SRJC keeps its traditional year

By JOHN ADAMS

Convinced that an earlier starting date would be the closest thing to "committing institutional suicide," Santa Rosa Junior College trustees have decided to continue having students attend class from just after Labor Day until mid-June for at least the next two years.

Trustees on Monday adopted a traditional class schedule through the 1986-87 school year, with little discussion, after a staff report said enrollment and, consequently, state funding could decline if classes started in August.

The desire to switch to an earlier start for classes has existed among students, faculty and some administrators for years. Among other changes, it would end the distraction of having students return to final examinations after a two-week Christmas break each year. The early calendar would end the fall semester before the break rather than in the middle of January.

Brook Tauzer, vice president for academic affairs, told the board a state limit on enrollment growth and a funding method that continues to finance community colleges at 9 percent less than actual full-time enrollment figures would hurt the college in financial support if school started earlier.

Tauzer and other administrators are convinced enrollment would decline, at least for a time, if classes started in August rather than September. And any decline would establish a new, lower enrollment limit for the college, meaning less state support.

Staff members convinced the board the time to change to an earlier calendar is after the state begins to fund two-year colleges at 100 percent of full-time enrollment. The college would have greater income then to offset a decline in attendance.

"It could amount to committing institutional suicide to change the calendar now," Tauzer said.

"I've always been for the early start," said Trustee Al Maggini. "But there's no way I can vote for it if there's a chance we could miss our enrollment goal. That could be dynamite for us."

Trustee Larry Bertolini said he'd talked to trustees of colleges that had adopted an August school start.

"Most of them said they wouldn't vote for it again" because of the loss of enrollment and state revenue, he said.

Board President Herold Mahoney agreed that most colleges that have gone to an earlier school start have suffered financially.

College President-Superintendent Roy Mikalson had estimated the college could lose about $1.3 million a year if it changed calendars.

SRJC's re-elected student president tells goals

THOMAS DEARTH

Thomas Dearth, feels good about being elected to a second term as president of Santa Rosa Junior College's Associated Student Body.

He decided to seek re-election because some of the changes and programs he initiated last fall are taking longer than planned.

"The process definitely takes longer than one semester," he said. Or even a year.

Dearth listed some of his goals for the next school year as increased pay for student workers, increased library hours and obtaining a portion of bookstore profits for student government needs.

Increased student pay and longer library hours are on the verge of being accomplished and that gives Dearth room to expand his list of things to seek or to accomplish in the year ahead, like a student handbook explaining teacher expectations, more parking and ways to reach and involve evening students.

And as he said, getting ready for the fall term, "We have the momentum going."

Dearth's administration has started a student government paper meant to keep the student body informed. "So many students don't have a clue as to what we are doing," he said.

The Associated Student Body leaders and the College Student Assembly work with an annual budget of more than $115,000. Funds now come from student body card sales and ticket sales for sports events.

In return, student government supports many events and activities including sports, theater arts, the student newspaper, Concert Choir, band and pep band, emergency student loans and grants, the campus art gallery and Jesse Peter Memorial Museum.

Even though associated student membership is voluntary, the organization does serve non-members. "Everything we do is geared to all students," Dearth said. "All the money we make goes back in increased services."

He also sees student government as an advocacy body for students. He's also learned it's easier to accomplish goals if the students have the support of the administration.

Dearth, a 1983 graduate of Del Norte High School, plans to transfer to the University of California, San Diego, for the 1986-87 school year. He is considering a career in educational administration although he also is interested in biology.

Serving with Dearth in the fall: Maureen Shields, Petaluma, executive vice president; Susan Solstice, Forestville, vice president; Kerrin McGunagle, Petaluma, treasurer, and Leanne Linder, Petaluma, corresponding secretary.

Freshman representatives will be Andrea Dolin, Sebastopol; Allison Horsley, Sonoma, and Carrie Anderson, Tiburon. Sophomore representatives are Ruben Lovato, Petaluma; Loren Fletcher, Chris Newmann, Deseree Salvador and Craig Paschke, all of Santa Rosa.

Brian Wims, Petaluma, will serve as the non-voting student trustee on the SRJC Board of Trustees.

SRJC selects site of Petaluma campus

Santa Rosa Junior College will build a satellite campus on North Ely Road in Petaluma.

The college's board of trustees moved Monday to take an option on a 40-acre site that will cost $800,000.

The option will cost $15,000 for the first six months and an additional $15,000 for an extension, but college President Roy Mikalson said that will ultimately be applied to the purchase price for the property, owned by N.T. Bogart, Atherton.

Cost of the property will be $20,000 per acre.

Mikalson said the next step in the acquisition involves various tests of the soil on the property, as well as a detailed survey of the site along with various other tests that must be performed before obtaining approval from governmental agencies in the City of Petaluma and Sonoma County.

Approval from the chancellor's office and the board of governors would also clear the way for application for funds to assist in future construction on the property, he said.

He expected the purchase to be completed within a year, however.

The site is needed, Mikalson said, "because Sonoma County is going to be growing and we've just about reached the capacity of the junior college campus."

The Petaluma site will be a major off-campus center rather than a full campus, which will mean it will have a much smaller management staff, he said.

The existing junior college campus in Santa Rosa is on 93 acres.

"We've been looking at sites in Petaluma for at least 10 years and it's a pleasure to have something we can live with. And it's a good site," he said.

The Bogart property offers easy freeway access for people living in Petaluma, as well as those from the Sonoma Valley, Mikalson said.

Community college role reviewed

By WILLIAM ENDICOTT
McClatchy News Service

SACRAMENTO — "Better days are ahead," Gerald Hayward, chancellor of California's troubled community college system, said recently.

And it would, indeed, seem there is no way to go but up.

Plagued by fragmented leadership and charges that they have failed in trying to be all things to all people, the community colleges have floundered under a mission that has strained both their resources and their credibility.

An independent state commission has begun a review of the system, however. Its interim director, former Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post, said Tuesday that out of that review is likely to come recommendations that will alter fundamentally the community college system for years to come.

Post said in an interview he envisions a toughening of standards and a clearer definition of the role of community colleges in the state's higher education system, as well as recommendations for streamlining the way the colleges are financed and governed.

Community college administrators are "confused" about their role, he said, because they are being criticized for following precisely the mission that was set down for them in the state's Master Plan for Higher Education drafted in 1960.

That plan assigned to the community colleges the multipurpose tasks of offering vocational and occupational training, programs for transferring to four-year schools, and community-oriented courses for continuing education. They also were to maintain an "open-door" policy, which meant admitting many students ill-prepared for college-level work.

Over time, the result has been a decline in the quality of a community college education, a drop in enrollment, and a dramatic decrease in the number of community college students transferring to four-year schools.

"The mission of the community colleges probably is pretty good," said Post. "What has been lacking is content, rigor, the quality of students. Some students are good, some are unbelievably ill-equipped."

"The colleges either could go more toward college-level work, or they could be vocational or technical and forget about transfer courses. I don't think that's right myself ... I don't think that's the way to go."

Instead, Post said, he plans to propose to the commission — its formal name is the Commission to Review the Master Plan for Higher Education — that the "open-door" policy be re-evaluated and that the colleges actually become "college-level in content and rigor — upgrade the whole process."

Under that proposal, remedial education would be sharply de-emphasized, a move bound to raise political questions about the possible exclusion of an ever-growing minority population.

But Post said remedial problems should be dealt with primarily at the secondary school level.

"If you force people into the system who are not qualified, the community colleges are never going to be colleges," he said. "They've got to fish or cut bait on that issue."

Post said the commission also will look at "optional ways of financing" that conceivably could move the two-year schools away from funding based on average daily attendance, which fluctuates according to enrollment.

Under the average-daily-attendance system of financing, more enrollment means more dollars. Some critics have charged that community colleges have maintained loose grading standards to keep students in school, and that they have added unnecessary classes to attract more students.

GETTING BEYOND DENIAL

David Thatcher
September-October 1985

Involved in a college course which studies aspects of the nuclear dilemma, a young woman in distress called home long-distance. Her mother told her to go back to studying because "there's nothing you can do about it." Evidence from those who have studied the worries and fears of people in the nuclear age tends to support the belief that many go from knowing to cynicism to denial. Denial, in fact, seems to be a powerful force in American society.

I am interested in the forms of denial, and I will suggest a way to go beyond it and to take a step toward "beyond war."

Denial of reality: "I know they've got those weapons, but no one will ever use them. The safeguards are fantastic. Besides, they're negotiating in Geneva, aren't they?"

Denial of self: "I have no power. I can't do anything. Besides, what good would it do? When they decide to use the bombs, they will. There's nothing I can do about it. I just go about my business the best I can."

Denial of responsibility: "What do you expect me to do about it? I didn't have anything to do with it. They never asked me if they should build those bombs. It's those Pentagon guys--no way I can stop them. I figure it's nothing to do with me anyway."

Perhaps you've noticed other expressions of denial, or other manifestations of this pervasive form of apathy.

In spite of denial, people do have a readiness to engage in dialogue on the nuclear question. Joanna Macy says that in her despair and empowerment work she has discovered that "Everyone cares....No one wants our world to die....Everyone at some level, feels lonely and isolated facing the dangers that beset their world. And... everyone wants to break out of that isolation cell." (Joanna Macy, Despair and Personal Power in the Nuclear Age, p. 41)

David and Madeline McMurray at Humboldt State University have devised a workshop for people in the state of denial. It is appropriate for high school juniors and seniors, for college and university students, and for other adults.

The McMurrays stress three generalizations: In such a workshop, we must be personal, since we are dealing with the potential destruction of all life. Each participant is asked to "stay in the tension of what you're experiencing today," since all are caught in a giant denial system. While stressing concern for the nuclear nightmare, other threats to our future, such as pollution, are covered. They show slides, beginning with their own children, and tell a little about each of them--an invitation to think of our loved ones and how we would hate to lose them.

Youth today seems to compete, to seek money, to ask for guarantees, to stress marketable skills through education. Yet on one college campus, counselors report 33% of the students have eating disorders, and on another campus 15% of those coming for counseling are actively suicidal.

Very few parents talk with their children--of any age--about nuclear weapons or their possible consequences. There is fear, sadness, despair, and anger.

Most of us feel oppressed by nuclear weapons and by our knowledge of their possible consequences. This affects our close personal relationships, our school and business relationships, and our attitudes toward neighborhood, community, and citizenship.

Video tapes, slides, a myth, discussion, art and writing experiences--all these elements of a Getting Beyond Denial workshop contribute to our ability to choose a different way of living our lives.

- I choose to look at myself as an effective human being.
- I choose to invest in my relationships with others as my friends, and my lover.
- I choose to find ways to be an effective citizen because I want to live, and I want my loved ones to live, along with the plants and animals of our planet.

Only two atomic bombs have been used against people so far. It's up to us, the citizens of the U.S., a relatively free country, who have the best opportunity to see that no more bombs are detonated.

A group of Sonoma County people are putting on despair and empowerment workshops, and plan to do thirty or more in the next year. The workshops are designed to help us look at ourselves and our world differently.

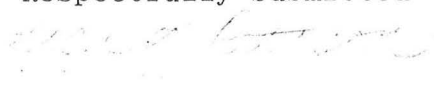

If Getting Beyond Denial interests you, please call the Peace Center, 575-8902 (between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.), or call me at 823-8122 (between 7 a.m. and 9:30 p.m.)

COOP SPEAKER 9-20-85

:on the speakers brought by Elizabeth Eberhardt

The sale of donations for pamphlets and buttons was annouced over the loud speaker without the CSA's permission. Speakers collected so called "donations" even after being asked to stop three times. The speakers were collecting money for both pamphlets and buttons. The speakers were finally told that they would be asked to leave if they continued to collect money. The speakers then proceeded to collect money while we were putting away the sound amplification equipment. The speakers as guests of the CSA should have stopped collecting money when they were asked to do so.

COOP SPEAKER 9000

Concerning the speaking engagement arranged by Elizabeth Eberhardt on September 20, 1985:

Upon leaving the Student Activities Office to check up on the content of the speeches being made, I heard an announcement regarding the sale of pamphlets. I alerted Monica Everson, Arts and Lectures commissioner, standing next to me. She proceeded to inform Ms. Eberhardt that no money could be collected from the sale of pamphlets on campus. Money was being collected by the group and they were warned again. After a third warning, they were still collecting money and calling it "donations".

I feel that this action was inappropriate and gives a bad name to the C.S.A. We invited these speakers as our guests and they hit people up for money. This kind of behavior should not be allowed. Ms. Eberhardt's remaining speakers should be held under closer scrutiny.

Santa Rosa Junior College

MEMO

Date: 8/29/85

To: Thomas Dearth, ASB President
From: Sandy Martinez, Scholarship Office X4740
Subject: Doyle Scholars Welcome Reception

Thomas,

I talked to Bob last week about getting some financial assistance to pay for the cookies and punch at a reception/orientation that is being given for all Doyle recipients. He suggested I put the request in writing to you so that you could present it to the Executive Cabinet on Sept.4.

The purpose of the Doyle Reception is to welcome all of the recipients to the college and to remind them of the requirements to keep the Doyle. Too many students lose it each year and we want to try and stop that from happening.

The cost of the cookies and punch for an estimated 400 people comes to $155.00. I urge you to support my request that the ASB pick up the cost.

Please call me at X4740 so I can give you more complete information.

Thanks.

Sandy

MINUTES

- I. The meeting was called to order at 10:08.
- II. Absent were Kerrin McGunagle
- III. The Agenda was approved as corrected.
- IV. No minutes were available.
- V. REPORTS
 1. Presidents: Thomas reported that the Board of trustees refused to approve the early calender proposal for the 1986-87 school year. Due to the recent state senates refusal to eliminate the .911 factor. The board was afraid that an early calender would decline enrollment, thus the board refused to take the risk of losing more money. This was a blow to the Executive Cabinet since it was a Spring '85 CSA Goal.
 2. Advisors: Bob introduced Ken Holback, Dean of Students and Mary Hanlon, the new Assistant Activities Advisor. He also explained the handouts, and welcomed everyone back.
- VI. APPOINTMENTS
 1. It was moved to appoint Loren Fletcher as Sophomore Representative to the Executive Cabinet and Aileen Fredericks as Recording Secretary. M/S/C
- VII. NEW BUSINESS
 1. FALL '85 GOAL PLANNING SESSION
 1. The Executive Cabinet needs to set a meeting to set some goals for the Fall '85 semester. It takes 2-4 hours. The meeting was set for Tuesday, July 16 at 1pm.
 2. BOOKSTORE--POPPY CREEK--CAFETERIA CHANGES

Bob, Bill Wilbur, Lamont Royer, Roger Madden, and Ken Holback, have been meeting to decide what changes should take place between the Director of Student Activities and the Bookstore, the Cafeteria, and Poppy Creek. All three services have become more and more financially oriented. In the past Lamont Royer, the controller supervised finances and Bob supervised the operational aspects. The group recommended that all three areas be aligned with Lamont Royer and the

2. (cont'd) Business Services Department. This re-commendation was presented to the board of Trustees last night but was postponed due to student concern that all three remain beneficial services for students.
3. CSA ACCOUNTABILITY/STRUCTURE REVISION
In the past the ASB President operated all committees, commissioners, representatives, and Executive Officers. Structure for next semester will be different. All Executive Officers will supervise certain commissioners. This system allows a better balance of power, and takes a strain off the President. It was moved to adopt this structure for Fall '85. M/S/C.
4. PROJECT FILM GRANT EXTENSION
It was moved to extend Jo Powell's Film grant until the Fall semester. M/S/C.
5. HYDE PARK AD HOC COMMITTEE
A committee was established to review Hyde Park. It was moved the committee consist of Executive Cabinet members. M/S/C
6. EXECUTIVE CABINET RESPONSIBILITIES
Thomas asked that all officers attend monthly Board of Trustees meetings, and all cabinet members must work during registration. Recruits for commissioners are also needed.

IX. The meeting was adjourned at 11:30

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

July 2, 1985

TO: ALL STAFF
SANTA ROSA JUNIOR COLLEGE

FROM: ROY G. MIKALSON
SUPERINTENDENT/PRESIDENT

SUBJECT: STATE BUDGET AS SIGNED BY GOVERNOR DEUKMEJIAN JUNE 28, 1985

Once more Governor Deukmejian used his blue-pencil quite liberally with California's community colleges deleting all funding except for $26.1 million for equipment replacement, $5 million for deferred maintenance, and $2,800 for Academic Senates. Wiped out were matriculation funding, catch-up funding, and elimination of the .911 penalty factor.

So a great deal of work goes "down the drain" and the big task of educating the Governor remains.

But we did gain a great deal of support from the legislators and others in Sacramento. Senator Jim Nielsen especially, went out on a "political limb" and supported us hard all the way. Our other legislators also supported us well.

So where are we? Because of our reaching or nearly reaching our ADA goal for 1984-85, Santa Rosa Junior College will be entitled to adequate funding for 1985-86 -- with the continuing stipulation however that we achieve the CAP which is the ADA we achieved this year. In addition, we will have approximately $400,000 more equipment money -- one-time funding to be sure, but a very welcome addition to our equipment purchasing.

Compared to the sixty-nine other districts in California, we are well positioned and very fortunate. We will be offering full programs, we will be able to maintain full staffing, and we will be able to operate at a top quality level for 1985-86.

Much of our excellent positioning is due to the fine work done by all staff during this past year to reach our 11,210 ADA goal. Because of this, we get full funding for 1984-85 and full entitlement for 1985-86 funding. To paraphrase a TV commercial, "We gained our goal the old-fashioned way, we earned it."

Thanks to all of you!

SRJC's re-elected student president tells goals

THOMAS DEARTH

Thomas Dearth, feels good about being elected to a second term as president of Santa Rosa Junior College's Associated Student Body.

He decided to seek re-election because some of the changes and programs he initiated last fall are taking longer than planned.

"The process definitely takes longer than one semester," he said. Or even a year.

Dearth listed some of his goals for the next school year as increased pay for student workers, increased library hours and obtaining a portion of bookstore profits for student government needs.

Increased student pay and longer library hours are on the verge of being accomplished and that gives Dearth room to expand his list of things to seek or to accomplish in the year ahead, like a student handbook explaining teacher expectations, more parking and ways to reach and involve evening students.

And as he said, getting ready for the fall term, "We have the momentum going."

Dearth's administration has started a student government paper meant to keep the student body informed. "So many students don't have a clue as to what we are doing," he said.

The Associated Student Body leaders and the College Student Assembly work with an annual budget of more than $115,000. Funds now come from student body card sales and ticket sales for sports events.

In return, student government supports many events and activities including sports, theater arts, the student newspaper, Concert Choir, band and pep band, emergency student loans and grants, the campus art gallery and Jesse Peter Memorial Museum.

Even though associated student membership is voluntary, the organization does serve non-members. "Everything we do is geared to all students," Dearth said. "All the money we make goes back in increased services."

He also sees student government as an advocacy body for students. He's also learned it's easier to accomplish goals if the students have the support of the administration.

Dearth, a 1983 graduate of Del Norte High School, plans to transfer to the University of California, San Diego, for the 1986-87 school year. He is considering a career in educational administration although he also is interested in biology.

Serving with Dearth in the fall: Maureen Shields, Petaluma, executive vice president; Susan Solstice, Forestville, vice president; Kerrin McGunagle, Petaluma, treasurer, and Leanne Linder, Petaluma, corresponding secretary.

Freshman representatives will be Andrea Dolin, Sebastopol; Allison Horsley, Sonoma, and Carrie Anderson, Tiburon. Sophomore representatives are Ruben Lovato, Petaluma; Loren Fletcher, Chris Newmann, Deseree Salvador and Craig Paschke, all of Santa Rosa.

Brian Wims, Petaluma, will serve as the non-voting student trustee on the SRJC Board of Trustees.

GENESIS

(At the recent CCCT-sponsored regional workshops on superintendent evaluation, the facilitator, James Tatum, shared the following essay with trustees and CEOs in attendance. It's reproduced here for the enjoyment of those not present.)

IF GOD WERE process-oriented, the Book of Genesis would read something like this:

IN THE BEGINNING, God created the Heavens and the Earth. The Earth was without form and void; so God created a small Committee. God carefully balanced the Committee vis-a-vis race, sex, ethnic origin, and economic status in order to interface pluralism with the holistic concept of self-determination according to adjudicatory guidelines. Even God was impressed, and so ended the first day.

AND GOD SAID, "Let the Committee draw up a mission statement." And behold, the Committee decided to prioritize and strategize. And God called that process empowerment. And God thought it sounded pretty good. And evening and morning were the second day.

AND GOD SAID, "Let the Committee determine goals and objectives, and engage in long range planning." Unfortunately, a debate as to the semantic differences between goals and objectives pre-empted almost all of the third day. Although the question was never satisfactorily resolved, God thought the "process" was constructive. And evening and morning were the third day.

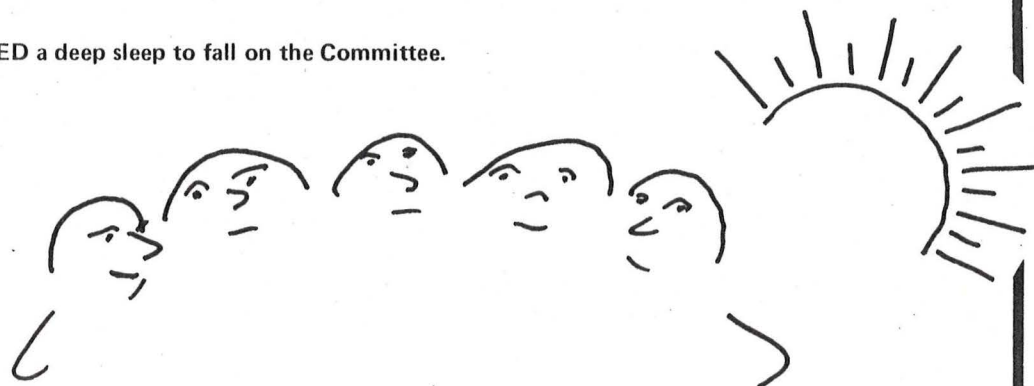

AND GOD SAID, "Let there be a retreat in which the Committee can envision functional organization, and, engaged in planning, be objective." The Committee considered adjustment of priorities and consequential alternatives to program directions and God saw that this was good. And God thought that it was even worth all the coffee and donuts he had to supply. And so ended the fourth day.

AND GOD SAID, "Let the Committee be implemented consistent with long-range planning and strategy." The Committee considered guidelines and linkages and structural sensitivities, and alternative and implemental models. And God saw that this was very democratic. And so would have ended the fifth day, except for the unintentional renewal of the debate about the differences between goals and objectives.

ON THE SIXTH DAY, the Committee agreed on criteria for adjudicatory assessment and evaluation. This was not the agenda God had planned. He wasn't able to attend, however, because he had to take the afternoon off to create day and night, and heaven and earth and seas and plants and trees and seasons and sun and moon and years and birds and fish and animals and human beings.

ON THE SEVENTH DAY, God rested and the Committee submitted its recommendations. It turned out that the recommended forms for things were nearly identical to the way God had already created them; so the Committee passed a resolution commending God for his implementation according to the guidelines. There was, however, some opinion expressed quietly that man should have been created in the Committee's image.

AND GOD CAUSED a deep sleep to fall on the Committee.

John Naisbitt

The best-selling author of Megatrends looks at the future and finds it rosy—but how clear is his crystal ball?

JOHAN NAISBITT, AMERICA'S hottest trend-spotter, is also one of America's hottest trends. There are almost three million copies of his book Megatrends in print, solidly establishing him as the happy-talk prophet of America's shift from the industrial to the information age. Megatrends reassures readers that Everything Is Going to Be All Right. We have seen the future, and it is really neat.

Naisbitt gets his information the same way you do: he (or rather, his assistants) reads daily newspapers to find out what's going on. The difference is that The Naisbitt Group reads about 200 papers, which they claim gives them the Big Picture.

In the 15 years since Naisbitt started clipping news stories, The Naisbitt Group has become a major source of trend information, which is regularly snapped up by business people in the biweekly John Naisbitt's Trend Letter and the quarterly Trend Report.

Though some critics deride The Naisbitt Group's methodology, claiming that it is tainted by far too much human judgment to be valid, Naisbitt doesn't really seem to mind. And if the attacks do hurt his feelings, well—he's crying all the way to the bank.

CAMPUS VOICE: What do you see as the trends for students to follow in terms of majors and jobs?

NAISBITT: There seems to be a compulsion to choose a career at an increasingly early age. I think that's dangerous. In a world that changes so fast, the most important thing for students to learn is how to learn. Then they can just go from one specialty to another, one assignment to another, one career to another. If you really know how to learn you can do that—and if you don't, you're left a little behind.

The other thing is to postpone a career as long as possible. I told my own kids that unless they were going to be musicians or mathematicians, they didn't have to decide what they were going to be when they grew up until they were at least 35. I really believe that, partly because the world is changing so fast and partly because it's tragic when people decide on a career before they even know about the world. Then after being a lawyer for 10 years, you wake up one morning and understand that that's not the right livelihood.

CV: But can't you wait too long? For instance, when you're buying a computer, it seems like a good idea to wait for the best machine to be developed—but you could end up waiting your whole life.

NAISBITT: It's not like buying a computer, because in one case you're only putting a little money on the line, but in the other you're putting your life, your career, and your sense of well-being on the line.

A person might decide too early on some narrow specialty and then find that the need for that specialty has disappeared. Then where is he? On the other hand, if he knows how to learn and to adjust, and the world then changes, he's going to be way ahead of those who don't know how to learn.

CV: What are some careers that you see as growth areas?

NAISBITT: Areas like health care, nutrition, and fitness. Health care because of an aging population and because we're reprivatizing health-care systems. Nutrition and fitness because we're becoming a nation of clerks. When we were farmers and worked in the fields for 10 or 12 hours, I'm sure we didn't feel like going to a fitness boutique at the end of the day. Now those considerations are becoming part of people's lifestyles: they're not fads, but are built in.

CV: Are there other major areas?

NAISBITT: We're in an unbelievable entrepreneurial explosion, with more companies being created today—almost 12,000 a week—than ever before in the history of the United States. The entrepreneur is the new hero in society, and that entrepreneurial side of business is open to young people, too.

CV: So young people should go into business for themselves?

NAISBITT: Well, it's the best time in the world.

CV: What about the predictions that there might be a new recession in 1985?

NAISBITT: I don't give much credence to those predictions. And I don't think there has been a recession or that we're in a recovery. That is a misunderstanding of what is going on.

We're changing economies, which has not happened in 150 years, and this so-called recovery is the new economy overtaking the old. It's much more profound and important than a classic recovery from a classic recession. And the '80s look very good.

CV: But recession is marked by high unemployment, which we've had. People call that a recession.

NAISBITT: I understand that there is high unemployment, but that's because of the structural change. I also understand that it is no less painful to be unemployed and be told it's "structural" rather than a "classic recession." But it doesn't serve us to think it's a recession when it's really a structural change.

Unemployment has gone down, and as the new economy accelerates—as it is doing—and creates more jobs, it will continue to go down. We're going to have a negative gain in the work force starting a few years from now; as the baby-boom generation gets older, there will be more people leaving the work force than entering it. We're going to have terrific labor shortages for the rest of the century. So in just a couple of years, we'll move into a terrific sellers' market; there will be tremendous competition among companies for the people coming out of college.

CV: You have called the transitional period in the economy a time of "parenthesis." When is the parenthesis going to close?

NAISBITT: That's hard to say. The last time we changed economies, it took about 85 or 90 or 100 years. This time it will take far less than that, and my own sense is that we're more than halfway through it.

CV: Let's talk about how you make these predictions. The Trend Report and your book Megatrends give the impression of a scientific enterprise...

NAISBITT: We think so.

CV: But there's a lot of room for human judgment and error, isn't there? Your analysts chart trends by deciding what's important in the newspapers, and the newspaper editors have made their own decisions about what's important by selecting which stories to cover. That alone is two levels of human intervention.

NAISBITT: Well, I have to tell you that we're not very interested in newspapers. What we're interested in is what's going on locally.

CV: But you get that information from newspapers.

NAISBITT: That's correct, but we don't care very much how the newspapers report it. What we're interested in are those events that are so insistent that they will be reported.

For example, a plant closes in Knoxville, Tennessee. I'm only interested that a certain kind of plant is closing; perhaps that same thing is occurring in other parts of the country. Now, this is a highly imperfect way of doing it, but there's no substitute for really learning what's going on in society. And there's just nothing that comes remotely close to local newspapers if you're interested in local change. If you've got another idea I'm all ears.

CV: Don't newspapers just cover the obvious things?

NAISBITT: But I'm interested in the things that are really obvious, the things that are insistent.

CV: About the people who choose which articles to clip and then analyze them—what sort of training do they get to prepare them for the job?

NAISBITT: We don't use any experts because they can absolutely not be trusted. They've all got their noses too close to the bark of the tree, and we're trying to see what's happening to the forest. The best training by far is journalism, which produces generalists who can see the connections. And of course we all learn from each other.

Soon, there will be tremendous competition among companies for the people coming out of college."

CV: Let's look at one of the trends as an example. You reported a movement toward self-help and away from institutional or government help. Some people have observed that this trend, reported in your 1982 book, coincided with the basic tenets of Reaganomics.

NAISBITT: No, self-help has been going on for more than a decade. Reagan, as I said in the book, is riding a horse in the direction the horse has been going. And decentralization has been going on for two decades.

Overreaching trends are not initiated from Washington or New York. What's going on in this country is what's going on locally. Look at the civil rights movement; that didn't start in Washington. Neither did the impetus to end the war in Vietnam, or the women's rights movement.

CV: So you're saying that if a Democrat were elected president and reinstituted a lot of the programs and funding that have been cut....

NAISBITT: A Democrat in the White House would have very little effect—no more than Reagan's being in the White House has had very much effect.

Things have occurred because of a confluence of powerful trends. And as we become part of a global economy, our initiatives are increasingly puny, because we're linked up with all the other economies of the world. So that's why I say it doesn't matter very much who's president.

CV: I can think of a few top-down events that would have profound effects on the local scene—what about problems like a famine, or even a war?

NAISBITT: What about them? If we have a nuclear holocaust, we're all gone. In my lectures, I tell audiences, "I sense the growing acknowledgement around the world that nuclear war would be very bad for business." I speak mostly to business audiences and they laugh, then they applaud. It would be very bad for everybody.

I think, though, you have to proceed. You can't climb into the cave, and you can't not think about what you're going to do with your life and just be paralyzed because of the possibility that we're going to blow ourselves up.

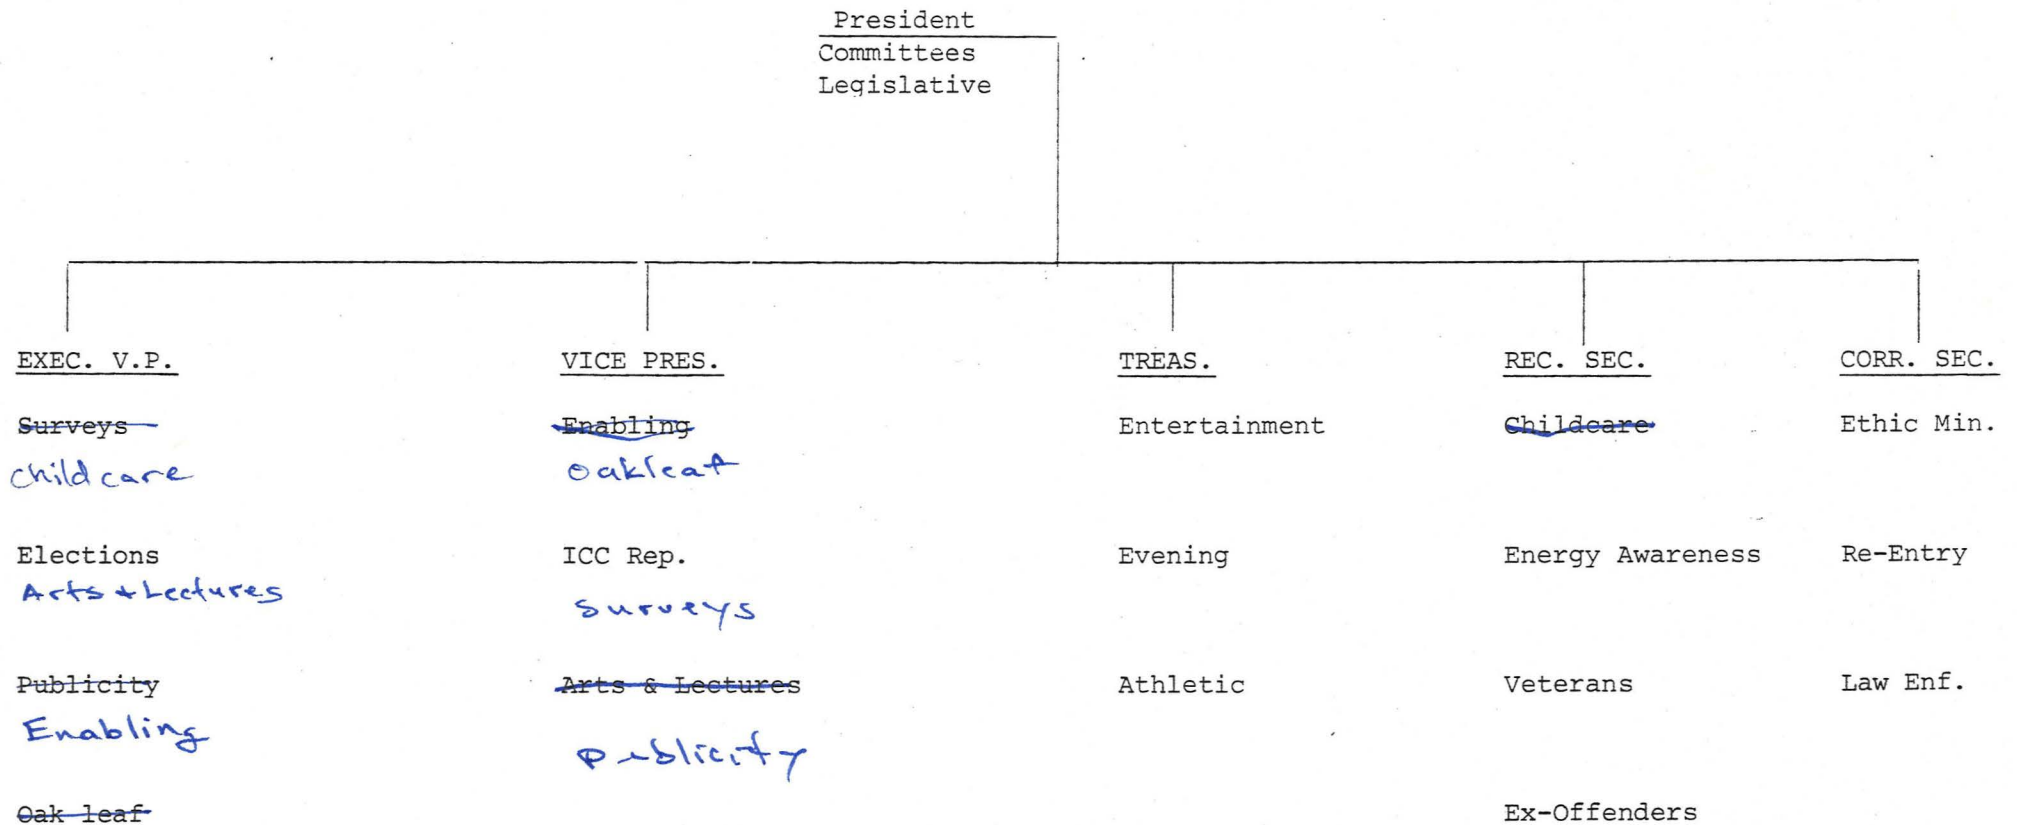

The global economy is our great hope for world peace, perhaps our only hope, because the point is to get economically interdependent and interlaced. When the Korean airliner was shot down, we didn't change one single economic arrangement with the Soviet Union—that would have devastated our farmers. We're already too interdependent.

CV: Does the image of you, especially in the business press, as a kind of latter-day Nostradamus make you feel honored, or powerful, or just silly?

NAISBITT [laughs]: All I'm trying to do is figure out what's going on now. The only basis for predicting what might happen tomorrow is doing the hard work of finding out what's occurring in society today. If we know what's going on today, we can get a much better sense of what might go on tomorrow—much better, surely, than if we're instructed by information that's four, five or six years old. Most people don't have the luxury of spending all their time figuring it out. What we're really devoted to is understanding the present. ■

Sirs:

As a Project/Film Grant recipient I am requesting to hold my 1985 spring Grant until 1985 Fall. I understand that it is possible to hold the Grant for a semester and I would like to take advantage of that option. Because of production problems I was unable to finish my film by the end of the 1985 Spring semester and hope, with no more delays, to finish the film by the end of the fall semester 1985. Thank you for your cooperation.

CLUBDAZECLUBDAZECLUBDAZECLUBDAZE

Club Days Are Here Again!

Thursday and Friday, September 26 & 27, from 10 am to 2 pm., Club members will be out in the COOP PATIO AREA, talking to students, letting them know what their clubs are about and what they plan to accomplish this semester.

Club Days are probably the most important event that happens each semester for clubs -- it's their opportunity to reach out to other students who have similiar interests. So cut 'em some slack and hear them out! Perhaps there is a club on campus that matches your interest.

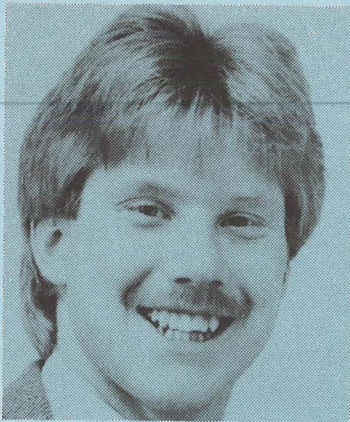

Club Days, most importantly, are students making friends and offering each other support.

___ And so, as you wander through the booths, if you don't find the club that you're looking for, START ONE! It's easy. Talk to the people in the Student Activities Office, they'll be glad to get you started.

A.S.B. TODAY

ASB TODAY

THOMAS DEARTH
ASB PRESIDENT

BRIAN WIMS
STUDENT TRUSTEE

There are many people who haven't the slightest idea of what the Associated Student Body is about. Unfortunately many people feel that joining is just another way to waste $10.00.

The Associated Students are students helping students. We administer a budget of over $100,000.00, which is channeled directly back into student services and programs. The ASB partially funds every athletic program on campus, Theatre Arts and the Forensics Team. We distribute over $6,000 in emergency loans; $1,500 in student project/film grants; and $7,500 to Poppy Creek for it's operation. The list goes on, and for those interested a complete copy of the budget can be obtained in the Student Activities Office (SAO).

There are many benefits to be gained by becoming a member. However, many students are not aware that the ASB is the recognized liaison between the students and the administration. We are the ones who lead the way in determining students' rights and responsibilities. So many students fail to recognize the importance of the students' voice, input and ideas. Case in point - the extension of library hours. This became reality by students working with the administration and letting them know that more hours were needed.

The ASB helps and aids all students. It is important for all students to give their support in order maintain a healthy ASB. So that it will always be there and be intact when you need help. In fact, by supporting the ASB you are supporting yourself.

Welcome to S.R.J.C. I applaud your choice of schools, but more importantly, your decision of higher education.

As this year's student Trustee, I invite you to our board meetings which are held at 7:30 p.m. in Plover Library, Room 1, the second Monday of each month.

Santa Rosa Junior College is governed by the Board of Trustees which consists of 7 county-wide elected officials and a student representative who is elected by the students. The function of this board is to set policy and it provides a forum for discussion, for praises, and grievances.

The main purpose of this group however is to see that the Junior College is well managed and that dollars are wisely spent and that the investment and interests of the public are protected.

Our Junior College is rated highly for it's excellent programs and our wealth of faculty, staff and administration. Part of that success is student input. Students' voices and opinions are often very productive.

FEEDBACK IS NECESSARY TO EVALUATE THE EFFECTIVE WORTH OF OUR INSTITUTION

I encourage you to express your ideas to your student government officers who can be located in the Student Activities Office (SAO). We're here when you need a little help or support.

Once again, WELCOME !

Other student rules, regulations and constitutions shall not be in conflict with this constitution.---"

This Preamble to the Constitution of the Associated Students was adopted by the College Student Assembly during the Fall semester of 1967.

Today, the College Student Assembly is the main legislative body of this Association, and meets in Rm. 360 of Pioneer Hall each Monday from 3:00 to 5:00.

Our goals have not changed. The purpose of this Association is to furnish rules, regulations and policies under which students, students groups, clubs and organizations may be coordinated, harmonized and integrated.

The CSA consists of a voting membership of all elected CSA officers, five Sophomore representatives, five Freshman representatives, and eighteen appointed commissioners at large. Each is entitled to one vote. These are the students who volunteer their time in student activities, such as Club Days, Hot Dog Day, the Used Book Faire, the Lost and Found Auction, the Blood Drive and all other sponsored activities. In addition, the ASB operates a budget of over $100,000.00.

It is the responsibility of CSA to distribute these funds throughout the programs and activities on campus. The College Student Assembly is usually the sourcepool for college-wide committees, tours and orientations.

We welcome you to sit in on the meetings. Let us know when you're angry and not going to take it anymore; or heaven forbid, when we're doing something right. We don't read minds as of yet, but for the meantime, we're working on it.

The INTER-CLUB COUNCIL is the support system for clubs of SRJC. All clubs choose a representative to attend I.C.C. meetings, which are held from 12-1, TUESDAYS in the Student Activities Office in the Assembly Room.

During the I.C.C. meetings, the clubs find out what their responsibilities are and what other clubs are doing. Clubs schedule their activities and fund raisers so they don't conflict with each other and generally get whatever assistance they need.

The I.C.C. is a branch of student government (ASB) and is the adjunct to College Student Assembly (CSA). Clubs usually provide some of the volunteers needed for Welcome Day, the Used Book Faire, the Blood Drive, etc.... Club members are active and involved. Often, many club members become further involved by running for office in the College Student Assembly (CSA).

At the end of each semester, clubs which have been especially active receive mention and an award for participation in the campus activities. One club receives the BEST CLUB AWARD.

The meetings are run by the ASB Vice-President, SUSAN SOLSTICE.

SRJC to show heady product

Santa Rosa Junior College is releasing a wine produced from grapes grown on the college farm near Forestville but you don't need an educated palate to enjoy this wine nurtured in the vineyards of higher learning.

SRJC agriculture students, involved in almost every aspect of the wine's production and marketing, are encouraging wine bibbers to simply "enjoy the fruits of our education." The SRJC wine, a 1984 chardonnay, will be released at a public tasting 4 to 6 p.m. Oct. 21 at Dry Creek Vineyards, the Healdsburg winery that made the wine in cooperation with the college.

The wine sells for $8 bottle. There were 750 cases produced.

The release celebration is open to the public. Admission is free. The first case of the wine will be presented to Robert Shone, a former Santa Rosa Junior College trustee for whom the college farm is named. In addition to the vineyards, SRJC's Shone Farm, a 365-acre ranch on Eastside Road between Forestville and Healdsburg, includes hay and silage operations, cattle, sheep and swine. The vineyards include the chardonnay grapes as well as blocks of zinfandel, sauvignon blanc, pinot blanc and semillion.

Sonoma County wineries have been purchasing the college's grapes for years but Dry Creek Vineyards was the first winery to keep the Shone Farm grapes in a separate lot so they could be marketed with the farm's appellation, said Kathleen Simmons, agribusiness instructor at SRJC.

David Stare, Dry Creek Vineyards' owner-winemaker and a part-time wine marketing instructor at SRJC, said he came up with the idea of marketing the SRJC wine under a special label last December. The plan was approved by school trustees earlier this year.

Although Dry Creek made the wine, SRJC students played a big role in production and marketing.

Simmons said viticulture students pruned the vines and tended the grapes, graphic design students created the wine label and the agriculture marketing class came up with a marketing and promotion plan to sell the wine.

Although Stare will recoup his costs from the sale of the wine, he is donating the profits — about $36 a case — to the college farm. The wine sales are expected to raise $25,000 for farm improvements.

Stare describes the wine as a "good, sound, well-made chardonnay" that will mature in the bottle and be ready to drink about Thanksgiving. He said the wine should be good for three to five years.

All of the wine will be sold at Dry Creek Vineyards because SRJC does not have a resale liquor license. Dry Creek Vineyards, at 3770 Lambert Bridge Road, is the only place the wine will be sold. After the release celebration the SRJC wine will be available during Dry Creek's regular tasting hours, 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily.

IN CONGRESS, JULY 4, 1776.

A DECLARATION

BY THE REPRESENTATIVES OF THE
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, IN GENERAL CONGRESS ASSEMBLED.

WHEN in the Course of human Events, it becomes necessary for one People to dissolve the Political Bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the Powers of the Earth, the separate and equal Station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent Respect to the Opinions of Mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the Separation.

We hold these Truths to be self-evident, that all Men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness—That to secure these Rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just Powers from the Consent of the Governed, that whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these Ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its Foundation on such Principles, and organizing its Powers in such Form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient Causes; and accordingly all Experience hath shewn, that Mankind are more disposed to suffer, while Evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the Forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long Train of Abuses and Usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object, evinces a Design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their Right, it is their Duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future Security. Such has been the patient Sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the Necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government.

Government. The History of the present King of Great-Britain is a History of repeated Injuries and Usurpations, all having in direct Object the Establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid World.

He has refused his Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public Good.

He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing Importance, unless suspended in their Operation till his Assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other Laws for the Accommodation of large Districts of People, unless those People would relinquish the Right of Representation in the Legislature, a Right inestimable to them, and formidable to Tyrants only.

He has called together Legislative Bodies at Places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the Depository of their public Records, for the sole Purpose of fatiguing them into Compliance with his Measures.

He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly Firmness his Invasions on the Rights of the People.

He has refused for a long Time, after such Dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the Legislative Powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the mean time exposed to all the Dangers of Invasion from without, and Convulsions within.

He has endeavoured to prevent the Population of these States; for that Purpose obstructing the Laws for Naturalization of Foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their Migrations hither, and raising the Conditions of new Appropriations of Lands.

He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws for establishing Judiciary Powers.

He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the Tenure of their Offices, and the Amount and Payment of their Salaries.

He has erected a Multitude of new Offices, and sent hither Swarms of Officers to harrass our People, and eat out their Substance.

He has kept among us, in Times of Peace, Standing Armies, without the consent of our Legislatures.

He has affected to render the Military independent of and superior to the Civil Power.

He

He has combined with others to subject us to a Jurisdiction foreign to our Constitution, and unacknowledged by our Laws; giving his Assent to their Acts of pretended Legislation:

For quartering large Bodies of Armed Troops among us;

For protecting them, by a mock Trial, from Punishment for any Murders which they should commit on the Inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our Trade with all Parts of the World:

For imposing Taxes on us without our Consent:

For depriving us, in many Cases, of the Benefits of Trial by Jury:

For transporting us beyond Seas to be tried for pretended Offences:

For abolishing the free System of English Laws in a neighbouring Province, establishing therein an arbitrary Government, and enlarging its Boundaries, so as to render it at once an Example and fit Instrument for introducing the same absolute Rule into these Colonies:

For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws, and altering fundamentally the Forms of our Governments:

For suspending our own Legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with Power to legislate for us in all Cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated Government here, by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us.

He has plundered our Seas, ravaged our Coasts, burnt our Towns, and destroyed the Lives of our People.

He is, at this Time, transporting large Armies of foreign Mercenaries to compleat the Works of Death, Desolation, and Tyranny, already begun with circumstances of Cruelty and Perfidy, scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous Ages, and totally unworthy the Head of a civilized Nation.

He has constrained our fellow Citizens taken Captive on the high Seas to bear Arms against their Country, to become the Executioners of their Friends and Brethren, or to fall themselves by their Hands.

He has excited domestic Insurrections amongst us, and has endeavoured to bring on the Inhabitants of our Frontiers, the merciless Indian Savages, whose known Rule of Warfare, is an undistinguished Destruction, of all Ages, Sexes and Conditions.

In every stage of these Oppressions we have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble Terms: Our repeated Petitions have been answered only by repeated Injury. A Prince, whose Character is thus marked by every act which may define a Tyrant, is unfit to be the Ruler of a free People.

Nor

Not have we been wanting in Attentions to our British Brethren. We have warned them from Time to Time of Attempts by their Legislature to extend an unwarrantable Jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the Circumstances of our Emigration and Settlement here. We have appealed to their native Justice and Magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the Ties of our common Kindred to disavow these Usurpations, which, would inevitably interrupt our Connections and Correspondence. They too have been deaf to the Voice of Justice and of Consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the Necessity, which denounces our Separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of Mankind, Enemies in War, in Peace, Friends.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, in GENERAL CONGRESS, Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the World for the Rectitude of our Intentions, do, in the Name, and by Authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly Publish and Declare, That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be, FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES; that they are absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political Connection between them and the State of Great-Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which INDEPENDENT STATES may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm Reliance on the Protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our sacred Honor.

Signed by ORDER and in BEHALF of the CONGRESS,

JOHN HANCOCK, PRESIDENT.

Trustee candidates campaign at SRJC

By JOHN ADAMS

Five candidates seeking two seats on Santa Rosa Junior College's Board of Trustees in the Nov. 5 election addressed a noon gathering of students, faculty and employees Monday outside Doyle Student Center.

The candidates' visit was the first of three events co-sponsored by faculty organizations and students. The next sessions will be Oct. 22 in Doyle Student Center's Faculty Lounge for Santa Rosa incumbent Larry Bertolini and challenger Diane Doble, and Oct. 24 at Sebastopol Library for Analy area candidates B. Robert Burdo, James Neeley and David Salm. The west Sonoma County trio seeks the seat John Jacobs is vacating because of poor health.

Both sessions start at 7 p.m.

An trustee for eight years, Bertolini says he is seeking re-election out of concern for state master planning and expected legislation that could influence what community colleges teach, class size and the loss of more local control. "I want to make sure the college continues to respond to the needs of our community," he said.

Doble, a former Cloverdale school board member now living in Santa Rosa, said the students should listen to all candidates because the college is spending a $35 million budget. "You should be deciding what's happening," she said.

Speaking first among Analy candidates, Burdo, who runs the family apple business in Sebastopol, said board service gives him "an opportunity to put back some of what I've received" as an SRJC graduate.

From Guerneville, Neeley said he wants to address things like the parking problem while maintaining the excellence of teaching, "what the college does best." In the investment business, he also wants to work with major campus groups and become part of the decision-making process.

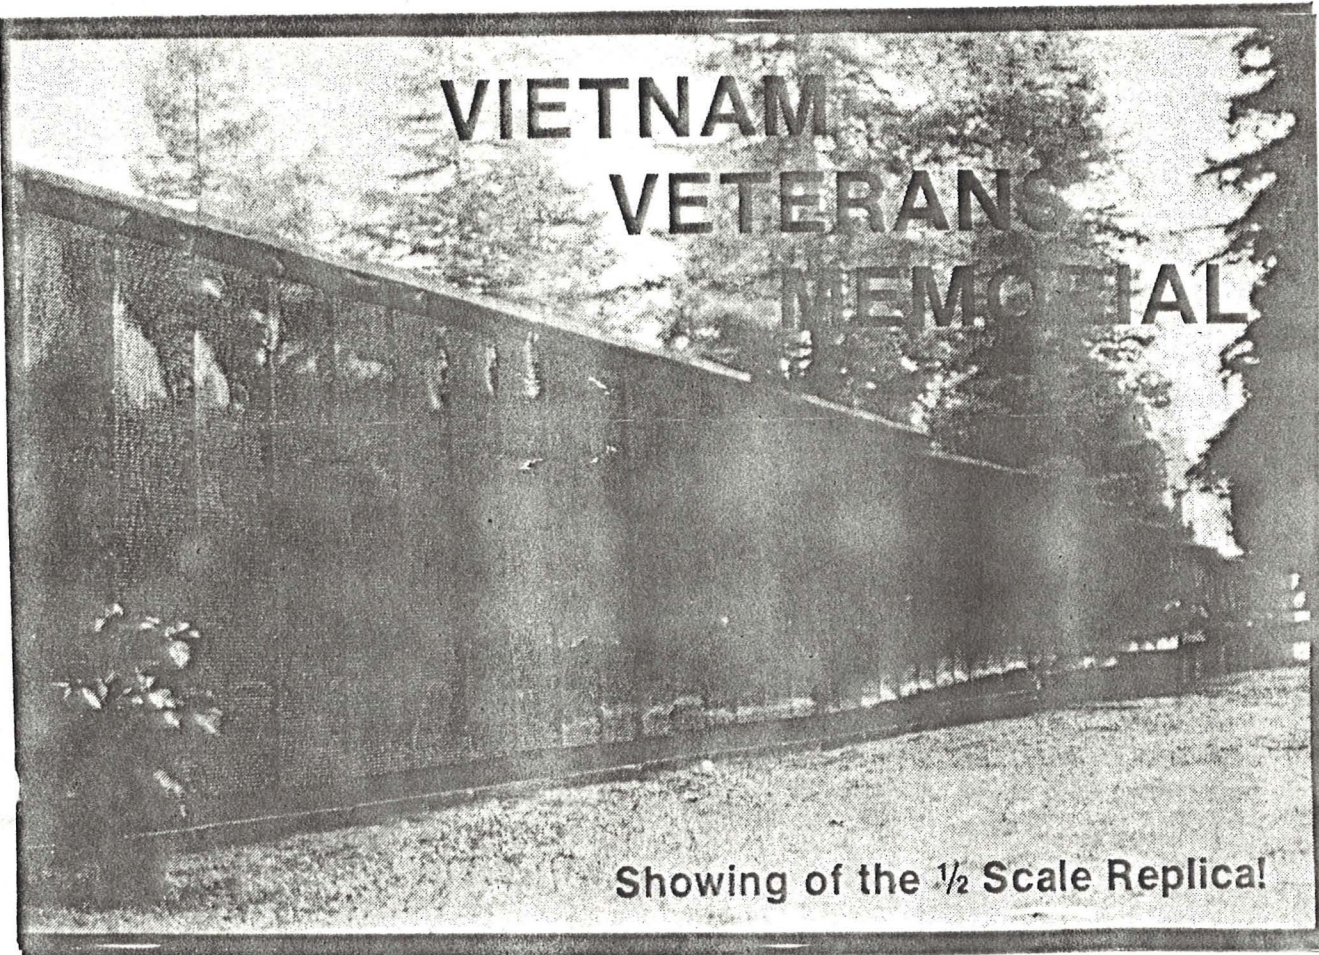

Salm, a Forestville resident, said the students and staff should know the trustees making decisions for them. He said the college has been too involved with buildings and equipment and not enough with the students and staff. He chided the college for maintaining a large annual surplus. "Let's not forget, there's nothing junior about this college," he said.

The only speaker to use his four minutes, Salm said the college faces no fiscal crisis. If elected, he said he will get the college "back on track."

President
Santa Rosa Junior College

Santa Rosa, CA 95401

Dear Dr. Mikalson:

Two and a half years ago in Washington D.C. America dedicated a memorial to the over 58,000 Americans who gave their lives in Vietnam. This memorial stands as a poignant and appropriate statement of the sacrifices made by the men and women whose names are inscribed on the black reflective granite. A statement that for history expresses the deep respect and gratitude of the American people. The memorial also serves to heal the wounds of the living and the loved ones that will forever know the reality of America's longest war.

There is a half-size replica of the memorial that travels to sponsoring communities around the nation, allowing those unable to go to Washington D.C. an opportunity to view it and participate in activities memorializing those from their communities who died in Vietnam.

The Redwood Empire Chapter of Vietnam Veterans of America is seeking support from the community to bring the replica to Santa Rosa sometime in the Fall. The costs of reproduction, packaging and transportation are covered by a number of corporations. In order to identify an appropriate location for the half-size replica (it is 250 feet long and 6 feet high) and put on various events, we need the support of the entire community.

We are asking that you join us in sponsoring this event and indicate your support by providing us a letter of endorsement. If you have any questions or ideas that would assist us in making this a successful event, please contact me at (707) 545-4810 or Peter Cameron at (707) 523-7465.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Fred Ptucha
Chairman
Vietnam Veterans Memorial Committee

PRELIMINARY PROPOSAL FOR VIETNAM MEMORIAL
DISPLAY IN SANTA ROSA

The Event:

A half scale replica of the Vietnam Memorial in Washington D.C. would be brought to Santa Rosa, erected on a site for public viewing and maintained for approximately 10 days. Various events would occur throughout the community during the 10 day period (see below)

When:

The desired dates would be in mid to late April 1986. Tentatively we would like to have the Memorial on display from Saturday, April 12 through April 19th with the erection of the Memorial taking place on Friday, April 11th and removal taking place on Monday, April 21st. These dates would enable us to commemorate the 11th anniversary of the end of the Vietnam War. The dates could be moved back a week, starting April 4th or ahead one week, starting April 18th, if necessary.

Sponsoring Organization"

Redwood Empire Chapter of Vietnam Vets of America (VVA) would be the sponsor and coordinator, although VVA plans to reach out to the entire community to request support and assistance. The VVA has established a Memorial Committee. The Chairman is Fred Ptucha, 101 D Street, Santa Rosa, CA 95404 and the Assistant Chairman is Peter Cameron, P.O. 545-4810 Box 378, Santa Rosa, CA 95402 578-8387

Mobile Vietnam Memorial Replica

What support and involvement is being requested of the Santa Rosa Junior College?

- 1) Permission to erect the replica of the Memorial "under the oaks" in the front of the SRJC campus.
- 2) Permission to hold a memorial service in front of the memorial and possibly permit religious/church groups from the greater Santa Rosa to also hold memorial services at the memorial on both Sundays it is being displayed.
- 3) Use of one medium size lecture hall where films and video tapes about Vietnam could be viewed, as well as key lectures presented.
- 4) Use of a smaller classroom for additional small group lectures and discussions about Vietnam.
- 5) Assistance in working with SRJC Instructor , Cliff Hodder and organizing, promoting and presenting an intensive indepth course on "The Vietnam Experience". It is hoped that this course could be given for credit and that it could be offered not only to present students of SRJC, but also members of the community at large.

*All costs associated with publicity, course material, renting of films etc. would be the responsibility of VVA.

Why does VVA wish to have the Memorial and other events at SRJC?

- 1) The members of the committee want to reach out to involve as many groups and individuals in greater Santa Rosa, as possible. We believe SRJC, as an institution, best embodies the heart, soul and spirit of greater Santa Rosa and as such is the natural and most suitable focal point for this event.

- 2) With a present enrollment of ²⁴two thousand students and its location on Mendocino Avenue in the heart of town, placing the Memorial under the oaks would obtain maximum impact on the Santa Rosa community.
- 3) The setting, under the oaks, on the green lawn is ideal in its beauty and tranquility.
- 4) The SRJC campus is served by several bus routes in the Santa Rosa Transit System and also by Golden Gate and Sonoma County Transit System which makes it one of the most readily accessible locations available.
- 5) The SRJC Campus has many classrooms and lecture halls, which would greatly enhance the ability of conducting the educational symposium and lecture series about the Vietnam Experience.
- 6) SRJC already has an outstanding reputation of reaching out to the entire community through its adult and continued educational classes. With the existing community wide net work in place it would greatly facilitate the VVA in achieving the maximum exposure to all members of the community.

Submission of this proposal to the SRJC Board of Trustees:

- 1) We would like to request an opportunity to make a presentation to the SRJC Board of Trustees, as soon as possible. The members of the Veterans Committee here today, would make the presentation and we would also like to bring a video tape of the mobile memorial we would bring to Santa Rosa - taken while it was on display in Alaska, Texas and various communities throughout California.

If we receive approval from the Trustees, we would like to establish a firm date, as soon as possible and begin working with Cliff Hodder, to prepare a curriculum that could be included in the SRJC's Spring 1986 Catalog.

NEW BUSINESS

- Subscription to Pravda

Presented by Ed Tollefson

PROPOSAL: ASB funding for library subscription, or partial funding with sponsorship of donation fund for subscription.

BRIEF: The Soviet Union's Official Daily newspaper "The Truth" is now available in original format in English. The library considers it a worthwhile acquisition of definite academic value. The Political Science Dept. also desires its acquisition for use in PS 25, PS 2 and other related courses. Several campus clubs, (Young Democrats, Young Republicans etc.) also express desire for its acquisition. Unfortunately, no department, or group can fund the $630.00 yearly cost.

My goal is to obtain first year funding by ASB. Subsequent funding hopefully will be granted from academic funds.

ANNOUNCING

The First English Language Edition of PRAVDA — The Soviet Union's Official Daily — Delivered Direct to You in FULL TEXT AND ORIGINAL FORMAT, 365 Days A Year

An immense scholarly contribution . . .

*"We are most impressed.
Graduate students are very happy."* — COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

"PRAVDA in English would reach an infinitely larger audience than the Russian version we now carry, which can only be read by a select few." — VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY

"Will fill a true need among all students of life in Russia today and among those who seek to understand the formulation of attitudes of the Russian people toward the United States." — U.S. SENATOR RUDY BOSCHWITZ

"To call it required reading is understatement." — WILSON LIBRARY BULLETIN

PRAVDA does not report the news. What PRAVDA says is the news. Over 10 million people in the Soviet Union rely on PRAVDA for the official — and only — version of events in the world. And in America. Yet until now knowledge of what is being written inside the Soviet Union about America, the free world, and indeed the Soviets themselves has been limited to an elite group of academics and Kremlinologists. Serious students of Soviet affairs have had to rely on sporadic translations, sketchy news reports and edited summaries.

A world first. At last, a staff of highly skilled translators, graphic artists and photocomposition experts has been assembled by a completely independent firm with over 60 years publishing experience to produce the finest English translation possible . . . current, complete and unedited.

An exceptional tool for people in business, politics and academics. For the first time, you will have at your fingertips original source material unavailable anywhere else. You can report absolutely authoritatively on Soviet affairs and the plans of the central government when you say, "according to a recent article in PRAVDA . . ."

Now you, too, can be privy to Pravda's dogma

by Christopher Swan
staff writer of the Christian Science Monitor

Boston

On Sept. 6, an article in the Soviet Union's largest newspaper, Pravda, made passing reference to a shortfall in state revenues caused by decreased income from alcohol taxes. This signaled Harvard research fellow David E. Powell, a specialist in Soviet social issues, that the current crackdown on alcoholism in the Soviet Union may be working.

To such a specialized reader, Pravda provides at least a partial view of the inner workings of the governmental machinery.

Wouldn't it be nice to display that world to inquiring American readers whose Russian is limited to nyet and da?

That's the proposition of a daily English-language translation scheduled for a November publication by Charles C. Cox, Minnesota businessman.

In preliminary runs, this new translation (largely intended for scholars and libraries) has been troubled with translation issues that some scholars say cast serious doubts on its value. Supporters and workers on the project respond that such Russian translation disagreements are commonplace.

Extracts from Pravda and numerous other USSR publications have been published by the venerable Current Digest of the Soviet Press since 1949. But because the new Pravda translation will deliver the paper's full text (delayed by at least several days), the Minnesota publishers sold it as a "unique source material essentially denied Americans for 60 years." The two facsimile issues available from Cox so far put into the average American reader's hands a cryptic artifact of the censorship and official double-talk in the Soviet Union.

Andrew Sedych, editor of the Russian language newspaper Novoye Russkoye slovo, published in New York City, ob-order not to read Pravda." But Kremlin-watchers and students of Russian society slog determinedly through the thin (usually six-page) newspaper every day, searching for fragmentary insights often buried in a sea of gray polemic.

It is not an easy task. Harvard's Mr. Powell calls Pravda "dull, unutterably boring," and says it is "designed to lull people into a kind of insensibility. . . . You will get in Pravda what the Politburo considers appropriate."

What the Politburo considered appropriate for the lead item in the Aug. 18 issue, according to the English-language prototype, was an article running under the headline "To Each — According to His Labor," which proclaimed: "Concern for people is [the] law of the life of a socialist society." Another Page 1 article, subtitled "Attention to the Stockpiling of Fodder," began, "We have three mechanized teams," explained the head agronomist of the farm, R. Sibgatullin." A tiny story at the bottom of the page tells of "a hunger strike against the bloody repression of the Guatemalan people by the pro-American regime which rules that country."

The language in which such Pravda stories are told is calculatedly doctrinaire and arcane. "Even the average Soviet citizen cannot understand Pravda very well," says Boston University's Yelena Gessen, who translated Soviet defector Arkady Shevchenko's English-language memoirs, "Breaking with Moscow," into Russian.

Ms. Gessen, a lecturer at BU's Russian Studies Institute, found what she considered glaring errors in the two English-language Pravda prototypes put out by Cox: "machinery" rendered as "techniques," "farm" rather than "livestock section," and the mechanization of water sun-

Pravda's arcane style is too confusing for many Soviets; now English-speakers may be able to gauge that for themselves

Prototype translation uses same kind of style as Soviet version

Prof. Maurice Friedberg, head of the Slavonic studies department at the University of Illinois — who has been associated with the Current Digest of the Soviet Press, the source-document for much scholarship in this country — verified these errors and others by telephone.

On the other hand, Boris Sorokin, an associate professor specializing in Tolstoy at the University of Kentucky, maintains that the Pravda translations by the Minnesota project are "remarkably accurate" ferent ways of translating Russian into English." Asked about errors identified by other translators, he replied: "This is a wonderful idea shouldered by people who may not themselves be experts in Russian. [But] I am sure as they get launched with 'daily production' they will weed these errors out.

"We realize that we are not going to be letter-perfect," publisher Cox acknowledges. His chief translator, Alexander

IDEAS

College in St. Paul, Minn., argues that Russian translations are generally full of controversies over which reasonable scholars disagree.

At the heart of this confusion is the fact that Soviet journalism is a hermetic world governed by volumes of censorship regulations and close bureaucratic scrutiny.

Boris Bochstein, managing editor of Novoye Russkoye Slovo, served for 11 years as a staff editor for Moskovskaya Pravda, a capital-city counterpart of the national Pravda. He says the operative slogan in the mind of Soviet journalists, when it comes to anything but safe, party jargon, is "Don't think about it, don't write about it."

"Practically nobody [asks for] Pravda," observes George Estafy, technical assistant at the New York Public Library's Slavonic Division. The far more colorful Literaturnaya Gazeta (Literary Gazette) gets better circulation at the library, as does Izvestia, the other general circulation, national newspaper of the Soviet Union, and Krasnaya Zvezda, or Red Star, the military journal.

The Soviet managerial journal Ekho has "carried a wide variety of controversial articles," adds Dr. Mark Beissinger, an assistant professor of government at Harvard's Russian Research Center. "A lot of other journals and newspapers... are more rich and interesting than Pravda."

The Voice of Student Government

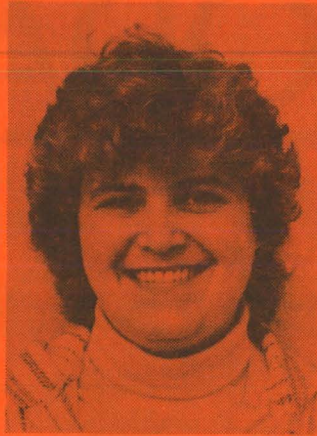

ASB ELECTIONS

FEEL LIKE BEING IN STUDENT GOVERNMENT NEXT SEMESTER AND EARNING CREDITS FOR IT TOO! OFFICES AVAILABLE ARE PRESIDENT, VICE PRESIDENT, EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT, CORRESPONDING SECRETARY, RECORDING SECRETARY, TREASURER, FIVE SOPHOMORE REPS AND FIVE FRESHMAN REPS.

JUST PICK UP YOUR PETITION IN THE STUDENT ACTIVITIES OFFICE. THEY WILL BE AVAILABLE AT 8:00 A.M. ON FRIDAY NOVEMBER 1. THE DEADLINE FOR THE RETURN OF PETITIONS IS THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 14, AT 5:00 P.M. THE PETITIONS TURNED IN FIRST, ARE FIRST TO BE PUT ON THE BALLOT.

THERE WILL BE A CANDIDATES MEETING AT 12:00, NOVEMBER 14, IN PIONEER HALL. ANY OTHER USEFUL INFORMATION WILL BE ON THE PETITIONS THEMSELVES. FEEL FREE TO ASK IN THE STUDENT ACTIVITIES OFFICE REGARDING THE RESPONSIBILITIES PERTAINING TO CERTAIN OFFICES.

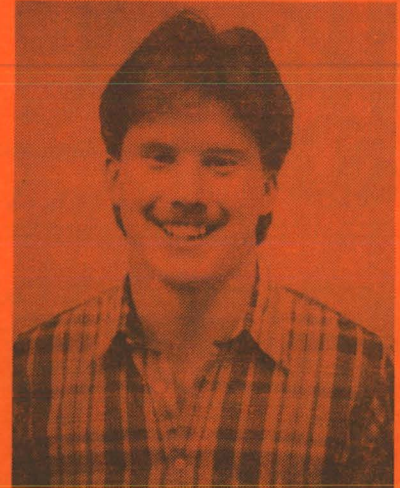

ASB VICE PRESIDENT

Being Vice President has been a challenge and a lot of fun. The fun part is helping the clubs get organized, working with other students, and knowing that my efforts are helping students all over the campus.

The challenging part is finding the time to do my school work, and go to class, but the rewards are worth the occasional schedule scrambles. I would not have missed the experience of being Vice President for anything.

November 1 is the first day students can take out petitions to be candidates in the next election. I urge you to get involved, come into the Student Activities Office and talk to someone about running for office. You do not need any type of previous experience, all you need is a willingness to put in some time and a desire to help others. You'll have lots of help from the advisors and other students.

Run for office, you'll get more out of the experience than you can imagine and make lots of friends in the process.

ASB PRESIDENT

As the semester progress, the members of College Student Assembly are working vigorously towards the goals we established back in July. I'm proud to say that so far things are going just as planned.

This publication, A.S.B. Today, was one of our goals. We wanted to let the students know what student government is all about. I'd like to thank Susan Solstice, Kerrin McGunagle, Wendy Ng, and all those persons involved for making A.S.B. Today the success it has become.

Another goal was to have a food drive for the unfortunate in Sonoma County. Thanks to Lee Ann Linder, Corresponding Secretary, this will come into effect in the weeks ahead.

Maureen Shield, Executive Vice President, has set up a committee to have a semi-formal Christmas Dance at one of our local wineries.

These kinds of projects are done by students in government in addition to the projects they take on every semester, such as the Blood Drive, the Used Book Faire, noon time entertainment, and other student activities.

CSA NEWS

Student Government is running smoothly and the College Student Assembly is working in its Fall semester goals. Top priority at this time is the ever popular BLOOD DRIVE which will be held November 15 from 10 a.m. till 2 p.m. at the Doyle Student Lounge. SRJC holds the Sonoma County record for donating the most pints of blood in conjunction with the Sonoma County Blood Bank. The theme for this years Blood Drive is still TOP SECRET INFORMATION and will be released by THE DESIGN GROUP shortly. Pledge tables will be open November 4th through the 14th between 10 a.m. & 2 p.m. in the Cafeteria. Club members can receive points towards the Best Club of the Year Award for working at the pledge table and the club that pledges the most pints will receive a cash prize of $25 from the ASB. If you have any free time and want to volunteer, please sign up in the SAO today. Otherwise, we hope you will become a Fall 1985 Donor.

The CSA passed a motion to join the Biddulph Chevrolet Canned Food Drive. Boxes will be distributed in classrooms throughout the campus for canned foods to be put in. For every can of food donated to the drive, Biddulph Chevrolet will contribute 10¢ towards Sonoma County Hunger Projects. Last year, the drive received 10,000 cans of food. This years goal is to have 25,000 cans donated. Leanne Linder, Corresponding Secretary, is in charge of organizing the drive on the SRJC campus as one of her Fall 1985 Executive Cabinet goals. If you have any spare time and would like to be a part of this monumental project, please leave a note in her mailbox in the SAO. If not, please leave your canned goods in one of her many boxes. Your help is greatly appreciated. CSA meets every Monday from 3-5 p.m. in Pioneer Hall. The Public is welcome to attend.

ICC NEWS

The YOUNG DEMOCRATS are really getting it together--with other clubs. On October 21, the Demo's met with the ENVIRONMENTAL ACTION CLUB and listened to a speaker from Friends of the Coast. The YOUNG DEMOCRATS and the YOUNG REPUBLICANS are planning to have a column in the Oak Leaf newspaper taking opposite sides of current issues.

The GAY LESBIAN STUDENT UNION will be having a Halloween party. If you are interested, leave a message in their box in the Student Activities Office.

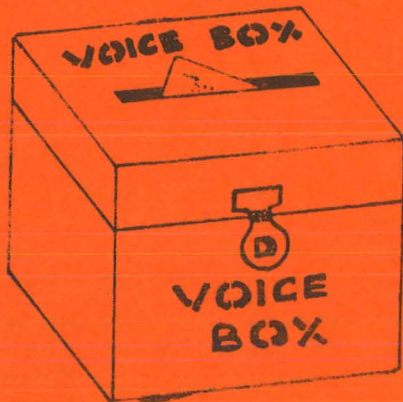

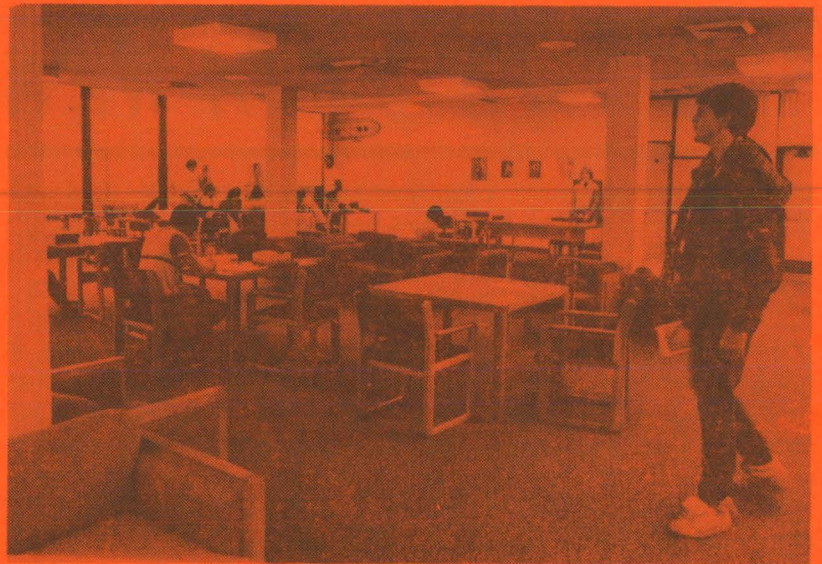

The INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS CLUB is planning a COMEDY NIGHT on Saturday, November 23 in Newman Auditorium. It costs $5.00, which is well worth a whole evening of fun and laughter.

The SKI CLUB is planning a Utah Ski trip for Nov 27 - Dec 2. Four days of skiing, three nights lodging, four days of lift tickets, and transportation, all for $215.00! Call Gary at 935-1061, or leave a note in the SKI CLUB box, and they'll get back to you.

During the October 22 ICC meeting, the members discussed the proposed appearance of the Vietnam Memorial on campus next Spring. In a non-binding vote, the clubs unanimously supported the proposal.

ICC meetings take place every Tuesday at 12:00 in the Student Activities Office. Everyone is welcome to attend.

The Student Lounge is located next to the Cafeteria in the Doyle Student Center. It is noted for its easy atmosphere, which is perfect for study, conversation and relaxation. Its gameroom consists of pool tables, video games, pin-ball machines and more. Students may organize teams and set up tournaments on these games. Come in the Lounge and enjoy the atmosphere. The hours are from 8 to 7 Monday thru Thursday and 8 to 3 on Fridays.

RESPONSES

Library

- * Q: On behalf of the students standing out in the cold in the morning we would like the doors to be opened at the advertised time rather than us watching the librarians chatting and then opening the door three minutes late- very inconsiderate. FROZEN STUDENT
- * A: Dear FROZEN,
The only clock you are able to see from the library front door is the old grandfather clock. The librarian who opens the front door every morning stated that this OLD clock is consistently three minutes ahead of time and that they reset it every day after the doors are opened. The doors are opened according to the school clock and this one is ON TIME.
- * Q: I realize it is still warm weather outside, but does it have to be quite so cold in here? I realize you want to keep the students awake, but are you planning to pass out scarfs, hats and mittens at the door? Brrrrrrr!!!
- * A: Dear Brrrrrrr,
The air cooling system is computerized and as in most cases of advanced technology this system is not running properly. The maintenance department is in charge of its repair, and believe me, its being worked on. Did you miss the ASB Lost & Found Auction? Guess where we found all the mittens and sweaters !!!
- * Q: Is the book detector harmful to human beings ? (The ones without pacemakers) ? ? ? ?
- * A: Dear ? ? ? ?,
I consulted the library staff regarding this issue and the answer is NO. People who do have pacemakers should let the librarians know and the machine will be shut off. Please Don't FLUTTERBY...

College Roundup, Four runners from SRJC reach state

Four Santa Rosa JC runners are headed back to Fresno.

That's because they qualified for the California JC cross country championships with their finishes Saturday in the NorCal Championships at Fresno's Woodward Park.

Liz Mosier finished 29th in 19 minutes and 58 seconds on the 5,000-meter course to qualify. It is the seventh time in eight years the Bear Cubs have qualified a woman for the state meet. Stacy McAsee of Sierra College won the race in 17:54, while American River College won the women's team title.

Ryan Gilliam, Craig Wilson and Pete Vincent all qualified for the Cubs men's team, the most ever for a Santa Rosa team, according to Cub coach Pat Ryan.

Gilliam placed 19th in 20:32 on the four-mile course. Wilson was 28th in 20:46 and Vincent 30th in 20:50. Monterey Peninsula's Dan McGreal won the men's race in 19:42. The College of the Sequoias won the men's race.

● SSU MEN'S SOCCER — Sonoma State upset UC Davis with a 3-1 win in Rohnert Park.

Davis was tied with Chico State for first in the Northern California Athletic Conference race, but the Cossack win bumps the Aggies into second.

Sonoma State, 3-6-1 in the NCAC and 5-13-1 overall, moved to a 2-0 halftime lead on goals by Kier LaCrosse and Marcus Ziemmer.

● SSU WOMEN'S SOCCER — Cindy Romero scored twice to lead Sonoma State to a 3-1 win over UC Davis in an NCAC match at Sonoma State.

● SSU CROSS COUNTRY — Cal Poly San Luis Obispo successfully defended their women's NCAA Division II Western Regionals while Cal Poly Pomona claimed the men's team title at Rocklin.

Sonoma State runner Nora Doyle-Cooney finished 33rd of 86 runners, clocking 18 minutes 46 seconds in the women's race. Bente Moe of Seattle Pacific won the 5,000-meter race in 16:54.

Former Analay High standout Sherri Minkler, running for Cal Poly SLO, finished 15th in 17:55.

● JC WRESTLING — Joe Dragseth and David Montano won championships for Santa Rosa JC at the West Valley Invitational meet.

The Bear Cubs finished sixth with 38½ points. Dragseth beat Brent Hagenbaugh of Diablo Valley College for the 161-yard title, while Montano claimed the 118-pound crown with a pin over Lassen's Rick Fehr.

Vietnam tribute allowed

SRJC trustees yield on memorial

By CATHERINE BARNETT
Staff Writer

Intense pressure by veterans has dissipated Santa Rosa Junior College trustees' resistance to a Vietnam memorial on campus.

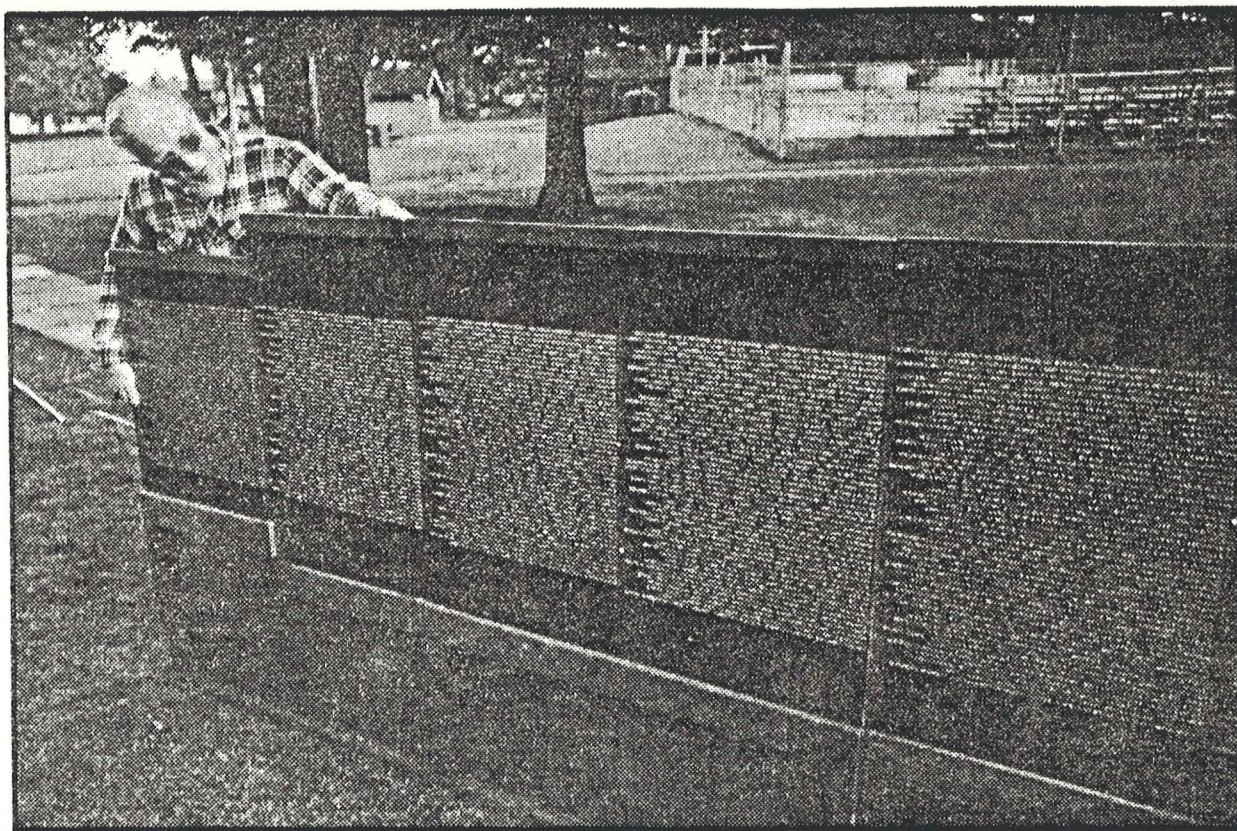

Six trustees voted unanimously Tuesday night to allow the "moving wall" — a half-scale replica of the nation's Vietnam memorial — on the college's front lawn during the 1986 spring break.

Although it was the first time trustees publicly considered the controversial memorial, there was no discussion by board members initially opposed to its coming.

Roy Mikalson, president of the college, said two weeks ago he believed a majority of the trustees opposed the coming of the 250-foot monument.

News coverage of Mikalson's worries about the fragility of the college's lawn and the potential of demonstrators drawn to the campus by the memorial galvanized public opinion on the side of the veterans.

In the meantime, those veterans undertook concentrated lobbying of the individual trustees.

About 65 people, some of them veterans of earlier wars, spilled from the meeting room in the college library Tuesday night prepared to convince the trustees.

But Herold Mahoney, president of the trustees, indicated at the meeting's outset trustees had thoroughly considered the question and were prepared for a quick decision.

He hinted at the outcome: "We're all veterans here and we're very understanding and very supportive of your program."

Mahoney did permit a brief presentation by Santa Rosa investment banker Fred Ptucha, who did four tours of duty in Vietnam.

Ptucha told trustees he was a "closet vet" until he saw the traveling monument last spring.

"I saw names of people who weren't just names but real flesh and blood people who didn't come back," he said.

His voice quavering, Ptucha countered earlier suggestions by Mikalson and Mahoney that the V-shaped monument belongs more appropriately at the Santa Rosa Veterans Memorial Building.

He pleaded for the "tranquil beauty" of the oak-studded expanse of lawn at SRJC as offering greater healing than the vets building's asphalt trustees to "allow us with the community to pay our respects to our dead."

Richard Frahm, president of the Redwood Empire Chapter of the Vietnam Veterans of America, urged trustees to allow his group to sponsor the display from March 21-31 because for that time "each name on there is going to live a little bit."

Before the vote, Ptucha said he thought Mikalson's initial opposition was based on fear of demonstrators getting out of hand.

"He is in no way saying 58,000 lives are not more important than a lawn that can grow back," Ptucha said.

Trustee Ben Race initiated the measure approving the veterans' request. Trustees Al Maggini and Larry Bertolini rushed to second it.

Mahoney, Bob Call and Chris Pedroncelli joined in the endorsement.

Veterans greeted their vote with a standing ovation, moving to the front of the room to work down the line of trustees shaking hands.

Ptucha said after the meeting the trustees "all expressed serious reservations and concerns" about the memorial and that veterans were sure only of Maggini's and Race's votes going into the meeting.

The monument, which was displayed in Ukiah last February, was built by Vietnam Combat Veterans Ltd. of San Jose and has toured 26 cities in California, Texas and Alaska since its construction in October 1984.

Santa Rosa Junior College School of Nursing was the first chapter in Region 12. Presently, our chapter is in inactive status. We are in the process of recruiting Associate Degree Nursing (ADN) students to reactivate this chapter.

The cost of membership to the National Student Nurses Association is $38 a year. We are requesting funds to offset this cost for 15 ADN students. We need 15 members to reinstate SRJC as an active chapter. Many of the ADN students are single mothers and cannot afford the $38 fee.

Benefits to SRJC students being involved in Student Nurses Association of California (SNAC):

- * Voting privileges at SNAC conference and NSNA convention
- * Involvement with recognition in Community Health activities sponsored by NSNA
- * $100,000 in scholarship funds
- * Open lines of communication with other schools of nursing

Burdo wins SRJC post

By JOHN ADAMS

Sebastopol apple grower B. Robert Burdo, 35, will be the youngest member of Santa Rosa Junior College's Board of Trustees when he is sworn in at the Dec. 9 meeting at Plover Library.

Burdo and Santa Rosa incumbent Larry Bertolini were elected to the board Tuesday.

Selected to represent the college's Analy Trustee Area, Burdo received 2,341 votes. He defeated challengers David Salm, 1,394 votes, and James Neeley, 719. The three sought the seat being vacated by Dr. John Jacobs, a Sebastopol dentist, who is leaving the board due to poor health.

Bertolini, finishing his second term as one of three Santa Rosa Area trustees, received 5,260 votes compared to challenger Diane Doble's 1,271. A businessman, Bertolini opposes a state move toward a more centralized community college system, fearing a further loss of local control to the Legislature and other state officials.

Doble, who works for an employment agency, campaigned for more student counseling and testing and called for a close watch on spending. A former Cloverdale resident, she said she still wants to split the county with the area from Healdsburg north becoming a separate entity.

Burdo wants to see the college maintain a strong financial position. He also called for better communication between the board and faculty.

Salm, 35, lives in Forestville and is a management consultant. He engaged Burdo in an aggressive campaign for endorsements and discussions of issues including more classes for the west county area, keeping the rented Petaluma Center and encouraging faculty to upgrade their skills.

Neeley, 44, Garberville, is an investment adviser. He did not mount as active a campaign as Burdo or Salm.

Students offer a safe ride home

By ROBERT DIGITALE
Staff Writer

A group of Santa Rosa High School students is teaming up with the American Red Cross and the Boy Scouts exploring program to offer their friends an alternative to drinking and driving.

It's called the Safe Ride Program and it is being offered by the school's chapter of Students Against Driving Drunk.

Jennifer Tarver, who started the chapter, said the idea is to offer Santa Rosa High students who have been drinking a safe ride home. No questions asked.

The young person need only to call the program's number from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. on Friday and Saturday and give his or her location. The group will send a member to drive the person home.

Parents and teachers are volunteering to supervise the work in case emergencies arise. But Tarver said students will answer the phones and pick up their fellow students.

Tarver is trying to get the program rolling by Dec. 13 and certainly before the holidays.

Before that happens, however, the group still needs to raise funds to buy a two-way radio and to offset costs for gas.

Those interested can send donations to the Santa Rosa High Safe Ride Program, in care of Santa Rosa High School, 1235 Mendocino Ave., Santa Rosa 95401.

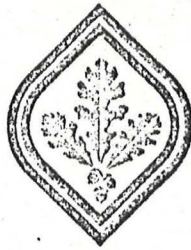

The Red Cross and the Boy Scouts have agreed to sponsor the group and to provide insurance coverage. The safe ride program was developed for the exploring program, said Tracie Parker, exploring executive for the Boy Scouts in Sonoma County.

The Santa Rosa High program will serve only that school's students. But Tarver said students from various schools may work together to eventually provide the safe ride program to students around the county.

Students at El Molino High School in Forestville are seeking funds for a similar program.

Requested amount $100.00

$100.00 will provide 2000[#] business cards to be distributed to all SRHS Students. Business cards will have the "Safe Ride program" ph. # listed on them!

OFFICE OF STUDENT ACTIVITIES

To: Superintendent's Cabinet

From: Thomas Dearth, ASB President

Date: December 16, 1985

Sub: Vending Machine Fund

The Associated Students is requesting a one-time allocation of $6,000 from the vending machine fund. The reasons we believe it is justified for taking the monies out of this fund or other similiar funds is becuase of the many programs and services that are provided to non-ASB members. We are, in a sense, a public service where only 25% pay yet the benefits are enjoyed by many persons other than ASB members. Some of these benefits are as follows:

Benefits for Faculty & Staff:

- * Free admission to Theatre Arts programs
- * Free admission to football & basketball games
- * Reduced or free admission to any ASB event

Community

- * Over two-hundred courtesy cards to individuals of the community through the Athletic Department, SRJC Administration and Foundation. (or approximately $20,000 worth of admissions annually)
- * Semesterly Blood Drive
- * The ASB funds the Spirit Team - $2,200
- * Without the $6,000 to the Forensics Team they could not exist
- * The ASB allocates over $14,00 to Athletics
- * Last year we allocated $1,300 for Awards & Jackets to the Footballteam. By law the district cannot and without the allocation the ASB will take the same standpoint.
