SRJC students may take fee into court

By JOHN ADAMS

Santa Rosa Junior College's student government may go to court in an attempt to recover about $200,000 in materials fees charged all students last fall.

The College Student Assembly Monday voted to allocate $500 in Associated Student Body funds toward retaining attorney James Barrett, Cotati, to challenge the September 1978 blanket fee of $1 per unit of credit.

While the college has charged some fees for many years, the controversial blanket fee of $1 per unit was another attempt to cope with anticipated budget shortages in the wake of Proposition 13's passage.

The fee, which amounted to $15 for the 'average' full-time student carrying a 15-credit load, caused both students and faculty to speak out against its application.

At the time, opponents charged the fee was being assessed even in classes where no materials were necessary.

Based on campus unrest including a threatened class boycott and continued appeals to throw out the fees, reduce them or charge only for specific classes requiring various types of materials, the board of trustees revised the fee schedule for the spring semester.

The revision dropped fees for many classes, reduced fees in others, raised the cost in a few classes and left others at the fall level. The board's action resulted in the students dropping boycott plans.

However, Karen Watson, student body president, told The Press Democrat it's only appropriate to seek a return of the money collected in the fall if that collection was illegal, improper or threatened to establish a new precedent.

Watson said CSA's objection is only to the blanket $1 fee charged last fall. She said it's understood fees are appropriate in classes requiring various materials.

The students, Watson said, are not trying to recover any of the funds for themselves, but will leave distribution of any award up to the court, if an action is filed and pursued.

The CSA vote to allocate student funds for an attorney was not a popular one. The vote was 10 in favor, nine opposed and one abstention. Some of the student government members, according to the campus newspaper, the Oak Leaf, felt Watson and her aide, Athletics Commissioner Carl Reifenstein, who reportedly also is a full-time Sonoma State University, were considering the suit on their own. Some CSA members said they would not support a suit.

Gene Canevari, assistant dean of student personnel services and who works with the CSA, felt the CSA would have to clarify its funding motion at next Monday's 3 p.m. meeting because it did not name Barrett as the attorney to contact and did not indicate from what part of the student budget the $500 would be taken.

Canevari also said any allocation of funds requires authorization of an officer of the college. In the CSA's case, his authorization is required.

Watson said the motion did name Barrett as the attorney and felt Canevari's question of the motion was an attempt to cause a week's delay in the CSA's pursuit of the court action.

Roy Mikalson, college district president, said the college checked with its attorney and the community college chancellor's office attorney determining a materials fee was legal.

"A great many college districts are charging fees and have for years," he said. "We feel our fees are as low as we could set them, trying to come as close as possible to actual materials costs."

If a suit is filed, Mikalson said the trustees will turn it over to the college's attorney.

'Short-sighted goals'

EDITOR: In the recent article on the possible lawsuit being threatened by SRJC's student government you attribute to ASB President Watson the statement that the students are not trying to recover any of the funds for themselves. This is quite true.

The students never were consulted by our elected and appointed officials before they took action spending student funds to retain a lawyer. There has been much discussion on campus, most of it negative, since we were informed a lawsuit was being threatened in our name.

It is important the community not recognize ten short-sighted people as the only representative voice of the nearly 20,000 students at SRJC. Those of us who have thought out a lawsuit to its logical conclusions see quite readily the idea is ludicrous. I offer these points in argument:

(1) If only those fees which were charged illegally were to be refunded, this would mean only about half, for as you pointed out, many fees do go to cover classroom expenses. (We could carry this a step further, and argue that students should now pay for the classes in which the fees didn't cover expenses, but I suppose that's stretching logic too far.)

(2) The administrative costs, clerical time, computer time, and postage to notify people of the suit and the refunds easily would consume most, if not all, of the said refunds.

(3) Removing $200,000 from the college after the fees have been spent would mean the money would have to come from some other area of the campus, detracting from some portion of our educational facilities. (Translation: the students get ripped off.)

Finally — if our board of trustees take this suit seriously, it could well be punitive, by raising fees to their legal maximums — parking at $20, charging for all classroom materials rather than just printed materials (think of the costs in chemistry, for example), and many other legal fees our college has chosen to subsidize up until now.

I plead with our community, the board of trustees, and the students not to take seriously these ten people as they play at being radicals.

They can't implement a long range plan with such short-sighted goals.

CSA stops suit

"We are taking an alternate route"

by Peter Brennan

With 18 votes to reject last week's motion to retain a lawyer, student government decided April 2 not to sue SRJC over the material fees charged last semester.

"My main objection to the lawsuit is that any money taken out of the school will hurt the students," said Chuck Narad, former assistant to the student president.

Narad also presented a petition with 547 signatures asking that student government not retain a lawyer.

Like last week, the meeting was highly emotional. Everyone knew how they were going to vote, so discussion was limited and the vote was taken quickly.

Only one vote favored retaining the lawyer. However, the idea of suing the school was not dead in some representatives' minds. Marc McKenney, sophomore representative, said that for those who want the lawsuit, an ad hoc committee will form.

After the meeting, Karen Watson, student government president, reinforced the ad hoc committee for her defeated forces. "We are simply realigning and taking an alternate route," said Watson.

Other business discussed included the possibility of a radio station, new areas for smoking in the coop, funds to send the forensics team to nationals, and funds for the supportive P.E. program.

Simon Lew, a student, asked student government for $3,500 to start an FM cable radio station. Lew handed out copies of a proposal which explained the reasons for a station and also broke down the costs of the radio station.

"The proposal is self explanatory. Santa Rosa Junior College is rapidly developing. Out of all the facilities here, one is missing, a radio station," said Lew.

Student government liked the idea of a radio station. Merri Balliett, corresponding secretary, said, "I really think everyone wants to have a radio station, but a few things need to be worked out."

Among those few things, "Number one, there is a proposal for an on-the-air station by the speech department," said Eugene Canevari, student government advisor. Student government decided to hold off allocating any money until it could listen to the speech department's idea for a radio station.

The forensics team asked for $631 to send four members to the nationals in Minnesota. They said they already had $1000 and needed some help from student government for the rest.

Kim Johnson, treasurer, worried that student government was "Throwing money around. We have to draw the line somewhere."

The line wasn't drawn with the forensics team though. Student government allocated the money asked so the team could defend its national title.

Student government at SRJC exists for one purpose: to represent the students in matters pertaining to their educational, financial (in the form of Associated Student Body funds) and personal well being. This representation depends on clear communication between student government office holders and their constituents if it is to be truly representative.

Affecting both the educational and financial well being of SRJC students, the materials fees issue has been in the student government spotlight here since last fall. The latest development in the issue came out last week, when student government debated and then voted on a lawsuit to regain excess monies that SRJC may have charged.

At the meeting, factions of student government seemingly drew up sides, one for and one against a lawsuit seeking remuneration for excess fees. Personal arguments between different members of each side only clouded the issue, and by the time the meeting was over, more questions remained than were there to begin with.

Several members mentioned polls of students that they took, but no one seemed to be able to present a clear view of what the students really want to do. Vice President Steve Bright, who was against the lawsuit only days before, said that a poll he took among students here convinced them they wanted the suit. Sandra Bunnery, said that she does not talk enough to poll the some 90 people that Bright had talked to, but that the people she talked to were against the suit.

What is the answer to such a complex situation as this? We feel that, as was done by the Gareth Plank regime one year ago, it is now time to take an issue to the students here. Plank and company held an election to rescind the "poll tax" as he called it. - The poll tax policy said that one had to be an ASB member to vote. Now, everyone who is a student here may vote in elections, and vote they should on the issue of materials fees remuneration.

At the meeting, ASB President Karen Watson expressed a fear that such a thorough polling of students would take too long and waste valuable time. We realize that time can be important in such matters, but, in our opinion, nothing is more important than the proper representation of students.

It is now time for student government members to put aside personal feelings and remember those who they represent; namely, the students of SRJC. By taking this issue to the students, the government here can find out once and for all what the students want. In our opinion, this is the only way we will ever know an end to the issue.

To begin with, I have a story with a moral to relate. I'm doing this even though my journalism advisor will down grade me for starting my column off like this. The story has three morals, but it is to the point.

Once-upon-a-time, there was a little sparrow that had started late in the season to fly south for the winter. As the little bird headed south, he ran into a storm and, in the cold and rain, his wings began to freeze up. As he fell towards the earth, he noted that he would land smack in the middle of a barnyard.

When the sparrow landed and was slowly freezing, he thought of how nice the barnyard must have been during the summer. Then, as he lay there freezing, the barnyard horse walked by and deposited an enormous pile of manure on top of the sparrow.

The bird thought that it was bad enough to freeze to death, but to suffocate in dung was just adding insult to injury. But then he realized that he could breathe and that further, the shit was warming him up and he was starting to un-freeze.

In his joy over the fact that he was going to live, the little bird started to sing.

Unfortunately for the sparrow, the barnyard cat heard the singing and came over to where the sparrow was, dug him out of the shit and ate him.

As I said, there are three morals to the story:

1. Not everyone who shits on you is your enemy.
2. Not everyone that digs you out of shit is your friend.
3. If you are warm and happy, even if you are up to your neck in shit, keep your mouth shut.

How does all this tie into the column? Analyze the current situation between the student government and the board of trustees.

1. The board apparently laid a big pile of dung on the students last semester with the $1 per unit fees, but when asked to make the fees equatable, they went along with the wishes of the students, even though they were verbally abused by many students (many of whom now deny ever abusing anyone. Richard, take note.).

In fact, once the board realized we, the students, didn't like the original fee structure, they changed it and have acted in our best interest.

2. Karen Watson, Carl Reifenstein and others, by seeking to dig us out of the little shit that remains from last semester may be unleashing a hoard of other, far more serious problems that will affect students long after they are gone.

Also, Watson and company want the refunded money to go into a grant fund for future students. Personally, if they win the suit (which isn't likely), I want every cent of the money that I paid back. Also, Watson and Company decided to spend up to $2,000 of our money without talking to more than 100 students around campus (and most of them were freshmen who didn't even pay into the major part of the materials fees problem in the first place). Watson and Company should have done more extensive research into how students, a representative sample, feel about the lawsuit and its possible side effects.

The side effects are what worry me the most. If they want to, the board can raise the charges, legally, on everything from parking (up to $20.00 a semester with no discounts) to a pro rated class fee of up to four dollars a week per class (that's $64.00 a month extra). In addition to all these extra fees, the board has the power to disband the student government if they feel that the students have acted in an irresponsible manner.

So Watson and Company are carrying the banner and throwing out their collective chests to show the administration how tough they are. In the process, they are putting the rights and the pocketbooks of future students on the line, with no thought to any of the consequences, or any thought of where the money (if they win the suit) will come from. Almost all the money will probably come out of the pockets of future students in the form of extra fees.

And maybe the most important point is being missed. If we sue and lose, it will be no big deal now, but it will set legal precedence for all colleges to legally charge fees, something that is in question now.

The point of all this is, are we, the members of the ASB, getting what we paid for in joining the ASB? Or have we bought a bill of goods that will in the end, no matter which way it comes out, cause only hardship for those students to come after us?

And what of the third part of the moral? Well, even though the administration has first dumped on the students and then removed the greater part of it, Karen Watson and her cohorts are trying to make it look like we are still up to our collective necks in manure. In actuality the fees that we have paid this semester are quite reasonable since they are being charged only for materials used.

Right now there is no legal precedence for charging the fees and so they were quite reasonable about revising the fee structure. If the lawsuit goes through and loses it could effect every college in California. So as it sits, we're warm and happy and not even up to our necks in shit.

Everytime my English 1A instructor gave us an assignment to point out the irony in a story or essay, I'd tell him I couldn't because "I don't have much of a sense of irony."

That was a crock of it. I just didn't want to deal with the irony because every time I stop and admit to the depths of ignorance, hatefulness, greediness, jealousy, insensitivity and selfishness the human race is lost in, I get depressed for weeks.

At this point let me warn you about my attitude for this week [which seems to match that of everyone else on this campus], that is: Screw objectivity. This is my column and I'll bitch if I want to!

My gripes are with students who complain about the fees here, saying they aren't getting what they paid for, when what they're getting here is an education which, in any other state and in any other kind of institution in this state, would cost far, far more than it does here.

My gripes are with instructors and administrators who moan and groan about what the college can't afford in instructional materials but who aren't about to moan and groan about their own pay increases which decrease what the school can afford in those same instructional materials.

My gripes are with high paid administrators who say student wages can't be higher because that decreases the number of students who can work, but aren't about to forego another raise to increase that number.

My gripes are with people who say students shouldn't be paid more because we're "here to learn" when the jobs many of us do we've done for $3, $4 and $5 and more in the outside world--jobs the school would have to pay more to have done if students didn't do them.

My gripes are with people who are willing to leave most of the work to one or two people in various departments then complain when it isn't "me first."

My gripes are with instructors who complain about how hard they work and how underpaid they are and who are never there when they're needed by their students--or their student readers.

My gripes are with personnel policies that allow the most enthusiastic and energetic employees to be first on firing lists.

My gripes are with people who sit and complain amongst themselves--"us against them"--and never go to see what the other side has to say, and who will not listen to or believe the other side, even if it comes to them.

All this isn't to say that I'm not happy the fees here are no longer blanket fees. Yes, they could have been a danger.

This also isn't to say that I don't like and respect a lot of people hereabouts [including some who are "guilty parties" in my gripes]. And this isn't to say I don't feel they are [at least for the most part] worth what they're paid [and sometimes more].

What this is to say is I'm tired of listening to people refusing to listen to each other. I'm tired of people complaining and blaming others when they'll do nothing to help themselves. I'm tired of people expecting now what they've always had--because last summer the voters of Calif-

And now that I've gotten all that out of the way, I'll retire to a corner to contemplate my own shortcomings [equal time and all that].

"Let's try to understand how the other guy feels"

Dear Editor:

As we all well know, there is an issue (a controversial one) bubbling in the works of student government. The issue I speak of is that of the proposed lawsuit against SRJC for repayment of the monies collected from the materials fee of the fall semester of 1978.

There has been much conversation on campus about this issue. The atmosphere in which this issue was voted upon in the College Student Assembly was very heated. There were strong opinions in each direction; this can be easily noted from the count of votes--10 for the lawsuit, nine against, and one abstention. Not only have members of the student government been involved in strong speculation on this issue, so have scores of students. In fact, in a poll taken by members of the Tennis Club, 277 members of the student population were asked their views of the lawsuit. An overwhelming 65.7% were against suing the school, while only 5.8

were in agreement with the idea of a lawsuit. The remaining percentage were undecided.

Because of this, because of the near tie vote in CSA, and because of the important reasons listed below, I, too, cast a strong vote against the lawsuit. The reasons are as follows:

1) There was only one lawyer, therefore only one legal opinion, consulted.

2) It has not been decided who the plaintiff will be, or even clearly stated who the defendants are.

3) The student population was not asked if they wished their money to be spent in such a manner before it came to a vote in CSA.

4) It is unclear as to who will sign the contract with the lawyer, and who will be officially responsible (liable) for the carrying out of the case.

5) The administration was approached or contacted about a compromise, therefore did not have a chance to respond before it was decided to sue the college.

6) This is the students' college, therefore in effect we are suing ourselves.

7) The actual amount of money collected in materials fees for the fall semester of 1978 was $139,000; the actual amount used was $125,000. This is a great difference to the $200,000 figure which has been thrown around by some of those in favor of the case. In contrast to this, the district collected $86,000 in materials fees this semester, while budgeted amount of $125,000 remains the same. So, this means the district is actually losing money on the fees is sound but as a practical matter

8) The Board of Trustees, on Dec. 11, 1978, listened to the complaints of the students and voted to adjust the fees to an equitable level, comparable to the actual materials which students receive in the classroom. Why then, four months later, is this issue brought up?

9) I feel that an action such as this will only work to break down the communication which we have slowly built up with the administration through this whole issue. There are many constructive ways which an issue such as this can be dealt with.

10) An action such as this shows an attitude which says that students do not want to work together with the administration.

11) If in reality this case does go to court, and if in reality we do win, the money lost from the college will eventually come out of the students' pockets, either by cutbacks from programs and/or instruction benefits to students, or by losses of some of the many benefits we receive as students from the college.

12) Because of the above, I feel that in a situation such as this no one wins, and everyone loses.

It is for reasons such as these, and many more, which I lack the space to state, that I am adamantly opposed to this issue. In view of solid reasons and facts such as these, I do not believe that any officer of the students can, in good conscience, vote to endorse such a lawsuit against our college, if in fact they have considered the issues at hand.

It is against my conscience to endorse an issue such as this in my position on the Board of Trustees. I cannot endorse something which I feel will be detrimental to the students and the college. I feel that the endorsement of the majority of students on this campus is with me in this decision.

In all sincerity,

"s try to understand how the other guy feels"

The CSA:

Since I will be unable to attend today's meeting [April 2], I am expressing my opposition to the proposed lawsuit in this letter. Philosophically, your case is sound but as a practical matter I feel it could turn into a tragic mistake. The money awarded could be reduced by the legal fees and unless the case was concluded before next semester, it would place a burden on the student government who might have to choose between continuing an action they don't support or abandoning the earlier commitment. If the case was resolved in the students favor, the problem of disposal of the funds would then arise. Returning the materials fees would be difficult and expensive but any lump disposal of the money would favor students who had taken a light load in Fall '78 over those who took 15 or more credits and therefore lost a larger investment.

I'm also curious as to where the CSA thinks the money will come from. I seriously doubt there is a shoebox full of dirty dollars hidden in Bailey Hall. Since the budget is unlikely to allow money on the possibility that the administration will lose, the amount awarded would have to be trimmed off one or more other programs.

However, the most disturbing fact is that the CSA took this action without polling the general student population. Polling 90 students is hardly sufficient, particularly since there is no way of knowing if the students were advised of the costs as well as the benefits. The claim that it would take months to inform the students is weak since last semester saw a well organized sequence of rallies, petition distribution, and information meetings that resulted in rescinding the materials fees in the first place.

While I greatly opposed the materials fees, I feel that legal action at this point would have few benefits and only cripple the essential relationship between student government and the administration.

Scot Stegeman

Dear Editor:

I have been under the impression that the primary goal of our student body leaders is to see that the educational needs of the students are met. As I read about the proposed lawsuit by the CSA against SRJC I realize that I have been wrong.

Both the student government and the administration must be united under one cause if results are to be achieved, proposals like these only cause dissention amongst our leaders.

Regardless of who wins the lawsuit, those of us seeking a quality education at this institution, shall lose.

Sincerely yours,

Steve Baughnar

To Whom It May Concern:

These past few weeks have been trying to anyone who is involved with the Oak Leaf or student government, and I have come to see the trials and tribulations of a school paper more clearly as the weeks go by.

It's too bad that we all can't have the togetherness regarding this issue, as we did last semester, but since we can't, we should try to deal with it as best we can.

Let's try to understand how the other guy feels without cutting him to the ground. And maybe there will come a time when we can all work together...again.

Due to lack of interest the Wheelchair Basketball Tournament has been cancelled for this season and rescheduled for the last weekend in September, just before the conference season begins. Earlier when I first started contacting teams from other states and other conferences, they all seemed interested in participating in the tournament. After the date was set and facilities were secured the teams lost interest due to end of a long season and teams disbanded to start preparing for participation in the California games.

PARKING COMMITTEE MEETING MINUTES - MARCH 6, 1979

PRESENT: G. Grijalva, R. Hollingshead, W. Bowen, G. Dougan, R. Nazarian, R. Triebel, J. LeBaron, Rob McCarter, and Mike Humphrey.

The Parking Committee meeting was held March 6, 1979 at 3:00 p.m. in Room A-81, Bailey Hall. The meeting was called to order by the Chairman, Terry Stewart.

Chairman Stewart reported that no follow-up information has been received in regards to the Parking Committee's proposal that Frontage Road be made a one-way road. The committee agreed that Frontage Road is of the utmost importance in the improvement of the campus parking situation. Mr. Hollingshead stated that he would pursue this matter further.

Chairman Stewart stated that as of the first of the Spring 1979 semester there were approximately 1500 student parking spaces.

It was reported that the new control arms installed in Quinn Lot are working very well.

The visitors' parking area consists of two rows of spaces designated by two sets of poles with a sign. Chairman Stewart stated that there has been a problem with students parking in the visitor parking area. There have been several citizen complaints about not being able to find an available space in this area. Chairman Stewart stated that the campus patrol has been distributing warning notices to students parking in this area and that, hopefully, this problem will soon be lessened.

There was some discussion as to the definition of the term "visitor". It was generally agreed that a "visitor" should be someone making an occasional visit to the campus or a citizen using the swim center or track during a lunch period, etc.

It was suggested that possibly painting visitor spaces green would help define the area. B. Bowen stated that this could be done.

The committee again agreed that the solving of the Frontage Road proposal could solve a lot of problems, especially the visitor situation. T. Stewart and R. Hollingshead agreed to talk with J. Johnson about Frontage Road and also additional signs designating parking areas.

The committee agreed to table the parking fee discussion at this time. At the next meeting parking fees will be finalized.

It was MSC that the parking fee structure be changed as follows:

Taking more than one space:	$3.00
No Permit/No permit displayed:	$5.00
Parking in an improper classification, loading zone or out of zone:	$10.00
Parking in handicapped, red zone or emergency zone (tow-away area):	$25.00

Parking Committee Minutes - March 6, 1979 Continued.....

It was agreed that a tow-away fee would be in addition to, not in lieu of, the $25.00 citation.

Dr. Dougan stated that the proposed fee change be distributed to the Parking Judiciary Board, College Student Assembly, College Council, PHP, Kent Hall Council, Accademic Senate and C.S.E.A. for feed-back. Hopefully, this propos can be submitted at the June 1979 meeting of the Board of Trustees.

The problem of motorcycle and mo-ped parking on campus was discussed. It was generally agreed that while bicycles, mo-peds and motorcycles should be encouraged due to the vehicle parking problem, the problem of riding on pathways, on the grounds, and parking on pathways should be regulated. Chairman Stewart stated that at the next parking committee meeting a policy for any two-wheeled vehicle will be discussed.

Chairman Stewart adjourned the meeting at 4:20 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Various teachers, and students once again stated their views so opinions were limited to three minutes. Kim Oakley moved and it was seconded to vote immediately. That passed and the final vote to rescind was 18 - 1.
  - b. Simon Lew presented his radio station proposal, and members showed enthusiasm and support, but the issue was tabled for a week so further discussion with higher officials could be taken care of.
  - c. It was moved and seconded to have half the coop be designated for non-smokers. The motion carried and the cafeteria well be split right in half to make it fair for everyone.
- VIII. New Business:
  - a. Stanley Laughlin, Rob McCarter and Karen Watson were chosen as volunteers for the Instructional Committee which will meet on the second and forth Tuesdays of the month.
  - b. after much discussion both for and against the forensics was allotted 681 dollars to send 4 people to the state nationals.
  - c. $400 was allotted to the supportive P.E. program for the wheel-chair basketball conference. The vote was 13-0-3.
  - d. Rob McCarter asked for $246.03 for sepesate scan-trans and the money to process them so they could do their teacher evaluation. The issue was tabled for a week.
- IX. Announcements:
  - a. Mr. Canevari thanked all those who helped in any way with the High School Senior Days.
- X. The meeting was voted adjourned at 4:30 p.m.

Respectfully Submitted (just like last time),

High school seniors are visiting JC

Seniors from 12 Sonoma County high schools are visiting Santa Rosa Junior College this week and next.

The schools involved are Sonoma, Casa Grande, Analy, El Molino, Piner, Santa Rosa, Petaluma, Healdsburg, Geyserville, Cloverdale, Ursuline and Cardinal Newman.

Sponsored by the SRJC Counseling Department, the program is part of an effort to help students adjust to and do well in college life.

The day's schedule begins with a slide show presentation to acquaint the students with the various offerings of the college. The students visit the departments, programs and buildings of their choice.

The departments at SRJC have put together displays, presentations and demonstrations to show the students what offerings and opportunities are available at SRJC.

A noon barbecue is available to the seniors. Entertainment for the noon hour is provided by SRJC Associated Student Body.

S.P.E. Student Activities

The Supportive Physical Education program has just been made aware of an extremely fine piece of equipment. We would like to request from the A.S.B. the funds to purchase a tilt table. This piece is valued from 600.00-800.00 dollars. We are fortunate enough to be able to purchase it for only 300.00 dollars.

The function of a tilt table is to enable persons restricted to wheelchairs to stand up, this increases the circulation to all body parts and helps in stretching the muscles of the lower extremities.

The generosity of the A.S.B. to the S.P.E. program over the past several years has been greatly appreciated and remembered. Hopefully this request can be approved.

Sincerely,

John Hassenzahl

- ADJUSTING PARKING FINES COMMITTEE - - MEETING -

Parking Permits:

All day and evening parking permits are self-adhesive and must be attached to the left rear bumper of the vehicle.

Parking permits are non-transferable. A student who sells a vehicle should first remove the old parking permit and bring it to the Campus Police Office where a new permit will be issued at no additional charge.

Visitor and Temporary Permits:

A visitors parking lot is available to non-students who have business on campus. This lot is located on the west side of the football field. Temporary parking permits are available in the Campus Police Office for visitors and for students who are going to be parking an unregistered vehicle on campus.

Proper Parking of a Vehicle:

Day and Evening College students shall only park their vehicles in a parking space designated by two white lines. Student vehicles parked in any other area, whether marked or not, are illegally parked and are subject to a citation or tow-away.

WHITE LINES . . . . .	STUDENT PARKING
YELLOW LINES . . . . .	RESERVED FOR STAFF, KENT HALL, OR LOADING ZONES WHEN MARKED
BLUE LINES . . . . .	HANDICAPPED ONLY
RED LINES . . . . .	NO PARKING AREA - TOW-AWAY ZONE
AREAS WITH NO MARKINGS .	NO PARKING AT ANY TIME - TOW-AWAY

MARCH 28th, 1979
ASB CONFERENCE ROOM

1501 Mendocino Avenue, Santa Rosa, CA 95401

ADJUSTING PARKING FINES COMMITTEE MEETING

We recemend the following adjusted fines:

	First Two Fines	Three or more
1. TAKING MORE THAN ONE SPACE:	$ 3.00	$ 5.00
2. NO PERMIT OR NO PERMIT VISIBLE:	$ 3.00	$ 5.00
3. PARKING IN AN IMPROPER CLASSIFICATION LOADING ZONE OR AREAS WITH NO MARKINGS	$ 5.00	$ 10.00
4. PARKING IN A HANDICAPPED, RED ZONE, OR EMERGENCY ZONE ( TOW-AWAY ZONE )	$ 10.00	$ 25.00

AN ADDITIONAL $ 25.00 WILL BE CHARGED WHEN A VEHICLE HAS BEEN TOWED AWAY.

Tow-Away

Vehicles with three or more unpaid citations shall be towed away at the owner's expense unless arrangements have been made with the Campus Police Office for an extension of time to pay fines that are delinquent.

Vehicles will also be towed away if they are illegally parked in a Reserved or Handicapped space or in a loading zone for more than 15 minutes; if they are a hazard to the flow of traffic on paths, walks, parking lots, driveways, or if they impede the work of any maintenance personnel, or block access of any emergency vehicle; or otherwise "out of zone."

Signed by the Committee:

Carrie E. O'Brien
Stanley E. Laughlin

SRJC blood drive set

Santa Rosa Junior College's semi-annual blood drive will be from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. April 27 in the Women's gymnasium.

The drive is cosponsored by the Student Activities Office and The Design Group under the theme, "Mosquito Man Wants You."

Students have set a goal of at least 100 pints of blood during the drive.

Donations may be to the college's blood account or any other fund as well as in the name of an individual.

Fashions to be shown at SRJC

Santa Rosa Junior College's Women's Re-Entry Program and Women's Center are sponsoring a noon fashion show Friday on the steps and walkway in front of the Student Activities Office of Pioneer Hall.

"Strutt'en Your Stuff, Part III" is the show's title.

The show will be held in conjunction with a crafts fair in the same area from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. with craftsmen from throughout California involved.

All fashion models will wear their own creations. Background music will be provided by Warren Dennis of the Electric Piano.

'Strut Your Stuff' Friday

A "Strut Your Stuff" part three fashion show will take place Friday noon at Santa Rosa Junior College, presented by the Associated Students and the Women's Center.

Masters of ceremony will be disc jockey Steve Currie and B. J. Saip of the Women's Center.

PRESENT: G. Grijalva, R. Hollingshead, W. Bowen, G. Dougan, R. Nazarian, R. Triebel, J. LeBaron, Rob McCarter, and Mike Humphrey.

The Parking Committee meeting was held March 6, 1979 at 3:00 p.m. in Room A-81, Bailey Hall. The meeting was called to order by the Chairman, Terry Stewart.

Chairman Stewart reported that no follow-up information has been received in regards to the Parking Committee's proposal that Frontage Road be made a one-way road. The committee agreed that Frontage Road is of the upmost importance in the improvement of the campus parking situation. Mr. Hollingshead stated that he would pursue this matter further.

Chairman Stewart stated that as of the first of the Spring 1979 semester there were approximately 1500 student parking spaces.

It was reported that the new control arms installed in Quinn Lot are working very well.

The visitors' parking area consists of two rows of spaces designated by two sets of poles with a sign. Chairman Stewart stated that there has been a problem with students parking in the visitor parking area. There have been several citizen complaints about not being able to find an available space in this area. Chairman Stewart stated that the campus patrol has been distributing warning notices to students parking in this area and that, hopefully, this problem will soon be lessened.

There was some discussion as to the definition of the term "visitor". It was generally agreed that a "visitor" should be someone making an occasional visit to the campus or a citizen using the swim center or track during a lunch period, etc.

It was suggested that possibly painting visitor spaces green would help define the area. B. Bowen stated that this could be done.

The committee again agreed that the solving of the Frontage Road proposal could solve a lot of problems, especially the visitor situation. T. Stewart and R. Hollingshead agreed to talk with J. Johnson about Frontage Road and also additional signs designating parking areas.

The committee agreed to table the parking fee discussion at this time. At the next meeting parking fees will be finalized.

It was MSC that the parking fee structure be changed as follows:

Taking more than one space:	$3.00
No Permit/No permit displayed:	$5.00
Parking in an improper classification, loading zone or out of zone:	$10.00
Parking in handicapped, red zone or emergency zone (tow-away area):	$25.00

Parking Committee Minutes - March 6, 1979 Continued.....

It was agreed that a tow-away fee would be in addition to, not in lieu of, the $25.00 citation.

Dr. Dougan stated that the proposed fee change be distributed to the Parking Judiciary Board, College Student Assembly, College Council, PHP, Kent Hall Council, Accademic Senate and C.S.E.A. for feed-back. Hopefully, this proposal can be submitted at the June 1979 meeting of the Board of Trustees.

The problem of motorcycle and mo-ped parking on campus was discussed. It was generally agreed that while bicycles, mo-peds and motorcycles should be encouraged due to the vehicle parking problem, the problem of riding on pathways, on the grounds, and parking on pathways should be regulated. Chairman Stewart stated that at the next parking committee meeting a policy for any two-wheeled vehicle will be discussed.

Chairman Stewart adjourned the meeting at 4:20 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Pat Myers

MEMO

Dear Associated Student Body:

April 6, 1979

The Supportive Physical Education program has just been made aware of an extremely fine piece of equipment. We would like to request from the A.S.B. the funds to purchase a tilt table. This piece is valued from 600.00-800.00 dollars. We are fortunate enough to be able to purchase it for only 300.00 dollars.

The function of a tilt table is to enable persons restricted to wheelchairs to stand up, this increases the circulation to all body parts and helps in stretching the muscles of the lower extremities.

The generosity of the A.S.B. to the S.P.E. program over the past several years has been greatly appreciated and remembered. Hopefully this request can be approved.

Sincerely,
John Hassenzahl

- MEETING -

Parking Permits:

All day and evening parking permits are self-adhesive and must be attached to the left rear bumper of the vehicle.

Parking permits are non-transferable. A student who sells a vehicle should first remove the old parking permit and bring it to the Campus Police Office where a new permit will be issued at no additional charge.

Visitor and Temporary Permits:

A visitors parking lot is available to non-students who have business on campus. This lot is located on the west side of the football field. Temporary parking permits are available in the Campus Police Office for visitors and for students who are going to be parking an unregistered vehicle on campus.

Proper Parking of a Vehicle:

Day and Evening College students shall only park their vehicles in a parking space designated by two white lines. Student vehicles parked in any other area, whether marked or not, are illegally parked and are subject to a citation or tow-away.

MEETING

We recommend the following adjusted fines:

	First Two Fines	Three or more
1. TAKING MORE THAN ONE SPACE:	$ 3.00	$ 5.00
2. NO PERMIT OR NO PERMIT VISIBLE:	$ 3.00	$ 5.00
3. PARKING IN AN IMPROPER CLASSIFICATION LOADING ZONE OR AREAS WITH NO MARKINGS	$ 5.00	$ 10.00
4. PARKING IN A HANDICAPPED, RED ZONE, OR EMERGENCY ZONE ( TOW-AWAY ZONE )	$ 10.00	$ 25.00

AN ADDITIONAL $ 25.00 WILL BE CHARGED WHEN A VEHICLE HAS BEEN TOWED AWAY.

Tow-Away

Vehicles with three or more unpaid citations shall be towed away at the owner's expense unless arrangements have been made with the Campus Police Office for an extension of time to pay fines that are delinquent.

Vehicles will also be towed away if they are illegally parked in a Reserved or Handicapped space or in a loading zone for more than 15 minutes; if they are a hazard to the flow of traffic on paths, walks, parking lots, driveways, or if they impede the work of any maintenance personnel, or block access of any emergency vehicle; or otherwise "out of zone."

Dear Friend:

Just thought I'd drop a note to say I appreciate the service you offered our youth during basketball season. We hope you will continue to join us in your basketball and athletic outreach.

We didn't use the special service, yet we are glad it was made available. Hope your athletic program goes as well or better in the future. You are doing a super job.

Thanks for including our youth group.

ADAPTIVE PHYSICAL EDUCATION

April 5, 1979

Mark Marckenny
Student Activities Office

Dear Mark;

In response to our conversation concerning the repairs and maintenance of wheelchairs for the Wheelers and athletes, I am sending you a break down of the expenses to date:

1. Truing of wheels - $180.00
2. Axel kits - 160.20
3. Axel kit adaptors - 72.00
4. Camber bars - 25.00
5. Roller bars - 120.00
6. Tires for 24" wheels - 204.40
7. Tires for small wheels - 35.00
8. Foot rest - 90.00
9. Bearings - 41.00
10. Upholstery - 80.00
- TOTAL - 847.60

This year our expenses for maintenances of the chairs have been highly unusual due to some major repairs. I think that a reasonable expense, based on past years cost, would be between $400.00 and $500.00.

It certainly would be appreciated if ASB could help the program financially toward meeting these very needed wheelchair repair expenses. In the past many wheelchair repairs have not been made because the program had no funds.

Hopefully, this request will be approved. Thank you for your help in the past.

Sincerely,

Johnny Hassenzuhl

SRJC students rally for better wages

Students who attend Santa Rosa Junior College full time and also work on campus have started a campaign for higher wages and a role in how wages are determined.

A noon rally Monday drew about 100 students and other campus people as organizers talked of boosting present work-study pay from about $2.65 an hour to something ranging between $2.95 and $3.50 an hour.

Student Employees Association, a new organization, sponsored the rally and is attempting to organize all college student employees for higher pay and better working conditions.

Representatives of various groups of working students now must meet to decide which directions and wage levels to pursue.

Starting July 1, work-study students will be paid $2.90 an hour — the minimum wage, according to federal directives which govern the program.

About 900 students are involved in various types of jobs on campus ranging from janitorial, tutors, library workers, teacher aides, clerical and athletes in part-time roles.

The student organization called a $2.65 hourly wage "sub-minimum."

The rally, which lasted just under an hour, opened with singer Lennie Anderson offering union organizing songs. Students including Steve Gerstle, Richard Balakian and Robin Oye spoke along with Brian O'Brien, microbiology teacher and president of the campus chapter of the American Federation of Teachers (AFT), according to Pat Hamilton, who works for Oak Leaf, the campus newspaper, and also for campus public information.

Gerstle, who works in the library, proposes seeking $3.50 an hour for all student employees. Balakian favors seeking $2.95 an hour, five cents higher than the minimum wage. Oye, a tutor, also spoke of cramped and noisy working conditions in portable buildings.

Oye also said the student organization had signed about 30 students for membership. The organization wants all student workers to wear a badge reading $2.65 an hour to show the number of student employees and to stress their demand for higher pay.

He said while $2.90 should be considered nothing more than a minimum wage, the "important thing is for students to have more of a role in figuring their wages."

Joe Johnson, assistant dean for administrative services, said the college is not bound to pay the minimum wage under the National Fair

Labor Standards Act, but must advance to $2.90 an hour for work-study students as of July 1, the new fiscal and school year, due to grant guidelines.

Johnson said there are a number of wage rates and varying jobs on campus. In time, work-study students must be paid the existing minimum wage, according to a time formula.

He said the college's option of paying a higher wage during a school year is limited in that the year's budget has been determined. Work study funds, he said, have been budgeted according to federal dollars anticipated.

"We cannot redo the budget in mid-year to reflect an increase," Johnson said, indicating dollar needs already have been taken into consideration through June 30.

Injured officer is back

by Kevin Hill.

After an accident last August in which SRJC campus police officer Manual Mendez lost a leg, he is back on the job and working at a career in law enforcement.

Mendez, standing behind the counter of the campus police headquarters, the sound of the police radio in the background, stated that now everything is back to normal, "except now I don't wear a uniform." He explained that this is because he no longer goes on patrol.

Was it hard coming back to school after the accident?

"No," Mendez said, "when you fall off a horse, you get back on and try again, and that's what I did with working and driving." He added that he is now a dispatcher with the Cotati police force and hopes to become a sheriff's officer after he attains one year's experience.

Between filling out cards for students constantly arriving at the office and consulting with superiors in back offices, Mendez manages to answer more questions.

At first, when I came back, everyone pampered me, but now I just do my job," Mendez said. He explained that other workers would not let him go on errands because they thought he couldn't handle it. "I know there are things I can't do, but I don't think of myself as handicapped," Mendez said. He added that he has a sticker to park in the handicapped parking lot, but he leaves the spaces for people who need them more than he.

He sorted through the records of parking tickets and complained about the incorrect order, then continued talking. "I guess after the disco dance they had for me [to raise money], a lot of people know me. People I have never seen before are always talking to me to see how I am," Mendez said. He explained "the money from the dance helped."

In a moment of inactivity Mendez leaned on the counter and quietly talked about the day of his accident. "I worked the swing shift that day," he recalled. "We chased some guy across campus who just robbed a house. While we chased him he dropped a jewelery box full of stuff," Mendez said. He continued, saying the man got away, but the articles were returned.

Snapping his fingers, Mendez explained that the rest of the day is unclear and fades in and out in flashes. He remembers driving home in his van and seeing a highway patrol car on the side of the freeway. "The car in front of me must have slowed down when he saw the patrol car. When I looked up, I must have panicked," Mendez said. Out of control, his van went across the freeway, and while rolling struck another car.

Mendez took some pictures out of his pocket, showing what his van looked like after the accident. Completely destroyed in the front, one can see the vehicle must have been on its side when the impact occurred. "I'm just glad the girls in the car I hit were not hurt," Mendez said.

After the accident, Mendez attended a rehabilitation center, but has not attended lately because he doubts they have done any good. "The only thing they did for me was pay for my books and give me a few dollars each month for gasoline," Mendez said. "I've accepted my accident, but if I were ever depressed they could help," he explained.

Bloodsucker on campus

by Susan Sciocchetti

"Mosquito Man Wants You" is the theme of this semester's blood drive, sponsored by the Student Activities Office, the Associated Students and the Design Group. The blood drive will be held on Friday, April 27 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the women's gym in Tauzer Gymnasium.

There will be pledge booth in front of the Coop, or pledges may be made in the Student Activities Office.

Any student at SRJC or a member of their family can receive free blood if needed, according to David Herrington, assistant student activities advisor.

For more information on the legend of Mosquito Man or the blood drive, watch the Bear Facts or contact the SAO.

"After all, 10 billion mosquitos can't be wrong," claimed Herrington.

Everyone likes to know someone famous. At parties, the favorite pastime is almost always name dropping. People usually research their family tree to find out what famous people belong to their family. During a casual evening's get-together, people are likely to spend much of their time comparing who knows who.

When it comes right down to it, I'm no exception. There is a certain amount of respect people give one when one says s/he used to go to school, work or the like with someone famous. They act as though by knowing someone in the limelight, some of the good fortune they have had will rub off on others.

Take, for instance, the recent event that had the Oak Leaf in a state of utopia. Our regular advisor, Cathy Mitchell, and her husband David, won a Pulitzer Prize for their coverage of Synanon in their paper The Point Reyes Light.

Both Cathy, who we hope will be back next semester, and the Oak Leaf seemed to go up about 50 points in everyone's estimation once the news got around. That includes our estimation of ourselves. Having a Pulitzer winner as an advisor does raise one's morale.

I met a former Oak Leaver downtown the other day and told him the good news. There were a few people standing nearby waiting for the bus. They didn't really pay any attention to us until I said, "Pulitzer Prize," then everyone was listening to what we said. Some people were trying not to be obvious; others didn't try to hide their interest at all.

But there is more than the popularity that goes with knowing someone famous. There is also the pleasure of knowing that person.

Cathy has been a great asset to the journalism class (although at times we cussed her like we've cussed other teachers), the school and my own life. She is not only a teacher, but a friend. She took a personal interest in everyone and never made us feel like we were just part of the herd.

Almost as much as we shared her joy, we shared her sorrow. Though she often tried to hide it from us, it is hard to work with a person almost everyday and not know when they are upset.

Not only did we see Cathy and David's joy when they won the Pulitzer, we saw the uncertainty when they first started covering Synanon. We saw the fear as more and more stories of beatings and lawsuits developed. Through it all, Cathy managed to be the publisher of two papers [theirs and ours], a teacher, and hold her own life together. We saw the courage of real journalists who saw that there was something the public should know about and printed it even though they were putting themselves in danger.

Cathy and David did more than win a Pulitzer. They gave journalism students someone to be proud of. It may sound hoaky, but in this day and age there are few people to look up to.

Congratulations, Cathy and David. You did a fantastic job, and we're proud of you. And thank you Cathy, for what you have done for us.

When the student employees at SRJC under such programs as work experience education received pay raises that brought them to the $2.65 minimum wage of the time, those who worked for the raise considered it a victory, and at the time of the raise it was. The issue facing the SRJC administration and community at large now is this: was the raise a true victory for student employees at SRJC, or was it a mere appeasement to quiet angry employees who could no longer live on $2.50 an hour and would shut up if they were fed a $2.65 tidbit?

Almost as soon as the student wage went up here, the federal minimum wage, which is the determiner for the student wage, rose to $2.90. This put SRJC back into the dark ages when the minimum wage had been at $2.50 only a short while before.

Claiming they can do nothing until July, which marks the beginning of a new fiscal year, the SRJC administration has kept the wage here at $2.65. Rules are rules, and if nothing can be done to remedy the crisis now, we should at least plan for the future now by working for higher wages for next July.

As several lawyers reviewing the case for the $2.65 wage mentioned, a precedent of minimum wage-equal pay for students is important if such raises are not going to represent fund-threatening illegalities in the face of Proposition 13 laws governing such pay. We feel that such a precedent has been set, and so must have the school's counsel when he allowed the first hike.

Yet, another debate pertaining to this issue seemingly presents itself to us now, too. Are student employees all worth the same wage, and if so, are they worth only the minimum wage? We hope the combined forces of student government and united student employees here can strive to solve these questions as soon as possible.

Hopefully, by the time this issue comes to an end, SRJC will emerge as good a place for student to work as it is, and has been for students to learn. It would be a shame for students going here to lose out on an education just because their job paid them a wage they couldn't survive on.

SRJC student Richard Balekian spoke out against the below-minimum $2.65 wage that SRJC student employees get during a rally held in front of the Student Activities Office on April 23. "I think this [the student wage situation] is inequitable. What we're asking Dr. Mikalson and the administration to do is to clean up what's wrong with this society at this school," Balekian said. Balekian said he would like to see the administration anticipate the raise in the minimum wage scheduled for Jan. 1, 1980 and when they have to raise the student wage on July 1, 1979 to raise it to the 1980 minimum wage instead of just to the current minimum. ## news briefs

"Towards a Nuclear Free Future" is the name of SO NO More Atomics' series of Saturday night lectures featuring local speakers presenting new information on alternative energy. The lectures will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the SONOMA Office, 138 South Main St., Sebastopol. For more information call 829-1864.

At the special board meeting of April 19, the SRJC Board of Trustees approved SRJC's move into a joint-powers self-insurance agreement among Sonoma County schools. The change from State Compensation Insurance will save SRJC money in the long run, according to Bill Wilber, dean of business services.

After the noon rally Monday, 25 of the estimated 900 student-employees at SRJC signed up with the Student Employees Association ad hoc group trying to get better wages and working conditions for student workers at SRJC. The group will meet on Mondays at noon. For information, contact Steve Gerstle through the library.

The SRJC Christians on Campus, in conjunction with the SSU Christian Fellowship, are designating April 21-28 as "Feed Your Neighbor Week." The groups will emphasize the pressing issue of world hunger by holding seminars on inter-related political, economic, social and ecological facets of global hunger as well as working together to generate relief to starving people in the world.

The goal of the combined clubs is to raise some $1,500 to go toward that fight. That sum would provide some 100 families currently at starvation level with food for a week.

Santa Rosa Junior College

The attached documents represent the final statements adopted by the Mission & Goals Task Force regarding the philosophy, mission and goals of Santa Rosa Junior College. These documents will be submitted to the Santa Rosa Junior College Board of Trustees on May 14, 1979 for their consideration.

Comments regarding these items may be submitted to the Board of Trustees through the office of the President.

PHILOSOPHY

Santa Rosa Junior College holds that its primary function is the development of intellectual curiosity, integrity, and accomplishment. The College further holds that it is in an atmosphere of intellectual freedom, academic excellence, and discipline that students can best grow to understand moral, aesthetic, social, and economic values. Informed citizenship for the community will be developed through academic freedom.

THE MISSION

Santa Rosa Junior College will provide opportunities for all those who wish to benefit from its educational program. The special needs of the community must be met--taking into consideration the constantly changing requirements of the area served by the College. Everyone, regardless of age, sex, race, ethnic, socioeconomic, cultural, or educational background, will be invited to participate. A special emphasis will be put upon eliminating economic and psychological barriers to college attendance. Community colleges must be multi-purpose institutions as citizens in today's society have widely differing educational needs. Santa Rosa Junior College recognizes that education can come in many shapes and forms.

- 1) A transfer program equivalent to the lower division curriculum of universities and colleges for students who plan to continue their higher education.
- 2) An occupational program to provide technical skills and related instruction for beginning employment, retraining, and advancement.
- 3) A general education program offering intellectual and social experiences for the development of skills, attitudes, and values needed by each student in realizing his/her full potential as an individual in a free society.
- 4) A developmental program to assist students who may enter the college inadequately prepared in one or more areas so that they may successfully undertake college course work related to their fields of interest.

- 5) A guidance program of vocational, educational, and personal counseling to assist students in the selection and pursuit of careers compatible with their interests and abilities.
- 6) A community service program to assist in meeting the cultural, educational, and vocational needs of the community.
- 7) A student activities program to provide opportunities for the development of personal and social responsibility.

INTERDISTRICT MEMO

RECEIVED

MAY 4 1979

S.R.J.C. Student Activities Office

Date: May 2, 1979
To: Associated Student Body
From: William R. Wilber, Dean of Business Services

We have received a communication from a group identifying themselves as the Student Employees Association.

The communication deals with student employee wage rates and requests that student wages be raised retroactively to January 1, 1979 at a rate of $3.65 per hour. The communication was phrased in the form of a demand with an offer to negotiate.

Through this communication to the ASB government, the entity that the Administration recognizes as representing the students on campus, we wish to inform you that a committee has started reviewing the student wage question.

In accordance with Federal Guidelines, the District intends to raise the student payroll wage to the $2.90 per hour minimum wage on July 1, 1979. As I am sure the officers of the student government are aware, through the efforts of Don Hoefs, the District is in compliance with the Federal Guidelines when paying $2.65 per hour to the College Work Study Program students and, through Board action, elected to pay all students at the $2.65 per hour wage rate for the balance of the 1978/79 fiscal year.

The committee formed to study the student wage question will be reviewing comparative wages paid on other college campuses and variable wage rate levels related to special training areas.

* One-hundred dollars of this figure to be used for Women's Week Activities.

NOTE: Proposals are being prepared by the district which would require all students to pay a mandatory health fee. In addition, there may be a proposal by the district to raise the student parking fee and to alter the parking fee discount now given to members of the Associated Students. These proposals, if implicated, could have a severe impact on the student body card sales income of the Associated Students. If the sales of the student body card drop significantly, the budget of the Associated Students will be reexamined and altered to meet the decrease in income.

CHANGE ORDER 6 - DOYLE STUDENT CENTER

Char: Ann 1
J. Johnson

When remodeling the wall finishes in the Lounge and Game Room, the existing substance on the wall was found to be asbestos. This material must be removed in compliance with new Health regulations.

The remaining items on this change order are related to opening the new kitchen and installation of District equipment in the remodeled facility. An additional 220 power outlet was required, along with a cold water line, and an additional drain. In addition, some revisions in the layout and operations of the kitchen necessitated expansion of the exhaust hoods and relocation of the ceiling access panels.

When the move was taking place, it was discovered that several areas that were not required to be repainted in the remodeling contract would have to be repainted because of the wear and tear on existing surfaces and due to the fact that remodeling the center generated additional wear and tear.

ADMINISTRATIVE RECOMMENDATION

That the Board of Trustees approve Change Order 6 for the Doyle Student Center, adding $10,088.36 to the cost of the project, and revising the contract sum to $1,065,101.81.

Proposed resolution from CSA to the Board of Trustees

As involved members of the SRJC campus community, we recognize the need for the Board of Trustees and the administration to set long-term goals for the college with the advice of others within the college community.

We therefore request that the Board of Trustees hold a special public meeting to review the proposed goals of the Missions and Goals Task Force, so that Board decisions on these proposals can be based on input from those who are in daily contact with the school.

We also wish to voice our support for the follow goals included in the final Missions and Goals Task Force documents:

- 9 Develop and maintain a decision-making process which includes faculty, staff, student and administrative involvement appropriate with college policies and state legislation.
- 10 Emphasize the importance of involving students in the governance of the institution. Reinforce the current avenues for involvement and seek out new and innovative methods for student impact on the decision making process of the college.
- 13 Develop an effective flow of communications among the Board of Trustees, administration, faculty, staff and students to minimize unilateral decisions.
- 14 Establish an on-going series of forums which would include faculty, staff, students, administrators and trustees.
- 19 Recognize and reward outstanding performance of faculty, staff, students and administration.
- 26 Insure an effective administrative evaluation system, including faculty, students and staff.
- 27 Insure an effective evaluation of staff members, including evaluation by peers.
- 35 Meet the needs of students who enroll in SRJC for self-improvement.
- 39 Insure an effective faculty evaluation system including student evaluation of instructors

- 56 & 81 Provide the same programs and services for evening students as are provided for day students.
- 73 Emphasize the educational importance of the extracurricular and co-curricular activities of the college and continue to provide adequate staff and financial support for these activities.
- 74 Encourage, promote, and support student involvement in the activities of both the campus and the general communities.
- 76 Provide comprehensive guidances, counseling and other student services, including financial aid and employment services to encourage educational opportunities for any and all who have been educationally deprived.
- 79 Provide courses, programs and services for physically limited students and students with learning difficulties.
- 83 Encourage the Board of Trustees and administration to allow time, personnel and budget for adequate management of a diverse community services program.

Statement from Missions and Goals Task Force member Pat Hamilton:

There are many worthwhile goals included in the Task Force statement which are not included here. The above are the ones I feel would meet the most resistance from others in the campus community and feel therefore that student government should make some effort to support, since they are for the most part directly related to students.

By SUSAN SWARTZ

ROHNERT PARK — Student government at Sonoma State University, a casualty of the student protest movement and absent on campus since 1970, is coming back to life.

A draft of a constitution for an Associated Students body, written by a student committee, received approval Friday from California State University and Colleges Chancellor Glen Dumke. College president Peter Diamandopoulos is expected to sign it Monday and then it will be presented to the students for ratification, probably by May 21.

Diamandopoulos could not be reached for comment, but the student committee is optimistic he will add his blessings since he's okayed every other draft sent to the chancellor's office. The one approved Friday was the seventh revision.

The Associated Students dissolved itself in the spring of 1970 after the student body voted to end the mandatory fees which supported student government as well as other student activities including the campus newspaper.

Students felt their power on campus had diminished, and abolishing student government was considered one way of protesting.

The president of the Associated Students, Jim Gillette encouraged the vote. He was quoted, "Want to do something revolutionary without a demonstration or confrontation? Overthrow your stupid government."

The protest was linked to troubles with the campus newspaper. The school had frozen funding for the paper, the center of a campus and community hassle for more than a year, because of its radical anti-war sentiments and counter culture posture.

Critics of the newspaper, which included the board of trustees, were outraged because of articles which included how to grow marijuana, photographs of local narcotic officers, the use of four letter words and revolutionary rhetoric. But the biggest hassle was over the publication of nude and semi-nude photographs.

In justifying the nude photos, one woman protestor said "the body is art and not a piece of meat you can send off to war."

The controversy also reportedly led to the resignation of the college president, Ambrose Nichols.

Sam Clauder, a junior at the college and a spokesman for the constitution committee, said Saturday if the document is approved, student body officers will be elected at the beginning of the fall semester.

He said the constitution calls for two bodies, an executive body of seven persons elected at large and a legislative body, the Assembly of Representatives. The assembly will include at least one student representative for each academic department, two for large departments.

A campus intercouncil alliance will include each student who sits on any council or committee at the school. It will be the intermediary between the student association and all policy making committees.

A student organization alliance will be made up of representatives of all clubs, to supervise how the clubs conduct themselves, what funding they receive and how it's spent.

The question of funding for Associated Students, possibly by reinstating student fees, will not be decided until next fall in a student election, said Clauder. He said $17 is already charged in student union fees which could be considered as a funding source. "The issue is still too hot to put to a vote now," he said.

There have been several attempts to revive a student governing body since the mid-70s. In 1976 a poll showed 70 percent of students wanted some kind of government.

Clauder explained the need. "Students have felt they had no say. There has been no centrally organized group to represent students and we've had no active hand in seeing that grievances are handled fairly and objectively.

"There has been no participation in policies established by the academic departments. One of the biggest concerns is that there's been no one with direct authority over the clubs and activities."

Rain won't stop SSU, SRJC festivities

Rain or shine, homecoming and open houses will be held today at Santa Rosa Junior College and Sonoma State University.

At each event there will be music and food, arts and craft shows and sales and student guided tours.

Schedules and maps will be available at SRJC at the information booth near the outdoor stage near Burbank Hall and at SSU at the information kiosk in the center of campus.

SRJC highlights include:

"Day Under the Oaks" competition, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Noon — American Indian dance-ing, outdoor stage.

2 p.m. — Ballet, museum lawn.

3 p.m. — Spring concert, Newman auditorium.

10 a.m. to 6 p.m. — Annual plant sale by agriculture department students.

At Sonoma State:

10:30 a.m. — "Hub to Campus" race, starting at the Hub in Cotati.

1 p.m. — Earthquake discussion, Darwin Hall.

1:45 p.m. — Tour of botanical gardens. Also at 2:30 and 3:15 p.m.

5 p.m. — Jazz concert, upstairs lobby, Student Union.

It's election time again, and I would like to personally ask each one of you to stop, look, listen, question, and vote for the candidate of your choice. Those elected will take over the responsibilities and duties of the present officers, and will continue to work on behalf of all students that attend S.R.J.C.

Let me introduce myself, my name is Don Hoefs and I am running for the office of Student Body President. I feel that I am a very optimistic person, and I feel that things can happen on this campus to benefit all students if we are willing to work together to see them happen.

If elected I will strive to improve communication between students within student government, and especially between student government and students at large. I feel that open communication with you, the students on campus, is an important factor in making decisions that will affect all students. To achieve this open communication with you I will: 1) Encourage representatives and commissioners to have continuing communication with students at large, as well as with myself; 2) I will write and distribute a statement to you concerning my actions, thoughts, and feelings about student government, students at large and the administration, monthly; and 3) I will personally walk around campus and communicate verbally with you, the students, and let you know who your elected officers are in student government and what they are doing. I feel that students should know at all times what is happening on and around campus, and if students don't know their representatives in student government, how can we have this sort of communication?

After serving as Student Body President in the Fall of 1978, and taking this past semester off, away from student government, I have learned the needs of students and feel that I am now more qualified to serve in the position of Student Body President. I ask your support to help me make student government better for all.

Elect someone who wants the job and will do it!

THE LOOK OF A CHAMPION . . .
SRJC Swim Coach Bob Miyashiro

—Staff Photos

FREMONT—The question was whether Santa Rosa Junior College's superstars could overcome Diablo Valley's depth, and the Bear Cubs answered resoundingly here Saturday as they easily out-distanced DVC to win the 1979 women's state junior college swim championship.

The Santa Rosa women added three more victories Saturday—Laura DuMont in the 100 freestyle, Mary Lightfoot in the 50 backstroke, and DuMont, Terry Kraemer, Lightfoot and Martha Menth in the 400 free relay—to pull away from the defending state champs, rolling up 314 points to DVC's 260. Foothill was third with 170 points, and Santa Monica fourth with 170.

It was the second state championship for an SRJC team this year, the Santa Rosa football team having won its state title in November with a Bay Bowl victory over DeAnza.

The Santa Rosa men's team placed 12th in their division, as Diablo Valley easily won the men's championship with 493 points to 231 for second-place Foothill.

Golden West finished third in the men's race with 147 points and West Valley was fourth. Santa Rosa finished with 53 points.

The difference for the SRJC women was their excellent performance in the relay events.

"We had to make up the advantage DVC owned in the diving and we did," explained Santa Rosa coach Bob Miyashiro. "That was the difference. We won all four of them."

Miyashiro was naturally pleased with the performance. All season long his women's team had been ranked alongside the defending champion DVC club and even a dual meet victory over Diablo Valley last month only fueled the rivalry.

The DVC women had said that their divers, who didn't compete against SRJC in the dual meet, would more than make up for the difference in the state meet, which just about everybody viewed as a two-team race. But before it was over, SRJC's superstar swimmers had reduced it to a one-team race

SHAUNA PEDDICORD HELPED LEAD JC SWIMMERS TO STATE TITLE

Santa Rosa's Swimmers Surprised Everyone With The Lopsided Win

—and it belonged to the Bear Cubs.

In Saturday's final round, DuMont won the 100 free in 54.7, Lightfoot captured the 50 backstroke in 29.21 and Santa Rosa won their fourth relay event—the 400 free—in 3:41.14.

The Santa Rosa women, trailing DVC 82-67 following Thursday's first round, jumped into the lead Friday with four first place finishes, including a national junior college record in the 200 free relay, a victory in the 400 medley relay and individual wins by Kraemer, who set new meet and SRJC records in the 50 freestyle, and Lightfoot, who won the 100 backstroke.

DuMont, Menth, Shari Lopeman and Kraemer combined for a new national mark of 1:40.04 in the 200 free relay; Lightfoot, Lopeman, Shauna Peddicord and Menth teamed for the 400 medley relay win in 4:11.85; Kraemer's winning 50 free time was 24.90, and Lightfoot's 100 backstroke clocking was 1:02.59.

DuMont placed second behind Kraemer in the 50 free in 25.35, with Menth placing 12th in 29.94, and Kraemer was sixth and DuMont seventh in the 200 free won by Roxanne John of American River.

For the Santa Rosa men Friday, Tom Fristoe set a new SRJC record in finishing eighth in the 400 individual medley with 4:15.68 clocking, Vince Morales set a new school standard in placing sixth in the 100 fly in 52.57, and Brian Mauer was ninth in the 100 backstroke at 56.00.

Eric I. Anderson - Treasurer: "Having managed a business worth $150,000 a year, I feel I have the knowledge and experience necessary for handling the position of ASB Treasurer. To me, the most important economic issue facing SRJC is the necessity of getting at least the minimum wage for student employees, and I will work on that. I am also concerned with teacher evaluation and with overcoming the communications barriers that now exist between students, faculty and the administration."

Vote for Constructive Change

While working together to stop the student government's lawsuit against the college, we found we can work effectively together and decided to endorse one another in this election. Though we do not necessarily agree on all issues, we share a common commitment to finding constructive ways of making changes.

Martin McClure - Student Trustee: "As student trustee I will work to establish a student grievance procedure, lobby for a college radio station, seek to improve campus security and work for better communication between students, faculty, administrators and the Board of Trustees. I am currently a member of student government, of the College Council, and the Accreditation Steering Committee, as well as being active on the Speech Team. In high school I was student representative to the Santa Rosa Board of Education and Student Body President. With your support on May 16 I look forward to working for and with you!"

Pat Hamilton - President: "Caring about the people and the future of SRJC, I want the chance to work as ASB President to help solve some of the problems I see here. My main concerns center on how people are treated at SRJC and on the quality of education here. As a former editor of both the Oak Leaf and the Night Owl, as a member of the Missions and Goals Task Force and as a current member of the student government, I feel I have the background and knowledge to do the job."

PAT HAMILTON - President

ERIC I. ANDERSON - Treasurer

SCOT STEGEMAN - Executive Vice President

DAVID THOMAS - Vice President

MARTIN MC CLURE - Student Trustee

BARBARA MORGAN - Corresponding Secretary

BEN PEARSON - Sophomore Representative

Scot Stegeman - Executive Vice President:

"The job of student government is to represent the students and protect their interests. I am running for Executive Vice President because I feel the student governments in the past did not meet this responsibility. As Executive Vice President, I will support a student bill of rights which would include a student grievance policy, advance the faculty evaluation project and insure that it will be continued on a regular basis and increase student input on issues so that student government can represent the students."

Student Government Elections

Wednesday, May 16 10 a.m. - 7 p.m.

Our Shared Intentions Are

- Working to get at least the minimum wage for student employees.
- Working to create more recognition of and reward for students' efforts and contributions to the campus community.
- Making permanent a program of student evaluation of instructors and counselors, conducted in cooperation with the instructional and counseling departments.
- Opening more facilities for the use of evening students so they, too, can get more of what they pay for.
- Building respect for and sensitivity to the student voice so that future decisions here might be made on the basis of human needs rather than strictly on dollars and cents.
- Working to gain full rights for the student member of the Board of Trustees.
- Keeping in contact with the general student body to be sure we are acting in the best interests of the students we represent and with their support.
- Increasing services for students and making information on existing services more readily available.
- Creating a greater sense of community with all groups on campus, uniting all in an effort to work together with mutual consideration and respect.
- Working for a thorough reevaluation of and, as necessary, rewriting of district policy to reflect a greater recognition of the human rights and needs of all groups in the campus community.
- Increasing student government contact with the legislature to help insure that the law reflects more awareness and consideration of students' realities and needs.
- Making sure that all areas of the campus are accessible to handicapped students.
- Working to have unfair policies regarding instructors changed and more equitable policies established.

Ben Pearson - Sophomore Representative:

"Student government should reflect what the students want. As a sophomore representative I will work to make sure student government listens to the people it is supposed to represent. Last semester I was a representative in student government, so I know how the student government works and how to work in it."

Barbara Morgan - Corresponding Secretary:

As Corresponding Secretary I would work on establishing better communication between students, faculty and the administration. I will keep students informed as to what their student government is doing. I feel I can accomplish these things through my experience as secretary in high school as well as being employed on campus in the Community Services office. Part of my job as Corresponding Secretary would be to keep in touch with the other colleges in our area to gain information which could add to our student government. Vote for constructive change. Vote for Barbara Morgan.

David Thomas - Vice President: "Basically, I am running for the office of ASB Vice President to help make SRJC a better experience for all concerned. Interest in the areas of student employee wages, instructor evaluations and communication among the students, faculty and administrators was instrumental in my decision to run for this position. These issues are important to many students, as they are to me. Vote for constructive change."

STUDENT WAGES - First draft proposal

The following proposal is not a request for an across-the-board raise for student employees. It is a request that the college recognize and reward the contributions of individual students to the college.

Many of the jobs performed on campus by students are necessary and the district would have to pay more to have these jobs done by non-students, for whom--unlike for students--the district receives no outside compensation such as federal (College Work Study) or state (Work Experience Education ADA) funds.

Generally, there is at this time no method by which the college rewards a student employee who stays with a job, improves in it and thereby becomes a more useful, valuable worker in the college community. Since the school's size alone prevents providing much in the way of personal recognition for the vast majority of student workers, it would seem that financial recognition is the only satisfactory way to provide adequate positive reinforcement for a job well done.

There are two main reasons students take jobs on campus.

First, many students find it easier to work an on-campus job around a class schedule than to work a class schedule around an off-campus job.

Second, many student prefer to work on campus because they see it as a way to be more active, valuable members of the campus community, either through the jobs themselves or through other activities in which the close proximity of their work makes greater participation possible.

Among the things that make Santa Rosa Junior College an outstanding school are the excellence of student efforts in such activities as the athletics teams, aggie judging team, forensics team and the student newspaper. There are students here who would like to make more of a contribution to the campus community than they do, but often because they must support themselves find they cannot take the time to become involved in non-paying activities on campus.

Some others, with a higher degree of commitment to the school, find ways to scrape by on a low standard of living so that they can make such contributions to their area of the campus and be more active members of the college community.

Many student workers here, lacking both a livable wage and adequate recognition for their efforts either paid or non-paid, feel that they are being used unfairly by the school. And it is detrimental for the school to leave so many people feeling used, feeling that their labors here are not fully appreciated.

Those in power often say that if students don't like the wages they can go somewhere else and earn more. It is for this reason that student employment suffers from such a high turnover rate. The high turnover rate is as harmful to the efficiency and productivity of the student work force as such high turnover rates are to any private enterprise. In such areas as tutoring, reading papers and office work it contributes to a negative impact on both the quality of education at SRJC and to the general functioning of the school.

Adoption of this proposal would not constitute a large expenditure by the district and the cost would be no greater than the benefits that would accrue.

STUDENT WAGES - First draft proposal

By paying students a fair wage and offering them a reason to stay with the same jobs, the district would see a reduction in the rate of turnover in student workers. This would benefit the district in a number of ways.

First, by maintaining more consistency in student staffing, classified employees and instructors would have to spend less time in training new help, thus freeing them to continue performing their own duties for the school.

Second, experienced employees are more capable of self-direction than new employees. A student worker who knows the job, who can walk in and perform the tasks assigned, without constant supervision, is an asset to the department and the school.

The Request Proper

It is requested that the Sonoma County Junior College District adopt a policy recognizing that:

and providing that:

In order to reward continuing service to the school and to recognize the talents and training student employees bring with them, the Sonoma County Junior College District establishes a stepped pay scale, beginning with the current minimum wage, for student employees based on the skills needed for each position and the continuity of the student employee's service to the college.

and stipulating that:

So that the district is assured unearned raises are not given and so student employees may learn from their jobs, student employees shall be evaluated by their supervisors at the end of each year's employment.

STUDENT WAGES - First draft proposal

The pay scale

Class 1 - $2.90; 2.95; 3.00 - General labor, non-defined

Class 2 - $3.00; 3.10; 3.15 - Cafeteria
Custodial File clerk
Receptionist
Switchboard operator
Warehouse

Class 3 - $3.15; 3.25; 3.30 - Accounting clerk
Audio visual/general
Clerk typist Grounds worker
Key punch
Library aide

Class 4 - $3.30; 3.40; 3.45 - Audio visual/electronics technician
Lab assistants/TA Models
Tutors/readers

Class 5 - $3.45; 3.55; 3.60 - Artists/designers/photographers
Bus drivers
Life guards
Security officers
Student supervisors

STUDENT WAGES - First draft proposal

Traditional arguments and responses to them

Everytime the issue of student pay increases arises, the same basic arguments against increases are offered.

Among these arguments are 1) "There are only so many dollars to go around; to pay more is to hire fewer students"; 2) "If the school pays more than it does now, it will be in competition with the outside job market"; 3) "Many of the student jobs on campus are just make-work jobs."

Looking at these three arguments, there seems an inconsistency in approach to the issue of student employment on campus. While it appears that few jobs are make-work, if they are, the college is already competing with the outside job market. In addition, if many of the jobs are makework, the hiring of fewer students because of higher wages would have no effect on necessary work done for the college.

Other arguments against paying students more are "Students are transient and are not dependable employees"; "Students cannot be trusted with confidential information, money or facilities"; and "Students are in training."

It is true that a student first entering a job is in training. However, for a great many jobs on campus, student employees must bring with them some level of previous training and skills. Under this proposal, student employees would receive financial recognition and reward for learning, improving and continuing in a job.

The myth that students cannot be trusted with confidential information, money or facilities is common, but not borne out by reality. Students do, at this time, perform well in highly sensitive areas of the campus.

Two other considerations against pay raises are "Students are here to get an education, not to make money" and "What do you do with a student employee who may be a nice guy and may be where he should be when he should be, who is trying but just isn't doing the job?".

While it is true that a student's primary reason for going to school should be to get an education, to use this as justification for paying students a low wage does not seem to take into account that many student employees here are responsible for their own livelihood, that they must feed, clothe and house themselves and that low wages often dictate they must take on a second job, thereby further reducing the time they have to spend on what is supposedly their main goal: getting an education.

If students are indeed to learn from their experiences in their jobs here, they need some feedback on their performances. The evaluation portion of this proposal would allow for that feedback and at the same time help to assure that the district does not find itself paying for something it is not getting.

The school is not providing a learning experience for student employees if it doesn't set standards and then evaluate how well the employee has lived up to these standards.

STUDENT WAGES - First draft proposal

For the "nice guy" who tries but cannot do the given job, the school would perhaps do better to help him find a job on or off campus that is more in line with his own abilities and interests.

The last traditional argument to be dealt with here is "There are limits to what students can earn under College Work Study."

There are indeed limits to what students can earn from that program. But they are not limited to earning that amount. At times, SRJC does hire students who are neither on College Work Study nor on Work Experience Education. It would seem that once a student has completely diminished the grant available from the CWS program, the student could be paid then on an alternate program.

To hire and pay first from programs that provide the school with income is a responsible decision. To use this as a reason for not paying student employees a fair wage and for not recognizing students' effort for the school, however, contributes to the all-too-common feeling that students are used by SRJC, doing necessary jobs for low pay and bringing in money for the school at the same time.

- I. President Karen Watson called the meeting to order at 3:15.
- II. The following listing were absent: Bill Kadaway, Mike Mumphy, Charles Hamack, Dan Ford, Carl Reifensien, and Sharon Tyrrell.
- III. The agenda was approved with no changes.
- IV. The minutes were approved with no changes.
- V. Reports:
  - a. A handout sheet for those interested in working at the election table on May 16 was passed around.
  - b. Mr. Canevari told members that America Magazine arrived and was being distributed at different areas around campus.
  - c. Gene and David told members that A Day Under The Oaks was a success, until it started raining. It was fun, and a good time, and those who didn't go, should have.
  - d. Mr. Canevari gave members a copy of the final Mission and Goals Task Force Report and asked people to read it. They hoped their efforts are worth while to others.
  - e. Volunteers to work at the fountain dedication were asked for and four or five people said they'd do so.
  - f. After much discussion and the withdrawal of a motion Rob McCarter told members that he'd get more input on 'Shaft the Draft' before he asked CSA to support this effort one way or the other.
  - g. Karen pointed out to members that after the ASD's effort to change the policy of the fee schedule that the summer school fee schedule, for the most part, follows a dollar per unit minus one dollar charge per class. It was reported that those teachers who didn't report a appropriate fee for their class, had their fees guessed for them. It was the consensus of the group to find out why Board Policy has been broken.
- VI. Appointments:
  - a. Betsy Hoffstadter's resignation form from the Affirmative Action Committee was accepted.
  - b. Merri Ballietti and Stanley were appointed the the Affirmative Action Committee.
  - c. Kim Oakley was appointed to handle all the Publicity Commissioners Duties during elections, that have to do with elections.
- VII. Old Business:
  - a. The $2500 budget change was accepted (from Hospital Ins. to Student Services).

Trustees hold to student wage

Students have demanded and picketed for more, but Santa Rosa Junior College officials are holding to a plan to raise the campus student wage to the $2.90 an hour minimum July 1.

Currently, wage levels for student employees vary with $2.65 an hour paid to those in work study, according to federal guidelines.

The federal mandate calls for work study wages to jump to the minimum wage level July 1.

Bill Wilber said the college had been studying wage levels even before students began demanding higher pay and better working conditions.

Wilber, who heads the college's business services, said all areas of student employment will receive the minimum wage starting July 1.

Students working on campus recently formed the Student Employees Association and demanded a raise to a wage of $2.95 to $3.65 an hour retroactive to Jan. 1.

Initial association demands for higher pay were met with a college position that the 1978-79 budget is based on committed funds and a blanket raise would require use of new funds which were not available.

Since the first demand, the student organization has demanded $3.65 an hour retroactive to Jan. 1, an opening of all campus areas to student employees, improved maintenance of tools and a full hour's pay for tutors of students who fail to show up for sessions.

Following that list of demands, the organization Monday and Tuesday conducted an informational picket line in front of Bailey Hall.

Entertainment

Fashions to be shown at SRJC

Santa Rosa Junior College's Women's Re-Entry Program and Women's Center are sponsoring a noon fashion show Friday on the steps and walkway in front of the Student Activities Office of Pioneer Hall.

"Strutt'en Your Stuff, Part III" is the show's title.

The show will be held in conjunction with a crafts fair in the same area from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. with craftsmen from throughout California involved.

All fashion models will wear their own creations. Background music will be provided by Warren Dennis of the Electric Piano.

'Strut Your Stuff' Friday

A "Strut Your Stuff" part three fashion show will take place Friday noon at Santa Rosa Junior College, presented by the Associated Students and the Women's Center.

Masters of ceremony will be disc jockey Steve Currie and B. J. Saip of the Women's Center.

The show will take place in front of the Student Activities Office on campus.

SRJC blood drive set

Santa Rosa Junior College's semi-annual blood drive will be from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. April 27 in the Women's gymnasium.

The drive is cosponsored by the Student Activities Office and The Design Group under the theme, "Mosquito Man Wants You."

Students have set a goal of at least 100 pints of blood during the drive.

Donations may be to the college's blood account or any other fund as well as in the name of an individual.

Students demand fair pay

by Joe Damato

With the battle cry of "Aren't we worth more than $2.65 an hour?" the Student Employee Association is attempting to gather momentum in an effort to get their demands for more money and better working conditions met for student employees at SRJC.

Robin Oye, chair of the committee which consisted of five other students present, discussed strategy at their Monday meeting. That strategy finally arrived at included handing out fliers and delivering a list of demands to the administration.

After a half-hour and one attempt to expell an Oak Leaf reporter because as Oye put it, "I consider the Oak Leaf an adversary," the committee came up with a list of demands. Those demands include a pay raise from $2.65 an hour to $3.65 an hour for several reasons.

Bob Gannon, a janitor at the Los Guillicos facility felt the school wasn't paying enough to pay for transportation from Santa Rosa.

Other demands of the administration include retroactive pay from the first of the year if the pay raise is approved, same facility use on the job between students and faculty and pay for a full hour's work in COIL even if a student needing tutoring doesn't use the full hour.

One of the members discussed the possibility of having a picket line to gather the energy they feel is needed to persuade the administration that they mean business.

The organization also must confront the problem of cutbacks on student employment at SRJC which could take place this summer. "We've got to get with the administration before school gets out" remarked a member.

A must for Sunday

AN UNUSUAL EVENT will occur Sunday in Sonoma County.

Sonoma State University and Santa Rosa Junior College will join to host open house programs.

It will be an opportunity for taxpayers to see how their money is spent in providing higher education for our area.

ON BOTH CAMPUSES there will be displays, tours, demonstrations and musical and sports events. In other words, something for everyone.

We hope you will take advantage of this opportunity to acquaint yourself with the outstanding institutions of higher learning we have in our county.

AND WE THANK YOU, SSU and SRJC, for giving all of us this opportunity to form a closer alliance with you.

by Pat Hamilton

Somewhere between blowing up buildings and working from inside the system lies the key to making real changes in our society.

The sixties were a radically different time, but in many ways they didn't change things--at least, not the things that needed changing the most.

A lot of the sixties radicals decided they would work from inside the system and were co-opted into it.

But once inside, life becomes easier. The dollars are in less short supply and a basic rule of human nature takes over. The more we have, the more we want. And with a foot on that road, we often lose our ideals.

I've watched a number of the old time radicals here, and instead of working diligently--but peacefully--from inside the system, they have given up.

They either decide, for one reason or another, that they shouldn't try to change things, or they sit grumbling in corners without being willing to risk their secure niches in search of something better.

And what lies between the extremes of bombs and selling out?

To me, it seems that to work with those in the system, without becoming too dependent or too much a part of the system, is the most effective way to go.

Making threats and demands or throwing bombs only deafens people's ears to the message. It takes time to build respect and working relationships with people when one isn't in their system, but it is possible and it is the most effective way.

SRJC A Day Under the Oaks

Page 6 The Oak Leaf May 3, 1979

"Our community fair will be a day of fun and education for everyone," said Laurie Beard, A Day Under the Oaks steering committee chairperson.

The object of this event is to let the people know what the college has to offer the community, according to Beard.

The fair will feature live entertainment, food, sports events and demonstrations as well as other events and attractions.

This is the first year that the college has organized a campus community fair, according to Dr. Garth Dougan, dean of student personnel services.

"I hope we'll be able to do this every year," said Dougan. "We have some great things planned and I think it will be lots of fun."

He added that with an event like this the first year is rough going but "it will get better every year."

Some high schools in the area will bring "Super Star" teams to compete against each other and against the SRJC team in the six "Super Star" events planned for the day.

Made up of faculty, administrators, students and alumni from each school, the teams will compete in a Football Punt and Pass Contest, A Basketball Free Throw, a Tug-O-War, an Inner Tube Race, a Sack Race and a Volleyball Toss.

Rosa Recreation Center and the Student Activities Office at SRJC.

Artists and craftspeople from around Sonoma County will display and sell their wares during A Day Under the Oaks.

Some of the items sold will include jewelry, clothing, books, stained glass and other handmade items.

The Agriculture Club will have a barbeque. They will serve hamburgers and sodas from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. There will also be other kinds of food sold on campus by various clubs.

Live entertainment has been organized by Jim Churchill, assistant dean of adult and continuing education and Debbie Rodella, community services secretary.

Starting off the day will be two Native American dance groups. They will be followed by the SRJC Concert Band, and at 2 p.m. the SRJC Jazz Band will perform. At 3 p.m. and 4 p.m., the Musician's Union Dixieland Band and 30's and 40's Band will perform. Live entertainment and demonstrations will be going on throughout the day on the Outdoor Stage and on the lawn next to the Native American Museum.

Large and small group activities and individual projects for parent-child participation will be offered at A Day Under the Oaks.

Also featured at A Day Under the Oaks will be the Outrageous Olympics which are co-sponsored by KSRO and Pepsi Cola Co.

Contests will include One Leg Stand, Two Foot Hop, Cart-Wheels and Creative Yodeling.

Applications are available at local secondary schools in Santa "Emphasis will be on non-competitive activities and games for pre-school and school-aged children from kindergarten to third grade," said Terri Issac a child development instructor at SRJC.

She added that most activities will be suitable for children with special needs.

A plant show and sale will be featured May 6. Bedding house and landscape plants will be sold at the show, according to Robert Cannard, an agriculture instructor at SRJC.

"The major effort for this event has been put out by the SRJC Horticulture Society," said Cannard.

All proceeds from the plant sale will go to a scholarship fund for agriculture students at SRJC.

"We really need volunteers for A Day Under the Oaks," said Beard.

Students are needed to volunteer for the community fair on Sunday. They are needed for giving instructions and general clean-up, as well as other tasks, according to Beard.

"Anyone who wants to volunteer is welcome," said Beard.

CSA will raise parking fines

by Peter Brennan

The SRJC student government voted April 30 to accept the new parking fines proposed by the parking committee.

The new fines will probably go into effect next fall if accepted by the Board of Trustees, said Eugene Canevari, student government advisor, after the meeting.

The new fines will be $3 for taking more than one space, $5 for no permit displayed, parking in an improper classification zone, loading zone or out of zone. Parking in handicapped, red zone or emergency zone will be a $10 fine plus the possibility of tow away.

"If you're unlucky enough to get stuck with the towing charge, that doesn't lessen the fine," said Carrie O'Brien, commissioner of elections.

Terry Stewart, chief of the SRJC campus police, said about the new parking fines, "We're trying to clear this so there is no discrepancy or double standard."

In other business, Freshman Representative Martin McClure announced that the Academic Senate wasn't interested in an evaluation of faculty by the students.

McClure told student government, "Bob Rubin, head of the Academic Senate, reported that the faculty wasn't particularly interested in a student grievance procedure or student faculty evaluation. Hints were dropped that the faculty was opposed to any student evaluation of faculty."

Added McClure, "I think both the student evaluation of faculty and a student grievance procedure are things we must fight for."

McClure also reported that "a steering committee is being formed for the 1980 accreditation. The accreditation team that evaluates this college mandates that a student grievance procedure exist, and is readily available to the students."

In other items, student government voted to support a course in human sexuality. "This is an important issue," said student government President Karen Watson. "Human sexuality is a course that should be offered at the junior college level."

Watson said after the meeting that "the Board of Trustees is uptight about a course in human sexuality." According to Watson, the Board of Trustees argued that students are too young for this kind of course. Watson said the average age of students at SRJC is 26 years old.

In another item, Watson announced that she received a letter from the acting legal counsel of California Community Colleges. In that letter, the legal counsel, Catherine Clove, wrote that community colleges cannot charge more than $1 for schedule changes after the first two weeks of class.

Student government listened to the letter and took no immediate action.

Before Watson read the letter, Canevari asked for a budget change. "We have currently $68 in student services. We have been generous in responding to students this spring semester," he said.

"Our recommendation is that we amend the Associated Students' budget to move $2500 from hospital insurance to student services account," said Canevari. Because of student government rules, the vote will be next week. It is expected to pass easily.

Canevari also announced the dedication of the fountain between Emeritus Hall and the library. The fountain will be a memorial to Diane Marmor, an honors student in 1965. "This happens to be the only thing that I know of on campus that is specifically dedicated to a student," said Canevari.

"Diane's mom asked that students be at the dedication," Canevari said. "I'm extending an invitation to you and students at large." The dedication will be on May 12 at 11 a.m.

In appointments made, McCarter and Watson were appointed to the instructional committee. Sophomore Representative Sandra Bunnery was appointed as an alternate to the Affirmative Action Committee.

Teacher

were violating the code, he then received a written notice.

Another section of the California Education Code states that when an instructor is being accused, time off must be given him so he can prepare his defense. Astengo did not receive his time off; again he informed the administration that they were violating the code.

In Astengo's response to the charges against him, he took each area of concern and explained why the complaints were made.

The letters accuse Astengo of offering students units and grades in one of his classes for work on his doctoral thesis, slandering the administration and giving one of the student workers six units of credit and two grades of 'A' with an agreement that the student need not attend the class or do any of the work.

Astengo responded, saying the letter is dated around the time of cut-backs in his department's budget and the writer of these letters probably was upset at being released. He further stated this letter, and one of the others contained in the administration's documents, should be compared.

Each of the letters states that Astengo allegedly assigned them grades for classes they did not attend, or did very little work in. In each case, Astengo stated that his grade and roll sheets are accurate. Two students workers who worked for Astengo at one time were located by the Oak Leaf, but each one refused to make any comment other than "I have already talked to Mr. Tauzer."

Tauzer stated that he would back up the charges and "matters between the faculty and the administration should remain just that, they are not matters for the press."

To locate the previous workers who wrote the letters, Astengo stated he hired a private investigator. The investigator was only able to locate one of the workers, who after talking with Astengo completely retracted all allegations against Astengo. "Instead of proving the charges against me, the administration left it up to me to disprove," Astengo said.

To possibly come up with a solution, Astengo took his problem to the Affirmative Action Committee. It was requested that the Affirmative Action officer for the SRJC district file a complaint against the district in favor of Astengo. The committee decided they should meet with Tauzer and decide what should be done for Astengo relating to harassment and conspiracy to deny his civil rights.

Before the meeting adjourned, it recommended a possible solution of this situation would be for SRJC to pay Astengo his release time, remove certain materials from his personnel file, and place some complimentary letters there.

Teacher refutes charges

by Kevin Hill

On Jan. 24, 1979 Antonio Astengo, an SRJC instructor, answered a documented charge of unprofessional conduct against him mailed to him in October from the administration at SRJC. To dismiss an instructor on these grounds, the board of trustees must move to take legal action by May 14 as stipulated in the California Education Code.

In the document mailed to Astengo, the case was outlined in six areas. They are: misuse of public property, obtaining books through misrepresentation, fraudulent practices in assigning grades, making derogatory or slanderous statements about SRJC faculty and administrative personnel, absences and budgetary matters.

Letters from four previous student workers of Astengo, dating back to September 1978, were contained in the document. Many accusations were made in the letters; several are similar. In each letter, the student worker describes the incidents in which unprofessional conduct was supposed to have happened.

Before the administration prepared the document against Astengo, he discussed sections of the case with the administration four times. The first meeting, on Sept. 14, 1978, Astengo was confronted with a list of personnel phone calls made from his office phone to long distance numbers. He has now made full restitution for those calls.

At the second meeting, a talk with Brook Tauzer, vice president for academic affairs, Tauzer confronted Astengo with the changing of students' grades. Astengo stated, "My grade sheets are accurate and I stand behind them."

The next time Astengo heard from the administration it was to inform him that a complaint made by a faculty member, accusing Astengo of using tactics that upset her and other members of the faculty, emotionally and mentally, was being added to his file.

Astengo explained that the incident which the memo refers to was a misunderstanding. He jokingly accused the faculty member of nepotism and the faculty member "mistakenly took me serious."

The education code states that an instructor must be notified in writing of complaints being placed in his file. "They didn't inform me," Astengo stated. He further explained that when he informed the administration they

First aid kits there for cuts

by Dave Dulberg

"First-aid is very important in an injury situation. Immediate care is better than late or no care," said SRJC nurse Susan Baldi. The first aid kits on campus provide a handy source for immediate care.

"It's my responsibility to make sure first aid is available to anyone who may need it," says Baldi. Since Baldi can not cover the entire campus, some of the care for minor injuries and illnesses can be obtained through the use of one of the 45 first aid kits on campus.

There is at least one kit in every building and more where they are needed extensively.

According to Baldi, "placement of the kits is controlled by the departments within the building. Some of the kits are very available, while others are tucked away."

"The secretary of the department would know where the kits are located and hopefully, the teachers in the building will also know where the kits are. It's partly their responsibility as a leader to direct someone to the kits."

The kits contain various sized bandages, burn ointments, smelling salts, aspirin and eyedrops.

"If anyone is hurt to the point of medical assistance," says Baldi, "I would like to know about it."

Each kit contains papers called incident reports. Baldi would like anyone who uses the kit to fill out the form "to let us know what happened-how and why the first aid was used." Also, on the back of the incident reports, are phone numbers to emergency care units.

The kits contain instructions for immediate first aid procedures. "The procedures are approved first aid," said Baldi. If good intention is used and the procedures are followed, a person will not be liable for a suit.

"We [the nurse's office] check each kit twice a year. If a kit runs out of bandages or something else, we'd like the person who uses the first aid kit to call in so we can replenish the supplies," said Baldi.

"If there is any problem, there is always someone at the nurse's office," says Baldi.

Student gripe about pay

by Kevin Hill

After repeated attempts to organize student workers at SRJC, the Student Employee Association picketed in front of Bailey Hall on May 7.

Steve Gerstle who is the original organizer of the workers, has tried for several months to draw student workers to meetings to discuss the working situations. He placed notices in the Bear Facts, but very few workers attended, according to Gerstle. Later he tried again, wording the notice differently, but still received little response.

The rally was the next step in drawing attention to the needs of SRJC student workers. At the rally, some workers discussed their money problems and what they thought should be done to solve them.

The number of student workers now involved in the cause of obtaining better wages and working conditions is close to 100 and growing, according to Gerstle.

The demands of the student workers include higher wages, retroactive pay for the spring '79 semester, equal use of facilities for student employees, staff and teachers, improved maintenance of equipment for safety and better job performance, and guaranteed full hour pay for COIL tutors, according to Gerstle.

Gerstle stated there are some 900 student workers and many of them are disabled. "It took Don Hoefs, six months to get the board to raise our wages up to minimum," Gerstle said. He continued, saying that, "It was like the board was granting us a favor."

We want You!

To Run For Associated Students Office!!

Election Time is upon us this semester and we are looking for interested students to run for office. Have you ever considered getting involved in student government? We'd like you to consider it. At least take the time to look over the reasons why it may be beneficial for you to run:

- 1) If you care about SRJC -- the campus, the students, the quality of education -- then student government is the perfect place for you to be. There are many opportunities for you to serve.
- 2) It's a great learning experience... and, it can be fun!!
- 3) It's good for your academic record. You can receive units of Political Science 51.
- 4) If there has ever been anything about SRJC which you have wanted to see changed, what better place than student government is there to learn the proper channels to have it changed, and to have the means to do it?
- 5) If you have wanted to get more involved in SRJC, but haven't been sure how to go about it, student government is the place for you.
- 6) It has been said that in a democracy the people get the government they deserve. If you would like to make student government better, run for office!!

THERE IS STILL TIME TO FILE YOUR PETITION TO RUN!

Petitions are available NOW in the Student Activities Office, and will be until they are due, which is Monday, May 7, at 3:00 p.m. The election is May 16th. Why not try it? You might like it!

Descriptions of the available offices are inside--

Take a look!

PRESIDENT

This is the top Associated Student office. The President presides over the College Student Assembly and the Executive Cabinet. He/she appoints (with the approval of the Executive Cabinet) all commissioners in the College Student Assembly. The President is responsible for coordinating projects and matters which student government may wish to undertake.

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

The Executive Vice President is the next in line to the President and will take over the presidential duties in case of the absence of the President. The Executive Vice President acts as the President's administrative assistant and chairs the Student Project Grant Committee.

VICE PRESIDENT

The main responsibility of the Vice President is to serve as the chairman of the Inter-Club Council and to work with the coordination of campus clubs. The Vice President is also chairman of the Constitution Committee.

RECORDING SECRETARY

The Recording Secretary is responsible for the minutes of the College Student Assembly and the Executive Cabinet. The Recording Secretary is also responsible for the records of the Association.

TREASURER

The Treasurer is responsible for the finances of the Associated Students and makes monthly reports to the College Student Assembly on income and expenditures and is responsible for all authorization of expenditures.

CORRESPONDING SECRETARY

The Corresponding Secretary is responsible for the writing of letters and Correspondence when the College Student Assembly and/or the Executive Cabinet deems it necessary. He/she is also responsible for being in contact with other student governments in our area.

REPRESENTATIVES-AT-LARGE -- Sophomore and Freshman

There are positions for five Sophomore Representatives and five Freshman Representatives in the College Student Assembly. The Representatives should be in contact with the student body which they represent and may serve on a variety of committees and projects. Sophomore students are those with more than 30 units; freshman students are those with less than 30.

STUDENT MEMBER OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

This is not an Associated Student office; however, the Student Trustee should be able to work closely with student government. Unlike the other positions listed which are one semester, this position will run from July 1, 1979 until June 30, 1980. The student in this position must be able to work with members of the SRJC Board of Trustees as a student representative. The Student Trustee is a full member of the Board of Trustees and will receive all materials which other Board members receive. At this time, law requires that the Student Member not be allowed to vote on the Board. The Student Trustee is seated with the Board at all meetings, except Executive and Personnel sessions.

SRJC students plan draft rally

An informational rally on the possibility of the reinstatement of the military draft will be held Wednesday at noon at Randolph Newman Auditorium on the Santa Rosa Junior College campus.

"We feel this is an issue of vital interest not only to the junior college population but to the community," said a news release by the Students for a Libertarian Society which is sponsoring the rally.

Santa Rosa Journalism Instructor Wins Pulitzer Prize

A tiny weekly newspaper owned by a Santa Rosa Junior College instructor and her husband, made the headlines coast to coast in April for an accomplishment that most newspapers, regardless of size, will never attain.

Their paper, the weekly Point Reyes Light, circulation 2,700, received the 1979 Pulitzer Prize for public service for its investigation of Synanon, the controversial California-born drug and alcohol rehabilitation center.

Cathy Mitchell, who teaches journalism at Santa Rosa "to help make ends meet," and her husband, David, along with one full-time reporter, comprise the entire staff of the tiny paper, located in Point Reyes, about 40 miles north of San Francisco on the Coast.

The paper ran about 100 stories and editorials on Synanon and its questionable activities last year, featuring a report in nearly every issue. The Mitchell duo did most of the writing about Synanon, unearthing allegations of beatings, conspiracy, military-like drills and hoarding of weapons.

The Mitchells criticized state and local governments for not taking action on charges of abuse within Synanon.

Santa Rosa Junior College Superintendent and President Roy G. Mikalson said, "This is indeed a great honor for the Mitchells, and I believe, indirectly, for the college as well. This is just an example of the high caliber faculty teaching not only on our campus but throughout the state. Community college students are fortunate to have as teachers some of the finest professionals in their respective fields."

THIS PHOTO needs a bit of explaining, so please be patient. It seems the Santa Rosa JC students are sponsoring their semi-annual blood drive Friday April 27. The theme of the drive is "Mosquito Man Wants You." You see, a young SRJC student was bitten by a radioactive mosquito and turned into "Mosquito Man." Now, he has to see that a goal of 100 pints or more of blood is reached. Yes, now we get it. Anyway, hours are 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in SRJC women's gym. Be there Or "Mosquito Man" will get you.

OFFICE OF STUDENT ACTIVITIES

MEMORIAL FOUNTAIN DEDICATION

Saturday, May 12, 1979

I'm Gene Canevari and I'd like to bid WELCOME to each of you. I welcome you as friends -- for you come as friends of the college, friends of students, friends of the Marmor's, Diane's friends, my friends.

Before I introduce my fellow speaker, I would like to remind you that there will be an informal reception and some light refreshments in the lobby of Emeritus Hall -- and on behalf of the college and the Marmors, I extend an invitation to each of you.

This dedication has two elements. The Fountain is being dedicated to all Santa Rosa Junior College students and in memory of one of those students, Diane Marmor. Thus, it seems appropriate to invite the first student member of the College Board of Trustees to participate in this dedication. It is my pleasure to introduce Miss Esther Garel.

Thank you, Mr. Canevari.

The main component of any college is its students. If a college is to serve its purpose, it must recognize the importance of those students -- as a group and as individuals.

As I stand upon this campus with its beautiful grounds and magnificent buildings, I must say that it is a campus to be proud of. However, until now, there has been no part of the campus which has been directly or specifically dedicated to the students. This is one reason why the dedication of this fountain is so important to me.

This fountain is dedicated to all students, past, present and future, and in memory of Diane Marmor. The meaning of the dedication is twofold: 1) it tells of the importance of all students to this college; it speaks of the fact that a college is its students; and, 2) it demonstrates that an individual student is important. In dedicating this fountain in memory of Diane Marmor we demonstrate that a single student can be recognized and honored on behalf of all students.

As students now and in future years pass by this fountain and notice the dedication upon it, it is my hope that it will somehow speak to them of the fact that their individuality is important to the college, and that yes, one student can make a difference.

Thank you.

More years ago than I care to admit, I was Diane Marmor's fifth grade teacher. And, though it was long ago, the vision of Diane as a child is still clear to me. She was bright and quick and eager and quietly overflowing with the joy of childhood and the wonder of learning. As I look back now to that year, I realize that Diane was more than just bright and eager -- a child that was a delight to teach -- I realize that she was also filled with love. And all of these qualities she carried with her as she became a young adult -- as she became a student at this college.

To me, and to many others, including many of you I suspect, this college is unique! It has the ability to generate LOVE. I don't know if it's the buildings or the grounds -- or the staff -- or the history -- but people who come to this college develop a deep and abiding affection for it. They love this place. And so it was with Diane -- she graduated with honors, was a commencement speaker and then went on from here -- got her bachelor's degree and began teaching in the Bay Area and then in a few short years -- she was gone . . . But the love remains. Her time at Santa Rosa Junior College had been her GOLDEN YEARS! And so it seems fitting that with this dedication we honor all students -- and that Diane might be the particular symbol of all of those who love this college.

. . . And now, on behalf of the college, it is my pleasure to dedicate this fountain to the students of Santa Rosa Junior College -- PAST - PRESENT - AND FUTURE -- It is my special privilege to further dedicate this fountain to the memory of Diane Marmor.

In the way of colleges and college students, I suspect that this fountain will come to be known as "Diane's Fountain" -- and future generations of students will probably not know why -- but I will know -- and each of you will know -- and somewhere, Diane knows.

E.S. Canevari

by David Lewis

For a change it is nice to report on someone getting what they paid for. Well, almost.

The whole thing started over five years ago when the parents, relatives and friends of Diane Marmor decided to donate money to SRJC for a memorial to her.

The family agreed that the fountain in front of the new Emeritus Hall would be a fitting memorial for their daughter who, as described by Eugene Canevari, assistant dean of student activities, was "a very bright student" and who graduated from SRJC with honors.

Donations from the family were accepted by the SRJC Foundation, which set a date for the dedication. That date was also confirmed by Earl "Joe" Johnson, assistant dean of administrative services.

Then, just a month before the dedication was to take place, John van Dyk of Steele and Dyk, the architectural firm designed Emeritus Hall, and Robert Marmor to tell him the fountain would not be dedicated to his daughter.

It seems the reason the dedication was cancelled is the SRJC Board of Trustees has an unwritten policy that campus facilities be named after SRJC board members or administrators only.

This position is clearly evident in the maning of the newest facilities on campus. The five individuals so honored last summer were, without exception, past board members.

Thankfully, the Marmor question was settled to the satisfaction of all parties concerned, although not quite in the way the school originally promised.

After some debate at their Dec. 11 meeting, the board of trustees decided to accept the compromise proposal that the fountain be dedicated to both Marmor and all students of SRJC, past, present and future.

Since the whole Marmor incident took only five years, the board is to be commended for its quick action.

Board President Albert Maggini and trustee Dr. John Jacobs voted against even the compromise, saying they did not feel campus facilities should be named after individuals.

Apparently, these two have done much soul-searching since their vote on Aug. 14 to name campus facilities after five of their predecessors.

It seems the board thinks more of itself than it does of the students and teachers of SRJC, and that the only way to have a memorial named after one is to work on the board that decides whose name goes on what.

In the end, the board and administration are here only to serve the needs of the students and the community. And who ever heard of naming buildings after servants?

Bear Cubs take Kringle

Cagers sweep three teams in three days

by Paul Hale

For the third consecutive year, the SRJC Bear Cubs Christmas present was the Kris Kringle Classic.

The Cubs swept three teams in three days in their successful quest for the title.

In the opening round, the Cubs played a physical game, and beat West Valley 76-54. They spent more time on the floor and the foul line than in running plays.

In the second round, SRJC took Skagit Valley to the hoop. Skagit Valley had a run away first round against Dominican College 101-64.

Skagit Valley turned out to be a tough opponent and played up to the Cubs. The lead changed 15 times, once at the half-time buzzer with Gary Mendenhaul hitting the basket.

The foul line proved to be hot for the Cubs. The last points against Skagit Valley were scored there to put the Cubs ahead at the final bell, 71-67.

In the finale, which the Cubs won 76-63, SRJC dominated L.A. Pierce throughout the contest. SRJC's lead never went below eight points.

L.A. Pierce beat Napa 77-57 and grabbed another 20 point win over San Francisco City College 80-60 in their first two games.

Most Valuable Player of the tourney went to Bear Cub Mendenhaul who scored 66 points, with two high games.

Paul Malama was named to the all-tournament team for his defensive play.

SRJC hit well from the floor with a 55.5 percent average. The tournament raised Santa Rosa's record to 11-3.

West Valley finished up the tourney as the consolation champions by beating Dominican College and Wenatchee in their final rounds.

trustees

Monday's action by Santa Rosa Junior College trustees:

FEES — Adopted a policy to charge students reasonable fees for materials received. The spring semester will see at least 885 classes without fees and about 1,260 with reduced fees. Students, satisfied the college is adjusting fees, called off a class boycott scheduled for Tuesday.

MEMORIALS — Finally voted to dedicate a fountain at Emeritus Hall "to all of the students of Santa Rosa Junior College, past, present, future and to the memory of Diane Marmor," a former student. The vote was 5-2 with Albert Maggini and John Jacobs opposed. Other questions of memorials were continued.

INTRODUCTION — Football co-captain Homer Jones was introduced by Coach Marv Mays on the occasion of the college's top ranking in the state. Maggini commended the coaches and team members for the season's performance.

TEXTBOOK — The Rev. Kit Hoag objected to a Philosophy 6-A textbook, "Myths To Live By," by Joseph Campbell, as containing anti-religious language. Hoag questioned review and selection of textbooks and was told the policy leaves book selection to instructors. However, Jack Healy, dean of adult and continuing education, will meet with instructor Ross Grossman, Hoag and report to the board. Hoag's wife took the class and raised objections to the book.

Wednesday, Dec. 13, 1978

PRESS 15A

COMMITTEE — Voted to reinstate the Committee of Ten, consisting of five administrators and five faculty for advance budget analysis, priority of programs and related tasks. The members are Brook Tauzer, Healy, Bill Wilber, Garth Dougan and Joe Johnson, administration; and Bob Coombs, Richard Giles, Courtney Anderson, Tom Power and Arnold Solkov, faculty. Solkov, though, is to be replaced due to a pending sabbatical leave starting in January.

AUDIT — Accepted the 1977-78 audit by the firm of Linkenheimer, Hebrew & Co., represented by Cecil Humes.

DIRECTOR — Approved the job description for personnel director with monthly salary ranging from $1,560 to $1,900. Director Richard Lowe has resigned to take a position with Middlesex County Junior College, Edison, N.J.

BIDS - PROJECTS — Approved bids and projects involving improved campus lighting; power sources, a change order in the Doyle Student Center remodeling, environmental science signs, the biennial catalog and for optical equipment for the earth science department.

ATTENDANCE — All trustees present.

10:00 AM
MINUTES -

Don Hoefs
President

Don Hoefs - One of the things I would like to do as President is to improve the communication between students within student government and the students at large.

I believe if there is an even flow of communication among all students at SRJC, we as students can work together to accomplish many things.

I will make myself available to the students at all times and listen to their needs, and most important I will work to improve the disposition of these needs. "Together with your help let's make Student Government better for all."

Pat Hamilton
President

Pat Hamilton - I care about SRJC and want it to be a good place for people to study and work.

Among my goals for the fall are: Getting the administration to work with students, establishing permanent student evaluation of instructors and opening services to evening college students.

The past five semesters I have been involved in the campus community as publicity commissioner, Oak Leaf editor, Night Owl editor and Missions and Goals Task Force member. Knowing the people, the campus, the problems and the rules, I feel I can be effective as President.

David Thomas
Vice Pres.

David Thomas - I am seeking the office of ASB Vice President in order to have a direct contribution towards the quality of student life on campus. This responsibility is also a natural step in my study of Public Relations, which I am pursuing so that I may help make meaningful changes in the overall society in which we live.

Although I have no prior experience in this area, I feel that I can do a worthwhile job for SRJC students.

Barbara Morgan
Corr. Sec.

Barbara Morgan - Being elected Corresponding Secretary would serve two purposes: First, to gain the experience of working in student government, and second, using my knowledge of office procedures and past experience in high school student government to assist the ASB in all required functions. Contact with surrounding community colleges will enable me to learn what activities they are hosting. This exchange of ideas will benefit everyone involved.

Scot Stegeman
Exec. V.P.

Scot Stegeman - As Executive Vice President I feel that I will add to a productive and responsive student government. My particular interests are finishing a school wide teacher evaluation, designing a student Bill of Rights which would include a Grievance Policy for students. In the past, I have served on the Student Affairs Committee and the ICC as a representative for the Forestry and Backpacking Clubs. I have also been a member of the Missions and Goals Task Force for the last year.

Rob McCarter
Exec. V.P.

Rob McCarter - This semester, a rift in communication caused student government to degenerate into petty power struggles, dividing the students and making progress difficult. As your next Executive Vice President, I shall bend efforts toward improving communication within student government and between the students and administration of this college, and toward developing the previously unimportant office of Executive Vice President for the achievement of that end. I sincerely believe that next semester we can accomplish quite a bit, provided we are all willing to work together constructively.

Student government elections are

Julie Threewit Rec. Secty.

Julie Threewit - Student government not only is a good experience for me, but it gives me a change from the normal every day pace of just going to class. I enjoyed holding this office Spring of '79, and would like to do it again in the fall.

It's good to know a little about what goes on in this campus, instead of just attending classes and pretending that things are perfect all the time. They're not and I enjoy being a part of the attempts to make it right.

Robin Larkins Soph Rep

Robin Larkins - I'm running for office because I believe the sophomores need someone to represent them. I have the time, energy, capability and motive to do the job effectively.

I enjoy helping and working with students on this campus and I feel there is a great need for this.

My previous experiences range from being President of the Aikido and Disco Clubs on campus to doing secretarial work with the Tennis Club.

I believe I could create a progressive change and give the student government a new outlook.

Rick Williams Soph Rep

Rick Williams - I was born in Big Springs, Texas and have been in Sonoma County since 1968, graduating from Montgomery High in 1974. Since then I have supported myself while trying to find a field of interest.

I am presently an accounting major and hope to pursue this field.

I am very interested in government, as following politics is a hobby of mine, among other interests. I like music, sports, films and especially expanding my knowledge.

Eric Anderson Treasurer

Eric I. Anderson - As well as maintaining a responsible budget for the student government, as Treasurer I would represent student interests in forming the district budget. I would also help students better understand the school's finances. As a former manager of a $150,000-a-year business, I feel I have the qualifications to accomplish these goals. As a former part-time evening student and now as a full-time day student, I know the many problems facing SRJC and I want the opportunity to resolve them.

Cindy Reiter Treasurer

Cindy Reiter - I am 19 years old and a freshman at SRJC. I am running for the office of Student Body Treasurer. I have been in many different clubs and held various offices. Some of these include Sect.-Treas. of my freshman class in high school, OSA [Organization of Student Affairs] representative for four years and President [and foreign exchange student] in Australia for AFS [American Field Service].

I was also in many clubs outside of high school. I was in 4-H for 5 years. In these 5 years I was the Sect. for 2 years and Vice President for one year. I've always done my best to be very involved in all clubs I joined. Last year, I was a Football and Basketball Cheerleader for SRJC. I've met many people and have been very involved in my first year here. With the support of your vote I hope to continue my involvements even further next year. As far as my outlooks for next year are concerned I will try to be conscientious of where the funds are going.

Student Trustee

Harvey Freetly

Harvey C. Freetly - I decided to run for Student Member to the Board of Trustees because I feel it is important for students to become involved with campus decisions. I want to be a visible representative and voice the students concerns. I will be an active intermediary between the student body and the Board of Trustees.

I am a qualified candidate for this position. I have held offices in various youth organizations. I'm currently an office of the Aggie Club. I have acted as an intermediate between youths and adults and have worked extensively in teaching youth leadership for the past five years.

I am a firm believer that the mind is our most valuable resource and that education is the key to this resource. In this current age of tax payer revolt I will speak for the students so that our dwindling revenue may be used to keep high standards of education available.

Student Trustee

Martin McClure

Martin McClure - The student member of the Board of Trustees must be able to voice student concerns. As Student Trustee I will lobby for a college radio station, seek to improve campus security, work for better communication between students and the faculty, administration and Board of Trustees. I am now working with Esther Garel, our present Student Trustee, in obtaining a vote for a student member of the Board. I am currently a member of the Student Assembly, College Council, Action Steering Committee and the SRJC Speech Team. In high school I was student representative to the Santa Rosa Board of Education and Student Body President. With your support on May 16 I look forward to working for and with you!

Brad Beare Soph Rep

Brad Beare - I am P.E./History major and my goal or outlook for this fall semester if I am elected is to better Santa Rosa Junior College not only the students but for the staff the college as well as the community of Santa Rosa. I know that I could and would succeed in my attempts to make student government not only responsive to students' and faculty needs, but to the needs of the community of Santa Rosa. In my 1968 [junior year] at Montgomery High School I was in the Student Senate and I made some good changes in the Student Government at Montgomery. I was given accommodation for my concern for the students' and the faculty's needs.

Calvin Taylor Soph Rep

Calvin Taylor - I've been the Chess Player's Association's Vice-President for the last 3 semesters. I've worked as their Rep. in ICC and ICC Rep. CSA for the last 2 semesters. I ran for and won the Office of Sophomore Rep. I've worked on the Financial Aids Committee and the B for the last 2 semesters. I have taken 2 classes in Political Science. I've worked for the Used Book Fair, the Lost and Found Auction, the Blood Drive, and Club Day for the last 2 semesters. I helped cook and sell the hot dogs and sodas the day we had the local high schools come over to visit. I helped with the day school and night school registration for the Fall 1978 and Spring 1979 semesters. I've helped in Student Government in the past but I want to do more in the Future.

Kathi Smidt Frosh Rep

Kathi Smidt - In high school I was involved in Student Government along with holding the office of Commissioner of Social Affairs. From Jan. '78 to Jan. '79 I was an AFS exchange student and again I took part in the various political aspects of my "host" school. This last semester, the spring of '79, here at SRJC I have held the appointed offices of Commissioner of Women's Affairs and the Student Representative on the Curriculum Committee. All of these things have taught me that for the students to get representation in the student government they must have a representative willing to work. And that is why I am running.

Robin Maynard Soph Rep

Robin Maynard - Hi, my name is Robin and I'm running for your Sophomore Representative. Last semester I was a Freshman Representative and enjoyed meeting people and getting involved. I learned a lot about the way this school is run and the effect the students can have on the procedure. Because of this new-found knowledge I feel I can do a good job of representing you in the coming semester.

Ben Pearson Soph Rep

Ben Pearson - As sophomore representative I will work to keep in touch with the wants and needs of the students. Two of the areas I will work on are student evaluation of teachers and student rights. Last semester I was a freshman representative, so I know how student government works and how to work with it.

Hilda Hernandez Frosh Rep

Hilda Hernandez - I have never had any experience in student government, but want to know more about our school and get involved besides taking some courses.

If I'm elected for the fall semester my position would be to represent the freshman class. I would voice the opinions of the freshman class and bring it to the attention of the CSA so we would be able to discuss the issue.

John Evanoff
Frosh Rep

John Camak Evanoff-I stand for student involvement and by running for office I make my pledge of devotion and representation to the voice of the student body. Someday I hope to acquire a degree in engineering, but my devotion to student government is an important personal dedication to myself and the student body.

Cathy
Slack
Frosh Rep

Cathy Slack-The Freshman Representatives' job is to provide a contact between the students and the student government. I will do my best to relay the needs of the students to the College Student Assembly and the SRJC administration. I was involved in student activities both in high school and here at SRJC and would like to be more involved in how our school is run.

Dinene
McClure
Frosh Rep

Dinene E. McClure-Next semester as always, there will be new opportunities to get things done for the first time and I'm looking forward to being part of that. I'm familiar with what goes on in the SRJC and think my presence there as a voting member would be a definite asset to the Associated Students.

Congratulations!

As Third World Americans in education, you have been faced with many obstacles. Historically, some of the major ones are financial, an inadequate number of teacher models, stereotypical myths and images, and lack of educational tradition. In order to overcome these, you have had to make daily personal and social sacrifices.

Education is important to you! Your involvement and commitment testify to this. In giving recognition we must go beyond your achievements and accomplishments. In fact, we applaud and commend you for your ability to persist!!!

Low cost housing is difficult to obtain for most students in Santa Rosa; for those requiring short-term accommodations the shortage is even more acute. According to Anderson, if the unused detention facility at Los Guilicos was cleaned up, it could provide about 40 adequate rooms for token rent.

A coat of paint would make a dramatic difference. Toilets could be removed from the cells and separate facilities provided. Barred windows might be replaced with clear windowpanes.

Anderson expressed the opinion that in view of present building costs, a minimal federal appropriation would transform the prison into a small hotel at Los Guilicos for National Park Service trainees. Meanwhile, those who are temporarily "confined" in these unorthodox-appearing quarters, appreciate the irony of the situation - - and like the group preceding them, probably will welcome those wide open spaces when they, too, "depart their jail cells."

Goals In Sight

by Eve McDanel

"We hope our final meeting will be April 24. We plan to start work at 7 p.m. and lock ourselves in until we complete the job."

That was the promise of Eugene Canevari, Assistant Dean of Student Activities and Chairman of the Mission and Goals Task Force. The Night Owl had to be at the printers long before that date, though scheduled for publication on the 24th. It is therefore hoped the next issue will be able to report in detail about the outcome of the "marathon meeting" Canevari anticipated.

The report of the Task Force includes goals and statements which will be presented to the Board of Trustees. It represents almost a year of effort on the part of the 22 members who comprise the Task Force and who represent all segments of the campus as well as the community.

To date, considerable debate has been involved over the suggestions and recommendations already made, particularly in view of budget limitations imposed by Proposition 13's aftermath. Nevertheless, Dean of Adult and Continuing Education, John Healy, says, "It is gratifying that the Task Force has come up with a statement basically clarifying and reaffirming what the college is doing today."

A Fitting Challenge

by Maureen Powers

Accelerated, directed, self-directed. Words descriptive of Bob Miyashiro's Aquatic Fitness class held Monday and Wednesday nights in SRJC's Aquatic Sports Center. Words descriptive of a teaching style. Words descriptive of guiding the student toward the goal of aquatic fitness.

The one hour class begins with a 15 minute warm-up exercise of freestyle swimming. This prepares the student for the structured exercises to come, such as relays of the Australian crawl, backstroke and breaststroke. During these relays students are swimming "directly," that is, they are assigned a specific stroke and are encouraged by peers and instructor to complete it as quickly as possible - - depending on their skill and spirit of competition.

During this "directed" exercise the student's performance is structured. In the "rest periods" of freestyle at the beginning and end of class, the student is accelerating at his/her own rate, and performing in a "self-directed" manner; that is, accelerating speed at one's own pace. That way, no one dies of exhaustion, and all present achieve satisfaction of meeting their goals of fitness.

At optimum each student should have completed about 50 laps during class. This would be 1200 yds. of "directed" swimming and 1200 yds. of freestyle. A work-out, and a challenge for a swimmer of intermediate skill. Speaking of skill . . . Miyashiro emphasizes "this is a class to develop fitness, not skill." Therefore minimal attention is given to improving strokes, but maximal is given to improving endurance.

Another aquatic fitness class is held Tuesday and Thursday evenings. The instructor, Mike Mentch, has basically the same style of teaching. Periods of sprinting are interspersed with less active periods to provide the student with the "opportunity to work out," he says.

Both classes are given on a pass/fail basis. Grading depends on attendance. Classes are full to overflowing with many students repeating the course.

So, if you're fit for the challenge, or are challenged to be fit, it's not too early to think about enrolling in the fall semester Aquatic Fitness class.

A Little Bit Of Lemmon

by Eve McDanel

Jack Lemmon: A Closer Look, is the late spring, four part mini film series starting May 16 at 7 p.m. in Randolph Newman Auditorium, Emeritus Hall.

Unlike other cinema courses he has offered, instructor John Bigby will have Sophia Jensen, entertainment editor for the Press Democrat co-hosting with him. Bigby, who writes for the Santa Rosa News-Herald, says, "Both of us are film critics and don't always see eye to eye. This should perhaps spark the roundtable discussions which take place after the showing of the films each evening."

The following films will be shown, but not necessarily in the sequence listed below:

"It Should Happen To You" - Lemmon's first film made in 1953 with Judy Holliday.

"My Sister Eileen," (1955) with Janet Lee. This is the only film in which Lemmon sings.

"The Apartment", directed by Billy Wilder (1960). This won Lemmon an Oscar. It also stars Shirely McLaine and Fred MacMurray.

"Some Like It Hot" - with Marilyn Monroe, Tony Curtis and Joe E. Brown.

In addition, according to Bigby, there will be a newer film shown. This means one evening will be a "double feature" night, but at press time it was not yet certain what date that will be.

Registration fee is $10 for the entire course, payable in advance at the Community Service office in Bailey Hall or at the door the first night of class.

One student who has attended a number of Bigby courses offers this advice to those who are new to the SRJC cinema series: "Plan to take in the after-film discussion. It is perhaps the best of each evening."

Jail Cell To Wilderness

by Bernice Wheat

Twenty seasonal rangers departed their jail cells for the wide open spaces on March 30. These men and women, during the previous five weeks, had occupied the south cellblock of the former maximum security prison of Los Guilicos School for Girls.

The rangers were among 26 graduating from the National Park Service Training Academy at Northern California Criminal Justice Training Center, Los Guilicos, in Santa Rosa. While enrolled in the training program, they lived in the actual cells, though hardly as the former inhabitants had.

The students decorated the drab quarters as best they could. The accompanying photos indicate "before" and "after" appearances, though full renovation would see even more dramatic changes. Some students even brought hot plates: however meals are served at the now attractive, modern cafeteria located in the 30 year old prison. A charge of $3 per week covered cost of utilities for those in the program.

The uninhabited north cellblock at Los Guilicos is beyond a large central room presently used for defensive tactics training. Used furniture completely blocks the hallway. Wardrobes, chests, beds, desks, and chairs in this storage area are available to occupants. Several tiled bath and shower rooms are located in both cellblocks.

Los Guilicos is the only center in the country offering this course in National Park Service training. The unusual on-campus housing is particularly helpful as increasing requests for NPS training come from all over the United States.

Since most seasonal rangers are confronted with law enforcement situations in their daily work, federal law now requires 200 hours of this training. The Western Regional Office of the National Park Service, San Francisco, requested the Santa Rosa Center - under the direction of Stan Anderson, Chairman of Santa Rosa Junior College Administration of Justice Department - to offer the mandated training.

Six consecutive five-week courses were offered, beginning in the spring of 1978. This year, seven or eight courses are scheduled. At present time, classes are limited to about 25 trainees and carry three units credit from SRJC.

Graduates are qualified to work as seasonal National Park rangers. Cost of the course is $110 for California residents; $240 for those out of state. The present class started April 2.

Officers from local law enforcement agencies and NPS personnel provide instruction in criminal law, investigation, traffic control, driver training, firearms, defensive tactics, evidence and patrol procedure.

Upon completion of training and completion of an advanced first aide course taken elsewhere, the students are eligible for NPS Law Enforcement Commission.

Editorial

Usually the Night Owl refrains from becoming involved in the political fracas that ensues at this time of year. This spring, however, we are going to jump in feet first and recommend one of the candidates for the office of Associated Student Body president.

Pat Hamilton, our choice, has been an active participant in SRJC journalism for 2½ of her 3 years on campus. She was a part-time evening college student her first year at SRJC and during the spring semester was the editor of the Night Owl. As a day student, majoring in journalism, for the last 2 years she worked on the staff on the Oak Leaf, part of that time as editor, and this semester she is a columnist for both the student newspapers.

Hamilton's accomplishments as a journalist are not her only qualifications for ASB president. She is currently the publicity commissioner in the SRJC student government and is a steering committee member for A Day Under The Oaks festivities next month. In the spring of 1978 she was on the constitution committee. This year she has been a member of the Missions and Goals Task Force, helping to define the needs and inspirations of the SRJC community.

As journalists and evening college students ourselves, the Night Owl staff can appreciate how much a person with Hamilton's background is needed in the Student government. We believe that Hamilton's experience has enabled her to develop good working relationships with both the administration and the student body.

She knows which people to work with and the procedures that are needed to get things accomplished on the campus.

Of special interest to evening college students is her desire to see the Coop and other student services kept open longer at night to better serve those of us who inhabit the campus after dark.

Unanimously, the Night Owl staff will vote for Pat Hamilton for ASB president on election day, May 6, when the polls in the Student Activity office remain open until 7 p.m.

In her own words, Pat says, "I care a lot about SRJC and think I would do a good job."

What more could we ask for?

-- Jeanine Ruhlman

Spring Under the Oaks at SRJC

Lite on Nite

by Pat Hamilton

Sometimes you'd think the sun never shines on Santa Rosa Junior College. At least, when you only come here at night you might.

But on Sunday, May 6, evening students, day students part-time and full-time students, faculty, alumni and the community at large will be able to get together at SRJC for A Day Under The Oaks, a community recreation fair and open house on campus from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The idea of A Day Under The Oaks began with the Alumni Association. The event is being coordinated by a steering committee headed by Laurie Beard, made up of students, alumni, faculty, classified staff, community members, a trustee and administrators. The group plans a wide range of activities from "Super Star" sports to arts and crafts shows and sales.

Besides innertube races, a tug of war and three legged sack marathons, there will also be the Outrageous Olympics. People can compete in such events as "Who can twiddle thumbs the longest?" "Who will be the last left standing on one leg?"

Visitors and participants are expected from all the high schools in the JC District. Artists and craftspersons from all over Northern California are invited to show and sell their wares. A plant show and sale is also planned.

Information about campus classes and programs will be available as well as tours. Local groups will perform on the outdoor stage. Child care and children's games will be offered on the lawn between Baker and Bech Halls. Student Clubs will have concessions stands during the day. In the afternoon, the Aggie Club plans a BBQ.

A Day Under The Oaks is being presented in conjunction with Sonoma State University's first Open House Day, scheduled May 6 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. The two schools are cooperating to make it a day of fun and education for the community they serve.

For additional information, call 527-4254, Monday - Friday 12 - 6 p.m.

Staff Box

The Night Owl, a publication sponsored by the Adult and Continuing Education Division of Santa Rosa Junior College, 1501 Mendocino Avenue, Santa Rosa, CA 95401, is produced by students enrolled in Journalism 300B, an Evening College course. The editorial staff takes full responsibility for all contents.

wage committee request

for district policy--

Student employees are valuable members of the campus community, performing in necessary and often sensitive positions. As contributing members of the college community, student employees have the right to be recognized and rewarded for their efforts in service of Santa Rosa Junior College and the college district.

In order to reward continuing service to the school and to recognize the talents and training student employees bring with them, the Sonoma County Junior College District establishes a stepped pay scale which shall begin at or above the current minimum wage for student employees based on the skills needed for each position and the continuity of the student employee's service to the college.

Pay raises would be given after one year full-time student employment (650 hrs).

Students will receive length of service raises only if they stay with a job continuously. A break in service, excluding a break in the job itself (such as summer vacation ending the job ~~at~~ for the summer), will put the employee back at the beginning rate.

A change in jobs will return a student employee to the beginning rate for the classification.

CALIFORNIA COMMUNITY AND JUNIOR COLLEGE ASSOCIATION

TO: Superintendents, Presidents, Presidents of Boards of Trustees, Presidents of Academic Senates, and Presidents of Associated Student Bodies of CCJCA Member Institutions

FROM: Lloyd E. Messersmith, Executive Director

SUBJECT: Selection of Members of the CCJCA Delegate Assembly for 1979-80

The purpose of this communication is to alert all segments about the necessity and importance of the selection and orientation of members of the CCJCA Delegate Assembly for 1979-80.

The Constitution of the Association indicates that each college shall select four representatives and, further, that multicollege district offices shall also have four additional representatives. Article III, Section 1, of the Constitution states:

"Section 1. The Delegate Assembly shall consist of the following:

- a. Four representatives from each college: the chief administrative officer (or designee), one faculty member, one trustee (or trustee vote),* and one student.
- b. Four additional representatives from each multicollege district; the chief administrative officer (or designee), one faculty member, one trustee, and one student.

*In a multicollege district in which the number of colleges exceeds the number of trustees, the district is entitled to a number of trustee votes equal to the number of colleges. In such cases, one trustee may record more than one vote, not to exceed a maximum of three trustee votes, but the total number of trustee votes shall not exceed the total number of colleges in the district."

For each college and each multicollege district office, each segment selects its own representative in accordance with whatever local procedures are established. Since the delegates should be selected this spring for the 1979-80 year, it is important that the segments within each institution begin immediately to initiate a selection procedure so that the members of the 1979-80 Delegate Assembly may be identified as soon as possible.

As soon as the members of the Delegate Assembly have been selected, the names should be sent to this office on the enclosed postal card so that an accurate roster of delegates can be maintained. Each of the segments shall be responsible for informing the Association of any change in delegate status.

It is important to note that members of the Board of Directors and officers of the Association must be regularly elected members of the Delegate Assembly. If a member of the Board of Directors or an officer of the Association is not elected as a delegate, he or she must be replaced.

Orientation materials will be sent to all delegates before the next meeting of the Delegate Assembly which will be held in conjunction with the Annual Conference scheduled for November 3, 4, and 5, 1979, at the Red Lion Motor Inn in Sacramento, California.

If additional information is required, would you please call Dr. Ernest H. Berg, Associate Executive Director, at (916) 444-8641. We would appreciate it if you would proceed as rapidly as possible to select the members of the 1979-80 Delegate Assembly and to submit the names to this office on the enclosed postal card.

We look forward to participating with the members of the Delegate Assembly during the Annual Conference in November.

FROM: Lloyd E. Messersmith, Executive Director

SUBJECT: Selection of Members of the CCJCA Delegate Assembly for 1979-80

The purpose of this communication is to alert all segments about the necessity and importance of the selection and orientation of members of the CCJCA Delegate Assembly for 1979-80.

The Constitution of the Association indicates that each college shall select four representatives and, further, that multicollege district offices shall also have four additional representatives. Article III, Section 1, of the Constitution states:

"Section 1. The Delegate Assembly shall consist of the following:

- a. Four representatives from each college: the chief administrative officer (or designee), one faculty member, one trustee (or trustee vote),* and one student.
- b. Four additional representatives from each multicollege district; the chief administrative officer (or designee), one faculty member, one trustee, and one student.

*In a multicollege district in which the number of colleges exceeds the number of trustees, the district is entitled to a number of trustee votes equal to the number of colleges. In such cases, one trustee may record more than one vote, not to exceed a maximum of three trustee votes, but the total number of trustee votes shall not exceed the total number of colleges in the district."

For each college and each multicollege district office, each segment selects its own representative in accordance with whatever local procedures are established. Since the delegates should be selected this spring for the 1979-80 year, it is important that the segments within each institution begin immediately to initiate a selection procedure so that the members of the 1979-80 Delegate Assembly may be identified as soon as possible.

As soon as the members of the Delegate Assembly have been selected, the names should be sent to this office on the enclosed postal card so that an accurate roster of delegates can be maintained. Each of the segments shall be responsible for informing the Association of any change in delegate status.

It is important to note that members of the Board of Directors and officers of the Association must be regularly elected members of the Delegate Assembly. If a member of the Board of Directors or an officer of the Association is not elected as a delegate, he or she must be replaced.

Orientation materials will be sent to all delegates before the next meeting of the Delegate Assembly which will be held in conjunction with the Annual Conference scheduled for November 3, 4, and 5, 1979, at the Red Lion Motor Inn in Sacramento, California.

If additional information is required, would you please call Dr. Ernest H. Berg, Associate Executive Director, at (916) 444-8641. We would appreciate it if you would proceed as rapidly as possible to select the members of the 1979-80 Delegate Assembly and to submit the names to this office on the enclosed postal card.

We look forward to participating with the members of the Delegate Assembly during the Annual Conference in November.

Student Government Elections

While working together to stop the student government's lawsuit against the college, we found that we could work effectively together and decided to endorse one another in this election. We do not necessarily agree on everything, but we do share a commitment to improving communication on campus and to making changes in a constructive manner.

Pat Hamilton - President: "Being familiar with the people, the problems and the system at SRJC, I feel I could be an effective liaison between the students and the administration, voicing student concerns and helping find ways to solve the problems students face."

Scot Stegeman - Executive Vice President: "If elected, I will work to establish student evaluation of teachers as a permanent program at SRJC. I am also concerned with providing ways for students to effectively voice their complaints and get their problems solved."

David Thomas - Vice President: "I am concerned with the quality of life students experience at SRJC. I want to work to improve conditions here for students. Among my present concerns are student wages and working conditions. Vote for constructive change."

Paid Political A

Wednesday, May 16 10 a.m. - 7 p.m.

Eric I. Anderson - Treasurer: "As the former manager of a $150,000-a-year business, I have the qualifications to handle the ASB budget. I also want to represent student interests in making the district budget. Among my other concerns are student wages and teacher evaluation by students."

Barbara Morgan - Corresponding Secretary:

"My past experience in high school student government and my current job as a student secretary on campus give me the background to do the job of corresponding secretary. Vote for Barbara Morgan. Vote for constructive change."

Ben Pearson - Sophomore Representative:

"As a sophomore representative, I will work to keep student government responsive to students and their needs. Last semester I was a representative to student government, so I know how it works and how to work in it."

Martin McClure - Student Trustee:

"As student representative to the Board of Education in high school, I gained much experience which would be valuable in representing students and voicing their concerns to the Board of Trustees. I look forward to working for and with you."

Pat Hamilton

"It's people that matter, more than anything else," said Pat Hamilton, presidential hopeful in the May 16 student government elections.

"Sometimes the importance of people gets lost in the shuffle around here, and the problems that causes are the ones which concern me most," the 26-year-old student government publicity commissioner continued.

What is Hamilton's view on the student wage issue? "No one on this campus should be paid below minimum wage," the former Oak Leaf editor said. "I'd like to see a stepped pay scale for student employees. People who stay with their jobs should get periodic raises and I also think jobs that call for special skills should pay more than those that don't. I hope the question is resolved before the next terms of office start, but if it isn't I'll keep working on it."

As a member of the Missions and Goals Task Force, Hamilton was vocal in getting the group to include both student evaluation of teachers and equal services for evening students in their proposed goals for the college.

"Most teachers here are good, but there are a few bad ones," Hamilton said, adding, "Students should have some knowledge of a teacher before committing a semester."

Does Hamilton think student evaluations could become a popularity contest? "Students are more mature than they are often given credit for. I believe most students are capable of separating personalities from the evaluations; and if questions are specific enough, personalities won't affect it."

President

As a former night student, Hamilton is "highly aware of the lack of services for evening students." Among the things she wants to work for is keeping the Coop open longer. "Night students pay the $3 student use fee which is paying for the building, but they don't get much use out of it."

She used as an example that there are around 800 student employees at SRJC, yet there is one paragraph in the policy manual about them, mentioning only that some students will be employed here.

In a lighter moment, Hamilton commented, "I'd also like to get each administrator in the habit of having lunch out on the lawn with students at least one day a month."

Asked if she thought it was possible, Hamilton laughed and said, "I'm told it isn't. But when I came up with the community forums idea everyone said, 'That's great, but you'll never get [SRJC President Dr. Roy] Mikalson to go for it.' They were wrong; he was there. Half of the impossible things in the world are only impossible until you try, and I'm usually not afraid to do that."

What will Hamilton do if she isn't elected? "I'll apply for commissioner of committees," she replied. "I care a lot about this school and I intend to work as long as I'm at SRJC to help make sure other people can find the rewards and the community here that I have found."

Student government election

President

Don Hoefs

"After serving as student government president in the fall of 1978 and taking this semester off from student government, I have learned the needs of the students and feel that I am now more qualified to serve in the position of president," said Don Hoefs, candidate for student government president for the fall semester.

"I feel that I am a very optimistic person and that things can happen on this campus to benefit all students if we are willing to work together to see them happen," he added.

"If elected, I will strive to improve communication with student government, and especially between student government and the students at large," said Hoefs, who has served in student government for a total of three semesters.

Communication is a necessary part of student government, Hoefs believes, and improving communications on this campus will be one of his main goals if elected.

"I feel that open communication with you, the students on campus, is an important factor in making decisions that will affect all students," said Hoefs.

Hoefs has some specific ideas on how to create this open communication between student government and the student body. One thing he plans to do is to "encourage representatives and commissioners to have continuing communications with students at large, as well as with myself," said Hoefs. "I will write and distribute a monthly statement to you concerning my actions, thoughts and feelings about student government, students at large and the administration," he added.

Hoefs feels that personal contact with the student is an important part of being student body president.

"I will walk around campus and communicate verbally with you, the students and let you know who your elected officers are in student government and what they are doing," said Hoefs. "I feel that students should know at all times what is happening on and around campus," Hoefs continued, "and if students don't know their representatives in student government, how can we have this sort of communication?"

Hoefs doesn't have a definite idea of what he plans to do if he loses the election, but one probable alternative would include leaving SRJC.

"I have been accepted to Sacramento State University," said Hoefs. "I may transfer to there."

On the election itself, Hoefs said, "I would like to personally ask each of you to stop, look, listen question, and vote for the candidate of your choice. Those elected will take over the responsibilities and duties of the present officers, and will continue to work on behalf of all students that attend SRJC," Hoefs added.

Vice president

David Thomas

"I am seeking the office of ASB Vice President in order to have a direct contribution towards the quality of student life on campus," said David Thomas.

"This responsibility is also a natural step on my study of public relations, which I am pursuing so that I may help make meaningful changes in the overall society in which we live," he said.

Though Thomas has no prior experience in this area, he feels "that I can do a worthwhile job for SRJC students."

Treasurer

Cindy Reiter

"I've met many people who have been very involved in my first year here," said Cindy Reiter who is running for Treasurer.

"As far as my outlooks for next year are concerned, I will try to be very conscientious of where the funds are going," said Reiter.

Reiter is a cheerleader at SRJC and was the secretary-treasurer of her freshman class in high school. She was also secretary of a chapter of 4-H for five years.

Corresponding secretary

Barbara Morgan

As corresponding secretary, Barbara Morgan wants to keep in close contact with other community colleges so the student government here will know what is going on at those schools. "Exchanging ideas will benefit everyone," said Morgan.

Morgan, who is a business major, served as student body secretary in high school.

"I think that my knowledge of office procedures and my past experience in high school student government will enable me to handle the responsibility of being corresponding secretary," said Morgan.

May 10, 1979 The Oak Leaf

Freshman representatives

John Camak Evanoff

Student involvement is an important part of being in college, according to John Evanoff, who is running for freshman representative.

"If elected I will represent the voice of the student body," said Evanoff.

Evanoff, who is an engineering major, feels that student government should be an important part of the workings of this college, and he feels a personal dedication to his fellow students.

Dinene McClure

"Next semester as always there will be new opportunities to get things done right the first time, and I'm looking forward to being part of that," said Dinene McClure who is running for freshman representative.

"I'm familiar with what goes on in CSA and think my presence there as a voting member would be a definite asset to the ASB."

Hilda Hernandez

"If elected for the fall semester I will represent the freshman class," said Hilda Hernandez, candidate for freshman representative.

"I would voice the opinions of the freshman class and bring them to the attention of student government so we would be able to discuss them," she added.

Robin Maynard

Robin Maynard, who is running for sophomore representative, feels that her past involvement in student government will help her fulfill her obligations if elected.

"I learned a lot about the way this school is run and the effect the students can have on the procedures of this college," said Maynard. "Because of this knowledge I feel I can do a good job of representing you in the coming semester," she added.

Maynard served as freshman representative last semester and said she "enjoyed meeting people and getting involved."

Cathy Slack

"I want to help keep student government in contact with the people it's supposed to represent," said Cathy Slack. She is running for the office of freshman representative.

"Being able to help the students is a good feeling," said Slack, who is a music major.

Another reason Slack wants to be in student government is to "better understand how the school is run," she said. She feels being a part of student government would be a good experience.

Executive vice president

Scot Stegeman

"Students rights to fair treatment and good education at SRJC are among my main concerns," said Scot Stegeman, executive vice president candidate.

For the past year, Stegeman has been a student member of the Missions and Goals Task Force and in that position has defended such issues as student evaluation of instructors.

The former Inter Club Council representative for the Forestry and Backpacking Clubs is also the author of a student Bill of Rights which will go before the Student Affairs Committee later this month.

"I feel I will add to a productive and responsive student government," said Stegeman.

Rob McCarter

"During this semester, a rift in communication caused student government to disintegrate into petty power struggles which divided the students and made progress difficult," said Rob McCarter.

McCarter, who is running for executive vice president, is currently student government survey commissioner and a member of the parking committee. He is a business major and is the manager of the Student Voice Box program. He served as student government freshman representative for two semesters and as the president of the Chess Club for three semesters.

"As your next executive vice president, I shall bend efforts towards improving communications within the student government," said McCarter, "and between the students and the administration, and toward developing the previously unimportant office of executive vice president to its fullest potential for the achievement of that end."

Recording secretary

Julie Threewit

"It's good to know a little about what goes on around the campus, instead of just attending classes and pretending that things are perfect all the time," said Julie Threewit, candidate for recording secretary. She added that things on this campus are not perfect and that she "enjoys being apart of the attempts to make them right."

"I enjoy holding this office and would like to do it again in the fall," said Threewit.

Threewit has been Inter Club Council secretary for a total of two semesters and is currently serving as recording secretary in student government.

Sophomore Representative

Brad Allan Beare

"I think there is a need for change in student government because I feel the students have been misrepresented at times," said Brad Beare, candidate for sophomore representative.

If elected, Beare's goal will be to make SRJC better for the students.

Ricky Williams

"I am very interested in government," said Ricky Williams, adding, "politics is a hobby of mine."

Williams is running for the office of sophomore representative.

Williams is a business major and plans to attend Golden Gate University after completing his studies at SRJC.

Robin Larkins

"I can handle the position of sophomore representative because I have the desire to help people and the time to spare to get the work done," said Robin Larkins, who is running for sophomore representative for the fall semester.

Larkins has served as president of the Aikido Club and is currently president of the Disco Club.

Calvin Taylor

"I've helped in student government in the past, but I want to do more in the future," said Calvin Taylor. Taylor is running for the office of sophomore representative for the fall semester.

Besides serving as sophomore representative in the spring of 1979, Taylor also served as an Inter Club Council representative for two semesters. He was also vice president of the Chess Player's Association for three semesters.

Ben Pearson

If elected as a sophomore representative Ben Pearson "will work to keep in touch with the wants and needs of the students."

Communication with the students is the most important part of being a representative in student government, according to Pearson.

"Two of the areas I want to work on are student evaluations of teachers and student rights," said Pearson.

Having been a freshman representative last semester, Pearson feels he "knows how student government works and how to work with it."

Treasurer

Eric Anderson

"Student government should reflect the wants of the students, and I don't think past student governments have always done that," said Eric Anderson, explaining his reasons for becoming involved in student government.

Anderson is running for the office of treasurer.

In addition to working on getting better wages and working conditions for student employees, the former business major said he wants to "work on establishing regular teacher evaluations and getting adequate services for evening students."

The former manager of a $150,000-a-year business, Anderson wants to help students understand the district budget. The communications major also intends to represent student interests to the administration in making up the budget.

tanstaaf!

by Dave Lewis

In the past weeks I have become accutely aware of a lack of faith by teachers and staff here at SRJC. I'm not talking about religion or politics, but rather the lack of respect for the abilities of students on this campus. The teachers and staff do not seem to believe that students, even students who have proven their abilities in many areas, can do anything responsibly, or even correctly.

I have seen two of my friends, both of them among the most competent organizers and planners that I know, driven to distratction by a staff member who would not, or could not, acknowledge that they were capable of taking on responsibility without having to be checked up on twice a day in order to be sure that they were doing their jobs right. I also saw these same two putting in many hours a day more than they were being paid for only to be critized for not doing enough.

In another instance, one of the people that I work with here, someone who has been on the staff here for a year and a half and who is an accurate reporter, is accused by a teacher of "undoubtedly" misquoting someone in an article. The person who was supposedly misquoted has said that he was happy with the article.

What is the upswing of all this? The fact that teachers and their counterparts in the administration do not seem to take the students seriously is evident in almost every aspect of this campus.

When the ramps to the portables where the Oak Leaf is housed was blocked off by the fence, nothing was done about it for at least a week because the administration did not know if there was a real need for the ramp. I have to commend Earl P. "Joe" Johnson for getting it taken care of Another area where this lack of respect for students shows in its worst light is the college's response to the request by students for sex ed classes. The idea of having sex ed classes has been dropped because of the opinion in the administration that students were not ready for classes of this type.

There is a definiteneed for sex education right now.

Ignoring the problems will not make them go away and can lead, because of the lack of information, to the same forms of sexual dysfunction that many "adults" suffer from.

Maybe it is time that those who are supposed to be teaching and working with us realize that we the students are not just a bunch of children who are here to be "babysat" by the teachers and the staffers. Supposedly, we are here to learn how to get along in the "adult" world. If the adult world bears any resemblance to how the "adults" here act towards the students, giving us no chance to prove ourselves as responsible persons, no chance to show our ability, then I for one want no part of their world.

Maybe it will take a little more work on the part of the students to present a more active face to teachers and their counterparts, but I think if teachers and administrators alike would be willing to accept the fact that they aren't the only ones who can do things right the first time and treat students a little more like equals a large proportion of the problems on the campus would disappear.

Last Friday, the Oak Leaf received notification that it is one of the top three ranked community college newspapers in the nation, according to the University of Columbia Scholastic Press Association's contest for spring and fall '78.

Monday morning, a message was on the board, "[President] Carter called again. He said, 'Hey! Are you through yet?' And one of the women staffers said, 'Hey! I didn't even know you had started.'"

It was nice to see last Saturday that the SRJC Board of Trustees fully trusts student Board member Esther Garel to represent them at college functions. For the Saturday morning dedication of the fountain between Emeritus Hall and Plover Library, Garel was the only trustee in attendance.

Of course, it might be fitting. The fountain was dedicated to students, after all, not to anyone important [if I don't get my tongue out of my cheek, I'll probably bite it yet].

I just hope Gene Canevari was right when he said it will probably become known as "Diane's Fountain" in honor of the one student to represent all students, past, present and future."

good guys-bad guys

by Pat Hamilton

Win or lose--running for office is an interesting experience. Candidates find out many things they never wanted to know. But the love and support which also surface during a campaign make it worthwhile--or at least tolerable.

One of the unpleasant and unexpected surprises in store for political candidates is discovering that people they only know on-sight hate them.

Another is realizing that the respect one has built up for an individual over a period of years can be literally demolished over night.

Another of the hurts is being personally attacked for a political stand taken only after careful--and caring--deliberation.

Somehow, though, the love and caring of one's supporters can be more of a surprise than the hurts. When it feels like the whole world is against you, finding people who are still behind you, who still believe in what you stand for, is like being struck with a ray of sunshine on a bitter day black with clouds.

This is, then, a "Thank You" to all the people who stayed with me through the recent student government election and my bid for the student government President spot.

Win or lose--the caring and support you've given me are something precious that no one can take away.

Trustees approve security

by Pat Hamilton

A capacity crowd watched in the Pioneer Hall Assembly Room May 14 as the SRJC Board of Trustees approved the addition of a full-time, un-armed officer to campus security.

The Board also agreed to cancel the debt of $36,650 owed to the district by the Sonoma County Organization for the Retarded. Dean of Adult and Continuing Education Mayor Jack Healy made the initial request before the board.

According to Healy, SCOR's previous management had incurred a number of large debts and engaged in practices which resulted in charges of criminal mismanagement.

Healy explained that the programs SRJC shared with SCOR had already brought in revenue for the district, so forgiving the debt was basically paying SCOR some of what SRJC made from the association.

In other business, the board approved a committee recommendation on reassigned time for department heads. According to Vice President of Academic Affairs Brook Tauzer the new procedure takes more facts into account than the previous system for figuring reassigned time. The new procedure includes more responsibility over evening college instructors for the department heads.

The Board also approved a name change for the position of Dean of Student Personnel Services. When Dr. Garth Dougan retires June 30, his replacement will have the title Dean of Student Services.

Officers discuss requirements

"Students should be able to read and write"

by Peter Brennan

In a roundabout way, SRJC student government supported the new six unit reading and composition requirement recently adopted by the Board of Trustees.

Maro McKenney, sophomore representative, said, "I move that we draft a letter asking that they (Board of Trustees) remove this new requirement." This motion was voted down by student government.

Student representatives first listened to arguments against the new requirement, and in favor of the letter. "I was griped by their action; I think it stinks," said Rob McCarter, surveys commissioner.

Eugene Canevari, student government advisor, said, "I voted against this new requirement because it could increase the number of general education units required for graduation. Some departments did not want to see it passed, especially the occupational departments whose schedules are already full."

Coming out for the new requirement was Student Government President Karen Watson, "A student in an institution of higher learning should be able to read and write."

"If a college graduates students who cannot read or write, that would be ridiculous," said Carrie O'Brien, commissioner of elections.

The new requirement requires students to take three units in a course emphasizing reading and writing besides English 1A. "The student doesn't have to take English 1A and 1B. They can take other courses to fulfill the reading and writing requirement," said Watson.

Student government voted not to draft the letter, and thus in a roundabout way, supported the reading and writing requirement.

In other items, last week, student government was informed that the administration would not deal with Student Employees Association concerning wages. Instead, the administration would deal only with student government, which it recognizes as representing the students. So student government formed a student wage committee last week, and appointed Pat Hamilton, publicity commissioner, as chair.

Hamilton reported, "The Student Employees Association is more interested in forming a union than getting better wages."

"Pat (Hamilton) has made a reasonable effort in dealing with this other group," said Canevari.

Hamilton is not interested in a union, but rather in better wages for students. She submitted a proposal to the representatives and said, "It is based on what we think is needed to recognize students as people on this campus. A lot of people do work very hard for this school."

CSA continued from page 1

"My criticism of the first draft is that it is too complicated. What you're creating is an incredible amount of paperwork. What you're creating is a whole other personnel office," said Canevari. "If you want to do this, go ahead. But my advice is the simpler the better."

Hamilton agreed to submit a simpler proposal at the next meeting.

Near the beginning of the meeting, Kim Oakley, executive vice-president, announced the winner of the ASB scholarship; "The very deserving winner is Esther Garel." Garel, who is the popular student trustee on the Board of Trustees, received much applause from the representatives.

Executive Cabinet
Santa Rosa Junior College
Associated Student Body

Dear Cabinet members,

The Supportive P.E. Department is proud to announce that a total of 19 medals (gold, silver and bronze) were won by the eight athletes that competed in the California Wheelchair Athletic Games that were held in Carson, California from May 10th - 13th. We are even prouder of the fact that five of these athletes qualified for competition in the National Wheelchair Athletic Games that will be held in Queens, New York, from June 13th - 20th. The Santa Rosa Junior College Wheelchair Athletes that have qualified are: Bruce Nicolaisen, Bonnie Lewkowicz, James Lee, Cherie Marquis and Eric Sawyer. In order to send these athletes to the National Games, a sum of $3700.00 must be raised. This sum includes: National Games application fees, air fare, motel lodging, transportation, and meals.

The Supportive P.E. Department is now reaching out to the community for donations and we plan to have fund raising activities such as: bake sales, rummage sales, a car wash and a wheel-a-thon. We would like to request your financial assistance in the amount you feel is reasonable. Your help will be greatly appreciated. Thank you.

Sincerely,

NOW FOR THE GOOD NEWS: The Oak Leaf, SRJC's student newspaper, has been named as a medalist in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association's national junior college competition.

In the careful scoring the Oak Leaf garnered 954 points of a total 1,000 possible. The order of finish won't be announced until July, but the student journalists know they are either first, second or third.

The judging was made on publications of last spring and fall and the judges' comments are effusive: "No doubt about it. A most responsible and responsive campus newspaper! . . . A genuine concern for productive and positive journalism is just that, genuine."

The journalism instructor and advisor to the Oak Leaf? Well, she's going to have to build a bigger trophy case. That would be Cathy Mitchell, co-owner of the Pulitzer prize-winning Point Reyes Light.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS PASS away: The recent death of Chauncey Wolcott, concessionaire at the Sonoma County Fair and everywhere else around here for these many years, causes Gene Canevari to report on the "business agreement" that SRJC had with Wolcott for many years.

Chauncey ran the concessions at Bailey Field, hiring two generations of student club members and putting money in the coffers of the Associated Students while dispensing popcorn and hot dogs to the sports fans.

It wasn't until his death that Canevari, assistant dean for student activities, learned that the school had never had a contract with Wolcott. Nothing in writing. They just did business. Fair and square.

"It was based on a handshake 20 years ago," said Gene. And you don't find that anymore.

SEA and committee meet

by Niki Jackson

Traveling on separate paths and striving to reach the same goal are the student government Student Wage Committee and the Student Employees Association.

The Committee is made up of those involved in student government. The SEA involves a group of concerned students affiliated with the work study programs on campus.

Various members of both groups hold jobs at SRJC, along with some 900 other members of the student body.

The Committee's proposal, as adopted by the student government, is that a step wage will be put into effect, with pay based on job level. As a member of both groups, student government vice president-elect Dave Thomas states that "People who have had training should be paid according to their expertise."

After writing to seven other schools of higher education, Thomas found that several of these institutions start their student employees at $3 per hour and some at the present minimum wage of $2.90, which will not be in effect at SRJC until July 1, the beginning of the new fiscal year.

On the other hand, the SEA is not in favor of the proposal of step wages. One of the founders of this organization, Steve Gerstle, feels that all student employees should be paid equally in order to avoid job pay discrimination. "Is the scarcity [of funds] contrived?" Gerstle questioned.

Gerstle stated, "All we want is a fair wage." Because of the pressure the SEA feels they must use in order to get what they want, the group picketed Bailey Hall two weeks ago in order to make their point.

He believes that the group should "follow the money" in order to reach the source of the problem. In a casually organized group of about 15 active members, the SEA is an independent group not controlled through SRJC student government.

Pat Hamilton, chair of the committee, feels strongly about the pay issue with the idea to "request the district establish a policy recognizing student employees and their value to this campus."

Hamilton added that "students should be paid reasonably for their efforts." She feels that something needs to be permanently set, as far as a policy is concerned, so that there will be an automatic pay raise each January or each year that a person remains on the job, rather than in July, the beginning of the new fiscal year.

"Student government comes and goes," said Richard Balekian, an active member of SEA.

editorial

At the May-21 student government meeting, a spokesman for the Student Employees Association explained to the representatives that the SEA is not in favor of the job-rated pay for student employees which the student government wage committee has submitted for approval. This disagreement between student government and the SEA must be cleared up immediately if student employees at SRJC are to get any raise.

According to SEA speaker Gene Burns, the student government committee has no business handling the situation in the first place. Unfortunately for Burns and the SEA, Dean of Business Services Bill Wilber has declared the committee as the only bargaining body he will deal with. Since Wilber is the man who is to handle this raise matter, the SEA seems to have no other say in the matter other than what they can convince the committee to ask for.

Burns speculated at the meeting that Wilber chose student government to deal with because student government representatives are only involved with the matter for as long as they are in or running for office and then they are out of it. While Burns has a point that student government officers are in office for a limited period, there is no reason to believe that they cannot come to a representative decision for student employees here.

Another question arises when one asks who exactly is the SEA and who appointed them as representatives of student employees? We have yet to see more than 20 people involved in any SEA meeting, and have heard reports by some concerned onlookers that as few as seven have voted on important issues pertaining to student employees jobs here.

This is not to say that the some 100 members the group claims is not a true figure, but only that we would like to see more of those members at the meetings.

And, by the way, it has been estimated that there are about eight or nine times as many employees here as there are SEA members. Why the diversity? Some SEA members feel that many student employees here just don't care that much about organizing and that they just want to go to school, go to work then go home; and to Hell with any effort to improve oneself.

But, be it true that the SEA is better or be it true that student government is better, Wilber has made his choice and it is now time to find a proper pay scale for student employees for next fall. As the decision must be finalized in June, arguing over who is best to represent will only waste valuable time.

Working together, the two representative bodies worked on a poll last week that should get to the bottom of the question of student employee opinion. With a good cross section of opinion, the SEA and the student government committee must now get to work to convince Wilber that their proposal is feasible, representative and fair. We wish them good luck and may the employees at SRJC benefit from whatever decision is made.

Now that elections are over and the smoke has more or less cleared, the time has come to start preparing for a new student government.

I can't say that I'm entirely happy with all the people who have been elected to executive cabinet, but I can say that next semester I will try to work with the new student government as best as I can.

I do want to give the new officers a bit of advice. One thing that I have found is common to both journalism and government is that neither can function productively without feedback from the people who they serve: in this case, students.

This is even more important in government. It is the job of the student body officers to do what the majority of the students want them to do. This is their main purpose and anything else is just a fringe benefit of the job.

An elected officer must never become so egocentric as to think he or she does not need to get students' opinions on important issues. I think that was proven this semester during the infamous lawsuit scandal.

Students tend to be apathetic when it comes to student government. Many say that it is because student government never accomplishes anything. I don't think it's that student government is a do nothing organization so much as that student government officers, in general, pay little attention to students after election time. The students feel that their opinion doesn't count and they keep their opinion to themselves.

Just as important is putting the students demands into action. Communication means nothing unless one gets something done. A student government officer can shoot the breeze with students all day long, but if (s)he sits back in student government meetings and only half pays attention to what's going on, then both the officer's and the students' time has been wasted.

The job of the student government officer is two-fold: to represent the students and do his or her best to see their requests are carried through.

Student trustee steps down

by Pat Hamilton

Giving up the position of Student Member of the SRJC Board of Trustees at the end of June will not be easy, said Esther Garel, the first student to hold that post.

"It's something I've come to enjoy. There are a lot of ideas I have that I'd like to work on," said Garel. She hopes that her successor will follow through on some of those ideas.

"I'd like to see a newsletter for students, keeping them more informed. I'd also like to see the student trustee working more closely with the rest of the board, getting to know them better and setting up advisory boards with both students and trustees on them.

Esther Garel has been the student representative to the Board of Trustees for a year.

As the first student trustee, Garel feels she has done much of what she set out to do. "Being first, I needed to set a precedent and a theme for the trustees to work with students and I feel I've been successful in opening the door for following student trustees."

Asked what stands out most in her memory of her year of the board, Garel replied, "The materials fee meeting, definitely. I remember it because of the student involvement, the togetherness, and the discussion on the item which lasted two hours." Then she smiled and added, "Also, it was the first standing ovation I ever received for anything I said."

Looking back at the three years she has spent at SRJC, Garel said, "Being here has been one of the most rewarding experiences of my life. The campus has a lot to offer people and I think we're fortunate to have it in our community. And I appreciate all the support and concern the students, faculty and administration have given me."

Workers' union questioned

by Joe Damato

In an Oak Leaf survey taken of student employees at SRJC last week, most of those polled indicated apprehension towards the Student Employees Association representing them on the issue of student wage raises and working conditions.

Of those polled, several didn't know what the SEA was and after an explanation indicated they would much rather see an effort by the ASB or some other student government organization in the area.

The 40 students, all from different parts of the campus as well as different jobs, noted that they didn't like the idea of a small group of people speaking for them. Many said their main objection was that they were never asked by members of SEA for their opinions.

According to Jennifer Moore, a secretary in the Student Activities Office, she didn't particularly agree with their approach but felt that something should be done. "I think they represent us, it's just that many of us are apathetic to the issues and don't support them."

She also noted that something had to be done about the wages because as she put it, "If you're trying to make it on your salary here, there's no way."

Carol Wasson, also a secretary at the SAO was more emphatic about her dislike for the organization. "I refuse to get involved in an organization that pressures me." Wasson related a story about pressure put on her by members of the association

good guys-bad guys

by Pat Hamilton

Writing three farewell features for one issue is depressing. That's how I spent this week--whether or not the stories are printed depend on space and the editor and production manager's digestion. Doing the stories almost ruined my digestion.

The three people, Dr. Garth Dougan, Esther Garel and Debbie Rodella, are special people to me, and I hate to see them leave here. As I talked to each of them, it came out that what they will remember most here--what they hate most to leave--is the people.

This school--and those of us who work and study here--are fortunate. The collection of people here is outstanding: students, faculty, administrators and staff. I've found more good and good-hearted people here than I have anywhere else in my life.

As I contemplated this last column I'll ever write for the Oak Leaf [after two years of writing for this paper it's hard to accept that this is it], thought of saying a special thank you to some of the people who stand out most. So I started making a list. It grew. And it grew. And grew.

And I realized Debbie [Rodella] was right when she said there were too many to name all those who are special here.

There are too many shoulders I've gotten soggy here, too many hands reached out to say "it's all right," too many loans given and repayment patiently waited for, too many smiles, too many moments shared and too much trust given to say thank you to each person for even a fraction of the kindnesses shown.

While I cannot name each and every one in this space, you know who you are, and I want you to know that I, too, have noticed, and I appreciate you for being the way you are.

Unlike Debbie, Esther and Dr. Dougan, I won't be leaving SRJC [I'm not that easy to get rid of], but I won't have this space anymore to say thank you. And that is the best use I can make of it now. So Thank You.

Dear Editor:

Each year, as we approach commencement, I hear again among colleagues and students the "sophisticated" comments denigrating the ceremony. It is argued that the program is dull. It is argued that the speeches are predictable. It is argued that the ceremony itself is meaningless.

These criticisms mis-interpret the purpose of ceremonies. Ceremonies are not meant to be exciting, like parties, or innovative like experiments or substantive-- except as symbols. The same arguments made against commencement could be raised against baptisms, weddings or funerals.

Commencement is our public affirmation each year that we are a single academic community.

I hope that each of you will join me in this profession and give the ceremony its "real" meaning by the esteem in which it is held.

Employee leaves college for first time

by Pat Hamilton

After two years as a student secretary in the Community Services Office at SRJC, Debbie Rodella became a full-time employee there. That was eight years ago and since then Rodella has worked with most of the campus and much of the community.

But as of June 8, Rodella will no longer be Community Services' and SRJC's smiling face to the outside world. Finding no career opportunities here, Rodella began looking elsewhere, and on June 11 she will start work for Hewlett-Packard's Santa Rosa plant in the finance department.

"I don't want to stay in the clerical area; I feel I can do more," Rodella explained. "Hewlett-Packard is employee-oriented and encourages their employees to advance."

Asked if she meant that SRJC wasn't, Rodella said, "No, I didn't say that. I've enjoyed it here. I enjoyed the people; I enjoyed the work I was doing. The experiences I've gained here have helped me grow both personally and professionally.

"But I've also got to think realistically of the future. I can't just sit and wait for something to happen here. If you want to do something with your life, you have to be aggressive about it. And private enterprise doesn't have the problems a school does."

What changes would Rodella recommend for SRJC?

"It could become more responsive to people," she said. "One thing that bothers me is there is no distinction between someone who doesn't do the work and someone who does. There should also be more hiring from within. There are no incentives here to do a good job.

"The majority of people here do a good job," Rodella explained. "It's only a minority that doesn't—but that has grown with the lack of morale.

"As a whole, SRJC is a good institution," Rodella pointed out. "It has good faculty, good administrators and good students."

The decision to leave SRJC wasn't easy, Rodella said. "It's hard to leave strictly because of the friends I have here. But I'll still be involved with the JC. I figure, too, friends you keep. They'll still be friends. I have friends who were students here before and they always come back."

The 28-year-old blonde mentioned a card she received from an instructor the day after he heard of her decision to quit. It opened, "Now that you're graduating from college...." Explained Rodella, "This is the first full-time job I'd ever had. That doesn't make leaving any easier. This is the first time I've left college."

Dean retires from SRJC

by Pat Hamilton

"Education is no fun anymore," said Dr. Garth Dougan, explaining part of his reason for retiring as of June 30 from his Dean of Student Personnel Services position at SRJC.

"The reason it's no fun is because faculty and administration alike put their needs and wants ahead of what students need," said Dougan. "It's become an adversary situation between good guys and bad guys, with the students catching the rotten end of the stick."

Part of the problem, Dougan believes, comes from state laws regulating how the school can treat employees and much of the rest comes from unions. "I can't just tell my secretary to take an extra half hour for lunch to get her hair done. If I do, I run the very real risk of having some other employee yelling favoritism and starting grievance proceedings. It doesn't matter if my secretary puts in overtime and works harder; they still have to be treated just the same."

The attitude of the personnel at SRJC has changed in the thirteen years Dougan has held the dean's post. "All school personnel used to be delighted to be a part of a family endeavor, to do something good for the college community. Today, too often, we find faculty, classified and administration saying, 'What's in it for me?'"

"Most faculty and most administrators still want to meet the students' needs. It's only a few who cause the problems," Dougan added.

Mentioning one of his recent pet projects, A Day Under the Oaks held May 6, Dougan pointed to the general cooperation given by faculty, administrators, classified and students. "That's how it always used to be," he said, adding that he hoped the event was a "happy portent for the future."

Dougan is also concerned with the sacrifices SRJC has made to keep enrollment up. One of the things the school has done is allowed academic standards to drop.

"Nowhere was it intended that the students should exist for the sake of the college. I just think we have our priorities backwards," said Dougan.

Often reputed to be the only high administrator who recognizes the needs of students, Dougan said this wasn't true. "There are other administrators who feel the needs of students as keenly as I do. They are perhaps not in as close contact with students as I am, but that is my job. I think oftentimes we have to be brought back to the realization of why we're here. But they do care."

Another of Dougan's reasons for leaving is that he intends "to walk out, not to be carried out." The dean has suffered from heart problems during the past few years and the strain of his job has worn on him.

What will Dougan do after he has retired?

"I love shopwork and I have a marvelous shop. I love gardening; I'll work in the garden. I'm also planning on finding out if I can really play golf," said Dougan.

A graduate of SRJC in the 1940's, Dougan will also be returning here for classes. "I'm going to take a class in cooking;

I'm going to be a good house-husband."

Asked if he would consider running for the SRJC Board of Trustees, the dean avoided a direct answer, replying, "If in the future I felt that I could benefit my college by running for the board, I would not run away from the opportunity to serve my school."

What Dougan said he will miss most about SRJC is "the students. I will miss the students and the people I've worked so cordially with down through the years. I won't miss the paperwork and I won't miss the endless, endless meetings. But I will miss the people."

While he thinks personnel attitudes have changed considerably over the years, Dougan finds that students haven't changed much. "Their needs are still the same," he said. "They need to find an identity and a goal that is believable. This was true in the forties, fifties, sixties and seventies. I had a great deal of difficulty achieving that for myself. We all have to find ourselves in terms of what is important in our lives now."

What does Dougan see is needed at SRJC in the future?

"There needs to be a higher level of communication," the dean said. "Faculty and administrators should be more visible outside of their classrooms and offices. And there should be a bona fide, fully recognized Student Bill of Rights and Academic Freedoms."

Mikalson collapses during run

Dr. Roy G. Mikalson, president of Santa Rosa Junior College, collapsed during the Ass-to-Ass Run Sunday and was taken by ambulance to Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital where he is listed in fair condition.

Mikalson's physician, Dr. Kenneth Howe, said the 57-year-old president was suffering from hyperthermia. He said the distance run on a warm day caused Mikalson's body temperature to rise too much.

Howe said Mikalson probably would remain in the hospital overnight.

Mikalson was reportedly about two miles into the 13.1 mile race from the Brass Ass in Santa Rosa to the Brass Ass in Cotati when he began wheezing and fell over.

Mikalson became president of the junior college in 1971.

3. COMMENTS FROM STUDENT TRUSTEE

Esther Garel, Student Trustee, reported:

- A. The dedication ceremony for the fountain (by Emeritus Hall) was held May 12, 1979;
- B. Student elections will be held this Wednesday, May 16th, for Fall Semester, 1979-1980 officers;
- C. Mission and Goals Committee has completed its assignment and the students wish to extend their appreciation to Eugene Canevari for chairing this committee; and,
- D. CSA voted (May 14, 1979) to recommend that a public pay phone be placed at Emeritus Hall. (Note: Mr. Wilber indicated this has been ordered already.)

4. COMMENTS FROM PUBLIC AND STAFF

- A. Karen Watson, ASB President, questioned the fees on the summer school schedule. They do not adequately reflect the recommendations made by the committee on which she sat this past semester. The fees charged were to directly reflect back to the cost of materials for the class and this does not seem to be the case.

Adult and Continuing Education Dean, Jack Healy, stated that each instructor was sent a form on which they were to list the cost of materials for their class. If no response was given, and as no previous information is available from last summer, they used the spring semester, 1979, schedule as a guide in setting up such fees. However, at this time, a review is being made of the fees being charged and a further report available shortly.

- B. Jack Perella, Speech Instructor, spoke to the topic of the Field House (scheduled on the Discussion and Reports portion of the agenda). He expressed concern that money was to be expended for this project when Burbank Auditorium remodeling is not presently scheduled, and had been on the drawing board for quite some time.

Board President Maggini advised Mr. Perella that the Field House, at this time was only being discussed, not voted upon and that a review of all building projects is presently being done and each project being prioritized (Burbank being one of the projects).

- C. Bob Miyashiro, swim team coach, introduced Laura DuMont and Frank Sculatti to the Board. Each was a member of the Camino Norte Conference champion swim team. Bob also thanked the Board for their support of the SRJC athletic teams.

Bonnie Lewkowicz swims the backstroke. Cherie Marquis swims breast and freestyle. Bruce Nicolaisen "runs" the 60-meter dash. Eric Sawyer took first in the state in the pentathlon. James Lee was first in the state in four swimming events.

These five athletes all qualified for the national competition at the state level meet last month. They all compete under the banner of Santa Rosa Junior College. And they have one other thing in common. They, and their competitors, are all disabled.

This quintet headed for the National Wheelchair Athletic Games in Queens, N.Y., June 13, was born of SRJC's Supportive Physical Education Program. A dozen athletes from the program competed in the state games last month. These five came out of the competition New York-bound.

It's going to take a bunch of money to get this group back east — perhaps more than if they were your standard two-legged, stand-up-and-walk-around athletes, because of some special needs. And with education funds the way they are, you can bet that SRJC has no money in the budget. Johnny Hassenzahl, director of the Supportive PE program, takes an optimistic view. "We have raised $800," he says, "And need $3,700 by the 10th of June."

That is optimistic thinking. But that kind of attitude rubs off. Let me tell you a little bit about these people who are hoping to have a shot at some world records in Queens.

Take Bonnie Lewkowicz for example. Bonnie is 22, just bought herself a home in Sebastopol, drives her own car without assistance. At the California Games she competed in five events, winning two firsts, two seconds and a third, and the award for the Most Inspirational Athlete. She is a quadriplegic, injured six years ago in a car accident. Her goal, besides winning gold medals, is to be fiercely independent. And she's doing it.

Bruce Nicolaisen is 23. Injured in a diving accident at 17, he is also a quadriplegic. Bruce finished the 60 meter dash in 25 seconds flat. He's ready for the nationals. And already training for more events in next year's state competition.

Eric Sawyer is an amputee. He lost his leg in a motorcycle accident. Eric took all the apples at the state meet in the Pentathlon event — a grueling and demanding competition that includes archery, discus, javelin, wheelchair dash and swimming. He would like a shot at the national title.

James Lee, who came back from the California Games with four gold medals and a silver one, will be swimming events in such impressive times that new world's records are a distinct possibility. Lee is a paraplegic, also injured in a motorcycle accident.

Cherie Marquis is also a paraplegic. She was injured in an automobile accident three years ago. This is her first year in swimming competition — and she's won herself a shot at the title in two events.

They'll all give it everything they've got, says Hassenzahl. All we have to do is help them get there. Don't call me. Call Johnny at SRJC.

268 get diplomas at SRJC commencement

Their mortar boards threatening to become flying Frisbees, 268 students received degrees on a blustery Saturday morning under the oak trees on the Santa Rosa Junior College campus.

Some 950 students were eligible for graduation yesterday, and less than one-third participated in the traditional ceremony, with "Pomp and Circumstance" playing on the carillon.

Graduates had completed two or more years of study and accumulated 60 or more college units for associate of arts or science degrees.

Honor student Hasan Schaafsma, who graduated from high school 17 years ago, spoke before the assemblage of graduates and camera-happy relatives on the hope and worries of the future.

Schaafsma, whose wife Miftah also graduated yesterday, said, "the question of where we're getting to is more lively and dangerous than ever before.

"The future is more up for grabs than ever before."

He added one political aside on the dangers of nuclear reactors and then encouraged the graduates to seek a "path that is fun, creative and has some heart."

Speaker Anthony Davenport, a 1969 Sonoma Valley High School alumnus, quoted Helen Keller in encouraging graduates to get involved with social issues. "I shall face great and terrible things. I am a child of my generation. I rejoice that I live in such a splendidly disturbing time."

Six-year-old Aimee Rivers wore her mother's mortar board and held her hand when Mary Ann Rivers accepted her diploma. "We did this together," said Ms. Rivers, who has been working toward a degree for 10 years. Aimee Rivers just graduated from first grade.
