OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

MEMORANDUM

Date: March 29, 1978

To: Board of Trustees

From: Roy G. Mikalson, Supt. / Pres.

Subject: Information on the Jarvis-Gann Initiative.

PROVISIONS OF THE JARVIS-GANN TAX LIMITATION INITIATIVE

The Jarvis-Gann Initiative is deceptively simple. It has eight basic provisions:

1. Limit taxes on real property to 1% of the full cash value, plus such rates as are necessary to retire previously voter-approved bonded indebtedness. The total property tax rate would be $4 per $100 of assessed value (AV) for all local government and a rate of approximately $1 per $100 AV for bonded indebtedness. Total estimated tax rate: $5 per $100 AV;
2. Would freeze the "full cash value" for property taxation purposes to the County Assessor's 1975-76 valuation of real property. Properties recently reassessed must be rolled back to the 1975-76 valuation -- a roll back of approximately $12 billion of assessed value statewide;
3. Permits assessment increases upon the sale or new construction of real property and an increase of up to 2% annually in the 1975-76 valuation;
4. Prohibits the Legislature from levying a state property tax or state property transfer tax;
5. Requires a 2/3 vote of the Legislature to increase any state tax;
6. Prohibits any increase in the property tax beyond the four dollar rate, even by public vote;

REPRINTS - Paid for by the SRJC Associated Students

7. Requires a 2/3 approval of "qualified voters" for any "special taxes" levied by local government or special districts. "Special-taxes" may not be property taxes;
8. Would become effective on July 1, 1978, except the 2/3 legislation vote requirement, which would become operative upon passage of the initiative.

COMMUNITY COLLEGE EFFECTS

1. Loss of $497 million out of $829 million local taxes.
2. Loss of borrowing power.
3. Prohibits any increase in property tax to raise additional money - even by vote.
4. Local tax raised increase only 2% a year while inflation jumps 5-8 per cent annually.
5. Needed income must come from state or federal sources.
6. By law must prepare a balanced budget.
7. Must budget for year and prepare to operate a year.

JARVIS-GANN vs S. B. 1 (BEHR)

1. Proposition 8 must pass to make SB 1 operative - double standards of property taxes.
2. If both Prop. 8 and Prop. 13 pass, Prop. 13 becomes effective, regardless of the number of votes.
3. SB 1 has no effect on local income for junior colleges.
4. SB 1 gives homeowner relief of 30+ per cent, none to business or or industrial property.
5. SB 1 gives renter relief and relief to senior citizens' property taxes.
6. Under Jarvis-Gann SRJC would lose $\$3\frac{1}{2}$ - $4\frac{1}{2}$ million; under SB 1 SRJC would lose no local tax money.

POSSIBLE SOURCES TO REPLACE LOST REVENUE

1. Local taxes - nearly impossible, as two-thirds of voters eligible is a Jarvis-Gann requirement and none of the increase could be in the form of a property tax.
2. State - increase in state income tax, increase in sales tax, increase in corporate taxes - need two-thirds vote of Legislators.
3. Federal - we will probably lose up to $1 million because of lack of matching state funds.

POSSIBLE CAMPUS SOURCES OF REVENUE

1. All permissible material fees - graphic arts, shop materials, class supplies - these could be charged until outside sources of funds are found.
2. Health fees to offset fully health costs.
3. Parking fees to offset total parking and parking security costs.

POSSIBLE BUDGET CUTS

1. Most capital equipment.
2. Replacement of equipment - delay or cancel.
3. Reduce supply budgets.
4. Utilities - (a) telephone cuts; (b) police energy use more closely.

5. Cut or eliminate community services.
6. Reduce library hours and services.
7. Reduce district support for special programs: EOPS, COIL.
8. Reduce counseling services.
9. Reduce clerical assistance.
10. Cut nearly all non-student employment.
11. Cut student employment to Work-Study.
12. Reduce or eliminate support services - TA's, readers.
13. Reduce A.V. services.
14. Cut P/T staff not generating ADA.
15. Reduce travel and field trips.

CHANGES IN LOAD

1. Have most administrators teach at least one class.
2. Assign extra classes to faculty to achieve a higher WSCH average.
3. Increase class size - make full use of Emeritus Hall Lecture Room.

FACILITIES

1. Reorder facility plan.
2. Put a hold on unfunded projects.
3. Possibly postpone Doyle Center.
4. Eliminate remodeling for one year.

EFFECTS OF PROP. 13 PASSAGE

1. Local and state economies will be severely crippled:
 - (a) Loss of jobs in all public agencies and governments, with loss of buying power - ripple effect to hurt all businesses.
 - (b) Cost of unemployment insurance will balloon.
 - (c) Cost of welfare will then go up.
 - (d) Delinquent home payments, car payments - a spiraling effect of unemployment.
2. Local governments will be crippled as will local tax-supported services: fire, police, sanitation, etc.
3. By statute local voters cannot then vote increased property taxes to restore or increase services.

4. Most of the $7 billion tax relief will go to big business and industry or large property owners - 65 per cent. (If this loss is made up through new taxes, homeowners will probably pay the major share.
5. Schools will lose at least 60 per cent of local income and will be able to operate only for a short period of time or by severely cutting programs, for a longer period.
6. Chaos will result for at least 6 to 12 months, perhaps longer, with court tests, legal moves and interpretations, and proposed emergency legislation.
 - (a) There is no mechanism existing at present for raising $7 billion to replace money lost by local governments.
 - (b) There are no rules for distributing local taxes raised under Jarvis-Gann.

EFFECTS ON SRJC

1. Immediate loss of from $3½ to $4½ million from local taxes, plus another $1 to $2 from federal funds because of loss of state matching funds.
2. Need to prepare a balanced budget for the 1978-79 operation by August - this would mean forming a budget on known sources of income.

DISTRICT POSITION IF PROP. 13 PASSES

1. Operate as near a full instructional program as possible for one year during which time we can assess more clearly conditions affecting the District's operation. (This would not be a status quo operation as we would cut as many non-instructional areas as possible and as many instructional support services as possible).

Cutting programs and instructional staff has a down-spiraling effect and can cost rather than save money because of the way the district is funded.

2. Assure students that the college will operate for Fall and Spring semesters and will not "operate until funds run out and then close."
3. Have the Superintendent/President prepare a balanced budget for adoption as specified in the Ca. Ed. Code with local tax income computed as indicated under Prop. 13 (by the Board of Supervisors, the Legislators, or whoever specifies the ratio).
 - (a) All possible cuts will be made as indicated in a prior section of this report.
 - (b) Total carryover balance from the 1977-78 budget will be transferred for use in the 1978-79 budget.

- (c) The Board can allocate a part of the operational reserve to the 1978-79 budget - to be replaced when and if new sources of funds become available. (Much of the reserve will be needed as cash flow as districts under Jarvis-Gann will have no or limited borrowing power.)

If all possible steps outlined previously have been taken, there remains only one major step to balance the budget - reduction of all salaries on some prorata basis, as a temporary measure. (These cuts would have Number 1 priority on new funds raised by legislation, or any other source of funding.)

It would be my hope that few if any of the above would have to be implemented. The simple solution would be to defeat Prop. 13, pass Prop. 8, and realize that we must operate in the future in a changed operational environment.

CONSTITUTIONAL COMMITTEE MEETS 12:00 PM AFTER CSA (HIGGINS)

CSA awards grants with educational value

A "huge variety" of applications

by Carolyn Jachetta

"The committee looked more favorably on projects that didn't ask for much money, with the idea that the more people that could be made happy, the better," said Jared Morse EVP.

Morse spoke about the awarding of Student Project Grants for the Spring Semester at SRJC.

Morse acted as chairman of the Student Project Grant Committee which chose the nine grant recipients from 20 applicants. Morse reported an increase this semester in applications for the grants, which are awarded from ASB funds.

The committee selects student projects for funding on the basis of their educational or service value to the college, community, or the applicant.

During a meeting Monday afternoon, the CSA unanimously approved the projects selected for funding by the committee.

This semester's Student Project Grant recipients are:

Eric Klein: $20 for construction of a telescope with more light-gathering power than any of the telescopes currently on campus. After it is built, the telescope will become the property of SRJC.

Kerrill Knause $150 for a canine training project. The dogs will be taught how to help handicapped people.

David Schwabe: $125 for a film essay examining current attitudes and titled 'No deposit-No Return.'

Heather Granahan: $120 for a film on the subject of dance. Granahan hopes that people will "recognize and identify with the spirit of creation from the film in their own lives." The film will trace the "process of inspiration, creation, and performing of a dance," says Granahan.

Linda Eucalyptus: $90 for construction of a herbarium of Sonoma County lichens for display.

John Ibold: $70 for a study relating the development of facial expressions and body gestures in young children to their behavior.

Lisa Haley: $50 for developing a sample package of promotional material as a guideline to be prepared by musicians who want to find jobs.

Susan Klute: $50 for a study examining the impact of Federal Affirmative Action Guidelines on career counseling.

James Chess: $50 for construction of a stereo-audio compounder. The device will be used in studio recording to maximize full audio frequency range.

Morse also pointed out the "huge variety" of applications in funding requests, which ranged from $45 to the maximum allowable of $300.

"Most people who applied for grants, at the same time, asked for more than the bare minimum to get by on the project, with the expectation that the full amount of request would not be awarded," Morse said.

editorial

A new state law requires SRJC's Board of Trustees to include a student from among our ranks. Her or his term will be a year long, from July 1, 1978, to June 30, 1979. According to the law, the student board member may not vote on issues before the board and may not attend executive sessions.

In effect, it will be just like having a student go to the board meetings (which are open to the public, anyway) and occasionally answer questions about the students' feelings on such-and-such a matter.

It appears, then, that we're right back where we started from. We students already have two representatives, not officially on the board, who attend every meeting and address the board on student concerns. It's part of the jobs of Associated Student Body (ASB) President Gareth Plank and Assistant to the ASB Student Body President Jack Hamilton to represent the students before the board of trustees. These two are directly responsible to the student government, while the new student board member would have no place to go with or for his information.

The student board member will in effect be floating, outside the meetings. And at the meetings, the only improvement will be sitting behind the desk instead of in front of it.

Without a vote on board issues, the student board member will serve no purpose that is not already being served by the student body president and his assistant.

BOARD SUMMARY

Sonoma County Junior College District

REGULAR BOARD MEETING OF APRIL 10, 1978

EFFECTS OF PROPOSITION 13. . . Dr. Mikalson reviewed possible steps and budget cuts to be taken if Proposition 13 on the June 6 ballot passes. Some of the possible reductions are: halt college building program including Analy Hall remodeling, Doyle Student Center Remodeling, the Fieldhouse and other proposed projects; elimination of Community Services; deep cuts in all support services including EOPS, COIL, Counseling, Audio Visual, Library, etc.; increase class size and assigning faculty to extra classes; reduction in student employment; reduction in administrative, classified, and support services certificated staff; halt or delay in new equipment and replacement of equipment; and major reduction of all instructional and non-instructional supply budgets. Lastly, after all these and other steps are taken, there may be a reduction in salary for all staff. Mikalson also gained Board permission to write a letter to the Board of Supervisors requesting the Supervisors declare that the property taxes raised if Prop. 13 passes, would be distributed on a percentage pro-rata basis using 1977-78 as the base year.

CSEA NEGOTIATIONS PACKAGE. . . California School Employees Association (CSEA) Chapter 481 presented their master contract proposal to the District. The 107-page document was accepted by the Trustees. A public hearing and Board response will now take place prior to the beginning of negotiations.

STAFFING FOR 1978-79. . . Approved consolidating part-time Business Department positions into one full-time position; expanding College Nurse from 5/8 to full-time position; expanding legal secretary position (Business) from 50% to 60%; and establishing an Instructional Aide II for the CHEC Program.

STUDENT REP TO BOARD. . . Approved procedures for electing Student Representative on the Board of Trustees. Part of the procedures provide that any student in good standing can run for the position and vote. Exact voting procedures will be arranged by the Dean of Students.

ACADEMIC RENEWAL POLICY. . . Approved policy on academic renewal which brings District policy in line with Title V. Changes provide: lining out sub-standard grades instead of expunging them; including "D" grades as part of policy; allowing academic renewal after four years have passed; and providing for alleviation of a maximum of 24 units.

P.E. CREDIT FOR HONORS. . . Approved policy authorizing the use of physical education grades in computing students eligibility for the Dean's Honor list. P.E. grades were excluded in past computation of Honors.

KENT HALL FEES. . . Approved an increase in resident hall rates at Kent Hall from $2.70 per day to $3.00 per day. Suppers will cost $3.00 each.

Trustees approved submission of applications to CETA Title I for training programs in Licensed Vocational Nursing, Grounds-person, and Basic Vocational Skills Improvement as well as an application for funding by California Arts Council for Instruction in Arts for Mentally Retarded and Mentally Ill.

OTHER ACTIONS. . . In other actions, Trustees approved the delineation of function agreement with RAVEC, authorized $9,568 in intra-budget transfers, approved four new Adult and Continuing Education Classes, authorized cancellation of stage lighting contract if work is not completed in five days; and approved bids on graphic arts paper.

STUDENT PAY ADJUSTMENT

-Morse-

When inflation erodes an individual's earning power, it also erodes eating power. As of January 1, 1978, the federal minimum wage was adjusted to $2.65 per hour, and student pay rates at the Bay Area community colleges reflected this. Wages for unskilled and semi-skilled student-type labor also increased on the community-wide level, and this was reflected, for instance, in the prices at fast-food restaurants.

In order to help restore student economic parity, the College Student Assembly desires that the Board of Trustees consider favorably this request for an adjustment in student pay rates to six percent above the federal minimum wage.

CHESS CHALLENGER™

Upgraded Model

A new, fun, leisure-time activity. Fidelity Electronics' new Upgraded CHESS CHALLENGER® brings new suspense and excitement to chess. It's easy to play and great fun for the entire family, youngsters, hobbyists, shut-ins, retirees.

According to Don Thackrey, a member of the USCF Review Panel, "It works well and reliably, is convenient and easy to operate once one becomes familiar with algebraic notation (the letters and numbers along the edge of the board make this almost foolproof). The systematic study of books is doubtless a more effective way for a novice to improve his chess by himself, but the CHESS CHALLENGER is unquestionably a lot of fun.

"The CHALLENGER'S level of play is exceedingly difficult to judge. At levels 2 and 3 it plays somewhat better than at level 1, but there is little discernible and consistent difference between levels 2 and 3. In the opening and middlegame, especially at levels 2 and 3, CHESS CHALLENGER plays perhaps like a high Class E player. It does not leave pieces hanging, and its moves generally are reasonable from the point of view of elementary chess strategy. Offsetting this, however, is its failure to put a plan together and its lack of tactical sophistication (it misses most two- or three-movers, even those that a Class E player commonly sees).

"The algebraic grid is oriented to the control panel and designates squares from the player's side, whether the player has White or Black. "The CHALLENGER will sometimes castle when in check, requiring the player to make the computer take its move back, and find another move. Since it will castle (or try to castle) only once, it will not later castle even though it legally could.

"The notation on the readout for castling is 0-0 for castling to the right of the player and 0-0-0 for castling to the left. This is conventional, of course, when the player has White, but when CHESS CHALLENGER has White, the notation can cause confusion.

"As a vehicle for practice, experimentation, and fun, the programs do well enough to interest almost any chess player. One can give the program various odds or set up special situations with which to experiment. Here is an opponent who will give you a halfway decent game any time of the day or night you wish, that never throws a tantrum when you beat it, and never shows your friends the game when it beats you."

The CHESS CHALLENGER comes with a Limited Ninety-Day Warranty from Fidelity Electronics.

Don't be confused with other ads you might see at lower prices. This is the upgraded, higher priced model.

Student will fill non-voting board of trustees seat

The board of trustees moved April 10 to ask the entire student body to elect a student representative to the board.

A new state law requires the board of trustees to include one student member. The law prohibits the student member from voting on any board decisions or attending executive sessions, to which the board regularly adjourns after holding the public portion of its monthly meetings.

The board of trustees said students who are enrolled in at least one class at SRJC and are not on academic probation are eligible to run for the position. The student member must also be an SRJC district resident and a U.S. citizen.

Once elected, the student representative will have trustee traveling privileges as well as access to all board informational material.

The representative's term of office begins July 1, 1978, and ends June 30, 1979. The student must assure the board that she or he will be actively enrolled in classes at SRJC for the entire term. The board may terminate the representative's office if the individual no longer meets eligibility requirements. The representative may also be removed by a five percent vote of the electorate in a recall election.

In such an action, Dr. Garth Dougan, dean of student personnel, and an election advisory committee made up of students will interview replacement candidates and make recommendation to the board of trustees. The board will then appoint a student to fill the vacated office.

Candidates must file statements in the registrar's office no later than May 1. The statement must be 100 words or less, giving qualifications and the student's reasons for wanting the position. The election will be held during the week of May 15-19.

Disco

"Hassling the people was uncalled for," he said. "You can't rush anybody out. It takes time."

The entertainment commissioner attributed much of the earlier incidents to the Campus Police. "If they're watching the door, they shouldn't be grabbing anybody," he said.

Harrington, who acted as faculty advisor for the dance, said the actions of the Campus Police were a result of poor communication between himself, Currie, and the security team directed by Lt. Mason.

"The reason it happened was misunderstanding," Harrington surmized.

He said that, as time approached for the dance to end (12:30 p.m.), he suggested to Currie that the next song be the last. Currie informed the band after they had finished the tune they were playing.

Meanwhile, Harrington told Lt. Mason that the next song would be for the night. As the band played what Currie thought would be the last song, Campus Police interjected and told the band to stop.

The Campus Police evidently thought that the song being performed previously would be the last.

Harrington feels that Currie's and other people's opinion of the Campus Police is unfair.

"If people would look at the other side of the situation," he said, "everything would not be so intense." He feels that the security team had a rough night.

"I think that people over react. I think the whole thing is dumb." He said the whole issue was being "blown out of proportion."

Harrington said he feels someone is trying to make the Campus Police a "scapegoat."

Harrington also felt that he had been "stabbed in the back" by Currie and Publicity Commissioner Rob Foster by the entry they placed in the Bear Facts. The entry was an apology for the "unprofessional

ASB disco erupts in violence

by Colin McCormack

Violence and confusion erupted at the ASB sponsored disco-dance last Friday night as a series of "misunderstandings" caused one arrest and bred ill-content over the way Campus Police, who were hired as security, handled the situation.

According to Ass't. Student Activities Advisor David Harrington, officers from the Santa Rosa Police Department (SRPD) arrested a young woman under the age of 18 who had entered the dance after Harrington stopped her at the door for being under age.

Lt. Terry Mason, of the Campus Police and in charge of the security crew, escorted the woman out of the dance. The woman struggled not to be taken out and broke the glass door to the front of the Coop, where the dance was held.

"Exactly how the woman broke the glass door, I don't know," said Harrington.

The woman cut her wrist on the broken glass and was taken to the hospital by the SRPD before being taken to the station.

Earlier, when Harrington had stopped her at the entrance, she protested and hit him on the side of his head.

It is not known exactly what the charges are against her, but Harrington said, "She was busting about five or six laws. She was physically abusive, and destroying campus property.

He added that the students at the dance were acting "childish."

Another fight occurred that night at the other end of the Quad as when Officer Culver Jones and his partner (both of the Campus Police) attempted to keep other "crashers" from entering the dance. Jones also recieved blows in this confrontation.

The dance is now creating friction between ASB Entertainment Commisioner Steve Currie (who organized the dance) and the Campus Police.

"Security (Campus Police), I feel, at the end of the dance destroyed the dance," Currie said.

Currie complained that the Campus Police, who he termed as "kiddy cops," ruined the dance by cutting off the band during their last song. They did so because the dance was supposed to end.

"Campus Police just took charge of our dance," said Currie. "They interferred with student activities that night. I don't like that at all."

The Campus Police would not comment and refused to answer any pertinent questions.

Currie went on to say that he disliked the manner in which the Coop was emptied after the music stopped.

editorial

A series of confusing incidents occurred at the Associated Student Body (ASB) disco dance last Friday night, and the emotional reactions of all parties involved have unfortunately lasted and flourished.

The dance ended when overhead lights went on suddenly and a campus security officer joined the performing band at the microphone and announced the evening's end. Then, according to witnesses, partiers reluctant to leave were "hassled" by campus police officers. Earlier in the evening several problems with crashers had resulted in violence, including a minor who crashed out through a plate glass door.

ASB Publicity Commissioner Rob Foster and Entertainment Commissioner Steve Currie are very displeased with the cop's behavior at the dance. The campus cops are displeased with the student's behavior at the dance. This conflict has resulted in public emotional flare-ups for Currie, renewed student animosity for cops, a cold-shoulder treatment by campus cops and headaches for administrators. ASB representatives, administrators, and Campus Police Captain Terry Stewart have had scattered meetings throughout the week trying to decide who is at fault for Friday's incidents.

The solution would seem simple if people did not feel that their missions of protecting images and getting-the-guy-who-did-it were so crucial in this case. ASB commissioners Foster and Currie are dissatisfied with services rendered by the campus cops. Perhaps they simply ought to behave as any other level-headed consumers might and take their security business elsewhere—to the city police, for instance—thus showing the campus police their feelings for a need for improvement.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

MEMORANDUM

Date: March 29, 1978

To: Board of Trustees

From: Roy G. Mikalson, Supt. / Pres.

Subject: Information on the Jarvis-Gann Initiative.

PROVISIONS OF THE JARVIS-GANN TAX LIMITATION INITIATIVE

The Jarvis-Gann Initiative is deceptively simple. It has eight basic provisions:

1. Limit taxes on real property to 1% of the full cash value, plus such rates as are necessary to retire previously voter-approved bonded indebtedness. The total property tax rate would be $4 per $100 of assessed value (AV) for all local government and a rate of approximately $1 per $100 AV for bonded indebtedness. Total estimated tax rate: $5 per $100 AV;
2. Would freeze the "full cash value" for property taxation purposes to the County Assessor's 1975-76 valuation of real property. Properties recently reassessed must be rolled back to the 1975-76 valuation -- a roll back of approximately $12 billion of assessed value statewide;
3. Permits assessment increases upon the sale or new construction of real property and an increase of up to 2% annually in the 1975-76 valuation;
4. Prohibits the Legislature from levying a state property tax or state property transfer tax;
5. Requires a 2/3 vote of the Legislature to increase any state tax;
6. Prohibits any increase in the property tax beyond the four dollar rate, even by public vote;

REPRINTS - Paid for by the SRJC Associated Students

7. Requires a 2/3 approval of "qualified voters" for any "special taxes" levied by local government or special districts. "Special-taxes" may not be property taxes;
8. Would become effective on July 1, 1978, except the 2/3 legislation vote requirement, which would become operative upon passage of the initiative.

COMMUNITY COLLEGE EFFECTS

1. Loss of $497 million out of $829 million local taxes.
2. Loss of borrowing power.
3. Prohibits any increase in property tax to raise additional money - even by vote.
4. Local tax raised increase only 2% a year while inflation jumps 5-8 per cent annually.
5. Needed income must come from state or federal sources.
6. By law must prepare a balanced budget.
7. Must budget for year and prepare to operate a year.

JARVIS-GANN vs S. B. 1 (BEHR)

1. Proposition 8 must pass to make SB 1 operative - double standards of property taxes.
2. If both Prop. 8 and Prop. 13 pass, Prop 13 becomes effective, regardless of the number of votes.
3. SB 1 has no effect on local income for junior colleges.
4. SB 1 gives homeowner relief of 30+ per cent, none to business or or industrial property.
5. SB 1 gives renter relief and relief to senior citizens' property taxes.
6. Under Jarvis-Gann SRJC would lose $\$3\frac{1}{2}$ - $4\frac{1}{2}$ million; under SB 1 SRJC would lose no local tax money.

POSSIBLE SOURCES TO REPLACE LOST REVENUE

1. Local taxes - nearly impossible, as two-thirds of voters eligible is a Jarvis-Gann requirement and none of the increase could be in the form of a property tax.
2. State - increase in state income tax, increase in sales tax, increase in corporate taxes - need two-thirds vote of Legislators.
3. Federal - we will probably lose up to $1 million because of lack of matching state funds.

POSSIBLE CAMPUS SOURCES OF REVENUE

1. All permissible material fees - graphic arts, shop materials, class supplies - these could be charged until outside sources of funds are found.
2. Health fees to offset fully health costs.
3. Parking fees to offset total parking and parking security costs.

POSSIBLE BUDGET CUTS

1. Most capital equipment.
2. Replacement of equipment - delay or cancel.
3. Reduce supply budgets.
4. Utilities - (a) telephone cuts; (b) police energy use more closely.

5. Cut or eliminate community services.
6. Reduce library hours and services.
7. Reduce district support for special programs: EOPS, COIL.
8. Reduce counseling services.
9. Reduce clerical assistance.
10. Cut nearly all non-student employment.
11. Cut student employment to Work-Study.
12. Reduce or eliminate support services - TA's, readers.
13. Reduce A.V. services.
14. Cut P/T staff not generating ADA.
15. Reduce travel and field trips.

CHANGES IN LOAD

1. Have most administrators teach at least one class.
2. Assign extra classes to faculty to achieve a higher WSCH average.
3. Increase class size - make full use of Emeritus Hall Lecture Room.

FACILITIES

1. Reorder facility plan.
2. Put a hold on unfunded projects.
3. Possibly postpone Doyle Center.
4. Eliminate remodeling for one year.

EFFECTS OF PROP. 13 PASSAGE

1. Local and state economies will be severely crippled:
 - (a) Loss of jobs in all public agencies and governments, with loss of buying power - ripple effect to hurt all businesses.
 - (b) Cost of unemployment insurance will balloon.
 - (c) Cost of welfare will then go up.
 - (d) Delinquent home payments, car payments - a spiraling effect of unemployment.
2. Local governments will be crippled as will local tax-supported services: fire, police, sanitation, etc.
3. By statute local voters cannot then vote increased property taxes to restore or increase services.

4. Most of the $7 billion tax relief will go to big business and industry or large property owners - 65 per cent. (If this loss is made up through new taxes, homeowners will probably pay the major share.
5. Schools will lose at least 60 per cent of local income and will be able to operate only for a short period of time or by severely cutting programs, for a longer period.
6. Chaos will result for at least 6 to 12 months, perhaps longer, with court tests, legal moves and interpretations, and proposed emergency legislation.
 - (a) There is no mechanism existing at present for raising $7 billion to replace money lost by local governments.
 - (b) There are no rules for distributing local taxes raised under Jarvis-Gann.

EFFECTS ON SRJC

1. Immediate loss of from $3½ to $4½ million from local taxes, plus another $1 to $2 from federal funds because of loss of state matching funds.
2. Need to prepare a balanced budget for the 1978-79 operation by August - this would mean forming a budget on known sources of income.

DISTRICT POSITION IF PROP. 13 PASSES

1. Operate as near a full instructional program as possible for one year during which time we can assess more clearly conditions affecting the District's operation. (This would not be a status quo operation as we would cut as many non-instructional areas as possible and as many instructional support services as possible).

Cutting programs and instructional staff has a down-spiraling effect and can cost rather than save money because of the way the district is funded.
2. Assure students that the college will operate for Fall and Spring semesters and will not "operate until funds run out and then close."
3. Have the Superintendent/President prepare a balanced budget for adoption as specified in the Ca. Ed. Code with local tax income computed as indicated under Prop. 13 (by the Board of Supervisors, the Legislators, or whoever specifies the ratio).
 - (a) All possible cuts will be made as indicated in a prior section of this report.
 - (b) Total carryover balance from the 1977-78 budget will be transferred for use in the 1978-79 budget.

- (c) The Board can allocate a part of the operational reserve to the 1978-79 budget - to be replaced when and if new sources of funds become available. (Much of the reserve will be needed as cash flow as districts under Jarvis-Gann will have no or limited borrowing power.)

If all possible steps outlined previously have been taken, there remains only one major step to balance the budget - reduction of all salaries on some prorata basis, as a temporary measure. (These cuts would have Number 1 priority on new funds raised by legislation, or any other source of funding.)

It would be my hope that few if any of the above would have to be implemented. The simple solution would be to defeat Prop. 13, pass Prop. 8, and realize that we must operate in the future in a changed operational environment.

6. Is it true that home owners and renters would not benefit from lower property taxes under the Jarvis-Gann Initiative because other taxes would have to be increased by an equal amount?

This is utterly untrue. Passage of the Jarvis-Gann Initiative would not make necessary any new or additional taxes. The lost revenue can be offset by cuts in wasteful government spending and use of present and prospective surpluses now being produced by present state taxes.

The Jarvis-Gann Initiative would reduce property taxes $7 billion a year according to the Legislative Analyst. (My calculation is $6 billion, but let's accept the higher figure.) California state and local governments now spend about $33 billion a year. With a determined effort 10 percent of this spending could be eliminated without any loss in the quantity or quality of essential government services. That could make up $3.3 billion of the loss. Another $1.5 billion could be offset by applying current surplus revenue now being produced every year by the existing tax system. Still another $1.5 billion could be offset by applying part of the accumulated surplus of more than $3 billion now in the State treasury. The balance of $700 million would be raised by eliminating special property tax preferences no longer needed under a low uniform tax rate, and from higher yields of state sales, income, and business taxes resulting from the increased spending of property owners and renters.

California public officials and legislators should not even discuss new taxes until they have trimmed off the fat from present operations, and used the surpluses that present taxes are now producing. This is the task to which our law-makers should be devoting their time, instead of concocting "band-aid" tax reforms and trying to scare the public with talk of "chaos" in government and "doomsday" plans for massive new taxes.

7. Is the Behr Bill [Senate Bill No. 1] a satisfactory substitute for the Jarvis-Gann Initiative?

Definitely not. The Behr Bill was hastily patched together by the legislature in a panicky effort to divert votes away from the Jarvis-Gann Initiative. It would not eliminate waste from California government. It would make the tax system still more unjust.

The Behr Bill would reduce property taxes by 30 percent on owner-occupied homes, since the State would take over health and welfare costs. It would increase benefits to low-income elderly homeowners. It would increase the renters' tax credit from $37 to $75.

These are the fatal flaws in the Behr Bill.

First, the Behr Bill fails to put strong pressure on state and local governments to reduce wasteful spending. Property taxes could continue to rise as fast as inflation plus new construction. State spending could continue to rise by 1.2 times the annual percentage increase in personal income. No doubt our politicians will find these generous increases comfortable; but what about the taxpayers who must pay these swelling bills? The Jarvis-Gann Initiative, in contrast, would compel public officials to do some serious budget cutting.

Second, the Behr Bill assures partial property tax relief only in the immediate future, and not over the long term. Large impending increases in assessed values of homes will soon cancel out the 30 percent reduction in taxes owner-occupied homes. Also, the Jarvis-Gann Initiative writes property tax relief into the California constitution, which cannot easily be changed. But the Behr Bill could be repealed next year.

Third, the Behr Bill unfairly discriminates against renters, and favors owner-occupants of homes. It denies property tax relief to apartments and renter-occupied homes. The $37 increase in the renter's income tax credit is a sop. Californians who rent their homes or apartments should reject this unjust discrimination.

Fourth, the Behr Bill introduces the unsound principle of a "split" property tax rate, by taxing business and commercial property at higher rates than owner-occupied homes. The property tax rate should be uniform for all property, because the benefits of government service, per dollar of value, are equal for all types of property. The business community of California should contest this unfair discrimination.

8. Does the Jarvis-Gann Initiative merit public support next June?

Yes, the Jarvis-Gann Initiative deserves the public support. It is a blunt and imperfect instrument to be sure. But it is the only hope we have for bringing economy, efficiency and justice to California's government. The time has come when heroic surgery is needed to excise the cancerous growth of property taxation.

Answers to 8 Important Questions About Proposition 13

by Dr. Neil Jacoby

Remarks at the UCLA Business Forecast Conference by Neil H. Jacoby, Graduate School of Management, UCLA, March 16, 1978.

Dr. Neil Jacoby is a distinguished economist and author who served as an advisor to Presidents Truman and Eisenhower. He was with the Rand Corporation for 10 years and has held prestigious posts in private industry and public service. He is currently serving on the faculty of the UCLA Business School.

More than one and one-quarter million California taxpayers signed petitions to place on the ballot next June a constitutional amendment that would limit ad valorem taxes on real estate to 1 percent of full market value plus one-quarter percent necessary to service outstanding general obligation bonds. This proposal, designated as Proposition 13, is popularly known as the "Jarvis-Gann Initiative" because of its association with the names of its sponsors, long-time proponents of California tax limitation and reform.

No public policy proposal for many years has excited as widespread a public debate in California as has the Jarvis-Gann Initiative. The reason is obvious. The Initiative would precipitate a revolutionary reform — one long overdue — in California state and local finance.

Public debate of the Jarvis-Gann Initiative so far has been marked by high emotion and much distortion of the facts. Relatively little attention has been paid either to the legitimate complaints of taxpayers or to economic principles of taxation. Let us try to clarify the basic issues by raising and answering a series of questions.

1. Why is there a tidal wave of public support of property tax limitation in California?

I believe that there are two basic reasons. First, people are outraged at the booming costs of what they see as wasteful state and local government. Second, people are fearful that their homes — whether owned or are rented — are threatened by endlessly rising taxation. They demand reform of an unjust and archaic tax system.

2. Is the cost of California State and Local Government excessive?

The answer is a categorical "yes" by any test. Spending by California state and local governments has been booming upward nearly twice as fast as price inflation, with no end in sight. Public officials continue to vote themselves higher salaries, put more jobholders on government payrolls, and annually boost the pay and pensions of government employees. The millions of taxpayers supporting the Jarvis-Gann Initiative are saying that a brake must be put on public spending. A start must be made in weeding out wasteful and duplicative programs. So far, neither Sacramento nor our city and county officials seem to have understood this message.

Consider these documented facts:

... During the past ten years property taxes have increased 10 percent a year on the average, and total state and local spending has risen by 11 percent a year, whereas the consumer price index has gone up six percent a year.

... Government employees in California have a total compensation package — including paid holidays and vacations, pensions and job security) that is 25 percent higher than that of workers in comparable jobs in private industry.

... The average annual income of the California government employee today is substantially higher than the average income of the taxpayer — a case of the poorer supporting the richer. California lawmakers are the highest paid in the nation.

... The "prevailing wage" requirement in many city and county charters means that public employees automatically get a pay increase equal to the best found in private sector; and then they bargain for additional benefits on top. Mayor Bradley and others have warned that this "double dipping" into the public treasury will lead to municipal bankruptcy, as it is doing in New York.

... California's state and local taxes are the highest per capita and as a percentage of personal income in the nation, except for New York and Massachusetts.

... Our public officials talk economy and efficiency, but continue to support more spending. Governor Brown speaks of "lower expectations", lives in an inexpensive apartment, and drives an old car; but he proposes that California taxpayers shoulder the burden of another $3.5 billion water project!

3. Is the present California tax system unfair and socially dangerous?

Again, the answer is "yes." The basic reason is that it burdens real estate — and thereby home owners and renters with heavy costs of schools, welfare, health and recreation. A fair tax system would limit real estate taxes to the amount needed to pay the costs of public services that directly benefit property. Such property-related services include street maintenance and lighting, sewers, rubbish collection and police and fire protection. The Jarvis Initiative would do this. According to an official estimate, only $3.9 billion was spent on property-related services during the year ending June 30, 1977, but property taxpayers paid $9.4 billion. Education, welfare, health and recreation serve all the people and should be financed by taxes borne by all.

California's present tax system is archaic. Taxation of land and buildings according to value began when American society was predominantly rural and agricultural. A century ago, property was a fairly good measure both of person's wealth and of the benefits received from government. Today, we live in a highly industrialized and urbanized society in which wealth takes many forms and in which most government spending confers no direct benefits on property. Peoples' incomes are not closely related to their ownership or use of housing. Hence, the present tax system unjustly burdens the young family with large housing needs and the older couple who want to live in their family home on their retirement pensions. Stability of home or apartment occupancy is an important social goal. The present tax system weakens our society by threatening to force people out of their homes.

Modernization of California's tax system is long overdue. For years the state legislature has temporized with the problem. Now, the Jarvis Initiative compels it to act. Action now is vital. Without action, iniquity will increase and social tensions will rise further. Assessed values typically lag market values two to three years, and market values recently have risen sharply. Home owners and renters thus face more heavy increases in housing costs unless the present archaic system is changed.

4. Is the Jarvis-Gann Initiative wrong in cutting taxes on business as well as residential property?

No, equal treatment of all property is a strength of the Jarvis-Gann Initiative. Ad valorem real estate taxes should be based on the value of benefits received. Owners and users of commercial and industrial property have been penalized by punitive property taxes. They are entitled to the same relief as are the owners and users of residential real estate. Statements in the media to the effect that two-thirds of the relief under the initiative would go to business property are in error. Two-thirds would go to the occupiers of residential property, counting both homes and apartments. Only one-third would go to business property.

Reduction of business property taxes to a defensible level would be of great advantage to California. Our state has become notorious for offering an unfavorable "climate" for business, and has lost many industries and jobs to states with less onerous taxes. Our Governor is now making an effort to overcome this reputation and to improve the climate. Lower taxes on the ownership and use of business property would add to California's employment and prosperity.

5. Would renters as well as home-owners benefit from the passage of the Jarvis-Gann Initiative?

Yes, renters as well as home-owners would benefit from passage of the Jarvis-Gann Initiative. The market for rental housing is competitive. Rentals are determined by supply and demand. Just as higher property taxes have caused rentals to rise in the past, so would lower property taxes cause rentals to decline in the future below the levels they would otherwise reach. Over a year or two renters of an average apartment could expect their rentals to decline about $250 per year under the level that would otherwise obtain. Compared with this reduction, the present "renter's credit" of $37, which would be increased to $75 a year under the Behr Bill, is a paltry sum. The Jarvis-Gann Initiative does not provide any "renters' credit" because none is needed in our competitive housing market.

into law. Such pass-on provisions only encumber the law, add new levels of monitoring, and investigative personnel, and really do nothing for renters. In fact, rents are determined in the marketplace and in part reflect the rent-versus-buy decisions of home-dwellers. Rents also reflect the alternative uses of capital for rental unit owners.

If property tax rates fall, as proposed by Jarvis-Gann, then the after-tax rate of return on rental units would rise. This will attract more capital, more units, and will lead to a direct reduction in rents. Likewise, the costs of owning one's own home would fall. If rents didn't fall commensurately, some renters would buy their own homes. This will cause rents to fall as well. In fact, the reduction in rents would most likely be dollar-for-dollar the same as the reduction in property taxes. Capital employed in rental housing tends to be a close substitute for capital employed elsewhere. Thus, the after-tax returns to rental capital are determined in the overall capital market. Any reduction in tax rates will be passed on to renters.

While my professional judgment is that Jarvis-Gann will improve the state of the California economy, I feel equivalent reductions in either income or sales taxes would be markedly preferable. From tax theory, we know that economic efficiency is enhanced when those productive factors that can escape the most are taxed the least, and those that can escape the least are taxed the most. In California, businesses, sales, incomes, etc., can all escape taxes relatively more easily than can property. Property has a relatively more difficult time escaping taxes, although it can do so to no small extent. Therefore, an optimal tax structure for California should most likely include higher taxes on property than on incomes or sales. To me, the need for income and sales tax relief is of higher economic priority than property tax relief. Jarvis-Gann, therefore, is, in my view, by no means the best proposal imaginable. It is, however, better than we have, or are likely to get.

JARVIS-GANN

The Jarvis-Gann initiative (Proposition 13 on the June 6th ballot) has two principal features: It

- i) requires a two-thirds vote of the State legislature for any increase in tax rates;*
- ii.) reduces all property tax rates to not exceed 1% of the property's market value.

My view is that this initiative, if voted upon favorably at the June 6th election, would go a long way toward revitalizing California's economy. At present, California is one of the most heavily taxed States in the Nation, and the effects of these taxes are becoming more and more apparent every day. Businesses appear to be responding to the high tax rates by expanding their activities elsewhere. If this trend continues, it is my opinion that California will experience a deterioration in its relative position. The quality of life in California is being damaged by the high tax burdens and rather low priority use of some of those funds.

The successful passage of the Jarvis-Gann initiative would help reverse this debilitating trend. In the first year, the initiative would lower property tax rates from approximately 3½% (the Los Angeles County rate) of market value to 1% of market value. Without considering any other economic changes, this would lead to a revenue short-fall of some $7 billion. Such a number, if used as an estimate of what would actually happen even in the first year, is misleading. In fact, revenues would fall by less than $7 billion. With the State's accumulated surplus, and the ability to use capital markets, spending would hardly have to be reduced at all.

*It also has a few other interesting features. For example, it would require a two-thirds favorable vote on any bond issues, which would lead to higher tax rates. One other feature could well be in trouble because it seemingly violates the "equal protection" clause of the Constitution. This feature maintains that market values used for tax purposes cannot rise faster than some small percentage per year unless the house has been sold recently. For the purpose of this analysis, I shall assume this feature is removed.

Property tax revenues will fall by less than $7 billion because property values will rise and new construction activity will expand. Both of these effects will expand the tax base, and thus lead to less property tax revenue loss. In the out-years, property tax receipts will fall by far less than $7 billion annually. Take, for example, a $100,000 home, paying taxes of 3½% of market.* Taxes would be $3,500 per year without Jarvis. If Jarvis passes, the tax rate would fall to 1% of market, but tax receipts would be greater than $1,000. Using a discount rate of 10%, the approximate receipts would initially be $1,250, reflecting a rise in the market value of the house to $125,000.

In short order, the higher values of homes would encourage more new construction and an enlarged property base. As this process progressed, total property values would rise by far more than the 25% of the example.

Tax revenues elsewhere would expand absolutely. Social welfare mandated spending would fall. With property taxes lower, businesses will expand their activities within the State. This expansion will create new jobs, more investment, and higher real wages. Sales, incomes, and other forms of activity will expand. Sales taxes, income taxes, etc., all will rise. In addition, State outlays for social welfare will fall (unemployment compensation, rent subsidies, medical, etc.).

*The number here is to reflect the average Los Angeles County property tax rate on residential structures. Other counties may well have higher or lower rates.

Tax revenues in future years will be reduced by less or, quite conceivably, even expanded as a result of Jarvis-Gann. When combined with the healthier economic base and, as a direct consequence, less social welfare expenditures. The State should shortly be back in a surplus condition. The people of California would have a number of options, including a healthy increase in spending on such things as schools or further tax-rate reductions. As mentioned earlier, I do not foresee any need for sharply curtailed spending. To the extent that any spending cuts were deemed appropriate, they could be planned far in advance. With the State's surplus, the use of capital markets, and even the delay in when the Jarvis-Gann went into effect, there would be no difficulty in rationally planning expeditious spending reductions. The stories of closing schools and eliminating fire and police protection are not well-founded. They reflect a lack of knowledge of either economics or our State. In fact, given the legal priority structure of our spending, it is questionable whether spending on schools could be reduced legally, even if politicians were to foster such a move.

Business groups as well have been arguing that if Jarvis-Gann is passed, then the State will have to raise other taxes such as business taxes, sales taxes, or income taxes. Frankly, if Jarvis-Gann passes, the chances of higher tax rates elsewhere would be greatly reduced. With Jarvis-Gann, it would take a two-thirds majority of the legislature to pass a tax increase anywhere, while not it would only require a simple majority.

The last issue I feel needs addressing is the relationship between a reduction in property taxes, specifically, and rents. A number of people feel that rental pass-ons of property tax reductions should be written

The problem:

More than 10,000 people in Sonoma County have developmental disabilities due to mental retardation, cerebral palsy, epilepsy, autism, or some other neurological handicap. These disabilities exist within every race, every religion, every nationality, within every social and economic background.

Many developmentally disabled people endure physical, psychological, and social isolation because of old attitudes and prejudices toward their disabilities. Such people have the same basic need as everyone else: to live a meaningful life. But many require some special assistance to start and maintain the social contacts necessary to do so. There is a continuing need to help these individuals gain acceptance from the general community, and to ensure that they receive adequate services, to see that their rights and interests are not denied.

:APOSTROPHE

an ASB Publication ...

FIRST PERSON ; R. FOSTER

Well, the bricks are flying, and we here in the Editorial Department of APOSTROPHE, are learning pretty quickly how to "duck"! Down here on the floor though, we ARE celebrating the sensational energy APOSTROPHE has stirred up, for that of course, was our prime directive — to open an interesting and dynamic political forum to anyone with an urge to voice their views. It's been brought to our attention though, that some angry members do not necessarily agree with those expressed in the March issue. Well folks, APOSTROPHE is your voice too. All it requires is a type-written submission, and your word is heard. Simple, huh?

Of chatter these days about those infamous student government "factions." It seems we're all supposed to be working together, no matter what individual political values might be. That optimistic goal may just very well be possible — if only everyone were working...and not actively maintaining a righteous, shiny-clean appearance. Student government work wasn't meant to be easy, sometimes one simply can't clean dirty one's hands. Plastic gloves DO NOT work...

SPECIAL WELL DONE goes out to ASB President Beth Plank and Gene Canevari — for finally moving some 35,000 dollars in ASB funds to an Exchange Bank savings account, instead of a long dead, no interest checking account where the money gathered nothing but dust...

Mikalson's Malice?

Susan Clute

DR. Roy Mikalson states in his March 7th memo on quality education, "I believe we all agree that our teaching staff is excellent." While I do not dispute that some of the teaching staff is excellent, this is highly misleading since students do not have an easily available published evaluation of teachers by students. It is easy to fail hearing sounds of discontent if you wear earplugs.

HE expounds the virtues of the academic program here based on the records of students who go on to senior colleges and universities. While the records of these students may be outstanding, the sad fact is that only FIFTY out of the entire student body transferred to the U.C. system in 1977. It is obvious from this that any claim that this is a high quality educational institution is a hollow fraud.

IT is well known that he made massive, arbitrary, campus-wide budget cuts last year, yet when asked about this at a recent CSA meeting he said that he had made "no significant cuts". What possible purpose is served by such obvious untruths?

HE has been very busily campaigning against the Jarvis-Gann initiative on the basis that it will devastate the school. Yet, he is now sitting on a multimillion dollar surplus in the operational budget which should be used for our education. There is no assurance that he will release any of this for improved education even if Jarvis-Gann fails. He has probably already done more harm to SRJC during his administration than Jarvis-Gann ever will.

WHEN asked why in all his massive building program there is not one cent for on-campus day care, he said that there are no funding sources available. This is utter nonsense. I would like to see a copy of any such request he has ever made to anyone. Why are the desperate needs of at least 3000 SRJC students and many more in the community who would attend if they only could find day care, ignored?

SENATE BILL 1437...

THREATENS CIVIL RIGHTS

ALAN M. ASTENGO

IT SEEMS FITTING that Senate Bill 1437 is out and about. Our times are filled with Briggs Initiatives, Anita Bryants, and what not. Unquestionably, Senate Bill 1437 is another threat to our human rights. Passed by the senate in January, this bill obviously margins our democratic rights and creates some brand new federal crimes.

SECTION 1328 of the bill prohibits pickets or demonstrating within 100 feet of any building used by a judicial official - in Santa Rosa, that would be the City Hall. Section 1722 of the bill has been deliberately written so that successful strike could be considered a crime of EXTORTION. As a result, any violence that occurs from a strike or walkout - whether incited by unions or management, could be considered extortion.

UNDER sections 1831-1833, governments would have the power to prosecute people such as labor organizers or political activists who cross state lines, use the mail system or the telephone to organize or participate in riots, or activities LABELED riots. Under sections in Senate Bill 1437, holding the college has chosen to shunt them into dead end positions known as "WOMEN'S LIEUTENANT".

THE INJUSTICE is symptomatic of an incredible malaise which exists in nearly all levels of college. Hiring of minority faculty and staff off. Ethnic studies were cut. Financial Aids is jumbled and disorganized. EOP monies are distributed with a minimum of efficiency, if all. Enrollment deficiencies in some departments are allowed to increase unchecked, while certain individuals attempt to counter another departmental deficit by pushing a noxious brand of academic tyranny known as the Buckley Six Unit English Proposal.

WHAT'S GOING ON HERE? Does anyone remember the prime purpose of this institution is socially relevant, equal-opportunity education, and not profit?

STUDENT SPEAKS OUT

THIS is an open letter to the SRJC Gay Student Union. What was pulled on April 14th (Blue Jeans Day - ed.), reminded me of tactics used in the 8th GRADE to get attention. It seems to me that the Gays in the community of SRJC would work being understood and tolerated, instead of polarizing the student body. All that tactics such as those on April 14th do is throw people little boxes of thought which in turn just make the issues very superficial.

SEMIESTERS SECOND ASB DISCO was thoroughly enjoyed by all those Boogie Shakers who attended. And the scenes though, some boodies were shook wrong way, MINE, to name a few. ASB employed police, provided for "assistance", decided to promote themselves to producers and lit- took control of the evenings end, while guests and actual producers stood by press and outraged. Needless to say, services our embarrassing immature campus police, no longer be used at future discos--- sorry, as, good luck in the plumbing business ...

Disco dispute reconciled

"Communication was off that night"

by Colin McCormack

ASB entertainment Commissioner Steve Currie and Assistant Student Activities Advisor David Harrington met with the Campus Police, last week, to discuss the incidents that occurred at the April 14 disco-dance.

Earlier, Currie had complained that the campus police, whom the ASB had hired for security, had not properly handled the situation.

"I apologized," said Currie. "I told them that I was sorry for what I said."

"The reason I blew up was because I was mad at one person. I showed my ignorance by yelling at the whole department," he said.

Currie complained that the campus police had turned off the music (the band) too soon, which in his opinion, ruined the dance.

Currie's assessment of the situation was that "communication was off that night."

The next disco, which the ASB will hold on May 12, will have for security four uniformed officers from the Santa Rosa Police Department. The officers will be present to keep the dance under control.

The campus police will also attend the dance on a voluntary basis, and, according to Currie, they will dress in plain clothes.

Lt. Joe Lindstadt, of the Campus Police, confirmed that the campus police will be at the dance, but "depending on what the officers want," they may be either in uniform or plain clothes.

"Everything's all settled," said Currie. "The next disco will be a lot better."

editorial

Tempers have cooled after last week's disco-mania, but the problem remains unsolved. The April 14 Associated Student Body (ASB) disco fiasco, in which poor communication between the dance's producers and the hired security officers resulted in lasting bad feelings between many students and campus police officers, may not be over. In fact, it may continue even into the upcoming May 12 ASB disco.

The ASB decided that, instead of hiring campus police officers to work the security end of the dance, they'll hire four city police officers. To supplement this force, they'll hire students to do things like stand at doors and make sure people getting in are ASB members. Though these students will not be wearing uniforms, members of the student government say many of them will be off-duty campus police officers.

This security plan seems even more antagonistic than the one they tried at the last disco. The producers of the April 14 dance felt that the hired campus police and security officers went out of bounds in cutting off the band during its final song of the evening. They also felt that the officers "hassled" guests out the door at closing time. Many students feel the campus cops had the "walking tall" attitude at the dance.

How can the new solution to the security problem—hiring plain-clothed students—be any less conducive to the "walking tall" syndrome which seems to effect humans placed in positions of authority? Friday night partiers do not react kindly to overzealous uniformed people who try to control their antics. Partiers will react less kindly to plain-clothed people who try to tell them what to do.

The ASB would be better off to forget the added security plus, this time around, and use only the city police officers.

SRJC multi-cultural symposium planned

Santa Rosa Junior College's Extended Opportunity Program and Services (EOPS) is sponsoring a "Third World Multi-Cultural Symposium" on May 1 through 5 at SRJC.

The symposium is presented in cooperation with Ethnic Studies, Community Services, the Associated Student Body, Black Students Union, the Instructional Office, Audio Visual, Native American Club and the Movimiento Estudiantil Chicano de Aztlan (MEChA), and will feature a variety of lectures, films, dances and songs reflecting the spirit and tradition of the Third World cultures in America.

According to Raoul Guzman, Head of EOPS, "Our purpose is simple. We wish to share and involve the participants in a different slice of Americana which will hopefully add to their perspectives of Americans of Color."

The events for the week will include performances featuring traditional Eastern Pomo Indian dances and the Las Danzantes de Alegria performing colorful dances from various states and regions of Mexico.

There also will be film series featuring "Cheyenne Autumn," "Malcom X," and "Lucia," as well as guest speakers Reg Elgin, SRJC

Director of Financial Aids and former Executive Director of the Inter-Tribal Council of California; and Dr. Asa Hilliard, Dean of School, San Francisco State University.

Also during the Symposium, the Native American Museum will feature original Indian art created by local artists. The show is unique and exciting because it brings together the timeless feeling of native cultures by displaying the works of children as well as adults.

Along with the films, displays and lectures, the Symposium will feature "An evening of gospel music with the Evening Stars of Santa Rosa and the Community Baptist Choir" featuring Barbara Smith. Also, "The Original Hedzoleh Soundz" will be performing a unique blend of high-life music from Ghana.

Guzman feels an event of this sort is important in our time. "We need more social and cultural exchanges rather than less—if not, we deny ourselves the rewarding experience of understanding our dynamic and total collective U.S. identity."

Further information on the events and times, may be obtained from the Extended Opportunities Program and Services, 527-4256.

To: Leonid Illych Brezhnev, President of the U.S.S.R. and Chairman of the C.P.U.S.S.R. Central Committee

Mr. Brezhnev:

We, the CSA of SRJC protest the almost total denial of basic human rights in the Soviet Union, the Soviet Government's refusal to permit free emigration from the U.S.S.R., and the imprisonment of over 2,000,000 political dissidents in mental institutions and slave labor camps merely for expressing their political opinions.

If you do not correct these abuses at once, you risk the wrath of the CSA.

To: His Excellency, Al Hadji, Field Marshall Doctor Idi Amin Dada, Conquerer of the British Empire and Life President of the Republic of Uganda

Dear Dada:

We, the CSA of SRJC, strongly protest your total denial of human rights in Uganda, your expulsion of 500,000 Asian Ugandans from your country, your support of international terrorist groups, your admiration for the emulation of Adolf Hitler, your policy of literal genocide against over 300,000 non-Moslem tribesmen, and your murder without trial of over 200,000 political dissidents who are, in some cases, fed to the crocodiles.

These actions are even more reprehensible than the Canadian Government's slaughter of baby harp seals, and if you do not cease them at once, you risk the immediate wrath of the CSA.

To: James Earl Carter, President of the United States of America.

Mr. Carter:

During your campaign, you promised that you would never lie to us. You have not stopped lying since. Stop this at once or risk the wrath of the CSA.

To: God, King of the Universe who goes by many aliases. Care of Christians on Campus.

Dear God:

Mr. Segal keeps introducing these ridiculous letters which he knows can have no effect whatsoever, even though the grievancees are justified. This sort of letter of condemnation is a waste of this body's time and futile. Since we know that nothing happens on this Earth but that it is by Thy will, we hold you responsible for Mr. Segal's actions which are offensive to us. If you do not change your attitude at once, Lord, you risk the terrible wrath of the CSA.

Jock takes time out—turns DJ

"I wanted to break into new atmospheres"

By Russ Oertel

As he sits in his rarely-motionless swivel chair, Santa Rosa Junior College Entertainment Commissioner Steven Currie explains how he hopes the next SRJC disco may "go down in history!"

"They bought me and Rob two new turn tables," he exclaims as he glances over at his partner Rob Foster with whom he has worked ever since they first clasped hands at an SRJC Associated Student Body disco dance last March.

Actually, Currie, who originally came to SRJC to play football, hoped to be spending this year at a four-year college on a sports scholarship. Because of transfer problems, however, he ended up at SRJC last July.

"I wanted to break into new atmospheres," said Currie, explaining why he decided to "sit out" last fall's football season although he may yet return if he is able to iron out his four-year-college transfer problems.

New atmospheres do not lie too far ahead for the young man from Orlando, Florida who is planning an upcoming SRJC disco on May 12.

This will be a "new concept in discos," confidently claims the optimistic new co-disc jockey, who goes on to say that he and his partner Rob may even have a "battle of the DJ's."

Among the earliest ammunition compiled by this battling DJ was the experience he gained at Florida A&M. While still in high school, Currie was able to go to college to study radio communications for two months.

The education he got at A&M, combined with experience at two local radio stations he has had since the age of 16, is all he thinks he needs to be "ready to move on."

When asked if he would like to go to study further in the radio communications field in college, Currie says "No," and goes on to say, "Stations have provisionals where you can learn enough to get your broadcasting license"

One of the areas that lies in the immediate future for Currie is an opportunity to host a radio program on Santa Rosa station KBBF, 89 FM, a bi-lingual, non-profit station. The program will be "mainly telling the community what the JC offers, and possibly some music, if we have time."

In return for the radio time provided by the station, half of the net profit taken in at the "history breaking May 12 disco" will go to the station.

The CSA (College Student Assembly) and faculty advisor Eugene Canevari approved the radio deal and as soon as contract negotiations are finished, the 7 to 8 p.m. Thursday program will air.

When questioned as to what he is interested in as a second major, Currie nonchalantly replies, "Mortuary science. My uncle broke me into it when I was ten years old." He goes on to say, "I'd like to work it together with a gospel radio program."

In the mean time, the commissioner, who was appointed by CSA President Gareth Plank, has plans for "something going on every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at noon next fall," and adds with a laugh, "even if it's a baby show."

Plans include a minimum of two dances a month, and there is even talk of starting a cable radio station in the already equipped facilities in the library which, according to Foster, are "now being used as a junk room."

But no matter how his anticipation of coming events may radiate, the most memorable element in the room is, without a doubt, his miniature recreations of the "disco feeling."

Enthusiastically stating that the two discos he and Foster have already put on have gotten "progressively better," Currie goes on to add, "They're getting funner and funner. We know more."

After having a bit of trouble at the last disco he put on last month, Currie knows "more about working with the campus police. I met with Terry Stewart of the campus police a few days after the disco and learned a lot of things I didn't know about cops."

Among the decisions to come out of the meeting was

Plank warns

By Kathy Holecek

Warnings are as easy to come by these days as drops of water. They can be found written on cans of sugar free drinks, cartons of cigarettes, and spoken from the mouth of ASB president Gareth Plank.

"Don't get carried away by the prestige and power and new influence of the office," warns Plank. "It's real easy to lose sight of your goals because it's such a change. I know I felt the affects and influence of the role."

Plank warned candidates that it is a big change from being a student to be in a political position.

He said that candidates should be made aware of the amount of time that is needed.

"There really isn't enough time in the day. About the only time I regret being president is when I'm here till 1 a.m."

Saying that hindsight is better foresight, Plank advises the future ASB president to know what is involved in an issue before he or she gets into it.

"I really can't say how important it is to know what

"DON'T LET THE PRESTIGE of the office go to your head," warns ASB President Gareth Plank in an effort to give a bit of foresight to Fall '78 presidential hopefuls.

you're dealing with beforehand. I've found out that very often people are going to try to keep you from finding out stuff by not letting you see information that should be available. You should know what can and cannot be denied to you before you start out."

Plank is not running for reelection because he is transferring to University of Conneticut but will support Susan Clute for fall ASB president.

Plank hopes that whoever is elected will continue the work that he's started.

"I hope that whomever is elected will maintain the basic student right policies and will continue to look into the policies and procedures of the school administration.

Anti-elitism poll tax vote

On May 10, members of the Associated Student Body (ASB) have the opportunity to vote on the controversial "poll tax" issue.

In the past, students wanting to vote for student body representatives, had to pay for ASB cards ($9.50) to vote in ASB elections. Also, all candidates had to be ASB members.

Current ASB President

Gareth Plank has purposed a constitutional change to the ASB constitution that will do away with the "poll tax."

Plank, who wants to keep a campaign promise, said the purpose of his constitutional change is "to turn it (ASB) into a government without having to pay to be in student government. What I want to do is to change it to a government for students, not to just maintain an elitist group."

Club helps Center, fund will go farther

By Mary Anne Desfosses

Poppy Creek School began remodeling its play yard with a donation of muscles and money from the Associated Student Body.

The ASB granted Poppy Creek $1600 for the project, originally planned by teacher Jim Thomas along with contractor Michael Mullin.

A service club then provided some eight people to remove large bushes and tree stumps, disassemble a climbing structure, remove 40 feet of fence, and haul away debris. This reduced the cost of the project by about $250, according to Assistant Activities Director David Herrington.

"When we took our estimate in front of the College Student Assembly," said Thomas, "they were kind of dissatisfied with the cost of taking down what was already in the yard.

"They said they'd do it themselves and they did," said Thomas, describing the Saturday work day organized by the Buffoons' Union, a service club on campus.

"They did a real professional job," Thomas said, adding that the volunteers saved all the wood they could and removed things like nails which could endanger children.

The contractor also "was very satisfied with their work," according to Thomas. The ground needs only to be leveled before the new playground is begun, said Herrington.

In redesigning the yard, The yard, originally divided by a fence and obscured by large bushes along the church wall, makes watching the children hard to do. These have been removed, giving a feeling and a clear view of the yard, Thomas pointed out.

Several trees were trimmed underneath by SRJC head groundskeeper Bill Bowen, so adults could work around them and see past them.

"We're really appreciative of the student body and what they've done for us," said Thomas. "It shows their heads are in the right place as far as filling kids' needs."

which is about 88 feet by 40 feet and runs along the east wall of the First Congregational Church on Humboldt, Thomas planned to "utilize space to the utmost" and to make it "easier to supervise the children when they're playing."

Commenting that as a teacher he has "been around playgrounds a lot," Thomas said, "I talked about it with all the teachers and put notices up for the parents, to get feedback." Then, he said, "Myself and the contractor decided on the plan."

Cautioning that "We're still kind of working it out," Thomas described the plan for the northeast corner of the yard.

A climbing structure with a sandbox underneath will make double use of one space. Also, said Thomas, "When it rains it (the sandbox) won't get full of water, and when the sun shines they'll have a shaded area."

The structure will be wood, mostly new. "It has to be (new) for safety factors," Thomas said. A donated cargo net will hang from it for climbing.

The southwest corner of the yard will have a big outdoor blackboard and a blacktop tricycle path. The rest of the yard is sand-filled.

Finally, the plan calls for an awning and portable fence to be added to the infant room, which opens onto the yard. The smallest children can then be outside "without getting run over by the bigger kids," Thomas said.

Thomas majored in psychology and liberal arts at Sonoma State College and has credentials in early childhood education and elementary education. He has been at Poppy Creek nearly three years.

Poppy Creek School, which is funded jointly by the ASB, SRJC District, and the state, averages about 20 children at any given time, although its total enrollment is closer to 60, Thomas explained.

"The bulk of the kids are two to five, but we have (a range of kids from) infants all the way to second graders who come after school."

editorial

Monday the student government voted to draw up a resolution stating the ASB's position against Proposition 13 (the Jarvis-Gann initiative). The vote was taken after a short, clocked debate between supporters and opponents of the initiative, in which both parties outlined their opinions but did not outline the proposition itself.

The student government did not ask its constituents—all SRJC students who bought ASB stickers—what the ASB's position actually is. The student government did not vote on whether or not, as a body partly elected (and largely appointed) to represent a large constituency, it should pass a resolution urging students to vote for or against any proposition.

Asked by a proponent-debator if they knew what Proposition 13 even is, a large percentage of the student government members at the assembly replied that they had not read the proposition or studied it in any form, then voted against hearing a description of the initiative in order to get on with the democratic voting process.

It seems that the student government is doing a pretty rakish job of representing our interests. In the future, perhaps the Associated Student Body could be consulted on what its opinion is, and whether or not it wants its elected government to express that opinion officially. If it's not too much trouble, of course.

FIRST PERSON ; R. FOSTER

WE decided to publish this special election issue of APOSTROPHE in order to stress the importance of this student government election. Our current assembly has been dynamic. We'd like to see next semester's government moving with the same ambitious energy. You'll find in this edition of APOSTROPHE what, in fact, the issues are, and how...with your vote...they'll be acted upon.

An apathetic student body will, without a doubt, result in an apathetic and passive student government next semester. Do YOURSELF a favor. VOTE on May 17th for the candidate of your choice.....

Sophomore Reps ...

ROBERT MEE... Hi! Maybe you've seen me at the Feedback table in the Coop. I am seeking re-election as one of your sophomore representatives for this coming fall. Serving as a representative this semester has been the best way of communicating directly with you, the student. It has also been the most effective means of informing me on your needs, dislikes, concerns, beefs and complaints, etc.

REMINDEME TO REMIND YOU to please talk to me if you are around. Without you, I know students there would be no need for me. We are here to help you. you know! Believe

The Presidential Candidates ...

SUSAN CLUTE... We are confronted with a crisis in priorities at SRJC, sparked by concern over Jarvis-Gann. A mounting wave of discontent is becoming evident over administrative policies that consistently put the needs of students last. Dr. Mikalson's proposal to the Board of Trustees puts the whole burden of Jarvis-Gann budget cuts on the students, without touching the funds for administrators. If this attitude continues, they may find themselves administering an expanse of empty buildings.

WE NEED TO REMEMBER that we are human beings first, citizens of a democracy second, and students third. At least 98% of us are of voting age, and most are working members of society. We should not find ourselves losing our ordinary rights as citizens just because we have signed up for courses here in an attempt to improve our lives. I pledge my best efforts to improve conditions here, because we are people, not a special herd of domesticated creatures called "Students!"

ASB student elections!

DON HOEFS... I think the main issue in this campaign is students. The quality of students working together to benefit students, seems to be a quality this semester's student government lacks.

I FEEL THAT things can happen on this campus to benefit all students if we are willing to work together to see them happen. One of my goals, if elected, will be to improve communication between students within student government and especially between stu-

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

RICH BALEKIAN... I want to continue and expand upon the work begun by the current Student Body President and government. I hope that the latest constitutional amendment allowing ALL students to vote will pass, so that in the future, student representatives will be just that...HEDZOLEH!!

STANLEY LAUGHLIN... Having been a student of SRJC for five semesters, I feel I am fully qualified for the office of Executive Vice President. The thing that I want to improve is communication between the student government and the student body. Recently I have taken a poll of the students to tally their views on Jarvis-Gann, proposition 13. I feel not just a few top people should make decisions, when maybe the student body majority is against the action in question. If you want to bring government back to the people, vote Laughlin.

DAVID ALBERTI... According to the Associated Students Constitution, the Executive Vice President shall: a) Assume the duties of the President in his absence, b) serve as vice chairman of the College Student Assembly and Executive Cabinet, and, c) be the assistant Administrative Officer of the Association.

THE TIME IS LONG OVERDUE for someone to live up to these guidelines. Past and present office holders have distorted the title of Exec. Vice Pres. out

VICE PRESIDENT

ROB McCARTER... I believe strongly in the rights of students to manage their own affairs and to be represented fairly in student government. I am against the proposed 6 unit English requirement, because students have the right to decide for themselves whether or not they need it. I am in favor of rescinding the ASB "Poll Tax". Student government should represent ALL students, not just the rich ones. I also feel that the CSA has no right to take positions on major issues without taking student polls or looking closely at the facts. CSA is supposed to be representative of the students not itself.

JOHN NICKOLS... A friend asked me a question which was, "If you claim to be a sincere person, John, then what are you doing in politics at SRJC?"....I could not give her an immediate answer, but now, after two semesters of Freshman Representative and Finance Comm. I feel qualified to answer her question. I have attempted to deal openly, objectively, and fairly with the students, faculty, and administration that I have dealt with on a day to day basis here at SRJC. I have made many friends which I value. My friends value my ideas and tell me that they have worked. I believe in optimism and people cooperating in student government. You can not be a good and fair politician unless you can work with people in the Student evaluation of the faculty, and I have in mind various projects the CSA can do to benefit the students or improve the college. With two semesters of experience in the government here at SRJC, I believe that I am familiar enough with procedures to be able to accomplish these projects. Constructive government, positive government, is what we need in order to use student government to the benefit of the students. Vote for me, Chuck Narad, as one of the five Sophomore representatives, and I will work for you.

ment government and students at large. I feel that open communication with you, the students on campus, is an important factor in making decisions that will affect all students.

CHARLES NARAD... Government has been very des-active this semester, very negative. The stu-at administration made a lot of noise, but completed very little. If we hope to accomish anything with student government next semester, we'll all have to work together.
HAVE SOME DEFINITE GOALS for next semester; I and like to see us complete the student ing with me in this campus, fac-y, administration and student govern-it, that we can work together for progress and provement. Vote for a government that is ide-c, but also realistic. Please bring a

Dear Sir:

This year marks the sixtieth anniversary of Santa Rosa Junior College. Also our college is going through many apparent as well as subliminal changes.

It is for this reason that I wish to compile a documentation of this college.

During the course of the last week I have come across a treasure trove of pictures from Santa Rosa Junior College's past. With these rare photographs, which are comprised of architecture, faculty members, and students, I plan to contrast the past with the present.

In my opinion, color slide materail seems to be the best medium for this project.

The following items will be imperative:

1. Use of copy stand
2. Color slide films
3. Use of Macro lens

Your cooperation in this matter will be appreciated.

Sincerly,

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED,
Kimberley Lynn Schoenauer
Recording Secretary

To: Leonid Illych Brezhnev, President of the U.S.S.R. and Chairman of the C.P.U.S.S.R. Central Committee

Mr. Brezhnev:

We, the CSA of SRJC protest the almost total denial of basic human rights in the Soviet Union, the Soviet Government's refusal to permit free emigration from the U.S.S.R., and the imprisonment of over 2,000,000 political dissidents in mental institutions and slave labor camps merely for expressing their political opinions.

If you do not correct these abuses at once, you risk the wrath of the CSA.

To: His Excellency, Al Hadji, Field Marshall Doctor Idi Amin Dada, Conquerer of the British Empire and Life President of the Republic of Uganda

Dear Dada:

We, the CSA of SRJC, strongly protest your total denial of human rights in Uganda, your expulsion of 500,000 Asian Ugandans from your country, your support of international terrorist groups, your admiration for the emulation of Adolf Hitler, your policy of literal genocide against over 300,000 non-Moslem tribesmen, and your murder without trial of over 200,000 political dissidents who are, in some cases, fed to the crocodiles.

These actions are even more reprehensible than the Canadian Government's slaughter of baby harp seals, and if you do not cease them at once, you risk the immediate wrath of the CSA.

To: James Earl Carter, President of the United States of America.

Mr. Carter:

During your campaign, you promised that you would never lie to us. You have not stopped lying since. Stop this at once or risk the wrath of the CSA.

To: God, King of the Universe who goes by many aliases. Care of Christians on Campus.

Dear God:

Mr. Segal keeps introducing these ridiculous letters which he knows can have no effect whatsoever, even though the grievancees are justified. This sort of letter of condemnation is a waste of this body's time and futile. Since we know that nothing happens on this Earth but that it is by Thy will, we hold you responsible for Mr. Segal's actions which are offensive to us. If you do not change your attitude at once, Lord, you risk the terrible wrath of the CSA.

Students,

It's election time again, and I would like to personally ask each one of you to stop, look, listen, question, and vote for the candidate of your choice.

In this election there are ten elected offices to be filled. Those elected will take over the responsibilities and duties of the present officers, and will continue to work on the behalf of all students that attend S.R.J.C.

Now... let me introduce myself... my name is Don Hoefs and I am running for the office of Student Body President. I feel that I am a very optimistic person, and I feel that things can happen on this campus to benefit all students if we are willing to work together to see them happen. One of my goals, if elected, will be to improve communication between students within student government, and especially between student government and students at large. I feel that open communication with you, the students on campus, is an important factor in making decisions that will affect all students.

To achieve this open communication with you I will: 1) Encourage representatives and commissioners to have continuing communication with students at large, as well as with myself; 2) I will write a statement to you concerning my actions, thoughts, and feelings on student government, students at large, and the administration and distribute it to you once a month; and 3) I will personally walk around campus and communicate verbally with you, the students, and let you know who your elected officers are in student government and what they are doing. I feel that students should know at all times what is happening on and around campus, and if students don't know their representatives in student government, how can we have any sort of communication?

Things of student interest which I will continue to work on include parking, construction of buildings, Board of Trustee decisions, and student pay raises. These are issues that you, the student, should be informed about at all times.

I ask your support to help me make student government better for all!

Elect someone who wants the job, and will do it!

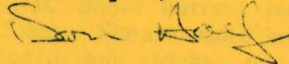

ELECT: ,

DON HOEFS

Your next ASB President...

Thank you,

I also support: David Alberti, Executive Vice Pres.; John Nickols, Vice President; Phyllis Johnson, Corresponding Secretary; Janice Herreras, Recording Secretary; Sophomore Representatives: Robert Mee, Steve Bright, Sammy Bonner, Chuck Narad, and Steve Cooney.

SOPHOMORE REPRESENTATIVE

The representatives have an important, though overlooked job in student government; to represent the students. If we are to have any say of what the students in general think about an issue before the government, it is the job of representatives to go out and talk to as many students as possible, every day, and get as much feedback as they can before they vote on or even discuss an issue before the College Student Assembly. Representatives, in other words, must live in the middle of a constant survey, in their classes, clubs, and around the campus.

It is by discussing these issues and the different views of them with other students that the representative can truly represent your best interests in government.

I have some definite goals for next semester; I'd like to see the completion of the student union by the faculty, and I have in mind many projects I would like to see accomplished to benefit students. With two semesters of government experience here at SRJC, I am familiar enough with the procedures to accomplish a lot for us, the students. Constructive government, positive government, that we need next semester. Vote for me, Chuck Narad, as one of your Sophomore Representatives, and let me represent you.

To support these candidates: Don Hoefs, Pres., Alberti-Exec. Vice Pres., John Nickols-V.P., Ed Johnson, Corresponding Secretary, Robert and Steve Bright, Soph. Reps.

"LET'S MAKE STUDENT GOVERNMENT BETTER FOR ALL."

ASB election profiles

President

Susan Clute

If elected Clute said she will "continue the program of increased student involvement begun this semester through a student rights committee to handle individual problems, and to continue efforts through community and legislative channels to strengthen student's positions."

The 29-year old political science major plans to complete her studies at the University of California, Santa Cruz after leaving here.

Don Hoefs

"It seems there has been a communication lack in student government this semester," said Hoefs. "If elected I will work to improve communications not only within student government, but with students and administration as well."

Hoefs is serving as Assistant Finance Commissioner and is involved in the Parking Judiciary Committee, the Student Affairs Committee and the Budget Committee. He is also a member of the Buffoon's Union.

David Segal

"If elected, I intend to bend efforts toward improving the quality of education at this institution and toward making student government an effective instrument toward that end," said Segal.

Segal, who is a history major, has served as Commissioner of Committees. He is also a member of Alpha Gamma Sigma.

After completing his schooling here, Segal plans to attend the University of California, Davis.

John Dailey

Dailey is serving as freshman representative.

The 19-year old political science major plans to attend the University of California, Los Angeles after completing his studies at SRJC.

Election results

According to votes cast in yesterday's ASB special election, any currently enrolled SRJC student may cast a ballot to elect student government officers. The special election was called by the College Student Assembly, the legislative body of SRJC's student government. Student government officers will be elected for Fall 1978 next Wednesday, May 17.

Sophomore Representative

Mark McKenney

Chuck Narad

McKenney said the college "will need people next semester, who are willing to communicate what angry students will say about the COOP being closed, and other things which will affect their being pleased with the way things are at the junior college."

The 25 year old sociology major is a member of the Chess Club, Christian's on Campus, Sci-Fi Club, and Card Players Club.

McKenney plans to transfer to the University of California, San Francisco when finished with his studies here.

"I strongly feel that student government can, and should be used to the benefit of the students," said Narad. "This last semester, the CSA got so caught up in power plays and petty struggles that very little was accomplished. We can get a lot more done if we all work together," he continued.

Narad has served as publicity commissioner and produced the Untitled Weekly Fact Sheet, (also known as the Front Page). He is a member of the Design Group, and the Buffoon's Union.

Narad, who is a engineering major, plans to complete his studies at the University of California, Davis.

Robert Mee

Mee, who is running for re-election, said, "The two key words for student government are involvement and you! Please look for me at the Feedback Table inside the main COOP door, and talk to me. Your rights as a student are too valuable to waive!"

Mee is a public health administration major, and plans to transfer to San Diego State after leaving SRJC.

Steve Bright

Bright served as freshman representative during both semesters last year.

Bright is a political science major and plans to attend Brigham Young University after completing his schooling at SRJC.

SRJC prepares for Jarvis-Gann

Santa Rosa Junior College officials feel the college could lose about $4.5 million if Proposition 13 passes June 6.

In view of the possibility of the proposition's passing, trustees have adopted a district position of maintaining as near full a program as possible for 1978-79.

With plans being made for a near-normal year under the Jarvis-Gann property tax limitations, the campus figures to spend the time analyzing the full impact on district operations.

The year would start after reduction of services, personnel cuts and spending cutbacks.

President Roy Mikalson has told trustees the campus must assume a flexible position until June 7, the day after the election.

While the college figures it could lose about $4.5 million with the proposition's passage, Mikalson said he believes SRJC will receive about $9 million in aid from the state for 1978-79.

Besides aiming at as near a normal year as possible, the district position includes:

Assuring students SRJC will operate for summer, fall and spring semesters — offering full academic and occupational programs.

Preparing a balanced budget for adoption in August by cutting about $1.75 million from the regular budget in services, equipment, supplies, utilities, library hours and services, staff reductions and other cutbacks.

In preparing a balanced budget, the district would use funds left over from 1977-78, use part of the operational reserve, and increase staff loads including class assignments to administrative personnel.

As with many other districts, trustees may have to return to planning and budget studies for additional program reductions if the proposition passes without a state plan replacing anticipated lost income.

The Crisis

For several years the administration has followed a policy of maximum income with minimum expenditure regardless of educational quality. This means that anything that does not directly produce state money (ADA) is seen as undesirable and therefore not funded. The source of ADA is class enrollment. Services to students which encourage enrollment of people who could not otherwise attend are seen as superfluous: COIL, work-study, EOPS, counseling, TA's, women's center, and day care. The trouble with this attitude is that education is now a buyer's market, and you can't sell something to people if they feel you're trying to rip them off.

Jarvis-Gann has merely aggravated this problem. Dr. Mikalson's proposed solution to reduced revenues is to eliminate all of the above services without touching his own excellent salary. He has not considered cutting all departments equally, nor freeing any of the several million dollars he has removed from the operational budget. If this measure is approved, enrollment will fall drastically- coincidentally eliminating all those people who have traditionally been left out of the greatest educational opportunities: minorities, women, and low-income whites. Obviously this is bad for the school, but equally obvious is that student will suffer first, worst, and longest. If this measure passes I propose that students observe a Day of Nonattendance, to show that without us this is nothing but a fancy piece of real estate. It will be difficult for Dr. Mikalson to change this narrow, profiteering attitude but he must try.

For the Students

There are five ways to strengthen the student's position here so that we will be better prepared to survive in higher education and the job market.

1. Communication among students -access to the truth.
This is why we have established published evaluation of teachers and counseling, now pilot programs. This is why we established the Apostrophe, a freely accessible voice for our opinions.
This is why we publicize our meetings and encourage people to bring their problems to us.
2. Communication with other schools- how others do it.
This is why we joined the statewide association of community colleges this semester (CCCSGA) Here we discovered that other schools do not have an enforced loyalty oath, or the poll tax.
3. Effective use of student power on campus policy-making committees - if you don't use your power someone else will! (and it's twice as hard to get it back)
This area needs more work. We need to develop a group of people who are aware that they are adult citizens, with the right to self determination, who are committed to upgrading this school.
4. Communication with "real" government and the "real" world.
This is a new and exciting area. We have developed contacts with state and local governments, with radio and TV, and public newspapers. This is bringing us the opportunity to be part of our community, rather than insulated denizens of an institution.
5. A strong and committed group to handle student problems when administrative channels are unsatisfactory. We have had some success in changing the course of administrative action by making ourselves heard loudly and clearly, for instance in stopping passage of the six-unit English requirement. With the skills we developed this semester we can do far more. For instance, we now have a new Student Rights Commissioner at the recommendation of Sen. John Dunlap, chairman of the State Education Committee in Sacramento. This office could be expanded into a Student Grievance Committee, which would hear individual complaints and bring them before the College Student Assembly for action.

I pledge myself to strengthen all these areas, and to work hard to insure that student money is spent to improve the lot of students. Student Government is not a game. When you sign into a school like this, in a sense you bet your life. Your future depends on what happens to you here.

It infuriates me to see people's hopes, dreams, and struggles fail because of misinformation or profiteering by those entrusted with the job of helping them.

Don't let your power slip away from you by indifference or procrastination ----

ARTICLE X -- ENABLING CLAUSE

This Constitution shall become effective when approved by a simple majority of the Constitution Council, simple majority of the Executive Cabinet, two-thirds of the total voting membership of the College Student Assembly and three-fourths of the votes cast by the Associated Students and deemed operational not later than the first day of the Spring semester, 1967.

WHEREAS, figures from the present parking revenue system indicate that the monies recieved from this system are paying for the operation of the system, and

WHEREAS, there exists a negotiated agreement between the District and the Associated Students relative to the $5.00 discount on the day parking sticker for members of the Associated Students

THEREFORE, the College Student Assembly of the Associated Students reccommends that:

1. There is no need or justification for any change in the parking sticker price,
2. There is no need or justification for any change in the aforementioned agreement, and
3. Any change in the aforementioned agreement be agreed upon among the parties who negotiated the original agreement (Board of Trustees, College President and student representative of the College Student Assembly).

The above estimates, based on 20,000 students enrolled for two semesters. If entire Health Services costs are to be born by the students -- the Student Health Fee per student, per semester would need to be set at $2.63. Obviously, this would be an awkward figure to work with. A $2.50 fee per semester would generate $100,000.00, while a $2.75 fee would generate $110,000.00 and a $3.00 fee would generate $120,000.00.

OVER-ALL QUESTIONS:

- 1) Is the Constitution any better than what exists, or is it just different?
- 2) Does this Constitution solve any existing problem? Could the existing Constitution be amended to solve the same problems?

MAJOR ISSUES:

- 1) The creation of two separate student government groups: The Associated Student Assembly and the Associated Student Cabinet. The Assembly contains the elected representatives and the cabinet contains the four top officers of the Association and the appointed commissioners. The two groups do not deliberate together nor does everyone vote together as is now the case. Does this establish the basis for a power struggle between two internal groups -- The elected assembly and the President's appointed cabinet? Does this create the basis for a lack of internal coordination communication and cooperation? The assembly would have 18 voting members (plus the chairman), as opposed to the present thirty or more members. Is this a move toward more power in fewer hands?
- 2) The ASB President would have veto power over any action of the Assembly. a two-thirds majority vote is required (a week later), to over-ride the president's veto. Does the president need this power and authority? Will this process slow down further the actions of Student Government?

OPERATIONAL QUESTIONS:

- 1) All SRJC students are voting members of the Association (All students vote for all elected officers). Activity cards will be sold, but not to all students. Does this create two classes of students -- those who contribute financially to the support of the Association, and those who do not? What problems does this create for the Associated Students? (Student Government)? For example, who will be eligible for loans from the ASB Loan & Grant Fund and the Revolving Book Loan Fund? All students? Students who buy Activity Cards? Currently, all ASB members are eligible -- does this mean all 20,000 students are eligible for loans even though the funds will come from only those students who buy Activity Cards?
- 2) The president appoints commissioners to Cabinet with approval of Assembly. When and how does this take place, as the president is not a member of the Assembly?
- 3) The Vice President chairs the Assembly and the Inter-Club Council. Is that a very large job for one officer? Does this create the potential for a power base for the Vice President? He is responsible for supervising the activities of the Reps-At-Large and he is responsible for the coordination of clubs and their activities. Isn't that a lot for one person to do? He also coordinates the efforts of the commissioners!
- 4) There is no Corresponding Secretary. Is the secretary's job too much for one person?
- 5) The Treasurer and the Secretary are ex-officio members of the Assembly? (See Sturgis definition of Ex-Officio). ☒ If not, are they likely to attend these meetings with regularity? Do they vote?

- 6) Special meetings of the Assembly may be called by the president. Is this proper when the president is not a member of the Assembly?
- 7) The President's veto is a very powerful item. Does the ASB President need this kind of control over the actions of the Assembly?
- 8) Could the president manipulate the timing of his veto (to say just before CSA is to meet), so that a two-thirds over-ride would be difficult to achieve? Could the veto be manipulated to stall action on an item for two weeks or longer?
- 9) "The Assembly shall not vote to endorse any off-campus political view without first polling a representative portion of the students." How many students make up a representative portion? Is this section a limitation of basic rights? Is it a limitation of representative government?
- 10) How do the two representatives get elected/appointed to the Associated Student Cabinet?
- 11) The Commissioners, such as Veteran's Affairs, Women's Center, Ex-Offenders, Minority and Handicapped no longer vote in the Assembly. Actually these commissionerships cease to exist. Is this a reduction in the influence and power of the people they represent?
- 12) Under this Constitution, officers would be required to carry "six units, including units for serving in office". This means that the ASB President would only need to take one three unit class (other than Political Science 51), or three one unit classes (such as P.E.). When does a student stop being a student, with a student's point of view, and become a professional administrator? With this few units could an employee of the college become an ASB officer?
- 13) Why does the Treasurer make by-monthly reports of income and expenditures to the Cabinet but monthly reports to the Assembly?
- 14) The Student Needs Commissioner replaces The Veteran's Commissioner, Women's Commissioner, Ex-Offender's Commissioner, Minority Commissioner and Handicapped Commissioner. These areas are represented on a committee chaired by the commissioner. Is this appropriate representation for these students? (See Item #11 above)
- 15) Should the ASB Feedback Table be represented in the Constitution? Should the Voice Box Program be in the Constitution? Should these programs be locked into the Constitution?
- 16) The Educational Commissioner must keep a "Library of Scholarships". Is not a function of the Financial Aids Office and the Registrar?
- 17) The Activities Commissioner is "responsible for all Intra-Mural Activities". Is this not a current function of the P.E. Department?
- 18) Is there a conflict between the Student Rights Commissioner (Section 10, Item B), and the Educational Commissioner (Section 5, Item B), in handling student complaints?

- 19) Is it appropriate for the Inter-Club Council to only nominate rather than appoint the Inter-Club Council Representative to the Associated Student Cabinet? Does this eliminate one of the small "checks and balances"?
- 20) The Law Enforcement Representative has been eliminated. Is this appropriate?
- 21) Article IX, Section 2, seems to indicate that the president would appoint a successor when there is a vacancy in the Associated Student Assembly. Under the structure of this Constitution, is this appropriate?

STUDENT BODY PRESIDENTS' COUNCIL

May 12, 1978

TO: Student Government Representatives
FROM: U.C. Student Lobby, S.B.P.C., David Shontz
RE: Tuition Tax Credit Legislation

During the past several months, Congress has been considering various Tuition Tax Credit proposals. The Tuition Tax Credit concept is probably the greatest threat that the existing Federal Financial Aid programs have yet encountered. Although they are billed as the "middle class relief", they would result in an extreme waste of federal dollars.

President Carter has presented a proposed 1.46 billion dollar increase in existing federal financial aid programs as an alternative to the Tuition Tax Credit proposal.

In recognition of the fact that middle income families are finding it increasingly difficult to accommodate the rising cost of higher education, Carter's proposal also increases the allowable upper income limit to $45,000 for a family to be eligible for some federal financial aid programs. The upper income limit for Basic Educational Opportunity Grant programs would be raised to $25,000.

A fact sheet and several articles about both Carter's proposal and the Tuition Tax Credits proposal currently under consideration by the House of Representatives is enclosed.

We feel that the passage of that Tuition Tax Credit proposal would severely hurt students' and parents' plans for the financing of a college education. President Carter has made it clear that he feels the country cannot afford both tuition tax credits and increased federal financial aid programs.

Consequently, students must begin to apply pressure to their local congresspersons. The Tuition Tax Credit bill has passed out of House Ways and Means committee and will be voted on the House floor possibly as soon as Friday, May 19th.

The representative from your school's congressional district was, at last count, either in favor of tuition tax credits or undecided on the question.

We urge you to write or send a telegraph to your congressperson in the next few days on behalf of your student government, urging his/her opposition to the tuition Tax Credit proposal and his/her support for increased federally financial aid programs. If you can find motivated students, try to get them to write personal letters of opposition. The more, the better.

Your letter need not be long. You can simply incorporate a few of the arguments included in the "fact sheets" into your letter. Be sure to mention that you are speaking for the students of your campus.

If you have any questions, feel free to call me at (415) 642-1431 between 8:00 AM and 5:00 PM any weekday. Thanks for your help!

Your congressperson, Representative ~~_____~~ Clauer should be especially responsive to student pressure. This is not necessarily because he/she sympathizes with students problems (for all I know, he/she may or may not .), but because in your district the college enrollment exceeds the incumbent's margin of victory in the 1976 elections.

In your particular district:

The incumbents margin of victory was

So let your congressperson know that students in his district tend to watch his vote on tuition tax credits very carefully. Be sure to be frank but respectful.

"INCREASED FEDERAL FINANCIAL AID PROGRAMS FACT SHEET"

Carter Student Aid Plan. As a means to head off the passage of a tuition tax credit by the Congress, the President has proposed a new student aid package totalling $1.46 billion over the FY '78 appropriation for Basic Educational Opportunity Grants, College Work-Study, and the Guaranteed Student Loan Program. $250 million of the $1.46 billion total was already requested for these purposes in the FY '79 budget presented in January. The proposals constitute an increase in student aid programs for higher education from $3.8 billion in FY '78 to $5.2 billion in FY '79. With the proposed changes HEW estimates that the number of awards in federal student assistance programs will more than double from 3.2 million in FY '78 to more than 7 million in FY '79. Because some students receive awards under more than one program, it is estimated that more than 5 million college students would receive assistance in FY '79.

Basic Educational Opportunity Grant Program would be increased by $1 billion over the $2.16 billion appropriated in FY '78. (The President's original FY '79 request for BEOGs was $2.177 billion.) This would provide BEOGs to 3.1 million additional students, raising the total to 5.3 million. This guarantees at least a $250 grant to 2.8 million students from families with an annual income of up to $25,000, and it increases the maximum grant for low income students (families with an income up to $8,650) from $1,600 to $1,800. For students in families with an income between $8,000 and $16,000, the average grant is increased by $200 from $850 to $1,050.

College Work Study would be increased by $165 million over the FY '78 appropriation of $435 million. (The President's FY '79 request for C W-S was $450 million; therefore this new proposal represents a $150 million increase over the original request.) This will provide work opportunities for as many as 280,000 new students to bring the program total to more than a million students.

Guaranteed Student Loan Program interest subsidy would be increased by $297 million over the $530 million appropriated in FY '78. (This represents a $70 million increase over the President's original FY '79 request.) The present income ceiling is $30,000. Under the proposal, families with incomes up to $45,000 will be eligible for an interest subsidy worth as much as $250 per year. The plan also proposes technical amendments to make participation more attractive to banks. In FY '79, the proposed changes in the GSL program will support an estimated 260,000 new loans to students with family incomes above $16,000. In FY '78, it is estimated that more than one million students had loans.

"TUITION TAX CREDIT FACT SHEET"

- 1) Tuition Tax Credits (TTC) are an inequitable form of financial aid relief.
Families with an income of $100,000 annually receive the same amount of relief as families with an annual income of $25,000.
- 2) The TTC bill would create an unnecessary bureaucratic structure.
Under the current proposal, the I.R.S. would have to create a new office to verify that the parent paid for the child's education and that the student is enrolled in an eligible institution.
- 3) Tax credits may not be utilized for their proper purpose - education.
Parents, not students will receive the money. And they will not receive it in most cases until 6 to 7 months after tuition was due.
- 4) TTC may give colleges and universities the incentive to raise tuition.
An across-the-board subsidy of students is much more likely to let administrators feel that every student and family can afford an across-the-board tuition increase. Or at least that everyone will suffer equally so that no particular group will be harder hit.
- 5) Graduate and part-time students will not receive the subsidy.
- 6) The tax credit is non-refundable.
Families that do not make enough income to pay income taxes will not receive any benefits under the current proposal.
- 7) The tuition tax credit proposals could end up costing more than the entire proposed 1978-79 federal financial aid budget. (The proposal could cost between $4-8 billion. The increased federal programs (description follows) will cost $5.2 billion for the 1978-79 budget.)

IMPORTANT: Please try to use your own wording when you compose your letter. We don't want too many letters going to representatives with the exact same wording.

A Better Tuition Aid Plan

Congress appears determined to relieve the financial burden on middle-income families with children in college. Senator William Roth's proposal to award every college student's parents a $250 tax credit has wide support in both houses—which explains President Carter's haste in fashioning his own plan for student aid programs for the middle class. We hope Congress pauses long enough to think through this expenditure of tax dollars to pay the tuition bills of some middle-income families. If, however, election-year considerations make expanded student aid inevitable, at least the Administration plan makes better sense than the tax credit approach.

Last year, excluding G.I. Bill benefits, college students received $7 billion in direct Federal aid and indirect tax breaks. Underlying this considerable expenditure was the idea that the Government has an obligation to make college accessible to all, regardless of income. Students in families with incomes below $10,000 thus garnered over half the benefits, and those with incomes under $15,000 got most of the rest. Now advocates of additional aid argue that exploding college costs justify aid for a broad cross section of American families earning far more.

Do they have a case? The evidence is not impressive. According to the Congressional Budget Office, average family incomes rose 89 percent from 1967 to 1976—but college costs increased by only 75 percent. Families already comfortably off did even better than the average: Those in the top fifth ($24,000 plus in 1976) chalked up a 95 percent gain over the 10-year period. No one doubts that a family earning, say, $25,000 a year must make real sacrifices to put two or three kids through school. It is hard, though, to find compelling statistical support for the argument that middle-income families have more trouble paying college bills today than a decade ago.

It might be nice, of course, to ease their burden nonetheless. But money spent on student aid means less for other worthy Government programs—or higher taxes. Difficult as the students' plight may be, it hardly merits the highest priority for scarce Federal dollars. Nor is it clear that middle-income taxpayers without children in college should be asked to make additional sacrifices to send their neighbor's offspring to school.

Right or wrong, the cause of some three million insistent middle-income parents is not likely to be neglected in an election year. So it is important for Congress to understand that the Carter method of targeting funds to middle-income families is much more efficient than the tuition tax credit. The tuition tax credit would benefit all college students' families whatever their income. More than $300 million thus would go to families with incomes above $30,000, more than $12 million to families making $100,000 and up. By contrast, the President's plan would extend the existing Basic Educational Opportunity Grant system to pay $250 per student to families earning $15,000 to $25,000. The Administration acknowledges the need of some families earning $25,000 or so, but limits their benefits to modest subsidies for private bank loans.

Higher education is a virtuous activity. It is also an expensive activity, and someone—student, parent, taxpayer—must foot the bill. Since most of the benefits—status, income, personal satisfaction—accrue to the students themselves, it seems that they should bear most of the burden. We see no reason why the Government should be in the business of writing student aid checks beyond the amount required to make college accessible to those with real financial need. If Congress does choose to classify middle-income students as needy, then it should at least aim its largesse accurately.

Who Would Benefit From Carter's College Aid Plan

Washington

Two million college students from families with annual incomes between $16,000 and $25,000, none of whom are now eligible for federally sponsored scholarships, would automatically be entitled to grants of $250 a year under the Middle Income College Assistance Act proposed yesterday by President Carter.

In addition, adjustments in the formula would increase the size of the scholarships, known as Basic Educational Opportunity Grants, given to students from families with incomes below $16,000 and would open the program to other low-and-middle-income students who have been excluded because of technicalities involving assets and dependents.

"Increasingly, middle-income families, not just the lower-income families, are being stretched to their financial limits," Carter said in a statement at the White House.

An example of the impact of the proposal, according to the Carter administration, would be the effect it would have on a family of four with an annual income of $20,000 and assets of $21,000 in which both parents are employed and one child is in college. The student, who is currently not eligible for a government scholarship, would get the minimum grant of $250 under the president's proposal.

In a family of five with an income of $16,000 and assets of $18,000, with both parents employed and one child in college, the student is now eligible for a $408 scholarship. Under the revised formula, the student would be entitled to $835.

The Carter plan also would provide subsidized loans to students with family incomes as high as $45,000 before taxes, and expand federally subsidized work-study programs.

The extra money would be available for the school year starting in the fall of 1979. Students in families with incomes below $25,000 would apply individually to the government for the grants as part of the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant Program. Grants are credited directly to students' accounts at the colleges.

Carter wants to add $1 billion to the $2.16 billion basic grant program, which now aids 2.2 million students primarily from low-income families.

The president proposed $250 million in extra student aid last month. This plus the $1.2 billion in new aid that Carter proposed yesterday would boost federal spending on college student aid programs in fiscal 1979 to $5.2 billion, an increase of almost 40 percent.

Carter said more than five million college students could get federal aid in the school year starting in the fall of 1979, an increase of at least two million.

Representative William D. Ford (Dem-Mich.), who heads the House Education and Labor subcommittee on higher education, called it "the biggest single infusion of funding for middle-income college students since the adoption of the GI bill at the end of World War II."

Five other leaders of House and Senate committees that handle education legislation joined Carter and Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. at the White House for the announcement of the program.

Carter's program was offered as an alternative to the tax credit proposals that have already won support in Congress from lawmakers who like the idea of letting taxpayers subtract a portion of the college expenses from their payment to the Internal Revenue Service.

"Congress must choose between tuition tax credits and the far more beneficial increases in federal student assistance programs that I am requesting," the President said. "This nation cannot afford and I will not accept both."

The administration maintains that the tax credit proposals are inequitable because they would give the bulk of the aid to families with incomes in excess of $25,000.

However, senators who are leading the fight for tax credits said yesterday that they have no intention of yielding to the President's program.

Another issue likely to figure prominently in the deliberations over college aid is the controversy over aid to nonpublic elementary and secondary schools. One of the main tax credit bills, sponsored by Senators Daniel Patrick Moynihan of New York and Bob Packwood of Oregon, allows deductions for tuition paid to parochial and other private grade and high schools.

Supporters of such assistance criticized the President for not including any help for those schools in his proposal.

From: ROCKY HIGGINS, ASB VICE PRESIDENT
To: ALL STUDENTS OF SRJC

David Alberti has been one of my closest confidants and trusted servants during the past year and a half that I've known him.

Not only has he been active in campus activities and committees, he has been active in working to help the students in such ways as presenting the finals before christmas calendar to the administration.

If there were anyone deserving the office of ASB Executive Vice President, David Alberti has my full and happy endorsement.

Please vote for DON HOEFS/President, DAVID ALBERTI/Executive Vice President during today's election. Yours for a peaceful, effective student government.

WE DON'T NEED A RUBBER-STAMP STUDENT GOVERNMENT!

We need a strong, effective student government to reflect our concerns to the administration and the Board of Trustees, and to fight infringements on STUDENT RIGHTS.

Voting is now open to all students in ASB elections. Vote to PROTECT STUDENT POWER and STUDENT RIGHTS!! Early balloting is NOW thru Tues., May 23. Election Day: Wed. May 24. Let's make our voices heard! Early balloting on the S.A.O.!

For You, the Students:

My name is Esther Carel and I am running for the Student Representative to the Board of Trustees position.

I believe the person elected to this newly created position must have certain basic qualities to be effective. One important quality is the ability to work well both with students and the administration. One must be able to gain respect from the Board members in order for them to listen to what the students have to say.

Another important quality is the willingness to work hard to be in contact with the students, finding out student opinion, as well as keeping students informed about issues which will affect them.

The student elected to this position must be willing to speak out effectively for or against issues for the betterment of students.

If elected, I pledge to utilize the effectiveness of this position by hearing your voice, keeping you informed, speaking out on issues, and gaining the needed respect from the Board members so that they hear our voice!

A BRIEF COMMENT BY GARETH PLANK, ASSOCIATED STUDENT BODY PRESIDENT

I am sure you, like myself, are fed up with political accusations that slander one's moral and political fiber. David Alberti, candidate for Associated Student Body Executive Vice President, has continually invited me to call his bluff.

I was amazed by David's claim that he is on the College Council. If he is, I would like to know when he attends. The College Council is the leading committee on campus. He has not attended ONE MEETING this semester, even when I personally invited him to do so. This leads me to question his attendance at other committees he so easily takes credit for participating in.

He has insulted our intelligence by calling my appointees to the College Student Assembly elite. I find persons such as Steve Currie, entertainment commissioner; Steve Hassna, veteran's commissioner, and Richard Balekian, ethnic minority affairs commissioner, far from being elitist. The statements he made calling your student administration elitist are as ridiculous as his labeling honest, concerned political disagreements as petty bickering.

David talks of "re-establishing communication" with the administration. Why stop with communication when a working relationship is so much more effective?

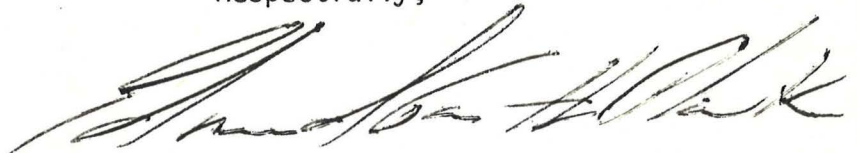

David claims we are hostile. Those of us fighting for student rights sometimes become hostile when we are trapped between the administration's rhetoric and students like David who say we should not demand that the administration acknowledge student rights. People like David would ignore issues such as SRJC student Tim Woodville, a disabled Viet Nam veteran, being denied a job because he refused to sign the archaic loyalty oath.

Students are more than the backbone of educational institutions. We are the heart and marrow. We are why schools exist. Our needs and concerns must be met.

People like David Alberti and Don Hoefs, who can go to the Oak Leaf and threaten to sever funds because they won't give a religious organization free publicity in the school paper, would never be able to deal rationally with us, the students, or with the school administration.

I am forced, by these immature actions, to support candidates who care about other students and who can work effectively with the administration. For the office of Student Body President, I support Susan Clute, and for the office of Executive Vice President I support Richard Balekian.

Respectfully,

Thankyou,

is the first time that ALL Santa Rosa Junior College students have had the opportunity to choose an official representative for the Board of Trustees. I think I, Brian T. Beaver, could be a strong and effective student lobbyist to act as your representative to the Board.

I believe in education designed to meet the varied needs of the students, but over the last few years the Board has not responded to these needs. During my research for this campaign I have learned a great deal about our school's problems, as well as its many good qualities, and the opportunities for improvement. SRJC has the potential to be a dynamic and progressive institution.

I believe that a student voice can be an important ingredient in every decision the Board makes. As your representative, I would listen to you, the students, dig out the facts and speak out vigorously for what YOU believe in. I CARE!

I believe in:

- 1) Open communication between the Board and the students
- 2) Resolving the parking problem
- 3) Better representation of Evening College students who compose three-quarters of the student population
- 4) Establishing a flexible college calendar (Fall finals before Christmas)
- 5) Implementing demand scheduling (this would help eliminate overloaded and closed classes)
- 6) Student pay raises (currently pay is $2.51 per hour, this is below minimum wage)

A BRIEF HONEST COMMENT BY DAVID ALBERTI, ASSOCIATED STUDENT BODY EXECUTIVE VICE-PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE.

In reference to ASB President Edmund Gareth Plank's letter of May 19, 1978, Gareth has "invited me to call his bluff."

I am also "fed up with political accusations that slander one's moral and political fiber." It is quite ironic that Gareth, who used these same tactics to get elected, is now using them against me again. Furthermore, he is pointing the finger at me as if I'm the guilty one.

Concerning the College Council, I have been and still am an alternate member. I may be called to fill in due to an absence of one of the regular student members. During last semester, I attended quite a few of these meetings and voted on such items as the Students Proposed Calendar for 1978-1979. In fact, at several of these meetings I was the only student there! This semester, Gareth has asked me only once to fill in for him at a meeting. I could not make the meeting due to prior commitments.

As far as other committees are concerned, I was active on the Student Affairs Committee last semester. I stepped down from this position this semester in order to give an elected representative the same opportunity that I had when I was a Sophomore Representative. No one can dispute the fact that I was a Sophomore Representative to the College Student Assembly and that I served on the Executive Cabinet. I also participated in the granting of ASB funds to Student Projects along with several other members of the CSA.

Several other people and I fail to see where we have a "working relationship" with the Administration. In order to work for our rights we have to communicate with the Board of Trustees and the Administration. We can't call them names as immature grade-schoolers do and expect them to listen to us. How can we have a "working relationship" with the Administration if we don't even have one with the students? This is where elitism appears - when you start working for your own self interests rather than for the students that elected you. I never said that Steve Currie was elite - I think that he is one of a few people that is actually doing his job. At today's CSA meeting, Gareth himself labeled the minority affairs commissioner and veterans affairs commissioner as elite positions. He has already proposed an ASB Constitution to do away with these and other commissioners.

I firmly believe in student rights for all students and not for those of the few who claim to represent you but in reality represent only themselves and their little group of friends. Never did I call the action concerning Tim Woodville "hostile". In fact I am a veteran myself and fully support Mr. Woodville. What I consider hostile is the attitude of certain CSA members toward any individual with an opposing view or statement.

Speaking of slander and libel, Gareth's remark about Don Hoefs and myself is completely inaccurate and libelous. Don and I tried to obtain free advertisement for a club activity on campus. We felt that all club activities should be made known free of charge to the students through the Oak Leaf. We briefly discussed the idea of severing ASB funds to the Oak Leaf due to misrepresentation of facts and not because of advertising.

Gareth has written his letter in a spirit of desperation. He fears that Don Hoefs and myself, who have truly honest intentions, will get elected. It is definitely a shame that Gareth had to stoop so low and discredit his position. I don't believe that this is the type of person you elected to represent you. Please don't be fooled again!

Sincerely,

David J. Alberti

Price survey

by Colin McCormack

Despite contrary comments from members of the student government, the COOP is not charging exorbitant prices nor is it receiving outrageous profits.

ASB President Gareth Plank charged that "with no rent, and college-maintained facilities, why is the COOP making large profits at the expense of the students?" Plank also feels that the food served at the COOP is of "poor quality."

In an independent survey, The Oak Leaf visited five off-campus food distributors to compare the prices of food items. The establishments were of the fast food variety similar to the COOP.

According to the results, the COOP charges the same amount, more or less, for each ounce or food item as the others. Sizes and quality may vary from place to place, but the final cost per item is comparable.

The COOP, which is run for the college by Mannings Incorporated, is not making any windfall profits from their enterprise.

To date, profits have reached $11,654. This is a gross figure and does not include benefits for the employees of the COOP. The employees are hired by Mannings Incorporated. Work study employees are not on the Mannings payroll and do not receive the same benefits.

Morris Wong, the COOP's food services manager since September, says that most of the bulk food items are ordered from the Mannings warehouse.

Some food items are purchased from local bakeries.

The SRJC extension at Los Guillicos has a cafeteria that is also run by Mannings Incorporated. Wong and his assistant Steve Menge are also in charge of the operations there.

Presently, student government contributes $2000 per semester to the parking fund so ASB members get $5 off on parking fees. Some student government people figured it would be a nice added attraction if the ASB offered its members free parking.

When they looked into the possibility, they found it would cost $10,000 more to reduce ASB members' parking costs by another $2. Somehow that doesn't compute...

Constitution meets end

by Colin McCormack

The College Student Assembly (CSA) failed to pass the controversial constitution that would radically change the present form of student government. In order for the proposed constitution to be placed on the fall ballot, 220 signatures from students were needed.

Of the 25 voting members present at the CSA meeting last Monday, 16 voted in favor of putting the constitution before the students, and eight voted against the move with one abstaining vote.

The constitution, authored by the ASB Constitution Committee, would give the ASB president the power to veto any action taken by the CSA legislators. The CSA would then have the power to override the veto with a two thirds vote within one week of the veto.

Under the new directives outlined by the constitution, the offices of recording secretary and corresponding secretary would be combined into one office. The commissionerships would also be consolidated.

Along with the consolidations of commissionerships, the vote would not be given to them. Instead an added number of student representatives would be added.

Susan Clute, presidential hopeful and current sophomore representative, says that the new constitution would "be more effective than the present system.

"It increases the portion of elected representatives and decreases the number of appointees (the commissioners) which strengthens the democratic nature of student government," she says.

Clute also mentions the increased number of representatives needed to cover the mutually increased number of voting students due to the amendment approved by the ASB club members.

Esther Garel, current ASB corresponding secretary, thinks that the new constitution would place too much responsibility on the secretary, newly formed by the constitution if it finally passes, and also on the office of the vice-president.

Glen Sirchuk, night school representative, said that the offices created by the proposed constitution would be "too hard for the average person."

Steve Hassna, Veterans Commissioner, thinks the constitution should be dropped and replaced with a socialist system. He made this comment during the debate preceding the vote in CSA.

These financial documents are public record. That means any citizen has the right to look at them.

The individuals contacted repeatedly referred the Oak Leaf to other offices.

In an interview Friday morning, cafeteria manager Moris Wong told the Oak Leaf to contact Richard Nazarian, assistant dean of student personnel services, to get Coop financial information.

The Oak Leaf couldn't see Nazarian Friday because he is working primarily at the Petaluma Center this semester.

Friday afternoon, the Oak Leaf decided to contact the Student Activities Office (SAO), where the Coop's books are done.

Eugen Canevari, assistant dean of student activities, said the specific figures the Oak Leaf wanted had to come from Nazarian.

Monday morning, Nazarian tried to answer the Oak Leaf's questions, but said definite information must come from the books in the SAO.

The Oak Leaf went back to Canevari to get the precise figures. After he checked with Nazarian, Canevari instructed the SAO bookkeeper, April White, to furnish any information requested.

After much digging, White produced figures on the Coop's gross income for 1976 - 1977 and for 1977 - 1978 through the month of April, and on its net profit for 1976 - 1977. White was unable to furnish an accurate statement of management fees and other Coop expenses.

Late Friday afternoon, White accompanied the Oak Leaf to Nazarian's office to look at the district's contract with Mannings, the company which runs the cafeteria.

The contract demands the district keep accurate books on the cafeteria operation. Neither district administrators nor employees had shown that such books exist. The Oak Leaf wondered if the district was breaking contract.

Tuesday morning, the Oak Leaf contacted Nazarian again.

Early in the conversation, Nazarian led the Oak Leaf to believe he didn't know the location of the monthly statements Mannings sends the district.

Later, when the Oak Leaf suggested the district wasn't keeping track of the Coop's finances, Nazarian said, "We have enough information that we are able to manage the food service program in a manner that is satisfactory. Over the years we have turned this operation around from a loss factor to a break even and a positive factor. I think that speaks for itself."

He added, "I have the regular monthly and quarterly statements in this office."

When the Oak Leaf asked to see the documents, Nazarian replied, "No. I don't want you to look at those at this point, because I'm not really sure what you're trying to do."

After a lengthy conversation, the Oak Leaf assured Nazarian that our purpose was to make sure someone on campus is keeping track of the Coop's operation and that the district is keeping its contract with Mannings.

Nazarian finally produced the April statement, which gave an overall picture of the Coop's transactions for the month and an account of this year's costs and income to date.

Nazarian went over the statement in detail. It showed the Oak Leaf's suspicions were unfounded. There are accurate records kept on the cafeteria. The administration knows what is going on. And there is no breach of contract.

During the latter part of his talk, Nazarian said the first he heard about students questioning the Coop's prices and finances was student government's action to boycott the Coop without first speaking to anyone responsible.

According to ASB President Gareth Plank, he spoke to Nazarian about Coop and Bookstore operations when he first took office. Plank said he had a hard time getting together with Nazarian because the dean is so often away from campus.

Plank said, "Nazarian was very friendly but it was hard to get definite answers out of him. A supervisor should be able to make more definite statements than 'I think,' 'I guess,' and 'I feel.'"

"Administrators would find fewer problems with students jumping to wrong conclusions if they were less afraid to give students complete information and more willing to take the time to help students understand their college community," Plank said.

Effect on SRJC

EDITOR: Will Santa Rosa Junior College be hit hard if Proposition 13 passes? This question is asked of me daily.

My response is that the junior college will lose at least 25 percent of its operating budget, nearly $4.5 million. (This does not include any of the building operation which is funded separately. There simply would be no building funds).

The 25 percent loss is the minimum figure — if we get our prorata share of local tax revenues and if we get our present level of state support. Both sources at this time are in doubt.

If the state formula, for example, is changed from the present "equalization" basis to a straight per student basis, SRJC could lose up to $4.5 million additional in state aid. The other if is whether the state will replace any or all of the lost local tax revenue.

Santa Rosa Junior College will be seriously affected. A college operating at a cost per student less than most high schools in the North Bay Area simply cannot lose 25 percent of its income and maintain the same level of services, programs, and activities, just as a family on a tight budget cannot lose 25 percent of its income and not be adversely affected.

For 60 years Santa Rosa Junior College, guided by prudent, fiscally responsible board of trustees, has (1) consistently had one of the lowest tax rates for California junior colleges, (2) provided thousands of Sonoma County residents with an outstanding instructional program, (3) achieved state and national recognition for programs and activities (forensics, music, drama, sports), and (4) at the same time — without any bonded indebtedness and without voted tax overrides — has constructed a fine campus, one of the most beautiful and functional ones in California.

Proposition 13 seriously will affect our operations at SRJC. On the other hand, Proposition 8, which activates SB 1, will limit the expenditure level but will permit the college to offer a full range of programs and services for the 22,000 plus students who attend each semester.

Dear Dr. Mikalson:

We would like to express our gratitude for allowing Jack Perella and his cast of "Paddy Doyle's Boots" to perform on our campus at San Francisco State University. This "thank you" is two-fold because the cast also highlighted our Northern California Oral Interpretation Festival this past February.

It is very exciting to see such a high caliber performance. We think it mutually stimulating to share creativity and the joy of literature across neighboring campuses. We were especially impressed with Jack Perella's research and the professional quality of the production.

God holds majority with students

"The study is mostly informative."

by Norm Morris

According to the Latter-day Saint Student Association (LDSSA), 65 percent of 200 SRJC students polled have a definite concept of God.

The survey, which was conducted by the LDSSA Club last month, was designed to inform surveyors and students of SRJC student religious opinions.

While only 1 percent of all SRJC students were polled, the percentages of the random sampling can be extrapolated to reflect the views of the majority of the student population.

LDSSA member Sid Allen commented on the study. "I think that the survey is interesting. It makes students aware of the religious beliefs of others," he said.

"The study is mostly informative," he continued. "It will probably take a few more years of surveying to reach any definite conclusion."

The study revealed many interesting and surprising facets of student opinion. In answer to the question, "Do you feel you know the purpose of life?", 56 percent of student polled said Yes, 27 percent No, and 17 percent were Undecided. The figure of 56 percent is down slightly from last year when 64 percent of polled students replied positively to that question.

Other questions which were asked in the survey were, "Do you believe the Bible is the word of God to man?" (Yes 42 percent, No 37 percent, Undecided 21 percent); "Do you believe that there is Life after Death?" (Yes 68 percent, No 12 percent, Undecided 20 percent); and "Do you feel there is one religion or philosophy that can offer the solution to all the worlds problems?" (No 61 percent, yes 28 percent, Undecided 11 percent).

The survey results which have been collected annually for two years, revealed no appreciable changes in response this year as opposed to last spring when the first survey was taken.

Allen talked about another reason for conducting the survey.

"This annual survey makes the LDSSA visible as an organization on campus," he stated. "It shows that we are an active group."

Allen also mentioned the student response to the survey. "Most people we asked were very friendly and willing to participate in the survey," he explained. "We appreciate their willingness to participate," concluded Allen.

Symposium ends at dinner to honor minority students

"Minorities haven't been recognized"

by Joe D'Amato

"We are here tonight not because minorities haven't been recognized, but because we've been recognized for the wrong things," said Raoul Guzman, head of the Extended Opportunities, Programs and Services (EOPS). Guzman spoke at the Fourth-Annual "Third World Recognition Dinner" held on May 12 at Santa Rosa Junior College.

The dinner and awards presentation is designed to top off the "Third World Cultural Symposium, a week long celebration of ethnic traditions and arts sponsored by the Third World Staff and the Associated Student Body at SRJC.

During his speech, Guzman stressed to more than 90 minority students and faculty members that the students being awarded certificates had overcome many obstacles.

SRJC faculty members Reg Elgin, Naomi Fernandez, Ricardo Joseph and John Ray presented the awards to the 28 minority students who had excelled scholastically, athletically and in community service.

In his closing remarks, Guzman stressed again the accomplishments of the students and that he felt that the community was definitely behind the ethnic programs here at SRJC. He also pointed out that the hardest problems faced by a minority is obtaining an education without a family history of education, financial support while in school, an inadequate number of teacher models and stereotypical myths and images.

Buffoons hold disco dance

by Jim Davidson

The Buffoon's Union will sponsor Disco dance on May 19 at Doyle student center. According to club representative, Don Hoefs, the dance will feature a light show and music by San Francisco's Disco Incorporated.

"We feel it's going to be the best disco that the J.C.'s ever had without question," said Hoefs. He added that the club has planned the activity for two months.

Tickets will be sold to non-SRJC students in advance in the Student Activities Office and will not be sold to them at the door. The money will be used to help finance a pop corn machine for the ASB.

Student elections and bothersome candidates may be getting you down. I don't blame you. It can be a real hassle trying to get through the day without somebody pushing a piece of paper in your face and asking you to vote for them.

I can't impress upon you how important these elections are to each and every one of you. Your student government, in addition to spending $100,000 of your money, is the only recognised voice of student input into your education.

Did You Know: This semester's student government has joined a state-wide college student lobbying force, which lobbies with the state legislature on bills concerning students?

Did You Know: This semester's student government has opened up student elections to all students regardless of ASB membership?

Did You Know: This semester's student government has put on more successful dances than any other in recent years?

Did You Know: This semester's student government has fought tooth and nail for student pay raises, which the Board of Trustees is now considering?

Did You Know: This semester's student government is conveniently negotiating with the cafeteria management for lower prices and a higher quality of food?

Did You Know: This semester's student government has begun work on a teacher evaluation program based on students' opinions, which will be available to every student for fall registration?

Did You Know: This semester's student government has fought against the English Department's proposal for a mandatory six-unit requirement for all students?

Did You Know: This semester's student government has saved tens of thousands of dollars of your money by transferring it from checking accounts to savings accounts where it can earn interest?

These programs are very important to all of us. Please don't let them die! Those of us who will be leaving this campus want to leave behind a responsible action-oriented student government.

Don't be deceived by rhetoric and vague promises of "better communication" and "making student government better for all". Please allow the "Student's Rights Coalition" to keep on working for you after we are gone. That is why we urge you to join us today in voting for SUSAN CLUTE for ASB PRESIDENT and RICHARD BALEKIAN for EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT.

JUNE 1978

I THINK ITS ABOUT TIME we started looking out for ourselves and start asking questions like why am I here, what are they teaching me, if anything and why, and what, of this mass conglomeration of information, is relevant to my life... Your preacher can't tell you (no, he can't) or your mom, your dad, your best friend, your teacher... just you.

IN RETROSPECT...

BY TADD AIONA
SOPH. REP.

AS THIS SEMESTER COMES TO A CLOSE and my educational pursuits here at SRJC become nothing more than a phantasmal wisp of the past - those pursuits transformed or, I should say, commuted, to another institution - I now see SRJC through enlightened eyes.

GONE ARE THE INTIMIDATIONS OF FRESHMANHOOD, the "need" to be told what to do, what to think and feel. Gone are the days of prostrating humbly to the all-mighty teacher, bowing my head and soul for the praise or the spank of His/Her divine judgement. Gone, at least from my sight, are the leeches here who, instead of absorbing the material, know how to "play" a teacher for a grade. Gone is my jealousy towards those parasitic vermin - replaced with disgust.

THE ONE OUTSTANDING THING I'VE LEARNED HERE(not to imply that it couldn't be learned elsewhere, though it can never truly be "taught") is that education is an individual process - an individual pursuit whereby only the individual him/herself knows what is educationally relevant to their pursuits, their goals, their lives. To some, education ends at the close of the bible, to others at the manipulation of rewards, such as grades. The trouble is many of us don't know - I mean really know, until its too late. Many merely play the game of college, going through the ritualistic motions without sorting, digesting, keeping those ideas/notions relevant to their lives and throwing out the rest, until its too late and they realize they haven't yet learned the difference between a playground and a college.

AND THE SCHOOL, being a profit-oriented business whose main concern is profit and economic survival isn't about to ask lackadaisical student-facades what the hell they're doing here, if anything. They couldn't care whether the courses here are Playground 1A or English 1A.

SO, WHO'S TO CARE? Certainly not your seemingly altruistic counselor, not the student advisor, not the friendly neighborhood JC president, nor the dean. They're all too busy looking out for number one.

The Student As A Nigger

EXCERPTS FROM AN ESSAY
BY GERELD FARBER
CAL STATE, L.A.

STUDENTS ARE NIGGERS. When you get that straight, our schools begin to make sense. It's more important though, to understand why they'er niggers. If we follow that question seriously enough, it will lead us past the zone of academic bullshit, where dedicated teachers pass their knowledge on to a new generation, into the nitty-gritty of human needs and hangups. And from there we can go on to consider whether it might ever be possible for students to come up from slavery...

THE students are, it is true, allowed to have a toy government of their own. It is a government run for the most part by uncle toms and concerned principally with trivia. The faculty and administrators decide what courses will be offered; the students get to choose their own Homecoming Queen. Occasionally, when student leaders get uppity and rebellious, they're either ignored, put off with trivial concessions, or maneuvered expertly out of position...

MORE important than the Auschwitz approach to education is the fact that the students take no responsibility. They haven't gone through twelve years of public school for nothing. They've learned one thing and perhaps only one thing during those twelve years. They've forgotten their algebra. They're hopelessly vague about chemistry and physics.

APOSTROPHE

THUS SPOKE THE ESTABLISHMENT

THE student has less chance than the Black man of getting out of his bonds, because the student doesn't even know he's in them. That, more or less is what's happening in higher education, and the results are staggering...

STUDENTS, like Black people, have immense unused power. They could, theoretically, insist on participating in their own education. They could make academic freedom bilateral. They could teach their teachers to thrive on love and admiration, rather than fear and respect, and to lay down their weapons. Students could discover community. And they could learn to dance by dancing on IBM cards. They could make coloring books out of the catalogs and they could put the grading system in a museum. They could raise one set of walls and let life come blowing into the classroom. They could raise another set of walls and let education flow out and flood the streets. They could turn the classroom into where it's at - a "field of action" as Peter Marin describes it. And, believe it or not, they could study eagerly and learn predigiously for the best of all possible reasons - their own reasons.

THEY could. Theoretically. They have the power. But only in a very few places, like Berkeley, have they even begun to think about using it.

PROPOSITION 13/PROPOSITION 8

Santa Rosa Junior College

A Morality Tale

ONCE UPON A TIME there was a Junior College called S.R.J.C. For over fifty years this Junior College served the community. People in the community could come to the college and for a small fee take classes in just about anything; in English or Algebra, in Business or Biology, in Auto Shop or Economics, or learn to play tennis or paint a picture. The people sent their children to the college to learn things too, and the children studied, and competed in activities, and grew up—to go on to great universities or get jobs—and they became better citizens for having been to the college.

Now the teachers who worked at this college took their job seriously and taught these students so well that when the students went on to U.C. Berkeley the S.R.J.C. graduates did as well in their grades as did those students that entered U.C. as freshmen. (And that's a fact.) And when these students went on to Sonoma State their grades went up, a lot. (And that's a fact, too.)

And the Board of Trustees at this college were conscientious enough to see that all this was done at a lower cost per student than most North Bay High Schools, and they did all this while levying a lower tax rate than most J.C.s and without ever floating a bond issue.

The students at this J.C. showed their pride in themselves by forming clubs, and a student government, so that they could compete for the college, and they won championships in football, and basketball, and golf, and swimming and public speaking and newspaper production, and countless other things.

The taxpayers in the community thought these things were valuable and so they supported this college for more than fifty years.

In addition they went to see plays and hear concerts that the college gave, and they enjoyed all the community services and programs that only a local college can give.

AND THEN, one year, taxpayers became very angry with government generally because property taxes kept going up unconscionably. So a Proposition called 13 was put on the ballot that offered a very simple answer. Too simple. It would save property taxes but would take away 25% of the college budget without providing any replacement funds.

Oh, the college would stay open (the people there think education's pretty important) but in that 25% would be lost all the special programs that make a college out of a school.

TOO BAD. It was a great college while it lasted, and Proposition 8 (which would have allowed Senate Bill 1 to go into effect) would have given better tax relief and kept the college. But not enough people listened. Or did they?

For your sakes—save a College Today!

Trust to top $2 million mark

"Unique in the banking industry"

by Carolyn Jachetta

The total amount of funds provided to SRJC students by the Doyle Scholarship program, started by the Exchange Bank in 1949, is expected to reach the $2 million mark this year.

He feels that it is important for "the general public and the recipients to understand that they are one and the same thing. The successful operation of the bank funds the scholarship program by putting money in the trust."

In response to the outbreaks of violence in South Africa, some SRJC students have raised the question of whether the Exchange Bank had any dealings in the country.

Galvin pointed out that it is illegal for any bank to make corporate investments, and that the Doyle Trust consists of stock in the Exchange Bank itself.

The trust department of the Exchange Bank, which is directed by outside investment counselors in the management of client's stocks, may be connected in some way to businesses that have invested in South Africa.

"It's possible that a client in the trust department has stock that is being administered by the trust department in corporations that have investments in South Africa," said Galvin.

Galvin explained to the Oak Leaf that the trust department is a service to aid clients in the investment of their stock. These stocks belong to the clients, not the Exchange Bank, and the trust department service has no connection to the Doyle Trust.

The Doyle Scholarship program is the result of the will of Frank P. Doyle, who succeeded his father as president of the Exchange Bank in 1916.

In his will, Doyle left the 5039 shares of Exchange Bank common stock he owned to three trustees, who managed it after his death.

Except for $2000 paid annually for the maintenance of Doyle Park, which Doyle donated to Santa Rosa in memory of his son, the dividends earned by the stock go to SRJC. The college then administers the funds in accordance with Doyle's will to "worthy young men and women" in the form of scholarships, grants, and awards.

Today the Doyle trust holds 216,034 shares of the Exchange Bank's total of 431,00 shares. Accounting for 51 percent of the stock owned by the bank, the Doyle trust is its controlling interest. The present market value of the stock is $5,184,816.

Calvin assured that they Doyle will could never be broken. The will also states that the stock held in the Doyle trust can never be sold.

Funds provided to SRJC through the Doyle scholarship program have increased steadily. In the program's first year, it provided the school with $8000 for scholarships. The second year, the amount increased to $14,000. The annual amount of funds received remained at the five-figure mark until 1970, when $181,000 in scholarships were granted.

Currently it is estimated by Brooke Tauzer, Vice-President for Academic Affairs at SRJC, and Marie Francescutti, a member of the Doyle scholarship committee, that 11 percent of the day school's population has Doyle Scholarships. For the 1978-79 school year, 797 students have been awarded a total of $186,750 scholarships through the Doyle program.

EDITOR: In reference to ASB President Edmund Gareth Plank's letter in the Oak Leaf (May 25), Gareth has "invited me to call his bluff."

I am also "fed up with political accusations that slander one's moral and political fiber." It is quite ironic that Gareth, who used these same tactics to get elected, is now using them against me again. Furthermore, he is pointing the finger at me as if I'm the guilty one.

Concerning the College Council, I have been and still am an alternate member. I may be called to fill in due to an absence of one of the regular student members. During last semester, I attended quite a few of these meetings and voted on such items as the Students Proposed Calendar for 1978-79. In fact, at several of these meetings I was the only student there! This semester, Gareth has asked me only once to fill in for him at a meeting. I could not make the meeting due to prior commitments.

Speaking of slander and libel, Gareth's remark about Don Hoefs and myself is completely inaccurate and libelous. Don and I tried to obtain free advertisement for a club activity on campus. We felt all club activities would be made know free of charge to the students through the Oak Leaf. We briefly discussed the idea of severing ASB funds to the Oak Leaf due to misrepresentation of facts and not because of advertising.

David J. Alberti

EDITOR'S NOTE: In the Oak Leaf office in October, 1977, Don Hoefs made a complaint to ad salesperson Pat Hamilton that he felt the Oak Leaf should have given the Christians On Campus club a free commercial ad for its square dance instead of selling the club an ad at the Oak Leaf's on-campus discount rates. At this time, Hoefs suggested that the Oak Leaf would be in a bad way if the CSA would decide to cut off ASB funds which aid in the production costs of the newspaper.

EDITOR:

In looking at your paper on May 25, I was very disappointed to find that such slanderous remarks as were in Gareth Plank's letter to the editor were allowed to be printed. Not only were his remarks uncalled for, they were generally misrepresentations and lies. Is the Oak Leaf now going to be a forum for personal "hate" letters, dirty politics, and political slander? I believe some discretion must be used in what is to be printed.

I only have one last thing to say, and that is: don't go on hearsay in judging others—get to know them personally before forming your opinions of them. Esther Garel/

SRJC faces belt-tightening budget year

by Kathy Kinion

With or without Proposition 13 as law California faces a year of severe belt-tightening thanks to the initiative's wildfire campaign. SRJC has also been forced into a spending diet, with some possibly expensive results.

Before the polls opened, Dr. William Craig, Chancellor of California Community Colleges, said, "I would expect a tuition policy to be enacted within the year if Proposition 13 passes." He explained that "a yes vote on Proposition 13 will cost California Community Colleges between $500 million and $750 million statewide in local revenues." This amounts to between 40 and 60 percent of the district's operating budget statewide during 1978-79.

"The governor has pledged no new taxes," Craig continued, "and the legislators will likely follow suit. Tuition appears to be the only answer to recovering those revenues."

SRJC administrators say that tuition could amount to between $200 and $500 per semester. Local tax revenue to the college represents $600 per ADA. The projected 60 percent loss of revenue under Jarvis-Gann amounts to a loss of approximately $360 per ADA.

The board of trustees will hold a special meeting Wednesday, June 7, at 5:15 p.m. to discuss effects of Proposition 13 on the district.

Documents received by SRJC President Dr. Roy Mikalsen from the county indicate that county funds will not be available to school districts for loans during the early part of the school year, according to a newsletter published recently by Academic Senate President-elect Arnold Solkov, an SRJC English instructor.

No budget may be adopted in any school district which includes expenditures which would exceed the amount of money that can be raised at the legal tax rate by that district. To put together a balanced budget, the SRJC District plans to reduce support services and programs not generating ADA reimbursed by the STATE, draw from the district's operational reserve and possibly implement a percentage salary cut on a temporary basis.

The district may also cut almost all Community Service projects, cut nearly all new and replacement equipment, and cut district paid staff in special programs such as COIL and EOPS.

SRJC plans to cut supply budgets and charge student material fees, which could amount to approximately $15 per student, wherever possible.

Suggestions which have been made to the administration to curb SRJC's spending include increasing work for college employees, and assigning most administrators one evening class. Reducing expenditures in such places as the child care center and custodial staff, and cutting severely instructional aides, library services, telephones, etc., have also been proposed.

Loyal ties with students

"I won't allow myself to be manipulated"

by Kathy Holecsek

Pointing to the parking problem and Proposition 13 cutbacks as the most important issues to students, Esther Garel hopes to bring these and other problems to the attention of the SRJC Board of Trustees in her role as student elect to the board of trustees.

"What I'd like to become is a voice of the students to the board and a voice of the board to the students," explained Garel. "I think I'm really in a kind of advisory position to both sides. I think it will be very important for me to know the issues before they come so I can let the students know."

Realizing how difficult it would be to talk to enough students get to get a majority opinion, Garel hopes to either publish a newsletter telling of board issues or work in conjunction with the Oak Leaf.

"I know that it would be really hard to talk to a lot of students each time an issue came up. That's why I'd like to work either with the Oak Leaf or maybe publish a newsletter. This way students could read it and then write letters back to me."

Even with a newsletter Garel foresees some problem in student involvement.

"When I was campaigning a lot of students didn't even know that it was law to have a student rep on the board," she said quietly. "I think many students are still ignorant of how powerful a student can be. Hopefully I'll be able to make them more aware so that they'll care more."

Actively involved in student government this past year Garel hopes to gain the support of CSA.

"Don (ASB President-elect Don Hoefs) said that he'd make a commission for me so that I could work with CSA. I think it would be a good idea because this way it could be a joint effort," might lead to a conflict of interests. Garel reaffirmed her position as a voice of the students to the board not a voice of the CSA to the board.

"My allegiance lies with the students not the CSA. I won't allow myself to become a CSA rep to the board and I won't allow myself to be manipulated by them to voice only their ideas."

Garel pointed out that there was already a point of disagreement between herself and the CSA.

"A lot of the people at CSA said that having a student on the board of trustees with out a vote was Mickey Mouse. A lot of the student government demanded a vote or said to just forget the whole thing. That was their basic attitude."

Garel agrees that it would be nice to have a vote but doesn't feel the students are in any position to turn it down.

that they're not just up there thinking about our money all the time."

He's discussed plans with administrators to establish breakfasts between student government members and trustees. Hoefs also plans to get trustees and administrators to participate in Welcome Day next semester. "We'll get them right out there cooking with the rest of us."

"If we could get it across to the administration that students feel there are two different levels and they themselves are on the lower level while the administration is above them, we might make them understand that the students would be more comfortable on campus with things more open."

Asked if he thought the majority of the administrators really cared whether or not students were comfortable with them, Hoefs replied optimistically.

"I think some of them really do care. I think Dr. Mikalson is seriously interested in the welfare of the students. He's been put down too much as a bad guy. He cares very much about the students at large, and he encourages student activities, such as athletics.

"But as one of the leaders, I've got to do my job when Mikalson and others say they're too busy to be with us, and ask them to make time."

He added, "We've got to work with the administration and trustees in order to get anything accomplished."

SADIE HAWKINS DAY, THE BRAINCHILD OF PRESIDENT GARETH PLANK, was enjoyed by those who could remember when it was.

President-elect ends bumpy ride

"I'd like to make some changes"

by Kathy Kinion

The orthodox, proper-channel goals of ASB President-elect Don Hoefs in no way resemble his bucking bronc election, which resulted after two surprising ties and a third run-off election last week against sophomore Susan Clute.

Hoefs' most aggressive intentions are long-term and involve the Book Store and COOP. This semester, student government members have begun examining the possibility of lowering Book Store prices. Hoefs intends to continue this investigation, he said that student government members' studies indicate Book Store prices may be marked quite a bit higher than other book stores' prices.

"If that's so, then we ought to take some action," Hoefs asserted.

He envisions even more aggressive ASB action in the Book Store. "I've given a lot of thought to the possibility of student government taking over the Book Store some day, and maybe even the COOP," he explained. "This would mean we'd be paying the employees, the manager, etc. There's no reason why we couldn't do it, though it would take a lot of work over a gradual period of time."

Hoefs worked in the student government this semester as the assistant finance commissioner.

Stressing campus entertainment as a prime benefactor, Hoefs said he'll encourage student government to "spend the money it has saved up—get it into something, like entertainment which is a big part of college life, and scholarships for which there's always an incredible need among students."

Hoefs has discussed the effects of Proposition 13 on the Associated Student Body (ASB) with SRJC President Dr. Roy Mikalson. He said Mikalson feels the student government will be able to retain the parking fee discount for ASB members along with the usual ASB discount booklet and low-cost entry into SRJC sports events. These benefits are ultimately decided upon by the board of trustees.

The Fall president worries that the initiative may harm SRJC's sports activities.

"If Jarvis-Gann effects our athletics program, which is a big part of our college life, I think we (the ASB) ought to be there to help out."

Student government began a teacher evaluation project this semester. The project, headed by ASB Vice President Rocky Higgins, evaluated teaching in the English department. Hoefs plans to continue the program.

"I intend to carry it all the way through to all departments. I want to see the teacher evaluations completed within the year—I don't expect it to be completed in my term."

During the summer Hoefs will preside over several Executive Cabinet meetings, at which he intends to discuss changes he feels should be made in the CSA constitution. "That's the first thing that'll be brought up. I'd like to make some changes in the financial clause. I'd like to follow up on what (spring president) Gareth Plank did this semester and move more money from the checking account to savings," he explained.

Hoefs feels it's easy to become subjective in student government over the period of a semester and that members can lose sight of the fact that the large amount of money they're dealing with actually belongs to the ASB. "Student government members should be reminded more often than once a semester that it is the students' money," he theorized. "But once they are reminded, say during a major decision, they see that there are other viewpoints about how that money should be spent."

"Student government to me is just a part of the Associated Students," he added. "It's a liaison between the Associated Students and decisions. It's a talk-point."

There have been complaints that some of the freshman and sophomore representatives as well as commissioners in CSA have been sliding through the semester without making much effort to represent the students.

Hoefs feels they could do a better job of representing their constituents, with a bit of gentle guidance. He plans to hold small weekly meetings with the representatives and commissioners, aside from the weekly CSA meetings.

"I've got to let them know that they're important, that they're there for a reason and depend on them to get information for us," he explained. "If you want them to keep at it, you've got to be on them all the time and work with them."

The stocky blond said the combination of people elected to student government offices for Fall is conducive to the purpose of student government and the work involved.

"We've got a really good bunch of people coming in," he said. "But we're not all really good friends," the reverse of which many observers over past semesters feel can destroy serious progress for the student government. "Because of this, I don't think friendships within are going to affect our decisions."

"I like to believe that when it comes to business, my friendships are gone," Hoefs asserted. "I know we're going to try to keep our personal lives out of student government business."

Hoefs has already begun interviewing candidates for CSA commissionerships. Some of the positions, for which the president makes recommendations which are seldom rejected by the Executive Cabinet, must be filled during the summer session.

"My main goal for commissionerships is to appoint all students who ran for student government offices and were not elected." He said both interest and experience are priority qualifications for candidates. "If they were interested enough to run for office, they'll get top consideration. And experience is also a factor, because the people who run for an office have usually had some experience with student government."

This semester, Student Body President Gareth Plank saw part of his responsibility in being the students' watch-dog on SRJC's administration. Hoefs doesn't feel his job is to criticize the administrators' actions.

"They know their jobs much better than we do," he said. "Of course, there will be times when I'll be speaking out if I disagree with something they've done."

Hoefs plans to publish a newsletter at least once a month "to let the people at large know what's going on with their interests in the college and student government." Issues he plans to cover include student parking and building projects.

Hoefs feels a major benefit to students would be open channels of communication between student government and the administration and board of trustees. "My goal is to get student government members to know the trustees and administrators. They need to see that they're human," he explained. "I want to show the students that they're like us,

NON-VOTING POSITION

Student named to JC board

Twenty-one year old secretarial student, Esther Garel, will be seated as the new student member of the Sonoma County Junior College District Board of Trustees when the Board meets July 10.

The new student position, which is non-voting, is a result of a recently passed state legislation which requires all community college district boards of trustees to include a student member. The student receives all the rights of a regular board member except voting and the attending of executive session.

Garel captured the position in a recent student election, in which she won two to one over opponents Brian Beaver and Stanley Laughlin.

She sees her primary role as providing student input to board decisions and serving as a communications link with the student body.

"Some people thought the position was a put down because the student couldn't vote but I think a lot can be done with it," says Garel. "The position is more of advise giving than power. I hope to talk to students about up coming issues and then communicate student opinions to the Board."

In communicating with students, Garel will seek a column in the student newspaper, Oak Leaf, as well as work closely with student government. "I don't see myself and student government as adversaries but rather both of us working together for student interests," she explained.

She sees no immediate issues she wishes to take to the Board and in response to questions about her position on District implementation of Proposition 13, she says, "I will express student concerns and interests on implementation of Proposition 13, taking items as they come."
