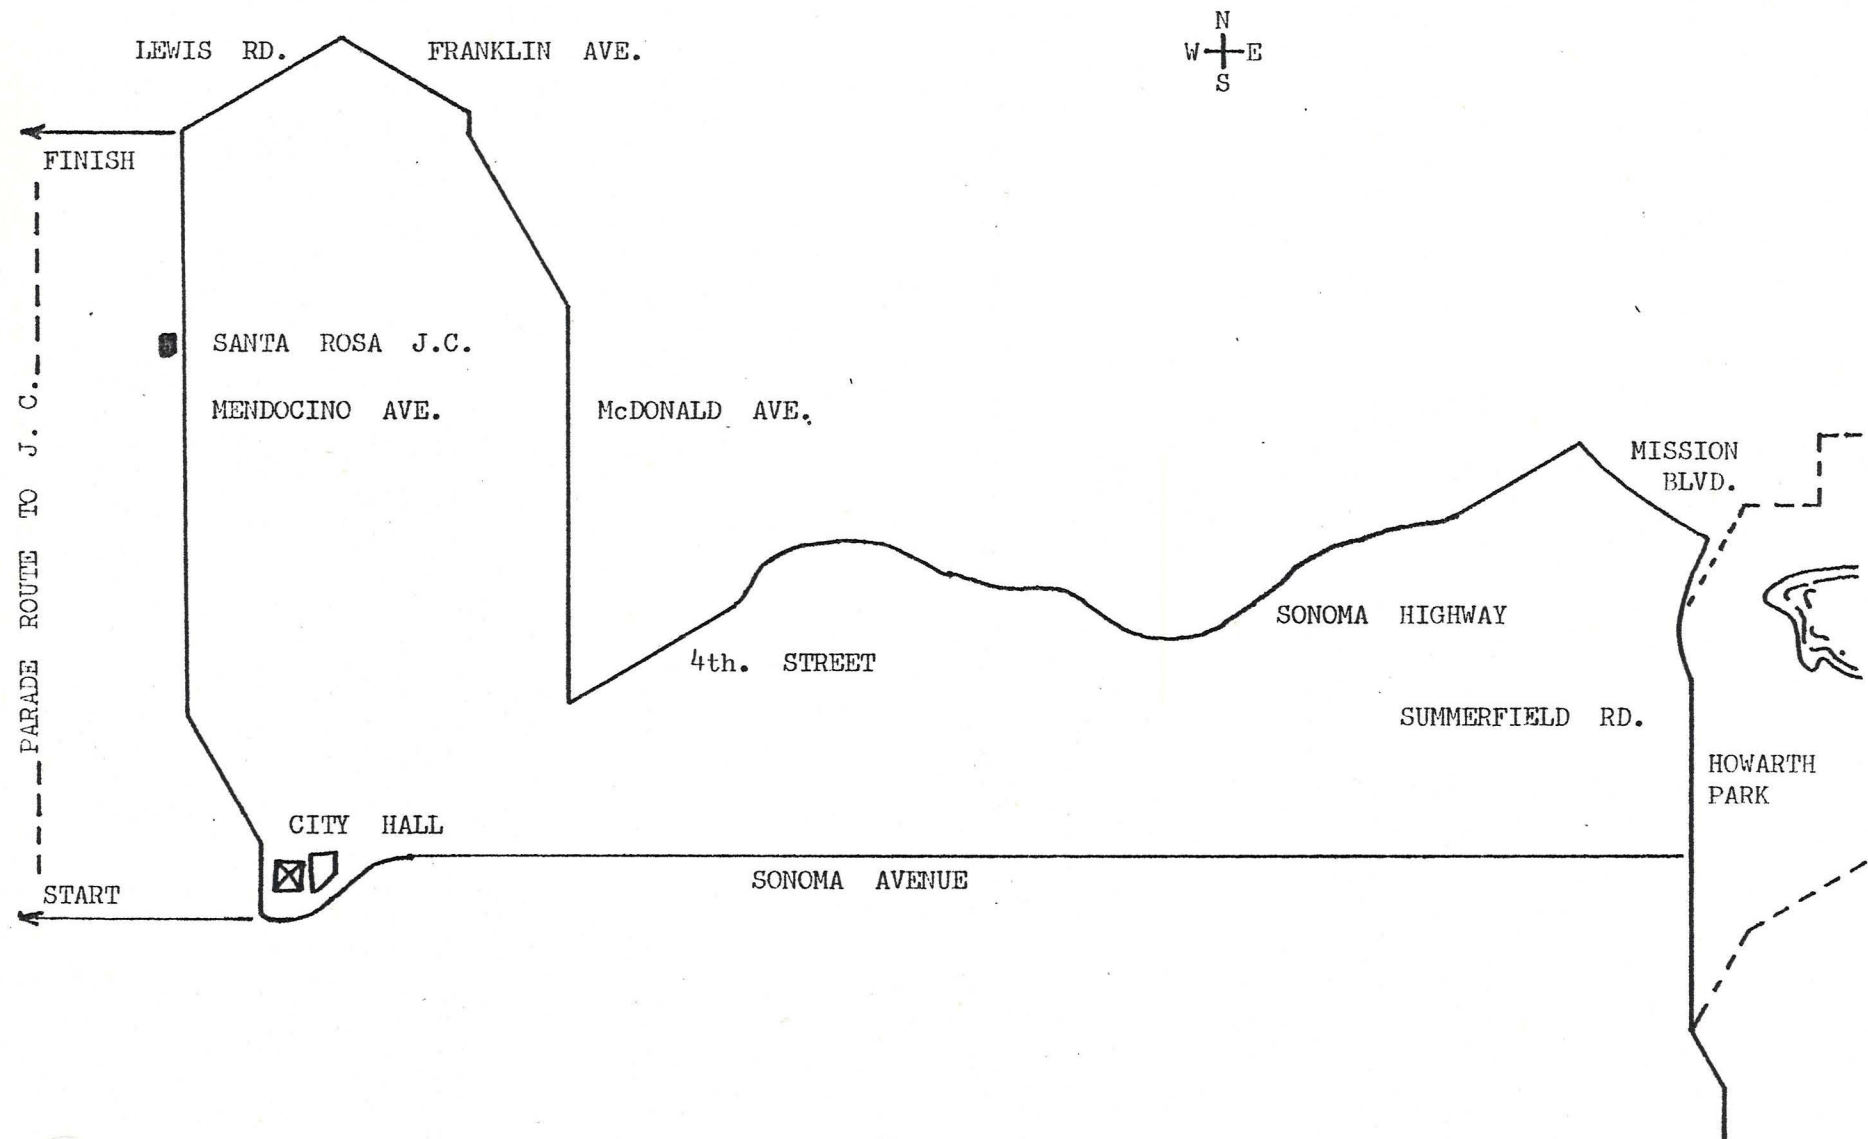

With hope for the future,

I. Adaptive Physical Education

a. Description

- 1) A.P.E. - Is a new concept in physical education. It is a course designed to enable the physically limited members of our community to participate in recreational/therapeutic activities.

b. Financial Needs

- 1) A.P.E. has a various number of activities to consider before making a decision. Wheelchair repair, basketballs, uniforms and entry fees, all have a top priority where funding is considered.

II. People Helping People

a. Description

- 1) P.H.P. has come together to provide a more equal opportunity for those of us who are physically limited to pursue any course of study, be it academic or vocational. In order to accomplish this, we have initiated a program of "supportive services", designed to help compensate for problems related to physical disabilities, through the use of special equipment and personal attendance.

b. Financial Needs

- 1) P.H.P. can use any monies donated for a number of services, such as: Electric Wheelchair repair, transportation, materials and various types of equipment.

III. Learning Skills Program

a. Description

- 1) The L.S.P. Program serves students whose special learning needs would make it difficult for them to succeed in regular junior college classes without intensive remedial work and/or emotional support. They provide individualized tutorial help in reading, spelling, writing, math and study skills under the direct supervision of instructors qualified to diagnose specific learning needs.

b. Financial Needs

- 1) As mentioned in the previous two programs, the L.S.P. program has numerous uses for monies donated. Materials and equipment are high on the priority list. It has been stated that a Keystona Telebinocular and an Electromyograph device would be extremely beneficial to the students as well as the program.

SRJC Easter Handicapped/Walk-A-Thon

IV. Donators

a. Specified

- 1) Donations will be requested from all SRJC Associated Students merchants.
- 2) Donations will be requested in advance of the Walk-A-Thon however, plans are being made for the acceptance of late donations.
- 3) It is planned that all donations will be tax deductible, pending approval of the SRJC Foundation.

break dean's fund

Hundreds of needy SRJC students virtually broke the bank at this year's spring registration, causing administrators of the Dean's Loan and Grant Fund (DLGF) to begin serious consideration towards reorganizing the program.

The DLGF, which was established to help students join the college's Associated Student Body (ASB) went into financial trouble the first day of registration by overloaning more than

By the end of the three day registration period, the DLGF had been extended by almost $5,100.

Many students were denied related loans this year because, as one registration official said "I'm sorry, we're broke. There's no money in the DLGF...We can't give any more loans."

The loans, which are usually $11, made financially pressed students to join the ASB.

However, students, who have borrowed from the fund in past semesters have not been paying the loan back despite threats from the administration that transcripts may be withheld and that students may be denied registration.

Richard Nazarian, assistant dean of student personnel, said that delinquent loans have complicated this year's program.

"It would appear that from about the middle of last December to the present, we have had fewer students repaying the loans," said Nazarian. "I would encourage them to pay back the fund so that other students with equal or greater financial need could take advantage of the program."

Gene Canevari, assistant dean of student activities, indicated that the DLGF could not help financially troubled students unless the fund is repaid.

"The fund depends on the eventual repayment of the loan which the student can pay any time throughout the semester," said Canevari. "It would give a greater opportunity to help other students if the fund was replenished."

The repayment of money to the DLGF would help relieve pressure on the program but proposals are now being considered to reorganize the entire DLGF loan system.

One proposal suggests that the $11 loan be separated into its individual parts: the registration, parking and ASB membership. Presently, the student must purchase all three to get the loan even though they may not want to join the ASB or to get the parking discount.

Nazarian feels that separating the $2 registration, $9 ASB and parking fee could have saved the college over $1000 this year alone. The obvious draw back to this is that students would be less likely to spend $9 to join the ASB once they had paid the $2 registration fee.

Canevari, whose department is in charge of the ASB, strongly opposes this proposal, as it directly affects the amount of money in the ASB budget. Canevari would rather separate the $2 parking discount fee from the other two thereby reducing the loan to $9. He feels that the ASB and registration fees should not be separated further.

Less severe is the administration's proposal by Nazarian. "There's always a few who try to take advantage of the system," said Nazarian. "Most people forget. The vast majority are responsible and reliable," he said confidently. "We'll send them a reminder in the mail."

SRJC sets Easter walk-a-thon

An Easter walk-a-thon will be sponsored from 9 a.m. to its conclusion April 9 by Santa Rosa Junior College Associated Students.

The walk-a-thon is planned by the college Ad Hoc Committee, with proceeds going to SRJC special education programs, Adaptive Physical Education, People Helping People and Learning Skills.

Funds are coordinated through the SRJC Foundation.

James DeManche, Associated Student Body vice president, said walk participants will include Santa Rosa Councilman Murray Zatzman and his wife, Mary; Councilwoman Donna Born; Third District Supervisor Helen Rudee; Superior Court Judge John Gallagher; Ann Byrd, past NAACP president; Jerry Babineau, associated student body president and Clarence Hagans, past student body president.

The route begins from SRJC to Lewis Road, Franklin Avenue, McDonald Avenue, Fourth Street, Mission Boulevard, Summerfield Road and Sonoma Avenue to City Hall.

A walk-a-thon parade is scheduled once walkers reach City Hall. The parade will take marchers back to the college campus.

The walk is by invitation only and covers 10 miles. It is designed to promote harmony between students and elected officials.

I move that, the College Student Assembly approve the Master Plan for the Doyle Student Center renovation and recommend to the Board of Trustees that the entire renovation be funded for construction.

m/s/c

I move that, the College Student Assembly recommend to the Board of Trustees that the Student Use Fee be raised from $2.00 to $3.00 as a method of raising additional funds for the renovation of the entire Doyle Student Center.

INSTRUCTIONS TO CSA MEMBERS at the - ASB "Ask Me, Tell Me"

Table in the Cafeteria --

Your job is to act as a communications vehicle for students who have questions, or problems, which would be of interest to Student Government or to the Activities Office.

You don't need to defend anything. You are just there to receive questions.

Please don't give out false information. Don't make things up. If you don't know, David and I will work with you to get answers. Get the students name and address and phone number and we will contact them with information.

Thank you in advance for doing this job.

Sincerely,

SRJC considers reorganization

Santa Rosa Junior College trustees may adopt an administrative reorganization plan during a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Pioneer Hall's assembly room.

At a preliminary public hearing last week, trustees had to move to the campus cafeteria because of the large turnout of faculty and students.

The reorganization has stirred objections about the board's apparent haste to consider a board subcommittee proposal which includes only portions of a campus-wide ad hoc committee proposal developed in a two-year study.

SRJC could have a vice president for academic affairs, a first, as well as a personnel officer and other major role changes if a plan is adopted.

Faculty members and students have asked for more time before plan adoption.

SRJC sets Easter walk-a-thon

An Easter walk-a-thon will be sponsored from 9 a.m. to its conclusion April 9 by Santa Rosa Junior College Associated Students.

The walk-a-thon is planned by the college Ad Hoc Committee, with proceeds going to SRJC special education programs, Adaptive Physical Education, People Helping People and Learning Skills.

Funds are coordinated through the SRJC Foundation.

James DeManche, Associated Student Body vice president, said walk participants will include Santa Rosa Councilman Murray Zatzman and his wife, Mary; Councilwoman Donna Born; Third District Supervisor Helen Rudee; Superior Court Judge John Gallagher; Ann Byrd, past NAACP president; Jerry Babineau, associated student body president and Clarence Hagans, past student body president.

The route begins from SRJC to Lewis Road, Franklin Avenue, McDonald Avenue, Fourth Street, Mission Boulevard, Summerfield Road and Sonoma Avenue to City Hall.

A walk-a-thon parade is scheduled once walkers reach City Hall. The parade will take marchers back to the college campus.

The walk is by invitation only and covers 10 miles. It is designed to promote harmony between students and elected officials.

Funds sought to help send Jones to tourney

Help send Santa Rosa Junior College basketball player Ken Jones to the National AAU Basketball Tournament in Florida March 31 to April 3.

Jones, who was named to the junior college all-star team that will compete in the AAU Tournament, earned Player of the Year honors in the state after leading SRJC to a three-way tie for the Camino Norte Conference championship.

The Associated Student Body at SRJC has already donated $200 to help defray Jones' expenses to the tournament, but an additional $350 is still needed from Bear Cub Boosters, fans, and other interested basketball followers.

Checks, payable to Bear Cub Basketball, can be sent to the Student Activities office at SRJC. Any size contribution would be appreciated.

SRJC reorganization criticized

By JOHN ADAMS

Proposed administrative reorganization which includes a new high-paying position and a changed role for another employee at Santa Rosa Junior College is upsetting some students and faculty members.

The reorganization, if adopted as proposed by a trustee subcommittee, would give SRJC a vice president for academic affairs.

It also would fill the position of personnel officer.

And it would change the role of Richard Nazarian, assistant dean for student personnel services, to a certificated counselor.

While no one has objected to the personnel officer and not many feel a vice president is an unneeded administrator, many students are incensed by the proposal to switch Nazarian's role.

Trustees held a public hearing Monday night to gather employee and student reactions to the reorganization.

Starting in Pioneer Hall's assembly room, trustees and SRJC President Roy Mikalson soon were faced with a standing room only audience of about 50. The meeting was moved to the cafeteria, with about 60 attending.

The public hearing will be followed by another meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday when trustees may be ready to take action on some type of administrative overhaul.

In addition to being upset with the possibility of losing direct contact with and assistance from Nazarian, students and members of the faculty criticized the sudden hurry by the board to achieve the reorganization.

Students and faculty asked more time to study both the board subcommittee's reorganization and that of the campus-wide ad hoc committee on reorganization.

Some in the audience charged the board's subcommittee came up with its own report in four days after the ad hoc committee worked two years developing its proposals.

In the confrontation between students and faculty on one side and the subcommittee's proposals on the other, the question of saving money at the administrative level — by job changes, some consolidations and the addition of a vice president — is a key issue.

Administrative sources say thousands of dollars will be saved. Students and faculty say the opposite will result.

Mikalson told the board and audience the need for administrative reorganization is due to rapid changes in the district, including enrollment changes with much growth at off-campus locations, many special programs, the $15 million building program, changing regulations and the fact such a reorganization hasn't occurred for some 15 years.

Joe Johnson, Mikalson's administrative assistant, provided a cost analysis showing the detailed subcommittee proposals involving a net decrease of $9,925 in certificated salaries from 1977-78 through 1981-82 and a cost of only $15,155 per year to 1981-82 if the new personnel officer is included.

The two figures quoted by Johnson compare with a $36,495 increase in certificated administrative salaries and a total $61,575 cost if the personnel position is included, according to the ad hoc committee's proposals.

Meanwhile, Jerry Babineau, Associated Students president and Allen "Cam" Parry, sophomore representative, presented their analysis of the board subcommittee's proposals showing a cost increase of $17,000 to more than $32,000.

Throughout the discussions the administration has contended that the reorganization would save money at the administrative level since Nazarian would be shifted to another employment level. Students and faculty maintain that, call it what you will, Nazarian's continuing salary at any division level at the college is a cost to be considered.

At one point during the meeting, student and faculty feelings were soothed somewhat when trustees said the Nazarian switch had nothing to do with the man or his performance, but with a feeling student personnel services was overstuffed.

Babineau has charged that Nazarian's change is the second since student personnel services had six employees assisting students. He and Parry Monday night talked of many other administrators being unavailable to students as well as faculty.

During the meeting, Dick Hollingshead, business assistant, said the business division needs another administrator and also deserves more attention to duties and responsibilities.

Parry made a presentation about the reorganization proposals not saving money. He said there hasn't been enough time for comment.

Mary Ellen Bucci, student executive vice president, but speaking for herself, spoke of retaining Nazarian in his current position saying, "The students need a person with authority to make decisions at all times."

Anthony D'Abbracci, a humanities-philosophy instructor, questioned whether the reorganization would increase an administrator's time on the job and wondered how saving money would increase time spent by administrators.

Countenay Anderson, president of the Academic Senate, said if the proposal is intended to smooth the governing process of the district, the reports should say so. He presented a copy of the Senate's minutes commenting on the reorganization proposal by the board subcommittee.

Other speakers, both students and faculty, praised Nazarian and spoke for keeping him in his present role in student personnel services and criticized the haste of the subcommittee's proposals.

Still the Fastest Way to Make Clear, Low-Cost Copies

Ditto® duplicators are unsurpassed for turning out clean, accurate copies — a hundred or more a minute — for a fraction of a cent each. And all reflect the sharpness and clarity you expect from Ditto — a world leader in duplicating machines.

They are remarkably easy to operate. Just snap on the Ditto master you've typed or drawn — and you're set to run the copies you need of bulletins, form letters, graphs, schedules, maps, procedures, programs, charts, whatever. Up to 300 copies from a single Ditto master. You can even reproduce in up to five colors at the same even speed.

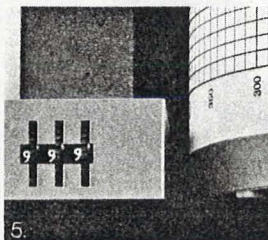

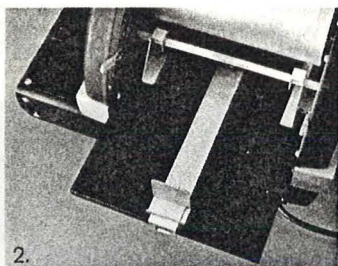

Ditto duplicators are loaded with features that make duplicating jobs convenient and trouble-free. "No Pour" fluid system meters fluid directly from the can, eliminating spills and messy cleanup; providing more copies per gallon. Sure Feed Tray and Positive Feeder reduce chance of double feeds. And the Magic Copy Control assures even copy density — to the last copy.

Dependable Ditto duplicators are available in manually operated and electric powered models — even with automated Countdown features. Whether yours is a small business or a large industry, a government agency or a church, a professional office or a remote field operation, a Ditto duplicator is unbeatable for making fast, high quality copies at a very small cost.

The Model E-41 duplicator, illustrated, is identical in appearance to the D-31, but features automatic Countdown Control.

RE: $460,000 Sonoma County Junior College District, Student Bookstore Revenue Bonds

Dear Mr. Maggiora:

After looking at our projections on the above issue of bonds, we find that the coverage for the $460,000 worth of bonds is approximately $10-11,000 short of providing the 1.5 coverage, after deducting an annual Federal grant of $12,800. In our opinion, such a coverage will be necessary to market the bonds competitively.

In conversations with you we have explored the possibility of a $1 per semester student facilities charge and I am now writing to ascertain the possibility of instituting this charge in the fall of 1972. This would provide approximately $11,000 per year which could be used toward providing adequate coverage for the revenue financing.

Would it be possible for you to advise us within 30 days as to the District's position on the institution of such charges. We will then proceed with the submitting of the application for the Federal grant to the Department of Housing and Urban Redevelopment's San Francisco office.

We are,

Very truly yours,

Shocked at Board eliminations

Editor:

As a former student government officer who had experience with the District Reorganization Committee, I would like to express my shock that two and a half years of work by the committee have been thrown out and at the plan which has been substituted.

The new proposal calls for the elimination of the position of Assistant Dean of Student Personnel Services (currently held by Mr. Richard Nazarian) and shifts his duties and responsibilities onto the remaining persons.

The result would be that the only SRJC administrators whose duties include direct contact on a regular basis with the student population will be too overloaded by paperwork to do so. Student input into college governance already limited, will be further restricted.

Student Personnel Services, as its name implies, deals directly with services to the students and is the only area of the college which will suffer a loss of personnel. The upper administration will get larger and an entire new level of administration will separate the college president from the lower levels. Again, the student suffer.

A public hearing will be held on Monday, March 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the Pioneer Hall Assembly Room. Action will be taken the following Monday.

We urge all students to voice their opinion at the public hearing, or by letters addressed to Mr. Robert Call, Board President, C-o SRJC, 1501 Mendocino Ave., Santa Rosa, CA 95401.

Let's remind them that the purpose of this college is to serve students.

Richard A. Narad

editorial

Stop, look and listen: be careful 'Night Owl'

Touche, executive cabinet, touche.

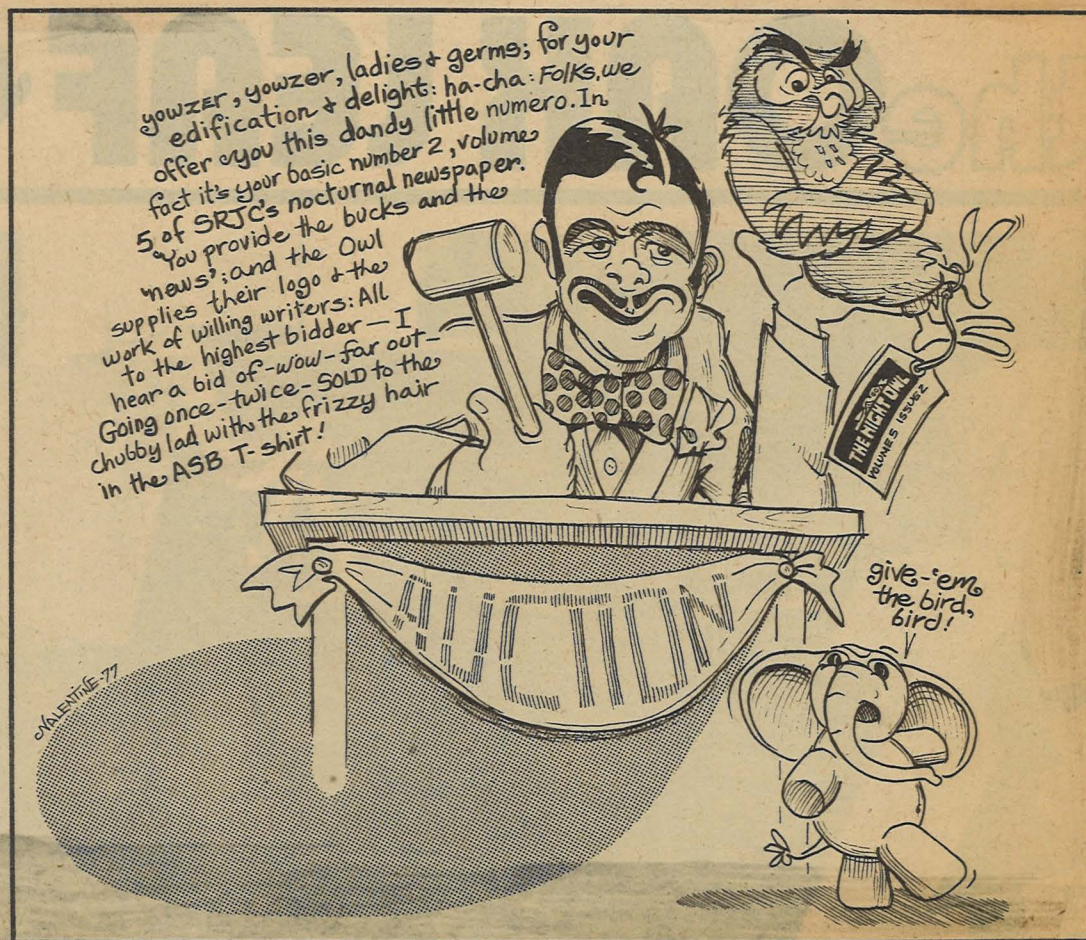

Never again will they be compared to the likes of Pinocchio. Recently showing their potential as master puppeteers, they have plans to shape some dolls with the skill and craftsmanship of old Geppetto to himself.

Though still under staging, the show could involve the Night Owl, SRJC's evening college newspaper, as an ASB-revised edition.

The idea is a brilliant one on the part of the executive cabinet. They proposed that in order to generate more student body card sales among night school attendants, a long overdue effort, a special edition of the Night Owl could be published. Some pages in this particular publication would deal exclusively with the ASB and would be paid for by the same group.

The ASB's objective is a good one. Their benefits and activities are well worth the $9. But we believe that this particular route of promotion is not the best. The Picayune Star Times is the printed voice of the ASB. It should be used for this advertisement.

A newspaper's job is to report news, not organizational hype. But the Night Owl feels sure that it can produce an objective and informative newspaper, withstanding any pressures that ASB topic and funding might produce, more power to them. We simply urge caution to a fellow newspaper.

VALENTINE

Of roses, dancing dogs, and the ASB

In what must have seemed an editorial page conspiracy against Jerry Babineau and the ASB, last week's Oak Leaf was a little rough on both of them. The fact that there was no conspiracy is not worth explaining. If it seemed that way, so be it.

What is more revealing is the manner in which those criticized reacted. After the fray Babineau came out smelling like a rose. The others, either directly mocked or feeling guilty by association, produced an odor less agreeable.

Babineau took the knocks with good humor and remarkable humility. He may have gone home and kicked his dog, but publicly he proved his mettle. If he is to go on in politics, this coolness under fire will be priceless.

Babineau did not agree with most of the flack he got, but his response was proper. This cannot be said of others also needled. First, we were told our attacks were juvenile, and in the same breath threatened with budget cuts (The Oak Leaf is partially funded by ASB) and the loss of other promised money. This if you won't play my rules I'm gonna take my ball back! routine certainly isn't a monument to maturity.

Another who felt slighted by our jibes has always been popular with The Oak Leaf and should not have let a cartoon blind her to that fact. Just as it is good to know when you're being hit, it is valuable to know when you don't have a target painted on your back.

Most troubling in this tiny tempest is the mauling being taken by those in the middle: two students who serve both The Oak Leaf and the Executive Cabinet. Obviously serving two masters as incompatible as press and government is not always wise. But the garbage these two have had dumped on them (since last week's paper) is inexcusable. The Oak Leaf is not innocent of throwing a tomato or two and, between the adversaries, the lives of two dedicated students has been made miserable.

It is time for all involved to take a cold shower. Then let's pick up the gauntlets again, this time keeping in mind the phrase, 'the loyal opposition.'

Student grant leads to film maker's success

by Terri Toso

Can an SRJC student grant lead to fame? It may in the case of Rod Wyatt who used a grant in 1974.

Five years ago, Wyatt started out as a freelance photographer interested in documentation. As a still photographer he worked with magazines such as American Cinematographer, New Times, Super-8 Filmmaker and Sunset Magazine. Then in 1974, as an SRJC student, Wyatt applied for and received a $50 film grant from the college. With the help of that money, Wyatt made his first film.

Now he has completed three successful films with his partner, has his own film company and is on the way to supporting himself at film-making.

Wyatt works with a fellow filmmaker, Michael Cadman, who graduated from Sonoma State college. "If it wasn't for that grant, we might never have gotten the initiative to make a film," Wyatt said. Even though films are expensive to make and the rest of the money came out of their pockets, he said a grant "really helps out a lot."

At first the two filmmakers used the junior college photographic equipment. Wyatt took John Bigby's film production class. Now they rent their equipment and have their own studio and film company, Film Graphic Studios.

"We do mostly promotional and documentaries for our clients," Wyatt said. Wyatt and Cadman also do graphics, sculpture and advertising.

Wyatt continues to work with still photography but said that it is limited. "With film you can put a whole story together," he said. "Film is the ultimate of all arts."

Since 1974 the Wyatt and Cadman team have made three films. The first is called "GAS PAINS: A Relief from Watergate" and deals with the '74 energy crisis and gas lines. At the 1975 Cal State College, Sonoma Film Festival, this film won first prize. It is currently an entry in The Toronto Super Eight Film Festival, Canada.

Another J.C. grant helped the two make a short film on "Christo's Running Fence". The third is called "Skateboard Deluxe" and is about skateboarding and tournaments in California.

These three films will be shown on campus on April 11 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. (There will also be a lecture by Wyatt on this date.) and April 28 from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Wyatt will also have a photo exhibit in the Santa Rosa city council chambers from May 1 to 31.

Every semester Wyatt lectures in Bigby's film production classes. Because of his and Cadman's experience and credibility they "have a lot to share with people that are just starting out." The J.C. owns a print of every film which Bigby has.

Besides the junior college and Sonoma State, Wyatt's work has been shown at the University of California, San Diego, the Renaissance Art Gallery and the Artrium.

What is Wyatt's plan for the future? To be a professional, of course.

Administration clarify student confusion over paycheck cuts

by Chuck Henrikson

All work study students shorted on their last paychecks have been reimbursed or will be reimbursed in their next paychecks according to Reg Elgin, director of financial aid.

On the March 1 paycheck, several students received paychecks for fewer hours than they had reported for the last work period. They had not received authorizations to work during the 11 days of the semester break.

Dr. Roy Mikalson, president of SRJC, told Elgin in January that student and non-student workers must be authorized to work during the semester break.

"After leaving me out to hang, he (Mikalson) finally issued this (memo)," said Elgin. On March 9 Mikalson sent out a memo, his first official statement on the issue, outlining pay procedures.

About 30 people were afected by the paycheck cuts for an average of about 7.6 hours, explained Elgin.

Elgin sent three memos to all work study employers and department chairpersons and placed a notice in the Insider, the SRJC staff newsletter. Despite this, several departments claim they were not notified.

There was no indication on the paychecks that anything was altered. This caused considerable complaint by student workers, who claimed the shortage could very easily have gone unnoticed.

"I would like to do something positive to see that this does not happen again," said Elgin. He is making plans to ensure this incident does not recur. If it happens in the future, each check will be flagged.

There are claims that some of the workers were not paid for some hours worked before the semester break. Elgin does not know of any instances of this happening. He said that if a student worked more hours in a week than they are authorized to they might not be paid for the excess.

"Students cannot work over 20 hours per week. If they work over 20 hours they will be reduced. All employers, I think, have been notified. All students should know. If they are not sure what they are authorized, they should see their employer or me," said Elgin. He said that if they are not satisfied with what he tells them, students workers can see Garth Dougan, dean of student personnel services and non-student workers can see Brook Tauzer, dean of instruction.

"All it takes is a note for authorization to work over Easter vacation," said Elgin.

Walk-a-thon timing criticized by charity groups

by J.C. Jupiter

Community fund raising organizations for the Santa Rosa handicapped are criticizing the College Student Assembly (CSA) Easter Walk-a-Thon. The three largest organizations, United Cerebral Palsey, March of Dimes, and Muscular Dystrophy Association are becoming concerned as the competition for the limited funds in this area increases.

Chairman of the March of Dimes, Henry Leuring, feels that CSA's walk on April 9 will "obviously" affect the success of his organization's campaign which begins on March 29.

"The timing is much too close," said Leuring, "when you're having both within a week or so. It's going to affect us a great deal."

Another campaign that will be affected is the United Cerebral Palsey drive. Cathy Stevenson, who heads the campaign effort, said that "in essence, I would prefer to see it (CSA walk) at another time."

"I see some problems," said Stevenson about the scheduling of the CSA event. "People are going to get disgusted if they're constantly hit up for contributions for the handicapped."

ASB vice president Jim DeManche, chairman of the CSA Walk-a-Thon, agreed that there would be some overlapping in the solicitation of funds from the community.

"There most definitely will be some overlapping," said DeManche. "However, we're concentrating on the ASB discount merchants. Then we're going out to the other companies." DeManche added, "I'm kind of flattered that they're all (the local fund raisers) worried."

The Muscular Dystrophy Association also agreed that their efforts to help the handicapped may be hampered. When asked if there will be an affect on his campaign, Marin-Sonoma County chairman Eric Yarchin said, "Yes, it may definitely interfere."

"It's going to be tough on everybody," said Yarchin. "People get tired when solicitors keep knocking on their doors. Eventually, they become somewhat hard-nosed when it comes to walk-a-thons."

DeManche said that the date for the CSA walk was chosen because of the semester calendar here at SRJC. "We wanted it over Easter vacation," said DeManche. "There are traditional and religious reasons for having it at this time." There were, according to DeManche, "pressures from the walkers for a date" that "they all agreed on."

United Cerebral Palsey (UCP) called the CSA Walk-a-Thon when it discovered that the dates for the fund raising events were scheduled so close.

"We talked to U.C.P.," said DeManche. "She (Stevenson) seemed to be worried about our Walk-a-Thon. But after we explained it to her, she seemed satisfied with the prospects." He added, "She hit on the idea to join forces, but we didn't want our walk to ride on the coattails of Cerebral Palsey."

U.C.P. director Stevenson gave a different explanation. "Oh, he talked to me alright, but he and the vice chairman (ASB president, Jerry Babineau) felt they had gone too far to change the date," said Stevenson. "No one suggested to join forces. If I hadn't called them I might not have known about it," she said.

Although CSA walk will concentrate on the business community, Leuring feels that DeManche has limited his chances for a successful drive.

The Walk-a-Thon committee has restricted the number of walkers and is permitting only high ranking city and college officials to participate.

"Any organization would be foolish not to open it up for public participation," said Leuring.

DeManche defended the CSA for using celebrity status of the walkers which includes Mayor of Santa Rosa Gerald Pozanovich and SRJC President Roy Mikalson. "Those persons have been invited to help improve conditions all around," said DeManche. "I haven't heard one handicapped person complain about being exploited."

The original idea of the walk, said DeManche, was "to show the ability of student government on short notice to join together with city government to suit a particular function and need."

Nazarian demoted in surprising move

by Jim Davidson
and Steve Malork

Assistant Dean of Student Personnel Richard Nazarian faces a demotion to counselor and $8000 drop in pay because his job was axed in a surprise move by the SRJC Board of Trustees on March 14. The board simultaneously promoted and granted pay raises to several administrators.

Nazarian's demotion and the pay increases were part of the SRJC Administrative Reorganization, a proposal the board made public at the meeting. Deleted in the proposal was a recommendation by the faculty to have an instructor as a part-time administrator in curriculum development. This would be a rotating position, switching faculty-administrators every two years. A public hearing will be held on March 21 to discuss the proposals.

Dean of Student Personnel Services Garth Dougan, who will take on more responsibility because of Nazarian's demotion, was disturbed by the movement of the board. "It's very easy for one person to say to another, 'I don't know what you do, therefore you don't do anything,'" said Dougan in reaction to the board's move.

On his department cuts Dougan said, "The stupidity of it is that 11 years ago six people were doing the job that five people are doing today and now with this reduction, four people will be doing this job with triple the student population. There's no appreciation or understanding of what goes on in student services.

"If someone had deliberately set out to destroy morale or living spirit, they did a beautiful job. It's almost as if a deliberate attempt had been made to destroy whatever morale remains in student personnel services. This comes from the bottom of my heart," concluded Dougan.

SRJC President Dr. Roy Mikalson explained that Nazarian's duties could be merged into other departments. Some of the Assistant Dean of Student Personnel Services' duties will be taken over by Gene Canevari, the student activities director. Canevari's job with students won't be affected because of Herrington," explained Mikalson. He said that Assistant Activities Advisor David Herrington will take over some of the student body activities while Canevari supervises the bookstore and cafeteria.

"The final decision will be made after the public hearing," said Mikalson. "It will be a change in assignment for Nazarian. He's a good friend of mine. That's what kills me. There's nothing personal on this. If there's a position open, Nazarian will have a good chance."

"I think it's a surprise. It's a surprise all over campus," said Don Freed on Nazarian's demotion. Freed is a member of the Academic Senate and political science instructor.

Another member of the Academic Senate Tony D'Abbracci said, "Doing what the board did is not an act of communication. It's an act of non-communication. If you want to get a more harmonious community, this certainly isn't how you're going to get it. I'd like to see the board's justification." D'Abbracci was reacting to the board's elimination of the proposal of a rotating faculty member to serve as an administrator in curriculum planning.

(con't on pg. 8)

Page 8 The Oak Leaf March 17, 1977

D'Abbracci was also surprised at the demotion of Nazarian. "Perhaps that's their way of justifying the other pay raises," he said.

ASB President Jerry Babineau was concerned that Canevari's extra duties supervising the cafeteria and bookstore might cut his effectiveness as student activities director.

Babineau had no definite comments to make about the Nazarian decision. "I think we had better find out more about it. I don't like the idea. There has to be an answer. I haven't weighed both sides," said the student body president.

"The people who get raises will get additional responsibilities," Mikalson explained. Those getting raises and promotions include: Brook Tauzer, who would move from Dean of Instruction to Vice President for Academic Affairs; Charles Belden, current Assistant Dean of Instruction, who would become Associate Dean of Administrative Services; Ernie Martinez would move from coordinator of E.O.P.S. to Assistant Dean of Liberal Arts and Special Programs; Elaine Hankla, now Administrative Assistant, would advance to Assistant Dean of Admissions, and Records Jack Rooney would remain in his current position with a higher salary.

ASB & night students: hot dinners and bands

That magical ASB card is currently supporting a hatful of rather shaky activities.

It seems that the representatives we card carriers so tenuously elected have become bored with us, and moved on to grander schemes. All the while, the ASB's fraying purse is dangling from their belt.

The plight of night school students is currently the rage. It's a new ASB charity that's become quite fashionable to work for.

Thus far, we've paid for a band to entertain, and ASB has spent valuable time looking for other nice things to do for continuing students.

Our argument is not with those who attend evening college. We agree that, for serious students who don't plan to drop when something else comes up, SRJC facilities should be open. They deserve entertainment, food, medical and counseling services and more. But we day school students should not be footing the bill.

We suggest that night school students be afforded the opportunity to buy ASB cards, elect officers, and determine the fund's use. They could work either as a separate entity or, we believe more effectively, as a part of the day school ASB.

Currently there is a night school representative to executive cabinet, one step in the right direction.

ASB and a matter of priority

Jerry Babineau is a busy man these days.

Babineau is 38 years old; he is a single parent of three children; he is a political science major and president of the associated students.

Babineau is ambitious. (Nothing wrong with that.) But he seems impatient to get on with it (his career) and that can tinge ambition with desperation. Thirty-eight is a late start.

Recently he has involved the ASB in some community activities like the upcoming walk-a-thon to raise money for SRJC handicapped programs. Fine, this will do nothing to harm his career nor the ASB.

But last week, in his position as ASB president, Babineau tied the student government into a commercial scheme with a local tire company. Now, there is something wrong with that.

The tire company advertisement (The Oak Leaf, March 10) infers that a discount is available to SRJC students because of efforts by the ASB, and Babineau in particular.

The tire company in question claims to offer bargains because they are a members' only operation. But every time they advertise they include a membership card in their newspaper inserts. It's a little like being a member of the human race, not exactly the most exclusive of clubs. So it's a commercial hype, and it works for the tire company.

The tire company can withstand the charge of commercialism. That's their purpose. But can the ASB take such manipulation?

The ASB is widely ignored anyway because they represent at most 10 percent of SRJC's students. To create further cynicism towards student government by involving it in questionable commercial hussles seems ill-advised, at best.

It also seems to be diverting attention and energy from more valuable ASB proposals: student legal aid for one. So while Babineau has some ASB people dancing to this Babineau tune, little can be done to organize the student government for a concerted push on needed programs and services.

Jerry Babineau is a fine and decent fellow with ambitions for a future political career. But until June of 1977 he is the president of ASB, no more or less. The other elected and appointed members of ASB should be reminded that their positions are more important and exclusive than belonging to a certain tire club and consider who they are working for.

SNOOPY GOES TO COLLEGE and the Charles Schulz conversation concludes

conversation with...

Charles Schulz

OL: Will this show start a trend of cartoon exhibitions?

CS: I don't think so. There's still a snobishness about art galleries. I'm very flattered that they wished me to do this. I don't know if it will prove anything. I'm not sure comic strips belong in galleries, this is not their purpose. Drawing comic strips is still not literally art form if it has some restrictions. There's too much editorial control, you're at the mercy of the syndicate editor, the newspaper editor.

OL: Then why this show?

CS: (I hope) this is not the reason for this show, but in the past I have felt that art galleries only called me when they needed to raise money. They wanted a couple of strips to auction off. The last couple calls I have recieved on this I've asked, 'Well, why should I? You don't think I'm good enough to hang in your gallery until you need the money'...But that's just the way people like me react. It's not important. I think people will find it entertaining. I think seeing any original cartoon has a certain amount of fascination, like seeing a real actor. Most people are not aware of how they are drawn so much larger than they appear in the papers. And the fact is that there are actually some very deft pen strokes in there that are quite nice. You don't see this deftness in print because newspaper reproduction is very crude.

OL: Which do you prefer, daily or Sunday strips?

CS: I like the Sunday strips where you have a bit more room to work, when you're drawing something that has wild action, funny pictures! That is still basically what a comic strip is, funny pictures. Unfortunately this is forgotten in a comic strip where too much of the humor, too much of the picture is just writing, just dialog. A cartoon, we must all remember, is just a drawing a funny picture. Then you're doing something that no other medium can do.

OL: How about animated cartoons?

CS: I think a still cartoon is just as funny as an animated cartoon. I don't think putting something on film is the greatest thing on earth...just because something is taken out of a comic book and animated doesn't make it better, in fact, in most cases it makes it worse. Drawing funny pictures with wild action and expressions is great fun.

OL: An example?

CS: I did one, which hasn't come out yet, where Woodstock accidentally zaps Snoopy with a cattle prod, and of course the expression, with all the hair

(Ed. Note: We have been reminded that Charles Schulz spells his last name without a T. His show of original drawings and strips, called "Snoopy Goes To College" opens with a 4 to 6 p.m. reception at the SRJC Gallery on March 20, and continues through April 14.

This conversation between Schulz (CS) and The Oak Leaf (OL) took place at Schulz's studio on March 1. This is the second and concluding part of the interview.)

by Nick Valentine

flying straight out, was fun.

OL: Speaking of Sunday strips, last Sunday, Feb. 27, you showed Snoopy and Woodstock almost killing each other during a hockey game on a frozen bird-bath. As the bird-bath broke apart the tag line was "Hockey is getting too violent!" Do you think this is the case?

CS: Well, I think there is no doubt about it, hockey's getting ridiculously violent. This is true in the major leagues, there's a lot of unnecessary fighting. But they have ways of controlling it. Where's it's really gotten out of hand is in junior hockey (teen-age). Not only here at the Redwood Empire Arena, but, I've heard, also in Canada. The cheap shots the kids take on each other is just deplorable! There's no sense to it. Our junior hockey here got totally out of hand. We haven't had a junior team for a couple of seasons. We had fights every Sunday night for no cause at all!

OL: Comedians want to do "Hamlet" and Sir Lawrence Oliver occasionally does comedy. Is there any other creative field you wish to try?

CS: I've been thinking that someday, perhaps if I ever quit drawing cartoons and had more time (the schedule is so demanding)...I'd like to try various forms of sculpture. Not too serious, of course, because I don't think I'd be that good. There's a lot of humorous sculpting going on and I think I might have a knack for that. Except I'm also afraid my deftness might fail me and I'd burn all my fingers with a blowtorch. And there are other types of cartooning that might be fun to do, ones that don't require such a schedule, this day in-day out business.

OL: For such day in-day out business, we thank you...

Disagreement at board public meeting

by Jim Davidson

Tension hung heavily over the SRJC Board of Trustees public hearing on the administrative reorganization proposal on March 21. A group of concerned citizens, many supporting Richard Nazarian, filled Pioneer Hall and eventually the crowd had to be moved to the cafeteria which was prepared for the expected group.

The often applauding crowd listened to speakers protest parts of the boards for about an hour and a half. ASB Sophomore Representative Allan "Cam" Perry felt that the administrative reorganization would reduce communication between student administrators.

"If this plan is adopted it will drastically cut back on present student services. This is what we need to do least in this time of our greatest student enrollment. If the position of Assistant Dean of Student Personnel Services is cut we'll lose another decision-making link in the administration. Who will we be able to go to for help and ask the questions we formerly asked of the assistant dean?" said Parry.

An Ad Hoc committee, made up of members of the ASB including Parry, reported to the board that the "reorganization will range from $17,974 to $32,645 in excess of the current budget, rather than saving $17,435 annually as indicated in the Board Committee's report." These figures were arrived at by using the information in the board proposal on administrative salaries and adding the additional salaries of a Personnel Officer and the Certificated Student Counselor, Nazarian's proposed position.

In the original board administrative proposal handed out at the March 14 board meeting it was estimated that the added salary of the personnel officer, it would cost the budget $7,000. Without the personnel officer's salary the district would save $17,974.

According to Assistant to the President Joe Johnson, "The dollar amount in both proposals agree." In regards to the counselor's salary he said, "What the students have done is add the administrative cost category to the counseling category. What I'm really saying is there's no difference." The reason the counselor's salary was not included in the original board proposal was because the board hadn't made decision on where to reassign Nazarian when the proposal was written up. The budget for counselors and faculty members are written up in a different budget than administrators.

It is possible that the proposed removal is only a temporary move on the board's part. If the board does decide to keep Nazarian as a counselor it will raise the costs in that department. "If the board is to carry through and assign Nazarian as counselor, it would increase the counseling budget for at least a year. If the board's proposals are administered, both departments would go up," commented Johnson on the student's report to the board.
(con't on pg. 8)

Mary Ellen Bucci, executive vice president of the ASB, announced to the board she was there to represent herself. "I'm sorry to say that I'm losing the optimistic faith and confidence in our administration, as I've always felt their priority was one of serving students."

Bucci cited difficulties that students have in trying to relate problems to the administration. "When a student has a problem there's a definite chain of command to be followed. Following that chain is at times frustrating as well as degrading. If the secretary doesn't know you by name, you get stalled." Bucci agreed with Parry that the removal of Nazarian's position was a breakdown in student-administration communication. "Are we willing to give up individualized student contact for a bureaucracy?"

Academic Senate member Tony D'Abracci asked the board, "Will more money for administrators improve communication?"

Another Academic Senator, Joan Woin, said, "It was our opinion that the board was to work with the Campus Ad Hoc Committee, I'm not sure who those three board members were, or if they went to the reorganization committees, but it was a shock to me and my colleagues to find that four days later the board evidently had gotten together, or at least three people, and came up with a reorganization suggestion for the campus.

"I suggest, therefore, we make no move within a week to accept any of those proposals. We need more time to look them over. We will have a new board and perhaps the new board will be willing to work more with the campus on a reorganizational proposal that would satisfy students, faculty, administration and the board."

Board member Robert Maggini responded to Woin by saying, "I don't think you have any right to say that. The new board will do no more than the old board." The Sonoma district board member thought that the current board had worked well with the faculty.

Several members of the audience made statements of support for Nazarian. Mildred Batev, coordinator of Kent Hall told board members "when Mr. Nazarian came, there were threats to sit-ins at Kent Hall. His gentle, efficient effectiveness makes Kent Hall a piece of cake." She urged board members to reconsider their proposal of demoting Nazarian.

Director of Financial Aid and Student Employment Reg Elgin listed several reasons why he thought Nazarian should remain in his current position. Included among them are improvements in the cafeteria, bookstore, employment and financial aid and Kent Hall.

The board will make some final decisions on the administrative reorganization at the meeting on March 28.

Ex. cabinet funds 'Owl'

The Night Owl was recommended to receive $220 by the ASB Executive Cabinet on March 16 in a move that would allow the paper to publish an extra issue whose main emphasis would be ASB benefits and activities.

The money, allotted in an unanimous vote by the cabinet would cover material and printing costs of 2,000 copies of SRJC's night school newspaper. In exchange, The Night Owl will center its volume 5, issue 2, on the student government.

Night Owl reporter Paul Conroy, who presented the request to the cabinet, has indicated that the evening monthly will not devote the entire ASB funded issue to ASB articles.

During discussion at the meeting a question was raised by sophomore representative Audrey Blakely as to the legitimacy of using The Night

Owl logo on what seemed to her to be no more than an ASB flyer. Gene Canevari, student activities advisor, responded that the logo had to be used to make the venture credible for the ASB.

Canevari questioned the cost and said the ASB newspaper, The Picayune-Times Star Bulletin, who's sole purpose is ASB advertising, could be published in greater quantities for under $100. But he added that the ASB paper was a real chore to put together, especially while classes were in session.

Assistant advisor David Herrington also questioned the cost of a special issue of The Night Owl and asked Conroy if the price was the lowest the paper could find. Conroy replied that they had sought better rates and found none.

Walk-a-thon to benefit handicapped

The first Santa Rosa Junior College Easter Handicapped Walk-A Thon, with a handful of prominent citizens walking ten miles around town, is scheduled for Saturday, April 9 beginning 9 a.m.

City Council members Donna Born and Murray Zatman; County Supervisor Helen Rudee; SRJC President Dr. Roy Mikalsen, Superior Court Judge John Gallagher; SRJC Associated Student Body President Jerry Babineau; former Student Body President Clarence Hagins and former NAACP President Ann Byrd have accepted invitations to participate in the walk-a-thon.

All contributions to the event will go toward support of the SRJC Special Education Programs which assist handicapped students. Participation in the walk-a-thon is by invitation only to assure smooth execution and promote harmony between the college and local officials, says James DeManche, chairman of the event.

The walkers will start at SRJC, take Lewis Road, Franklin Avenue, McDonald Avenue, Fourth Street and Sonoma Highway to Summerfield Road; return west on Sonoma Avenue and parade with police escort and the SRJC Pep Band up Mendocino Avenue from City Hall to the Junior College campus.

ADMINISTRATION

SRJC trustees adopt extensive reorganization

By JOHN ADAMS

Santa Rosa Junior College trustees Monday adopted an extensive administrative reorganization with a price tag of $36,606.

Both the cost and overhaul changed from the original recommendations of the trustees' subcommittee report.

Faculty and students achieved a victory in their desire to see Richard Nazarian retained as an assistant dean for student personnel services rather than changed to a certificated counselor.

Speakers at a public hearing last week said student needs would be unfilled if Nazarian's role was changed. The board had said the change was due to an over-staffed office.

By retaining Nazarian as an assistant dean in student personnel services, the reorganization's cost stayed at $36,606 rather than no more than $4,751 to $17,000.

However, even though trustees left Nazarian in an administrative role, they said they weren't completely satisfied with how student personnel services is rating.

Continuation of student personnel services as a five-employee unit was conditioned on a return in a year with a complete plan to restructure and reorganize the department.

Several trustees said student personnel services still needs work. Trustee John Jacobs said he wasn't happy with the department's organization, adding that goals needs to be firmly established.

Trustees agreed the total reorganization "isn't written in stone." They said further changes may be made as the structure is being implemented.

The reorganization cost involves $4,751 in the original proposals, $32,986 for Nazarian's retention as an administrator and a reduction of $380 by shifting Administrative Assistant Joe Johnson from an associate dean for administrative services to an assistant dean.

Johnson's new title was changed because board members didn't feel the new responsibilities warranted that level at his time.

Thirty persons attended Monday's action meeting as compared to about 60 who attended the public hearing.

One of the major achievements of the reorganization is the establishment of a president for academic affairs, a second in command to President Roy Likalson.

The vice president will receive $38,000. Trustees asked the administration to determine which administrators will fill various reorganization positions and which posts, if any, need to be advertised for new employees.

It's possible, the vice president could come from the existing administrators on campus.

The balance of the reorganization includes several restructured and combined positions with duties shifted on the basis of more efficient campus operations.

The reorganization was adopted 6-0, with Dr. Lucius Button absent. The changes and new positions are effective July 1.

Included in the reorganization and now in the interview process is the new position of personnel officer, a year-round job with a monthly salary range of $1,719 to $2,090.

Other action:

BUSINESS — William R. Wilber, 40, comptroller at College of the Redwoods, Eureka, was hired as SRJC's dean of business services effective July 1. He will succeed Robert Maggiora who retires June 30. Wilber's salary will be $34,338.

PUMP — The board approved purchase of a pump at $12,200 without going to bid due to the emergency caused by the drought. The pump will be used to reactivate a 44-year-old campus well to produce water sufficient to maintain playfields and landscaping. The Education Code allows not going to bid for an item in time of an emergency.

Walkathon at SRJC Saturday

Santa Rosa Junior College Associated Students is sponsoring an invitation-only Easter walkathon from 9 a.m. Saturday.

City, county, college officials and students will join for a mile by mile-sponsored trek from SRJC with a parade-like march back to the campus once the walk is completed.

The benefit walk will cover 10 miles and is designed to promote harmony between students and elected officials.

Money raised will be distributed through the SRJC Foundation for special education programs: Adaptive Physical Education, People Helping People and Learning Skills.

The route begins at the campus and follows Lewis Road, Franklin Avenue, McDonald Avenue, Fourth Street, Mission Boulevard, Summerfield Road and Sonoma Avenue to City Hall for the march up Mendocino Avenue to the college.

SRJC reorganization criticized

By JOHN ADAMS

Proposed administrative reorganization which includes a new high-paying position and a changed role for another employe at Santa Rosa Junior College is upsetting some students and faculty members.

The reorganization, if adopted as proposed by a trustee subcommittee, would give SRJC a vice president for academic affairs.

It also would fill the position of personnel officer.

And it would change the role of Richard Nazarian, assistant dean for student personnel services, to a certificated counselor.

While no one has objected to the personnel officer and not many feel a vice president is an unneeded administrator, many students are incensed by the proposal to switch Nazarian's role.

Trustees held a public hearing Monday night to gather employe and student reactions to the reorganization.

Starting in Pioneer Hall's assembly room, trustees and SRJC President Roy Mikalson soon were faced with a standing room only audience of about 50. The meeting was moved to the cafeteria, with about 60 attending.

The public hearing will be followed by another meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday when trustees may be ready to take action on some type of administrative overhaul.

In addition to being upset with the possibility of losing direct contact with and assistance from Nazarian, students and members of the faculty criticized the sudden hurry by the board to achieve the reorganization.

Students and faculty asked more time to study both the board subcommittee's reorganization and that of the campus-wide ad hoc committee on reorganization.

Some in the audience charged the board's subcommittee came up with its own report in four days after the ad hoc committee worked two years developing its proposals.

In the confrontation between students and faculty on one side and the subcommittee's proposals on the other, the question of saving money at the administrative level — by job changes, some consolidations and the addition of a vice president — is a key issue.

Administrative sources say thousands of dollars will be saved. Students and faculty say the opposite will result.

Mikalson told the board and audience the need for administrative reorganization is due to rapid changes in the district, including enrollment changes with much growth at off-campus locations, many special programs, the $15 million building program, changing regulations and the fact such a reorganization hasn't occurred for some 15 years.

Joe Johnson, Mikalson's administrative assistant, provided a cost analysis showing the detailed subcommittee proposals involving a net decrease of $9,925 in certificated salaries from 1977-78 through 1981-82 and a cost of only $15,155 per year to 1981-82 if the new personnel officer is included.

The two figures quoted by Johnson compare with a $36,495 increase in certificated administrative salaries and a total $61,575 cost if the personnel position is included, according to the ad hoc committee's proposals.

Meanwhile, Jerry Babineau, Associated Students president and Allen "Cam" Parry, sophomore representative, presented their analysis of the board subcommittee's proposals showing a cost increase of $17,000 to more than $32,000.

Throughout the discussions the administration has contended that the reorganization would save money at the administrative level since Nazarian would be shifted to another employment level. Students and faculty maintain that, call it what you will, Nazarian's continuing salary at any division level at the college is a cost to be considered.

At one point during the meeting, student and faculty feelings were soothed somewhat when trustees said the Nazarian switch had nothing to do with the man or his performance, but with a feeling student personnel services was over-staffed.

Babineau has charged that Nazarian's change is the second since student personnel services had six employes assisting students. He and Parry Monday night talked of many other administrators being unavailable to students as well as faculty.

During the meeting, Dick Hollingshead, business assistant, said the business division needs another administrator and also deserves more attention to duties and responsibilities.

Parry made a presentation about the reorganization proposals not saving money. He said there hasn't been enough time for comment.

Mary Ellen Bucci, student executive vice president, but speaking for herself, spoke of retaining Nazarian in his current position saying, "The students need a person with authority to make decisions at all times."

Anthony D'Abbracci, a humanities-philosophy instructor, questioned whether the reorganization would increase an administrator's time on the job and wondered how saving money would increase time spent by administrators.

Countenay Anderson, president of the Academic Senate, said if the proposal is intended to smooth the governing process of the district, the reports should say so. He presented a copy of the Senate's minutes commenting on the reorganization proposal by the board subcommittee.

Other speakers, both students and faculty, praised Nazarian and spoke for keeping him in his present role in student personnel services and criticized the haste of the subcommittee's proposals.

Santa Rosa Junior College
Ad Hoc Committee on District
Reorganization
November, 1976

S U M M A R Y

In Spring, 1975, the Ad Hoc Committee on District Reorganization was established and charged with reviewing the District Administrative Reorganization, job descriptions of administrative personnel, and governance as it narrowly relates to the interaction of administrative policy execution, committees, and campus policy formation.

The Committee spent considerable time examining other administrative patterns--both theoretical models and charts forwarded from other districts. In addition, specific problems were examined, such as the need for some administrative body to act as a single voice for indicating administrative stands on policy questions, clarification of the role of department chairpersons, defining the relationship between campus committees and administrative action, and increasing the accountability of administrators.

To simplify the task, the Committee accepted the idea of completing its examination in two stages. The Committee decided to develop an administrative organization chart and then to examine the question of governance. While the Committee realized it could not answer all questions on campus governance, it did hope to attempt to define the process of policy formation. It was determined that the second phase of the task would be completed during the Fall of 1976.

Once the Committee decided upon removing the scope of its first phase, the pace of recommendations increased. Personalities and positions were removed from discussions and the Committee concentrated on administrative functions. Responsibilities were grouped into administrative services (computer, graphics, facilities planning, funding, personnel, etc.); business services; student personnel services; and instructional services. From these groupings, the new administrative chart slowly emerged.

The new chart includes a new Vice President for Academic Affairs. The Committee felt that this position is necessary to tie together all instructional programs, admissions and records, and all instructional and student services. In essence, the Vice President becomes the operational manager of the campus, while the Superintendent/President becomes the policy manager of the District interacting with the public, the Board, and State coordinating agencies.

The position entitled "Assistant to the President for Administrative Affairs" already exists, but responsibilities in computer services and graphics were added to this office to provide faculty input and administrative accountability to these functions. In addition, personnel will report to this office.

Student Personnel Services will have less administrative staff if the new chart is adopted. The position of Director of Research and Articulation was removed from Student Personnel Services. Articulation was reassigned to the Assistant Dean of Student Personnel Services to increase the responsibilities and activities inherent in that position and to bring articulation and counseling closer together. The function of campus research was made full-time to provide more academic research on policy questions for campus guidance and direction.

In Instruction, the present position of Director of Special Services (COIL, EOPS, PHP) was abolished and the responsibilities assigned to the present director were combined with a new position of Assistant Dean for Liberal Arts. The Committee felt that the campus would benefit by bringing instructional functions (tutorial, etc.) directly into the same instructional office serving the departments.

Originally, the number of administrative positions remained the same as our present number. This changed, however, with the recommended addition of a rotating administrative position entitled "Director of Instructional Development." This person will be selected from the faculty for a limited period of time. Besides providing administrative support for instructional innovation, the position will provide an opportunity for an administrative internship for existing staff members.

By November, 1976, the Committee had finished its examination of the governance process at Santa Rosa Junior College. It had concluded that there was a need for a policy-recommending body that would represent all segments of the campus community and be responsible for coordination of all district-wide committees. This resulted in the proposed College Council and President's Cabinet, which are described in the preceding document.

Ad Hoc Committee
District Reorganization
- SUMMARY -

-3-

In summary, it should be noted that the Committee represented segments of the campus community, including representatives from the Board of Trustees, Faculty, Administration, Classified, and Students. The administrative chart is based on compromise on the part of all parties -- balancing work loads with the ideal placement of responsibilities. While it is an extremely easy chart to understand, hopefully, it will increase administrative accountability and enhance services to the Faculty, Students, and Staff. The Committee is aware that questions related to policy formation and execution (governance) must be integrated into the chart in order to protect Faculty interests in the decision-making process. The Council and Cabinet will serve as the mechanisms for formalizing policy formation and policy execution.

GC student leaders to attend National, Student Lobby on education monies.

by Lois Finley

When the National Student Lobby (NSL) holds its sixth annual lobbying conference next week in Washington, D.C., two Grossmont student leaders will be there.

ASGC officers, president, George Janczyn, and executive secretary Rusty Corcoran leave tomorrow for the meeting.

One of the prime items on the conference agenda is the cutbacks to campus-based financial aid programs which President Jimmy Carter has recommended in his budget proposal. Involved in the cuts are basic grants, affirmative action, subminimum wages, college work study, tax credits for the cost of higher education and state and federal student loans.

Meetings will be held with Senators, Congressmen, officials from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and Office of Management and Budget.

When Janczyn presented the request to the ASGC board for authorization for the two Grossmont officers to attend the NSL, he stated, "As you may be aware, Jimmy Carter is now our President. Unfortunately some of his campaign promises have been expanded upon, that is to say, some will not be fulfilled. For instance, in his proposed budget to Congress, he has not asked for a continuation of Appropriations for Student Aid.

"There is also a question as to whether National Direct Student Loans will be continued. This is contrary to the platform of the Democratic Party and positively deleterious to student interests.

"These are two reasons that the National Student Lobby is meeting in Washington for the purpose of developing long-range legislative strategy for students nationwide. It is felt that the ASGC should join this effort to mobilize."

In a letter to the ASGC, the student government officers from DeAnza College, Cupertino, California, pointed out that if Carter's recommendations are passed by the House and Senate, many financially needy students will be denied the opportunity to pursue a college education.

The members of the National Student Lobby, headquartered in Washington, serve as representatives of students on the national level.

16. BARNETT HALL - OFFICE ADDITIONS: Deferred.

17. STUDENT SPONSORED WALK-A-THON: On a motion by Trustee Maggini seconded by Trustee Race and carried, an Easter Handicapped Walk-A-Thon sponsored by SRJC students is approved.

7. REPORTS & DISCUSSION ITEMS:

1. A report on transfer student GPA performance at UC and CSUC indicates that the programs and courses offered at SRJC prepare transfer students very well for their academic careers and on the average they continue to maintain their GPA.
2. The possibility of faculty teaching at a four-year, or any other institution, while on Sabbatical Leave, was deferred for further study.
3. An evaluation of Administrative Personnel and P/T teachers, Adult & Continuing Education, was deferred to Executive Session.
4. An enrollment report showing the total student count for Spring, 1977 as 19,414, is 10.7% over Fall, 1976. It is indicated that the enrollment will probably be over 20,000 with an ADA of approximately 10,720, which is less than budgeted for this year.

5. A report was made by the Board subcommittee on Administrative Reorganization. The subcommittee's recommendations were based on the report of the campus ad hoc Committee on District Reorganization; written and verbal comments of faculty and staff; and the Academic Senate in a newsletter. The report was made public as March 15 is the deadline for notification of any changes in classification, and for campus and community reaction.

A special meeting will be held Monday, March 21, 1977 at 7:30 p.m. for comments on the report and another special meeting will be held Monday, March 28, at 7:30 p.m. for final action by the Board on the new District Reorganization.

8. PERSONNEL:

1. Resignations: On a motion by Trustee Maggini, seconded by Trustee Jacobs and carried the following resignations are accepted:
 1. Joe Hagerty, Coordinator, Health Occup., September 1, 1977.
 2. Jeanette Wightman, College Nurse, effective June 30, 1977.

Nazarian will stay: reorganization approved

by J. C. Jupiter

Assistant Dean of Student Personnel Richard Nazarian, will be sleeping a lot better these days. He will, because his job on campus will not be eliminated in the new administrative reorganization program that was passed by the SRJC Board of Trustees last Monday night.

The vote of approval climaxed two weeks of emotional argument that criticized the board's original reorganization proposal which included the elimination of Nazarian's position. Various campus groups feared that the loss of Nazarian's job would further reduce the effectiveness of Student Personnel Services department here.

The board's decision to keep Nazarian was primarily based on the results of a special public meeting held last week in order for the trustees to hear comments from SRJC staff and students on the recommendations for administrative reorganization. Most of the speakers criticized the board's plan and asked that the decision be delayed until further input could be ascertained. After the public meeting, the board retired to executive session to discuss the personnel situation with Nazarian and other administrators. The results of the meeting were inconclusive and the board at that time gave no indication as to which way they would vote on the proposals.

However, a letter writing campaign supporting Nazarian and student services was started last week and did much to influence the board's decision Monday night.

"You've got a lot of friends, Naz," said board member John M. Jacobs. "We got a lot of letters and they certainly had an effect."

Another trustee, Albert Maggini said that the administrative reorganization was "not written in concrete so it can't be changed. We'll let student services alone. Naz's position remains as it was in the past."

Throughout the evening the board thanked the staff, students and public for the input they received last week. "It was good (at the special meeting) to hear from faculty and students," said Trustee Robert Call. "It put us in tune to go into this session."

Although Nazarian's position is assured for at least another year, the board expressed concern that the student personnel services department has mixed priorities and cannot function efficiently in its present state.

Board member Walter Haehl said that in his opinion "students in recent years have been getting too much attention" in matters not related to instructional development on this campus. "I dislike the babysitting process and babysitting requests," said Haehl. "My opinion is to foster and perpetuate the plan with the exception of student personnel section. Let's give them two years to clean house," he added.

Later, the board decided to reduce the time limit to only one year. Trustee John B. Lounibus said that Nazarian's position "could be more effective", and that student personnel should have "a list of priorities."

"The important thing in education," said Lounibus, "is to teach the individual to fend for himself. The burden on Nazarian and his group is overwhelming at times." Lounibus went on to say that "volunteers for lower echelon work and a program outline" could help them organize the department.

"Our aim," Lounibus said, "should be to give aid in areas that are most difficult for students to get help. They must also use their minds, hearts and strength. I'm very happy Nazarian will be with us next year."

Mikalson, Nazarian, students, importance?

Two weeks ago the students, faculty, classified employees and administrators were faced with an awakening that found one administrator's position on this campus might be eliminated. The axed position is that of assistant of Student Personnel and the person was Dean Richard Nazarian.

It was a surprise to me. An ad-hoc committee was formed some two years ago to review reorganization on campus. Ideas were tossed around as quickly as a ping pong ball and finally after hours of deliberation a proposal had been made. While this was being raked over the coals the Board of Trustees couldn't get together with the ad-hoc committee and so they formed their own committee. This was made up of Albert Maggini, Robert Call, and John Jacobs. They came up with a proposal in six to eight weeks that took the ad-hoc committee almost two years to arrive at. Why? Somebody should have gotten together somehow and formed one committee out of both of them.

The school is in need of instructional development. And that's all we need if students want to come to school just for classes. But what about those students who are in need of financial aid and re-entry and are handled by student services and can't be dealt with through the instructional office.

It seems that the college is trying to make do with the bare minimum in student personnel.

The college drastically needs reorganizing.

Maybe the president of the college was causing a shake-up to see how aware people in student services were.

It worked with the campus, especially the students uniting for the first time in a long while coming to the defense. When the bell rang for the bout the students came out punching and seemed to have gotten the first punch in with the rest of the campus behind.

It seems to me that seven gentlemen can make a decision that affects the whole campus on the recommendation of the college president and then write up a proposal in the time span of eight weeks. It's about time somebody in the president's office opened up their eyes and found out what's going on. The Board of Trustees obviously did. They realized the importance of their decision and put a lot of hard work into their studies.

President Roy Mikalson said that he will be spending more time with the students now that a major proportion of his responsibilities will be on the shoulders of Brook Tauzer, soon to be vice-president of Academic Affairs. But one must remember, his major job is still that of a superintendent, which to me means more time away from the students and a bar around his office.

With all the talking the Oak Leaf is doing about the ASB and the Executive Cabinet, how come no mention of the fact was made about the four hundred dollars the CSA just funded them for their little jaunt to Los Angeles? Also, the Oak Leaf is funded ($2,300) by the ASB. Isn't there a saying about people in glass houses?

OL advice unwanted

Editor:

This letter is in response to the Oak Leaf editorial, March 17 edition. The editorial concerned itself with the ASB "charity"—the plight of night school students. As a night school representative, I welcome any publicity concerning this much-neglected subject. I would, however, like to add a few comments.

Contrary to the theme of the editorial, the ASB does not exist solely for the benefit of day students, nor are the day students the only persons funding ASB activities. While, admittedly, a large majority of night students are not currently ASB card holders, the same can be said of day students.

Most ASB activities and services are presently geared for day students to the exclusion of night students, since most night students work during the day. The recent book fair, noon bands, medical services and legal aid are a few good examples.

The author of the editorial suggests night school students be afforded the opportunity to buy ASB cards so as to become an effective part of ASB. I feel that the only way night school students will or should buy ASB cards is if they are offered the same or similar benefits that day students now enjoy as ASB members.

I appreciate the concern shown by the author for night students and encourage more input from other students, since no representative government can effectively operate without the active participation of those being represented.

For those interested, I can be found in the Bear's Den, Monday and Tuesday evenings from 6-7 p.m., or by appointment. I'm here to help. Just ask me.

Canevari on the air

by Colin McCormack

Bopping down the road to an Elvis Presley tune, students on their way to campus may hear the soft, alluring voice of Gene Canevari saying, "Isn't it time you went to college?"

KSRO, a Santa Rosa based radio station, sponsors SRJC promotion as a service to the community. Canevari, student activities advisor, writes and produces these spots with the help of KSRO disc jockey John Belloti.

"I had been thinking a long time," said Canevari, "that we should use local radio to publicize our on-campus events." The promos are aired twice daily between 5 a.m. and 7 a.m. and 8 p.m. and 11 p.m.

"It's not part of my job, specifically," Canevari explained. "I had some background in radio. It was something extra I wanted to do for the college."

Canevari is not directly promoting registration for the college, but is directing the community to public affairs students are presenting.

The tag line for his recordings, "Isn't it time you went to college? Or back to college?" serves a double purpose, said Canevari. Whether or not the people who react to the radio commercials come to school to register or just to see a play, they are in essence going to college.

Topics for the one-minute radio commercials are as varied as the activities presented on the SRJC campus. Subjects range from Gold Card advertisements to basketball and other sports and cultural events.

During the November blood drive, the design group, described by Canevari as "a group of crazies," wrote a skit for radio utilizing the Humphrey Bogart image. The Boggie character held up a poor unsuspecting boy and took his blood by force. As Boggie reassures his partner, Slim, the victim moans and said, "Oh, no...I should have listened. For your own best interest, keep your blood safe. Keep it in the blood bank."

The recordings for the commercials are done in a KRSO studio. The work takes about four hours. "It takes quite a bit of time," said Canevari.

Night Owl not a tool of ASB says co-editor

by Fabio Testa

"The Night Owl hasn't become an ASB vehicle," assured Pat Hamilton, co-editor of the Night Owl, referring to the money accepted by their paper from the ASB.

Although the money will cover the cost for an extra section covering ASB news, Hamilton doesn't feel that this will affect the paper's moral standards in any way.

"We were already planning to write an in-depth article on the ASB," says Hamilton, "but they approached us before the assignments were given out."

She added that night students aren't involved enough in the college, and having special coverage in the Night Owl dealing with ASB news will help them know about the opportunities available through the ASB.

Hamilton explained that they accepted the funds for expansion on the Night Owl. "This gives us an opportunity to present a larger issue," she said.

Hamilton did not have any comments regarding the editorial of last week's Oak Leaf (which criticized the Night Owl) and adds that probably their paper won't write an article in responding to it. "I don't feel we have done anything wrong that has to be justified," explained Hamilton regarding the Oak Leaf article. "It was made perfectly clear to the ASB that we weren't going to do anything more nor less than straight reporting of what they offered."

Hamilton also stated that the Night Owl won't become an advertisement for the ASB. According to the Night Owl co-editor, they will report only straight facts, and the articles will be normally written by the reporters of the paper.

Hamilton is unsure if the Night Owl will keep on getting partial sponsorship by the ASB: "I have no jurisdiction to answer that," she said.

Dear Oak Leaf:

As you have noticed, I have addressed this letter to the Oak Leaf. I would have preferred addressing it to the person or persons who wrote the editorial.

As a reporter on the Night Owl, I wish only to return a favor. Just as you gave the Night Owl "advice" I would now like to reciprocate.

I think a better journalistic form would be to wait for news to happen before making judgements concerning it. Your editorial gave well meant criticism, perhaps, about the Night Owl's content and policy. Unfortunately, the edition (Volume 5, Number 2) you referred to has not yet been sent to the printers as of the above date.

Valentine, you at least I can address by name:

I have always been told that a caricature in a political cartoon should be readily identifiable. I must admit that try as I and my friends might, we are unable to identify or recognize either the auctioneer or the elephant.

Finally, it seems you have not done what is usually the case when investigating facts: talk to the source. To my knowledge, no Oak Leaf reporter contacted or interviewed our editors, reporters, or advisor prior to publishing your two unsigned articles.

Sincerely,
William J. Kirst

THE NEWEST IN-JOKE around SRJC is any comment about the size of Tauzer gym. At the board meeting Monday, with standing room only over the administrative reorganization issue, someone suggested moving the meeting to larger quarters.

"We could move to the gym," said a voice from the crowd in the Pioneer Hall class room.

"Naw," said another, "That's smaller than this room."

They moved. To the cafeteria. Maybe they could try basketball in there. Just push the tables back, Trumbo.
